Black from a hunting expedition in the wilds of Northern Ontario, two Picton residents, F. L. Ward, K.C., and Clarence Jones, are proudly displaying as a trophy of the chase a large 700-pound moose. The fine specimen was on display in front of a Picton store earlier in the week and attracted much attention as many had never seen a moose.

Strictly Personal
Morality Includes All Right Conduct

By SIDNEY J. HARRIS

Hercules ate hard. Some 1,500 years ago, St. Augustine fought the Manichaeans who were a notable philosophical victory in the days when Christians were a number of so-called Christians and Manichaeans.

The Manicheans were "dualists." They believed in the Two Realms of Darkness and of Light, would be much brighter than our moon on earth.

Pluto has only two moons. One of them is larger than our moon. It is probably no life on Pluto.

PLUTO — Pluto was found in 1930 in somewhat the same way as was Neptune. Pluto is almost unbelievably cold. It is so far away it cannot be accurately measured. It is thought to be less than one-half the diameter of the earth and may well be the temperature ever will be given below zero.

Pluto takes 249 years to circle the Sun once. Pluto's orbit is highly elliptical more than twice that of Neptune. Pluto rotates every six and one-half days.

Pluto is probably too light to hold an atmosphere of any sort, even methane.

These, then, are the nine planets of the Solar System. One planet, earth, has animal life and one other may possess some low plant life but it is doubtful if any of the others do.

But this is no real waste of planets because there are probably billions of other planets in the universe — perhaps billions of suns have a planet which is like earth, perhaps better.

PAP TEST USED AS A MEANS FOR THE DETECTION OF CANCER

"Dear Dr. Molner: I would like information about ulcers and spots on the cervix. When a Pap test is taken and the result is negative, what treatment is given? And if the Pap test is not negative, what then? —Mrs. R.N."

This, in a way, is a continuation of yesterday's article.

The Pap or smear test — they mean the same thing — is one developed by Dr. George Papanicolaou. Hence the name "Pap test."

It is a test for cancer. You see, cancer is an uncontrolled growth. In healthy tissue, as cells "wear out," enough other cells divide so that the total number of them remains correct. How nature does this, we do not know. But it does.

When cancer starts, cells divide and divide and keep on dividing. This is the uncontrolled growth mentioned. Not only does this rule continue unabated once it has started, but in age that cannot be explained, also the cells that are produced are far more irregular in shape, in size and shape.

The Pap test gives us a means of identifying tissue that has become cancerous. If we can find it in its incipient stage, in its tissue, examination in a laboratory will readily reveal whether it is cancerous or nonmalignant.

Now then, cancer of the cervix, if it is to occur, usually begins on the outer surface of the cervix. A "smear" is taken of the mucous surface. Then it is examined under a microscope to determine whether the cells are normal or abnormal.

The microscopist asks specifically about an ulcer or spot. An ulcer, of course, is a break in small area. As with a sore finger, or ulcer (sore) of the stomach or duodenum, if it is not necessarily cancer. A sore may or may not be. So — you find out! In 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for the cells to cover handling and postage.

THE PACKSACK

An ill-fitting or badly-made shoe makes of your foot a hoof. And, since the foot is a delicate foot, developed over countless aeons of time into the most extraordinary instrument of balance and movement, is lost in a poor shoe. Everything else may go into a foot. How with only a few inches of floor-space it carries everything it does? Messrs. S. W. Varmilyea, R. Smith, J. Wilson, J. Cook, Collina, J. "ust, Charles Wesse, Bowerman, D. D. Hall, C. Davis and W. Fairbairn. Deer are reported to be plentiful.

Mr. T. Hooper, foreman of Madoc Village, was in town today.

usually means a chronic infection of some sort, a condition known commonly as "erosion of the cervix." If it is possible to find the particular organism (germ fungus or w-ature) it is treated with appropriate medication.

If the exact infection cannot be identified, and this is often the case, the spot or ulcer is treated with cauterization either by chemicals or electricity, to give nature a chance to form a sound surface — in short, the same way you cauterize an ulcer anywhere else.

If, however, the "Pap test" is "positive," meaning abnormal or malignant cells are found, more radical treatment is required. This may be radium, or surgery, depending on the type and extent of the cancer area.

Perhaps I'd best add that the "Pap test," while very good, can err sometimes a matter of a few cells escaping detection. Not so if a positive or even a "suspicious" result comes from the smear test, it is followed by a biopsy to be certain.

Q

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is a 'fly in the eye'? — Mrs. A.Y."

A fly (medical term is hordeolum) is an infection in one of the small gland in the eyelid, often associated with some other eye disease, faulty vision, headaches or infection elsewhere in the body, or general ill health.

"Dear Dr. Molner: How much chance is there of complete success when surgery is performed to tie up a movable kidney, to get it to function normally? — Mrs. J. P."

The success is excellent!

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. To get your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Daily Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents to cover handling and postage.

Yet with a clumsy shoe, a tight shoe, a badly-made shoe, a shoe that is wrong in its looks or its price, we can convert the foot into a hoof like that of a cow or horse.

The food deserves a good shoe more than the head deserves a hat.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TALK IT OUT

Everything has to have an outlet. The big engine has to "blow off steam" occasionally or it just buckles up and dies of self-violence.

People who continually suppress every feeling that surges within them, and who make a task as the school teacher did when she used the ruler on those who talked out of turn, are very being, inextricably made up of both.

Yet today, millions of so called "religious" people preach and practice the philosophy hereof. To them, the world is divided into the "physical" and the "spiritual" — and the spiritual things are bad.

What they forget is that there is spiritual evil as well as spiritual good. The worst evils conceivable to the human race are the spiritual ones — envy, hatred, greed, lack of mercy and charity. Jesus was kind to the physical sinners (such as the woman taken in adultery) those he reviled were the spiritual sinners — the hypocrites, the hard-hearted, the bigoted. This is the real point of the parable of the Good Samaritan.

"Morality" today has come to mean purity. Actually purity is only a small part of morality, which includes all "right conduct"—justice and consideration and duty. Those who inveigh most against the sins of the flesh are too often those who neglect the sins of the spirit—who themselves are narrow-minded and cold, indifferent to social justice, and smug in their assumptions of moral superiority.

The greatest evils in the world have always been spiritual failure's irrevocable sin was pride, not passion. It is not the appetites that betray man so much as a perverted will, a misguided spiritual moral and psychic flaw in his nature.

Lively Music, New Dances Will Feature Ballet Program

The initial tour of the National Ballet of Canada in 1951 comprised an ambitious series of 30 performances to some 12,500 people in central Canada. Less than a decade later, what fenomenal growth and development has occurred in this sparkling young company! This year's eight-month tour will extend from Vancouver to Miami, from Halifax to Mexico, and more than two million people will have paid to see them before its completion. As ballet critic Arthur Franks of London, England, reported in the Toronto Star, "The company can now rank as a fully professional group qualified to appear with acclaim in any of the world's ballet capitals . . . it is the most rapid growth in the history of ballet."

From a permanent repertoire of 39 complete ballets, the company will this year bring to Belleville the most exciting program to date. On November 2nd at Collegiate auditorium, they will present for the first time, "L'Apres Midi d'un Faune" (Afternoon of a Faun), choreographed by Celia Franca, and danced to the lovely and familiar Debussy music. In the cast of this dreamlike ballet is Kenneth Melville as the Faun and seven Nymphs, headed by Joan Tyrell.

Also new to Belleville are the "Excerpts from Princess Aurora." This ballet is a lavish production based on the dance highlights of Tschaikowsky's beloved "Sleeping Beauty." The sequences to be performed here are the "Bluebird Pas de Deux"; "Red Riding Hood and the Wolf", and "The White Cat and Puss-in-Boots." Choreography by Marius Petipa and costumes by Kay Ambrose.

MUSIC BY CHOPIN

The company's principal dancers, Lois Smith and David Adams will highlight the program with the latter's "Pas de Deux Romantique," set to music by Chopin. A poetical work this, of breathtaking lifts and exquisite grace. The effective deep blue costumes were designed by James Ronaldson.

Another romantic ballet, "Les Sylphides," will star the corps de ballet of the company. In 1909, choreographer Michel Fokine, revolted against what had become the stale formula of the classics, and decided to use the corps de ballet as a part of the fabric of his new work, rather than as a mere background to enhance the virtuosity of the ballerina. Dressed in the lovely "romantic tutu, (skirt reaches midway between ankle and knee) with little silvery wings, the dancers appear in a moonlit forest glade. They perform in ensemble with four solo variations and a pas de deux.

Finally, a fresh new comic ballet, "Andiz Spring" by Grant Strate, completes the program. The audience is introduced to Toby, the central figure, content in his pastoral haven and surrounded by dancing flowers, but boredom overcomes him and he sets off for the city. Confusion ensues when he is engulfed by a hospitable wedding party, and an opportunity for lively humor and rollicking dances, before Toby returns to his friends in the meadow.

Legend, romance, fairy - tales and fun . . . truly an outstanding tenth-birthday program!

O/C William C. Skelly will be home this weekend on leave from Royal Military College, Kingston, where he attend his graduation exercises at R.C.I.

Friends of Mrs. Ethel Assels, stiles will regret to learn that she is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Hastings, Pr. Ed. Teachers Meet At Batawa

The teachers of the inspectorate Hastings No. 2, Prince Edward No. 2 held their annual convention at Batawa on October 23rd.

The morning session was held in Batawa United Church. The guest speakers were Mr. Fleck who spoke on "Exceptional Children," and Mr. Taylor, who spoke on "Record Cards."

The teachers were officially welcomed by Mr. Fleck.

The teachers were guests of the Bata Shoe Company at dinner.

Mr. Arthur Duncan was the after-dinner speaker, and conducted a tour of the factory in the afternoon.

Christ Church Chi Rho Enjoys Social Time

Christ Church Chi Rho enjoyed a social evening last Wednesday evening at the church hall. The theme of the gathering was set to the smooth musical offerings of many of the well-known recording artists. The dancing was intervened with several group games. Later in the evening a business circle was held under the fellowship's president.

Winners of the spot dances held in the course of the evening's entertainment were as follows; 1st; Barb Kellar and Ted Warwick; 2nd; Jean James and Herb Cavalliery; 3rd; Evelyn and Ted Warwick.

BALLOON RACE

The balloon race was won by the Warwick "witches" who prevailed better riders than the unlicensed Butcher "Bats." The "pass-while-you-unwrap" game presented Jean James with a set of Cashmere bouquet soap, while anxious onlookers proceeded to dig their way out of the multi-wrappings.

The "shoe dance" designed to mix the crowd was successful apart from "boots" Crozier being picked off by his sharpeyed spouse. This activity, the gay party and the bright decorations spiralling the hall's pillars and the clatter of candy bowls were all symbols of a well-enjoyed evening.

PICTORIAL PLATES SALE

Sales to date of the Christ Church pictorial plates and the alloting of jobs for the fast approaching "Falling Leaves Dance" were high on the agenda during the business portion of the meeting. Later tickets for the dance were distributed to the individual members for sale.

Refreshments were served by Barb Kellar, Marion Bailey and Mari Butler, after which the meeting closed with a verse of "Abide With Me" and prayer.

Hillcrest H-S Assoc. Hears Talk on Africa

Hillcrest Home and School Association opened the recent fall meeting with a good program in the school auditorium, with Mrs. J. Prudden, vice-president, presiding in the absence of president R. Dryden.

A welcome was extended by Mrs. Prudden to all present.

The business portion of the evening was conducted. Mrs. Prudden introduced the opening slate; two being new this year, the principal, Mr. Marner, and Miss Farnsworth.

The attendance banner for the most parents present having children in a particular grade was presented to Mrs. Ketcheson, who teaches grade 2.

At the conclusion of the business, Mrs. Prudden introduced Mrs. Watson, the guest speaker, who gave a most interesting talk on UNICEF.

Mr. Marner welcomed the parents present and explained he would be only too glad to solve any problems encountered by their children. He introduced the guest for the evening, Mr. Harvey Fotheringham, of Canadian United Church.

Mr. Putman thanked Mr. Marner and added it was a pleasure to be present at Hillcrest School and an honor to share his experiences of his trip to Africa with them. He read several verses from St. John 4.

Mr. Putman was one of the men who participated in "Operation Crossroads," a program that sent 186 Canadian and American students to Africa last summer. He showed films illustrating the work carried on in camps provided in Africa.

"The countries of the West have a great task to meet in Africa," said Mr. Putman, "and are confronted on every side by the influence of Russian programs. Russia offers free education to the young Africans who will leave the communities and study in Russia. Under the pressure of Russian influence in Guinea every church has been closed.

"We can hardly blame the African people for accepting the offers of Russia. The clock is running out for the West in the race to bring Christianity to the African people.

The pictures of his trip were most colorful and educational — most delightful to see.

At the conclusion of his picture, he added, "There is a great harvest if we only send reapers."

Mrs. Prudden thanked the speaker for his most enjoyable talk and pictures.

Refreshments were served by the executive and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Women's Activities

HOLLOWAY UNITED W.A.

The regular meeting of the Women's Association of Holloway Street United Church met in the church parlor last Thursday afternoon with a good attendance present.

A welcome and a poem entitled, "A Little Prayer" was given by the president, Mrs. Harold Coghlan.

Correspondence was read by Mrs. J. B. Bush and reports were given by the other various committees.

Business discussions included: final plans for the bazaar, and it was also decided to meet jointly with the evening group for the Christmas party.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. L. Welbourne. Her meditation on "Thanksgiving and the Lure that Jesus Gave" was most inspiring, pointing out that one must be thankful for spiritual blessings and sometimes even for problems, which often tend to strengthen faith and show that all things work together for good.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A memorial service for the late Mrs. Pearl Weekmyer, Mrs. Bertha Martin and Mrs. Winnie Shaw, three faithful members of the W.A. was conducted by Mrs. T. F. Townsend, assisted by Mrs. C. Hobbis, Mrs. T. Ketcheson and Mrs. F. Eigle.

The Rev. J. McFarlane of Tabernacle United Church was introduced by Mrs. C. Holmes. He brought a stirring message, "Christian Expectancy In A World of Tension," saying in part: "There is much tension in the world today, but there is also much expectancy for peace held in the hearts of many. Look at Christianity! Do we need it? Should we spread it? Is it that we have tasted the peace that Christianity brings so long that we have lost our sense of mission? We must rise and proclaim the message of God's love to all. There was a man sent from God and his name was John' are we not the 'John' of today, to tell of the love of God? Faith can change difficulty into challenge. Look up — not down, to find our mission and task in life, and then go out and do it!"

Mrs. Fred Scott thanked the speaker, Mrs. A. Daniels and Mrs. T. F. Atkinson rendered a beautiful duet, "Living for Jesus" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. M. Hobbis.

Lunch was served and a social half hour spent.

"Everything stops for tea," so the song says. We think of this saying in connection with the English primarily. Yet Australia and Ireland are both ahead of England as tea drinking countries, with many others on a par with the Old Country. How many Canadians have felt frustrated in trying to get a good cup of tea in the United States? One woman of our acquaintance taught the procedure to a certain waitress in a southern restaurant which she frequented, in order to get a decent cup of tea.

It is almost a matter of mythology now as to who first used tea and when. South-east Asia is a large enough area to cover it and not get into an argument. From there its use spread and was first brought into Canada in 1716 by the Hudson's Bay Company. Settlers who later came to Canada from Europe brought the tea drinking habit with them and it was soon almost as well established in this country as in England.

The itself is divided into three general types — black, green and oolong. These differences are due to the method of treating the leaf after it is plucked. Green tea is withered and heat-treated almost immediately after the leaves are picked. The leaves that are to be made into black tea are put in a dark, humidified room for several hours before being to bring out the natural leaf juices and develop the essential oil of tea. Oolong tea represents another curing process, between green and black. Tea is unusual among stimulating beverages because it is completely digestible. It is a pure liquid which puts no strain on the stomach.

The use of tea in England caused the silversmiths to create original designs for utensils for the serving of tea. The ceremony of afternoon tea became one of the most gracious forms of entertaining and remains a part with us today almost unchanged. In Japan, the tea ceremony is one of the aesthetic traditions of the country. Along with flower arrangements it has formed an integral part in the development of ethical and aesthetic living among the Japanese people. These arts not only give poise and grace but also serve to cultivate spiritual balance and character. It is still customary practice for young ladies before a marriage to take lessons in these arts in order to cultivate personal grace.

In its fullest meaning, the cult of tea ceremony takes in everything that comes under the art of living, including architecture, landscape gardening, flower arrangement, painting calligraphy and cooking. The refinement of ceremonial tea drinking, called Chanoyu, was developed around the sixteenth century in the etiquet between host and his guests.

The essence of tea ceremony is to free oneself from worldly considerations and to achieve calmness of mind in a tranquil and congenial atmosphere. Talk of worldly business is taboo in the tea room and the guests converse on such subjects as the beauty of nature, the scroll painting and flower arrangement in the alcove and other artistic objects.

There are strictly observed rules in preparing and serving the tea. But these rules are made after long study and experience to minimize the work and to do it gracefully and efficiently. Throughout the entire ceremony there prevails that love of simplicity and rusticity which are characteristic of the Japanese people.

In contrast, think of one of our very large social "afternoon teas" with everyone talking at once on every subject and no subject at all. Too many people and too much noise. Let's have more ceremony and a quiet cup of tea.

MILLER — SCOTT

Pink and white streamers, bouquets of multi-colored gladioli and white wedding bells formed a lovely setting on Saturday, October 8th, at 2.00 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Scott, Stirling, Ontario, for the marriage of their daughter, Betty Lorraine Scott, to Junior Lorne Miller, of Ameliasburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller. The Reverend T. F. Townsend, assistant pastor of Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Recorded music, rendered before the ceremony, included "O Promise Me", and the "Wedding March" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and "Because" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of tulle and Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with molded lace bodice, and street-length skirt of tulle, accented with lace appliques. She wore a small crown headdress encrusted with seed pearls, finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, and carried a cascade of red roses.

Her attendants were Mrs. Shirley Anderson of Stirling, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Miss Linda Miller of Ameliasburg, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, and little Miss Brenda Scott of Stirling, niece of the bride, as flower-girl, sweet in her royal blue velvet frock having a full gathered skirt, and puff sleeves. She carried pink and white gumma.

The matron of honor and the bridesmaid were dressed alike in royal blue velvet fashioned on princess lines with white feather boas at the neck, and carrying bouquets of pink and white gumma.

Mr. Lorne Bradford of Belleville, was groomsman while Mr. David Scott, of Stirling, brother of the bride, and Mr. Daryl Anderson of Stirling, nephew of the bride, ushered guests.

The reception was held at the bride's parents' home, where the bride's mother received, attired in blue-figured silk sheath, with three-quarter sleeves, white velvet hat and pink carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother assisted in the receiving line, wearing blue silk with beige jacket, felt hat in grey, and corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was daintily appointed with white damask linen, and centred by a pillared, three-tier white wedding cake adorned with pink roses, and topped by white doves holding golden wedding rings. The bridal bouquets added an additional lovely nuptial note.

For the wedding trip to Haliburton region, and other northern points, the bride wore a three-original wool suit in royal blue, pink feather hat and gloves, black accessories, and corsage of white carnations.

Guests were present from Toronto, Lindsay, Warkworth, Campbellford, Trenton, Stirling, Belleville, Hallway and Ameliasburg.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Robert Peterson, Stirling, and also at a miscellaneous shower and presentation held at the home of Mrs. Albert Bick of Belleville, given by the bride's staff associates of the Northern Electric.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are residing at Ameliasburg, R.R. 2, Ontario.

Grad Nurses Hear Chest Injuries Topic

On Thursday evening, the first in a series of lectures to graduate nurses, sponsored by the Belleville Community Nursing Registry, was presented at Education Hall, Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Herold Crowe, Registry president welcomed the nurses and announced the topics of the next four lectures.

The speaker, Dr. Bruce Crook, was introduced by Miss Catherine Gould.

Dr. Crook gave a most interesting and informative lecture on "Management of Surgical and Traumatic Chest Injuries," illustrated with appropriate slides. He explained the different types of chest injury and outlined the nurse's responsibility in each case. The Stedman apparatus for chest drainage was also explained and demonstrated.

Mrs. Esther Barclay expressed appreciation to Dr. Crook on behalf of the assembled nurses.

The next lecture in this series "Post-Operative Nursing Care in Orthopaedic Surgery" will be given by Dr. J. S. Melvin of Kingston, this Wednesday evening in Education Hall at 8.00 p.m.

Orange Sponge Birthday Cake

By Mary Moore

Again I sing a song of praise of Peedy's natural inclination to make desserts. For a pre-Thanksgiving dinner on Sunday she made two luscious pumpkin pies (recipes for which I will give you next week). For Thanksgiving Dinner proper she made an Orange Sponge Birthday Cake (for my sister-in-law Wyn) that disappeared like the canapes at a Khrushchev-hosted cocktail party.

I think the reason we liked it so much was because it was not overwet. She frosted it with whipped cream which had been flavored with jellied orange juice (see below).

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

Chicken Pot Pie; Hot Biscuits; Shredded Cabbage and Carrot Salad (see Tuesday column re Salad Pros and Cons); Baked Cored Apples Sweetened with Honey, Milk or Pouring Cream; Coffee.

ORANGE SPONGE CAKE WITH WHIPPED CREAM ORANGE FROSTING:

6 egg whites, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sugar, 6 egg yolks, 3-4 cup sugar (second amount), 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 1-2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 cup orange juice, grated rind from 1 orange.

Beat egg whites with salt to form moist peaks. Gradually beat in 1-2 cup sugar, until stiff. Without washing beater beat egg yolks and 3-4 cup sugar until thick. Add lemon and orange juices and beat until sugar dissolves. Add flour sifted with baking powder. Fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in ungreased angel food cake tin at 375 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Invert and allow to hang for 1 hour or until cool. Loosen sides and centre with narrow knife and coax from pan with finger tips.

When cold, spread with whipped cream orange frosting: Two teaspoons gelatine, 1-4 cup cold water, 3-4 cup orange juice, juice half lemon, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1-3 pint whipped cream. Soak gelatine in cold water 2 or 3 minutes. Heat together the orange and lemon juices and sugar and when sugar is dissolved remove from heat and stir in soaked gelatine until it is dissolved. Cool until it just begins to jell. Beat in a little, then fold into stiffly beaten whipped cream. Spread over top, sides and down centre hole of cake.

This is an old-fashioned sponge cake made modern by this delicately orange-flavored whipped cream topping. Or alternatively bake the sponge batter in 3 ungreased 8" cake pans about 30 minutes at 325 deg. Fahr. Remove from pans to cool. When cool, cover each layer with the following mixture: Two egg whites, beaten stiff, add 2-4 cup sugar gradually until very stiff then gradually beat in 3-4 cup orange juice. After spreading on layers, let them stand 3 or 4 hours or overnight. Before serving time put layers together and if desired, spread with whipped cream. This gives a moist delicate torte effect.

THOMASBURG CHRIST CHURCH GUILD

The monthly meeting of Thomasburg Christ Church Guild was held at the home of Mrs Stella Orr on Friday evening.

Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Margaret Geen. There were 12 members present.

A discussion followed on the bazaar and euchre which will be held early in December.

Program followed consisting of readings by Mildred Sherry, Marion Morton, Mrs. Willoughby Orr, Irene Grills and Mrs. Miller. Frances gave "nut" contest and Annie a "bird" contest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

CONCERNING THE COMING INAUGURAL

To those of you who are planning to attend the inaugural of our next President (which will take place in Washington January 20, 1961) I have some items of interest. And some suggestions.

The festivities surrounding the last inaugural, in 1957, were not handled too well. Those who made the arrangements blamed the confusion and lack of co-ordination on the shortness of time in which to make plans for such a spectacle. The time — from November 8th, when the new President is elected (and when he appoints his inaugural chairman) to January 20th, when the swearing - in takes place— was obviously too short.

Gaining by this past sorry experience, Robert E. McLaughlin, Commissioner of the District of Columbia, several weeks ago appointed the District Chairman of the Republican and Democratic parties (John Kenney and Carl Shipley) to arrange and co-ordinate all of the hundreds of small details that must be dowatlled to make this great event the success it should be. When the inaugural chairman is appointed by the new President, he will join these men in the final arrangements.

Contracts have already been let for the building of parade stands that will hold approximately 34,000 people (who will pay for the privilege of sitting in them); This is about half of the stands that were built for the last inaugural and will mean much more free standing - space along the parade route.

Reservations have been made at the National Guard Armory, the Mayflower, Statler Hilton and Sheraton Park Hotels for the Inaugural Balls which will take place on the night of January 20. These four brilliant balls will be held simultaneously and the new President and his wife will make an appearance at each during the evening. Tickets for the balls may be purchased by anyone. Ladies should plan to wear evening gowns and the gentlemen full dress evening clothes. However, since so few men possess such formal attire, a tuxedo is acceptable. Business clothes are out.

It is understood that the inaugural chairmen, appointed by the D. C. Commissioner, and planning only the big events to precede the ceremonies of January 20. Dinners will be held for nationality groups on January 19th, and a symphony concert, which will be attended by the President - elect and his wife, on the 19th. Undoubtedly, State societies will entertain for out-of-town visitors on the night of January 17th.

I talked with a hotel manager and learned a surprising fact. In 1957, so many people felt that Washington would be overcrowded, that they decided not to even attempt to make reservations. They stayed home. Result? No overcrowding at all! So, if you would like to witness this historical event and see the sweating - in of our new President and attend some of the exciting celebrations honoring this great occasion, make your reservations soon, and look forward to something you will never forget.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Marcia? W. — We never have any cash, just "possessions" we don't possess.

Roger W. — If you wait to "afford" things, you'll never own anything.

Marcia W. — I was brought up to the tune of piggy banks, school savings clubs, pay-as-you-go, thrift conquers all and so on. When I married Martin, three years ago, I was only too glad to pool my modest bank account with his funds to buy our home (incidentally my contribution was the larger.) I felt sure in my husband's promise that we'd stick to a budget and start a joint savings account.

Since then my life has been a financial nightmare. With a baby on the way, there's not a penny saved, I don't know what it is to have a wad of cash in my pocketbook the way I used to. Roger's salary gets divided up to pay our installments, loans, credit-card bills. It dissolves so fast I never really see it.

Last week Roger got a brainstorm. He went to a finance company and got them to take over all our debts. Now we just owe them 30,000 bucks which must pay off at 11 per cent interest. And my husband is thinking of buying a second car!

I wish he'd buy me one good night's sleep. What if he should lose his job?

Roger W. — Marcia was raised by a Caspar Milquetoast. Her father believed you must never spend a dollar unless you have to. Or they never had anything. Her mother darned and patched clothes until you could not recognize them, even though they could well afford new ones. And in the end their savings all went to pay hospital and doctor bills and funeral expenses. I want more than that out of life. "Venture capital" isn't only for big business. It's for me too.

I work for the local utilities. I make a decent salary working on the pipes. We have hospitalization and health, and accident insurance from the job. We'll never be rich, but we'll have a steady income.

If I listened to Marcia and waited until we had the money saved first for each thing we want, we'd still be saving for a car. This way we have a home and car, air-conditioning and every electric appliance you can name.

"Easy payments" is the answer. That's how the government gets things. That's how millionaires get things. What's wrong with borrowing and owing?

I wish Marcia could understand that things are different and she has nothing to worry about.

The Council: The only thing wrong with borrowing and owing is borrowing and owing more without first paying back. In her own world Marcia is building the insidious spiral that has laid low empires.

Pay-as-you-go means live within your means to Marcia but to Roger it means Pay-as-you-go-into-debt and go-now-pay-later. Their conflict boils down to: What's money for? Peace of mind or "possessions?" Marcia would vote for the former and gladly sacrifice a wall oven or color television. Roger may think that his peace of mind depends upon having things he can "point to with pride", but in reality he has no peace and his pride is a shaky one, for the Day of Reckoning looms over him constantly like a black cloud.

A rich man is one who has more than he needs. This is the opinion not of a Casper Milquetoast but of a common-sense consumer named Bernard Baruch. With Marcia's urge toward conservatism in spending, perhaps Roger can still become a "rich" man some day. Despite his overwhelming debts and the new responsibility the birth of their baby, he may be able to plan a more solvent future.

In getting "caught up" and on an even keel financially Marcia's self will take a few pallest years—Roger will know a new kind of richness, the kind that Marcia is trying to explain, the kind that "doesn't show". It is made up of treasures like contentment and self-reliance.

Federal Govt. Considering Extending Deficiency Pay Program for Eggs Union Told

GUELPH (CP)—Extension of the deficiency payment program for eggs is being considered by the federal government, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said Tuesday.

In his first speech since taking the agriculture portfolio, Mr. Hamilton told the Ontario Farm Union convention here, future deficiency payments might be made on the basis of a flock of 800 hens rather than 300.

The program now calls for deficiency payments on the first 4,000 dozen grade A eggs produced by a poultryman in a year on the base level of 32 cents a dozen.

This is the yield of 300 hens, while 800 would produce up to 7,000 dozen eggs a year.

FLEA BEAN PARITY

Included in the OFU resolutions yet to be considered is a plea for the parity price for flea at 6 cents a dozen and asks the government to pay the difference between 33 cents and 50 cents.

Mr. Hamilton criticized farmers for not making a greater effort to adjust to the current agricultural expansion brought on by technological changes. The high price of wheat was a stumbling block for most farmers, he said.

He said it was time farmers stop arguing among themselves.

"We have less reason for arousing strife between eastern and western farmers, between urban and rural people. All must recognize that the basic problems of agriculture are fundamental and affect all parts of Canada."

SHOULD PLANT TREES

He suggested farmers find new uses for unproductive land and urged planting of more trees to meet the increasing need for pulp wood. The current $18 to $21 a cord price to the farmer could be increased if more farmers produced pulp wood.

In his presidential address Gordon L. Hill made a plea for better relations between the OFU and Ontario Federation of Agriculture. Gordon Greer of Ottawa, OFA president, attended the meeting and Mr. Hill is expected to attend the OFA meeting in Toronto next week.

A merger of the two groups appears unlikely, observers said but such a move has been advocated by Ontario Agriculture Minister Goodfellow.

URGE PAY QUARTERLY

In resolutions considered Tuesday the OFU urged the government to operate the deficiency payment program on hogs on a quarterly basis and base prices be changed to parity levels based on production costs.

They asked that farmers loans be made at four per cent interest and surplus foodstuffs purchased by the government be donated to needy countries.

The convention urged legislation to establish national marketing boards.

The organization went on record as favoring unemployment insurance for farm help.

Harry Ferguson, Farm Machinery Specialist, Dies

LONDON (AP)—Harry Ferguson, the man who revolutionized farm machinery, died Tuesday at the age of 75. He was once described as the only partner Henry Ford ever had.

Ferguson was born of a large and poor Irish farming family but his inventive genious produced a range of farm equipment that made him world famous and earned him millions.

He had much in common with Ford. They were both farm boys who saw the introduction of the internal combustion machine in their youth. Both had an almost lifelong interest in building cheap tractors and this brought them together. They were close friends until Ford's death in 1947.

SUED FORD COMPANY

But Ferguson sued the Ford Motor Company, claiming $342,000,000 damages for alleged patent infringements. The case dragged through U.S. courts for years until Ferguson agreed to an out-of-court settlement of $9,250,000. He said in later years the bitter lawsuit would never have happened if old Henry Ford had been alive.

In 1952 Ferguson merged his English farm machinery company with that of the Massey-Harris Company of Canada to form one of the world's largest farm implement companies.

But in 1954 he quit as head of the organization and announced that he would work on new inventions. He said was then working on a revolutionary "wonder car," a spokesman for his firm said the new invention was in its final stages when Ferguson became ill recently.

RACED VEHICLES

As a youth he often raced motorcycles and autos. In 1920 at the age of 23 he became the first man in Ireland to design, build and fly an airplane.

His reputation was such that when the First World War broke out the government put him in charge of all farm machinery in Northern Ireland. When he saw what farmers had to work with he resolved to devote his life to improving farm machinery.

During the 1920's he developed a plow for use behind a Ford tractor and took it to Dearborn, Michigan. That was the start of his association and friendship with Ford.

Later Ferguson developed his two-furrow plow considering advance on anything then produced.

Despite his wide-ranging interests, Ferguson loved the telephone and travelling. He spent most of his time quietly on his estate at Stow-on-the-Wold in western England, which he used as headquarters. It was there he died.

INJURED — CHEERS WIFE

EMBARRASS, Wis. (AP) — A 36-year-old construction worker, who called cheerily to his wife during wife Monday while he hung, suspended by a mangled arm 75 feet up on a water tower, was rescued in critical condition Tuesday. Paul Macoby of Marion, Ill., was lowered to the ground in a boatswain's chair after fellow workers struggled for an hour to free him. He was caught when a metal section collapsed, but kept calling: "don't worry, honey, I'll be OK," to his wife.

Woman's Yen for Pretty Frock She Knew She Couldn't Afford Spares Poor Man From Tragedy

WINDSOR (AP)—Louis Zebic is a poor man and he has no room in his little home for finery.

He never complained about the poverty that beset him. Three years of unemployment, living on meagre welfare cheques, had not blighted his spirit.

A frock that pained him constantly because of an old bone injury did not mean that Louis Zebic had to feel sorry for himself.

The 34-year-old metal worker came to Canada seven years ago from his native Yugoslavia. He wanted a better life for himself and for his children. Things were not good now, but they would get better.

He and his 33-year-old wife, Edith, had managed to keep the family together. That was the important thing. There was Debbie, 7, and Chicago, 6. They were at St. Alphonsus School Tuesday afternoon.

Louis and his wife took Zora, 4, Tommy, 2½, and Polly, 13 months, a few blocks over into downtown Windsor for some shopping. Some time for supper, some socks for Debbie and Chicago, then back again to their shabby, little frame home on Louis' side of town.

Louis, a tall, sallow - cheeked man, left his wife and children in front of the department store to

A recent Numbers Game had some surprising results. Many different readers, from many different localities, sent in identical suggestions for a further play in that game.

"Great minds think alike," so maybe this wasn't very surprising.

You have the figures 1234, just one of each, and no other figures at all. And now you are limited to multiplication, division, minus, and plus signs, and to the use of any necessary brackets.

Make up an expression for the largest number that can be expressed within the above limitations.

We shall not be printing the "answer", but I will give a possible hint tomorrow.

Yesterday's Answer:
GRUNT is 45796.

Father of Six To Be Hanged For Knife-Slaying

TORONTO (CP) — Louis William Baldwin, Fisher, 36-year-old father of six children, was sentenced Tuesday to be hanged Feb. 7 for the knife slaying of Mrs. Margaret Bennett, 36.

The same court jury deliberated more than two hours before returning the verdict without a recommendation for clemency.

In his defence Fisher maintained he had drunk 20 or 22 glasses of beer on the night of the murder and could remember nothing of it. In a statement he gave police, which was admitted as evidence, he admitted stabbing the woman.

Mrs. Bennett's half-nude body, mutilated by 18 stab wounds, was found June 10 on a suburban Scarborough service station lot. Fisher's wife and mother sat quietly in the court most of the day, but openly wept during recitals of the intervals. His mother greeted her head and sobbed as the foreman announced the verdict.

the scene of the disaster. Afterward came another check of hospitals.

Now it was 7 p.m. Zebic trudged back to the automobile.

The drive home took about 10 minutes.

The car slowed and stopped in front of Zebic's home, by the side of his wife.

The lights were on in the house! Zebic bolted from the car.

He burst through the front door. Three children were seated on a couch. Debbie was thumbing through a book. Chico was munching on a cookie. Zora was looking at pictures of little dolls in a catalogue. Tommy was jumping up and down on a bed in the next room, playing with Polly's baking powder.

Zebic wept and hugged each of his children.

"God bless, God bless," he cried in his broken English.

An unborn child was the latest family. Mrs. Zebic started into the department store, but then hesitated, then decided to go next door to the women's shop to try on a maternity dress she knew she could not afford to buy.

She was in the fitting room when the department store was rocked by the blast.

GE at Peterborough Given Big Govt. Contract on Eve Of Byelection in Riding

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mr. Pearson was speaking at a rally for Liberal candidate Judy LaMarsh.

The Liberal leader referred to a comment attributed to Prime Minister Diefenbaker in discussing the government's plans for the remainder of its term. The prime minister was quoted as saying: "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

Commented Mr. Pearson:

"How can you judge a government, if 'you ain't seen nothin'"?

Progressive Conservative standard-bearer in Niagara Falls is Keith Lougheed, while Ed Mitchell is running as New Party candidate.

The byelections were forced with the death in office of Conservative Gordon Fraser and Liberal William Houck. Mr. Fraser had held Peterborough for nearly 20 years; Mr. Houck had been member for Niagara Falls since 1953, when the riding was created.

ROCKET EXPERT KILLED

MOSCOW (AP)—Marshall Mitrofan Ivanovich Nedelin, commander of the Soviet Union's rocket forces and one of Premier Khrushchev's most trusted men, was killed Monday in an air accident. Nedelin was the man given direct authority to retaliate by spy flights over the Soviet Union after American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was downed in his plane and captured.

AGREE

American assayist Ralph Waldo Emerson said that the man who can build a better mousetrap, though he live in the midst of a forest, would have the world beat a path to his door.

The government hopes that by better productivity, Canadians can not only meet foreign competition but produce more and better goods at home for less, thus encouraging sales without getting into another spiral of wage and price increases.

IN OTHER WAYS

In addition to the plan announced by the prime minister, delegates to the conference said there were indications the federal government will act in two other ways: To expand trades training for the large numbers of unskilled workers on the labor market, and to stimulate industry to build new plant and production facilities through increased depreciation allowances for taxation purposes.

Mr. Diefenbaker said there was practically unanimous support for more technical and trades training facilities. Forty per cent of the Canadian labor force has less than a high school education, he said.

Production was stimulated during the Second World War and its aftermath by accelerated depreciation allowances. J.M. Bogles, president of the Canadian Construction Association, said so many delegates supported this suggestion that the conference has "every right to hope" the government will employ the device again.

Mr. Diefenbaker was reported pleased on two counts with his ployment.

On the one hand, it proved to many of the national organizations represented that they cannot all be satisfied with whatever the government does about unemployment.

On the other, it gave the government support from all quarters for embarking on a new long range approach to curing the ills of the country's economy through establishment of a productivity council.

An informed source said, the conference proved a revelation for a number of the 24 representatives of national organizations who saw their demands for government assistance along one path set clearly against equally strong demands by other organizations for government help along quite opposite paths.

This, it was said, was the main reason the government had the 1½ - day conference in private. Organizations with opposing views were able to present their cases and then modify their viewpoints in the light of representations from other groups.

In public, none of the delegates would have wanted to concede a change in viewpoint during the meeting.

Moreover, said an informant, the government now has on record since most of the labor, management and other national bodies made their briefs public independently — a summation of their views, and can show the divergences between those calling, for instance, for higher tariffs and those demanding freer trade.

The setting up of a national productivity council could in ordinary circumstances be a tich pill project, viewed suspiciously by labor and as an unwanted interference with management by the business community. However, by the close of the conference, Mr. Diefenbaker obtained the personal assurance of all 24 national leaders that they support the idea in principle.

How the productivity council is to be composed and how it will carry on its vast task will, Mr. Diefenbaker said, be disclosed in Parliament when the government introduces a bill for its establishment.

The new council may be a kind of super-committee, but is to be patterned after the British council which in itself is an outgrowth of the Anglo - American productivity council. This was formed after the Second World War to encourage visits by British industrial leaders and workers to the United States, to see at first-hand how the big American industrial machine works. The Anglo - American body, in turn, came about as a result of an idea in the Organization for European Economic Co-operation.

Gerry James Has Title In the Bag

WINNIPEG (CP) — Like a pitcher who switches to the curve ball when his fast ball has lost its zip, Winnipeg fullback Gerry James picked up a new "pitch" to grab the top rung in the 1960 Western Interprovincial Football Union scoring race.

Only the chance that Willie Fleming of B.C. Lions will get five touchdowns next Saturday in the last game of the season stands between James and his second league scoring title.

When he won the first one in 1957 James scored 19 touchdowns — as WIFU record. Then he broke his leg and was out until late last year.

This season the 26 - year - old graduate of high school leagues in Winnipeg and Toronto added four — kicking to his rounded game.

While he scored only 10 touchdowns, Fleming collected 7 on converts, six field goals and four singles for a league-leading total of 114 points.

That's seven better than the 107 total piled up by Edmonton Eskimos' Jackie Parker on 10 touchdowns, 17 converts, nine field goals and three singles.

Fleming, tied for third with 84 points, has one more shot at the title when the Lions play host to Saskatchewan Roughriders in the final league game at Vancouver. Edmonton's Johnny Bright also has 84 points on 14 touchdowns.

Ken Linseman Junior Coach

KINGSTON (CP)—Ken Linseman, a former minor league hockey coach, has signed as coach of the Kingston Junior Frontenacs of the Eastern Ontario Junior B league for the 1960-61 season.

Linseman played four seasons with Toronto St. Michael's Majors of the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series. He also played Senior A hockey with Kingston and intercollegiate hockey with Queen's Golden Gaels and the University of Toronto Blues.

He coached last year in the minor league before accepting the coaching job with the Junior Frontenacs, a farm team of Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Broglio Gets Top Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Broglio, unimpressive as a rookie with St. Louis Cardinals a year ago, today was named the National League's sophomore of the year for 1960.

The big righthander, a 27-game winner was an overwhelming choice in the annual Associated Press poll of baseball writers. He received 165 of 189 votes cast.

Shortstop Maury Wills of Los Angeles Dodgers was second with 20 votes.

Broglio, formerly of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, really arrived after last year's 7-12 won-lost record and 4.12 earned run average as a rookie. The 25 - year - old hurler, sort only nine games and posted a 3.75 E.R.A. this season while working as a starter and in relief.

Broglio's .700 won-lost percentage was the second highest in the league. He ranked fourth in strikeouts with 137. Appearing in 52 games, Broglio started 21 times. Three of his nine complete games were shutouts.

REFEREES STRIKE

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Soccer referees went on strike Sunday in protest over the behavior of spectators and the Jamaica Football Association immediately suspended all future matches. Rev. Roy Campbell, a Catholic priest who is president of the referees' organization, said they struck in fear for their own safety because rows and riots have marked many matches recently.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks, defending Western Hockey League champions, are off to an even faster pace this season than they set at the start of the 1959-60 schedule.

They won their fourth straight game Tuesday night by edging Winnipeg Warriors 3-2 on centre Ron Hutchinson's overtime goal.

A Vancouver crowd of 7,169 saw Vancouver move into a first-place tie with Edmonton Flyers and Seattle Totems, who have each lost one game.

Frank Roggeveen and Orland Kurtenbach scored the other Vancouver goals. Gerry Brisson and Al Nicholson replied for Winnipeg.

WON'T BE MANAGER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams wants to stay in baseball but says he has "no desire or ambition to become a manager."

"I would like to work into the administrative end, but hope it would be in some role where I could be close to the players," the retired Boston Red Sox slugger told sports editor Tommy Devine of the Miami News.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

They dug a second grave yesterday in the "cemetery" that contains the remains of Eastern Ontario senior "A" hockey.

Over the murkiest resting place, they placed a headstone. On it was inscribed one word, "Whitby."

We wonder if it would have been proper to have had placed on the stone "Killed by the head that spawned it."

That inscription would be in common with a similar one that decorates the stone that marks the burying place of the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" League.

Without flowers or fanfare the club that blazed a meteoric path across the senior "A" hockey horizon in the short space of three years, slipped quietly into, what is hoped, temporary oblivion.

Was it the irony of fate or the result of well-laid plans that the club that wrote Canadian amateur hockey history in its brief life expectancy should rest in pieces beside the town that gave it birth?

This was no sudden demise like that of the parent Eastern senior "A" circuit. This was no Brutus-Cassius execution brought down suddenly on an unsuspecting Caesar carrying the league shield.

This was a lingering death, so to speak, with hope of life rising and falling for two or three weeks before the death blow was delivered.

It came not in the form of mechanical weapons but one that proved equally as lethal. It was the temptation of the "thing green," the coin of the realm, referred to exchange for hockey services.

As Whitby's Sandy Air put it, "We were all set to go with a lot of the Dunlops back in action. Then Lou John Henderson, who had worked hard with us contacting the town merchants, decided to take a fling at pro hockey. When he offered a contract to play weekend games, then a bonus on top. He dropped in like he asked."

This Department does not hold it against any hockey player if he takes the opportunity to "make a few bucks," as Henderson was quoted.

But if does seem passing strange that the professional interests which acquired his services waited until a week ago to decide that Henderson would fit into their scheme of things.

It has been brought to this department's attention, and with which it does not agree, that the Eastern Professional League should be headed by head and shoulders above that played in the old senior "A" circuit. It such is the case why did Manager Wren Blair of the Kingston Frontenacs figuratively speaking, consign all or nine out of five of the senior "A" Whitby Dunlops, and try to acquire more?

And it should be remembered this same Lou John Henderson now signed by professional interests, is the same goalkeeper who was backed up by the same Wren Blair during the 1958-59 world championships because of his lackadaisical play.

The natural deduction is that Henderson's play has improved considerably over that of his senior "A" years. We would rather believe the Eastern pro calibre of hockey is not what it is cracked up to be.

We hope and believe that Whitby will be back in the senior hockey fold next season. There are a lot of good hockey players and community-minded men in the town.

The Dunlops, as we knew them, were a distinct credit to Canada, to hockey and to their community. They made history and boost league, national and international records that no other city can lay claim to.

LATER

The graveyard gets bigger. After this morning's sport flash that Welland has dropped out, the eastern division of the OHA senior league may have a contribution to the cemetery corps.

Birds Share Scoring Loot

By ROGER TETREAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The current National Hockey League campaign is shaping up as a battle between the defending champion Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks, who now lead the league.

At the moment, the Hawks seem to have the upper hand in most departments.

Tuesday night, the Hawks defeated the Canadiens in Chicago 8-4—adding insult to injury after having beaten the Habs 4-3 on Montreal ice last Saturday.

Right winger Eddie Litzenberger scored two goals and two assists and left winger Bobby Hull was credited with two passes. Both are in a four-way tie for sixth place in the NHL scoring race.

FATTEN SCORING POINTS

Right winger Stan Mikita, who scored one goal and set up another and left winger Ron Murphy, with three assists, are two points behind with eight apiece.

Karl Balfour, Murray Balfour, Red Hay, Eric Nesterenko and Ab McDonald scored Chicago's other goals.

Dickie Moore counted twice for Montreal and Bill Hicke and Henri Richard added singles.

The Canadiens have dropped four of their last five games. Goalie Jacques Plante has allowed an average of four goals a game and four players are injured.

BORNE FROM RINK

Paul Goyette had to be carried out on a stretcher and defenceman Bob Turner and Bill Hicke had to undergo facial repairs Tuesday night.

Turner needed 10 stitches for a facial wound and Hicke nine.

Goyette was taken to hospital with what appeared to be a broken ankle. However, hospital authorities later said he was discharged after x-rays showed no damage to the ankle.

Some observers point to Plante as the possible reason for Canadiens' the showing.

In addition to the 12 goals the Hawks pumped past him in two games, Detroit scored six and Toronto three in Canadiens' two other defeats.

Plante, who boasts a lifetime average of 2.11, best among active goalkeepers, is in a slump —worst of his career—and has to show for it.

However, nothing seems to be wrong with the rest of the team —offensively.

Five Canadiens are in the top six positions in the scoring race and four of them—Moore, Bernie Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Richard—in the first four.

NBA Snatches Bauble

'Ole Arch' King Without A Crown

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Boxing Association has stretched a long arm across the Atlantic to snatch its light-heavyweight crown from ancient Archie Moore, who won it in 1952.

Moore failed to meet a 30-day time limit set at the NBA convention last Sept. 6 to complete arrangements for defence of his title against Eric Schoepper of Germany.

Moore, who lists his age at 43 but whose mother figures it at 47, is in Rome preparing to fight a non-title 10 rounder Saturday night against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Primal notice went to Moore from San Diego, Calif., in a letter from NBA president David Ott. Ott said Moore knew before he left for Italy that failure to arrange a bout with Schoepper would cost his NBA crown.

In addition to becoming a movie star and currently running for the California state assembly, Archie has defended his title eight times. He also got knocked out a couple of times during for the heavyweight title. His last was a third-round technical knockout of Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., Aug. 12, 1958.

Meets Western Winner

Halimi Seeks World Title

LONDON (AP) — Alphonse Halimi, the newly-crowned bantam-weight champion of half the world, Tuesday he's out to make himself the undisputed champion of the whole world—by taking on the winner of the Nov. 17 fight in Los Angeles.

Halimi won the European version of the world title by grabbing a controversial 15-round decision over British and European champion Freddie Gilroy Tuesday night.

The American National Boxing Association did not recognize the fight as a world championship and said the contest between Eder Jofre of Brazil and Eloy Sanchez of Mexico, to be staged Nov. 17 would be for the world title.

The confusion over the world title arose by the retirement of Mexico's Raul Becerra.

Belgian referee Philippe de Becker gave Halimi, the 29-year-old French-Algerian, the verdict over Gilroy, despite the views of most ringside observers that the 24-year-old Irishman had done enough to win.

The decision brought loud boos from the crowd of 11,000.

In the ninth round Halimi suffered a badly cut eye that turned his face into a crimson mess.

Halimi, world bantamweight champion between 1957 and July, 1959, scored the only real knockdown of the fight, in the 13th.

After the fight, Philippe Filipi, Halimi's manager, said his man definitely would meet the winner of the Los Angeles fight to sort out the tangle of the world championship.

Race for Major League Berth

Toronto Rated Long Shot

NEW YORK (CP)—Toronto's baseball bid to join the American League has to be rated a long, long shot at this time, for the present.

Los Angeles, together with the Texas cities of Dallas - Fort Worth and Minnesota's Minneapolis-St. Paul, appear to be first among the applicants as league officials meet today to work out plans for expansion and perhaps final clarifying of the present eight-team setup.

But anything could happen.

Tough persistent Joe Cronin put it this way:

"We're hopeful of coming out of the meeting with two new cities, but I don't want to make a prediction as to when it will happen."

EXPANDING

The American League voted last month to expand to 10 teams. The National League already has done so, taking in New York and Houston, Tex.

Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Toronto International Le a g u e baseball club, is making a determined bid to bring an American League franchise to Toronto.

He has written to league officials outlining the reasons he feels Toronto deserves the nod. He has said also, he realizes what Toronto civic officials decide, he will provide a 50,000-seat stadium for the League if they are given the franchise.

American League club owners are reported agreed on bringing Los Angeles into the fold. They feel a franchise in this rich territory would help offset the National League's grab of the New York and Houston plums.

DELAYED METHOD

But there is divergent opinion on how os Angeles should be brought in.

A group headed by Bill Veeck of Chicago White Sox wants the league to open a franchise to Los Angeles, along with Dallas-Fort Worth. Another group headed by co-owner Dan Topping of New York Yankees feels the Kansas City franchise should go to Los Angeles, opening the way for approval of new franchises in Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth.

It is also reported Washington Senators want to switch to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

It takes a three-fourths vote to approve any shift or granting of new franchises.

There are doubts Toronto can live up that kind of support.

But co-owner Del Webb of the Yankees said Toronto could not be counted out.

"Toronto isn't bad at all. Cooke is a good operator."

Hole-in-Heart Boxer Loses First Fight

LONDON (AP)—Eddie Bestie, the "hole in the heart" Canadian fighter, suffered his first professional defeat in 21 fights Tuesday night, before the two-listed attack of Englishman Phil McGrath in a lightweight bout over 10 rounds.

Referee Jack Hart lifted McGrath's hand at the end of the 10th round and gave the English man a points decision.

The crowd of 11,000 at London's indoor Wembley Stadium cheered the verdict—one that McGrath well deserved by slugging tactics mixed with ring skill that left Bestie worried and puzzled.

Bestie, a native of Scotland who now lives at Hamilton, Ont., is Canadian lightweight champion. He did well in the early stages and opened a cut over McGrath's right eye in the third. But McGrath came back with a vicious two-handed attack to the body to which Bestie had little answer.

McGrath cut the bridge of Bestie's nose in the seventh round.

Bestie, who boxed for Canada as a lightweight in the 1956 Olympic Games, turned professional shortly afterward.

He had five fights and was coming up for his sixth when, during a medical examination, a doctor detected a heart murmur.

Checks followed and it was found that Bestie had been born with a hole in his heart. An operation followed and it was so successful that after a year he was back in the ring.

Bestie weighed 135½ pounds and McGrath 135½.

SIGN FOR BOUT

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Hank of Detroit and Ace Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J., signed Tuesday for a televised 10-round middleweight fight Nov. 19 in Madison Square Garden.

The Welland Warriors hockey club, member of the eastern division of the OHA senior hockey league, announced its withdrawal last night.

The announcement was made through news outlets by the team manager Tom Brook.

OHA secretary manager Bill Hanley and eastern division convenor Cecil Cook of Kingston had not been officially informed of the withdrawal at an early hour today.

If the announcement becomes official, and OHA efforts fail, the Welland withdrawal means the collapse of the eastern division of the league.

OHA president Ken McMillan made a hurried trip to Welland this morning to confer with manager Brook.

Contacted by telephone, Mr. Cook said, "I would not call off the Belleville - Welland game (scheduled for Friday night here) yet."

"Welland has already played one game in the league defeating Oakville 9-4. Belleville is in Welland last Friday night. They owe an obligation to Belleville."

Besides," added Mr. Cook, "the league or division was already under way. Last night Galt defeated Oakville 8-1 in a scheduled fixture."

The news dispatch stated that Welland executives and players had made their decision to withdraw because they felt they couldn't operate financially in a four-team league.

Manager Brook said another reason for the decision was information that Oakville had been granted six games off the regular schedule and would make up the shortages by playing four-point games.

Conveney Cook had called a special meeting of the group for Saturday to discuss the four-team schedule. He said desperate efforts would be made to bring Welland back into the fold.

As of now the situation is up in the air.

In the Galt-Oakville game last night, Butch Martin, ex-Dutchman, paced the Terriers' 8-1 victory with two goals. Other Galt marksmen were Bill Wylie, Ab Martin, Joe Hogan, George Zak and Gene Miller. Tom Rendall scored for the Oaks.

Gabe Paul Quits as Reds Boss

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gabe Paul resigned as general manager of the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday to take a similar job with Houston, which will have a team in the National League in 1962. His successor was not named.

The affable Gabe, who joined the Reds' organization in 1936, said he is starting "right now to make Houston a power in the National League."

His new three-year contract is with the Houston Sports Association which recently was granted a franchise in the National League along with New York.

The 50-year-old Paul told reporters: "I think the other major league clubs will know they have competition in signing the young stars."

If Paul follows custom, Houston is in for a lot of action. He started virtually from scratch in Cincinnati and with many trades was generally successful until the last couple of seasons.

He was censured by some fans for making trades in 1959 which sent Don Hoak, Smoky Burgess and Harvey Haddix to Pittsburgh for Frank Thomas. Thomas batted a year. The three traded players helped Pittsburgh win the National League pennant and the world series this year.

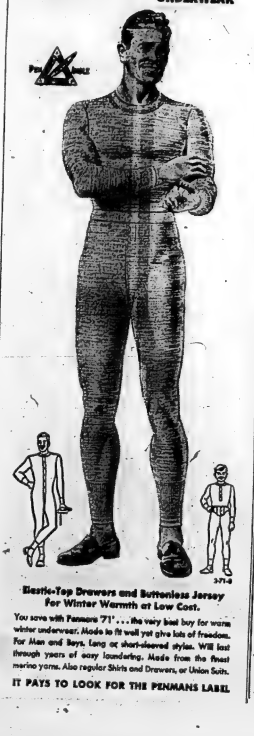
If They Finish First

Riders Won't Lose Bonus



OTTAWA (CP)—An official of the Ottawa Rough Riders said Tuesday that the players won't lose any money if they finish first in the Big Four football league standings and earn a bye into the finals.

A spokesman of the team, tied now with Toronto Argonauts at the top of the league ladder, said that "unofficially, I believe the boys will be rewarded for 'missing' the semi-final game."

Ottawa is at Hamilton Saturday and Montreal at Toronto Sunday in the season's final games. If both Toronto and Ottawa win and remain tied for first place, Ottawa will draw a bye into the finals on the strength of its better scoring against Toronto during the season.

The Riders may be without the services Saturday of big defensive end Jon Jalacic, who injured his knee in last Saturday's game against Toronto.

Big Bad Tax Man Scared 'Em

BOSTON (AP) — Two big winners left their money in the window at Suffolk Downs when they apparently spied a United States Internal revenue agent waiting to identify them.

Their payoffs of $2,154.50 Monday night each were won on a double double — they picked the winners of four harness races in a combination called a "twin double."

The internal revenue service has required in a recent ruling that all winners of more than $600 on single events are to be identified by the tracks. The government is not, apparently, relying on the tracks to identify the multiple race winners.

May Gather Loop Title

MONTREAL (CP) — Head coach Ferry Moss of Montreal Alouettes says his revived Als may become Big Four league champions.

Coupled with this optimistic view, Moss is conjuring up something special for Toronto Argos when the Als meet them in Toronto next Sunday. The something is a combination wave and method of squelching the passing of Johnny Rote.

"Don't count us out as Big Four champions," proclaims Moss.

He added, "We've won five of 13 games. That's more than most critics figured for us. And we lost two games by a single point, one to Argos and one to Hamilton, both games on our home field.

"Right now I think we have the potential to pull a playoff berth."

Looking to the job ahead next Sunday, Moss considered that it may be the Argos who will be the opponents in the first playoff.

The Als may dress Meco Politini, rookie draft choice from University of Western Ontario, who suffered a shoulder separation several weeks ago.

May Get Hall of Fame

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston's determination to have its own hockey hall of fame is a step closer to realization Tuesday after city council unanimously approved a bylaw providing $25,000 towards construction.

The hall will be built on the grounds of the Kingston Community Centre. The $35,000 boosts to $110,000 the fund presently held by the hall trustees, a group of Kingston men.

Decision of the National Hockey League to locate the International Hockey Hall of Fame in the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto has failed to dissuade the Kingston group in its plan to erect a hall of fame here.

Rigney May Manage Tigers

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Rigney who managed the San Francisco Giants to two consecutive third-place finishes before he was dismissed last June, may soon be named manager of the Detroit Tigers, The Associated Press learned Tuesday.

Rigney, who will be 43 years old next Saturday, is expected to get the job before the major-minor league winter meetings open on Nov. 28.

Detroit has been without a manager since early this month when Joe Gordon resigned and several days later signed a two-year contract to pilot the Kansas City Athletics.

Rigney, who spent his entire major league career in the National League, now has his own radio program in Oakland.

a Crown corporation to help put out a 100-per-cent Canadian car.

A third brief from the Interprovincial Farm Union Council said higher tariffs to protect Canadian auto makers from cheap imports would slash farm export sales.

"Increased tariff protection would do no more than provide further comfort to the fat-cat, status-seeking style race to which the North American industry has become addicted," said the farm brief which followed the same stand the council took earlier in urging that no steps be taken to shut out textile imports from Japan, a good customer.

As a trading nation, with one-fifth of her exports in farm products, Canada could not afford to boost prices for United Kingdom or West German autos, said the council which represents 60,000 farm families in the four western provinces and Ontario.

OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

It made these suggestions instead:

1. Trim the number of models in Canada, cut in Canada, make a low-cost Canadian car capable of competing with imports, and curb yearly design changes.

2. Study cuts in overhead—advertising, sales promotion and the like—to bring about lower prices.

3. Study possibilities of Canadian manufacture of parts to be assembled here, or, alternatively, study removal of tariffs on American-made parts to encourage production of lower-cost cars here.

4—Have the industry itself study the possibility of Canadian plants turning out—in addition to a low-cost car—limited numbers of American models now made in the U.S. and which could be sold in the U.S., Canada or abroad.

CRITICIZES IMPORTS

The main UAW brief said 1959 Canadian production was 301,000 units compared with record sales of 425,000. It was obvious auto makers weren't putting out the kind of car wanted by the public.

It flayed corporations such as General Motors and Ford of Canada for meeting the Canadian market appetite for low - priced cars with Ford and GM products from overseas.

"As a consequence of decisions made largely in Detroit, Canada is deprived of a healthy automobile industry and thousands of Canadians are deprived of their livelihood," it said. Only with a great reluctance, after much prodding, had Ford, GM and Chrysler moved to make the low-compact cars now selling well in Canada.

Yet one out of every five automotive production job opportunities available in 1956 seemed to have vanished and Ford and GM had announced more layoffs.

The only point where the UAW brief agreed with the manufacturers' position already outlined to the commission was in urging abolition of the 7½-per-cent excise tax.

PERHAPS A BOARD

In its suggestion for study of industry integration the UAW suggested that perhaps a Canada-U.S. board comprising representatives of management, labor and government could be appointed to keep a constant check on each company's allocation of production.

To be realistic, said the UAW, it must be recognized that—for Canadian industry is dominated by the American owners.

It also asked a full study of industry costs to see whether prices in Canada merely reflect U.S. prices regardless of costs. If said only Ford of Canada, GM and Chrysler now publish financial data and this data is combined with all international operations of the companies.

Tariffs were overdue for revision and the Canadian-content requirement—set at 60 per cent for Canadian-made cars where production exceeds 20,000 units—should be shunted up to 75 per cent.

It also plumped for manufacture in Canada of foreign-type small autos and singled out GM's British Vauxhall, now the leading foreign seller in Canada, as a likely candi candidate but that, if Volkswagens were admitted free to Canada, the firm would purchase components from Canada to an agreed dollar value.

There were many obstacles in price and distance, he told Dr. Bladen, who had asked him for his views on the idea, "but definitely it can be explored."

Mr. Rootes, speaking for the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders Limited, organization of the British automobile industry, said United Kingdom firms assemble their motor products in many countries of the world.

Among the obstacles to assembling in Canada were that it was so much easier for the U.S. manufacturer to do so, it would be more difficult to produce at an economic rate with the smaller volume of production, and "our labor costs are somewhat lower."

Distance is a great handicap, he said. British cars could be shipped to British Columbia through the Panama Canal at a lower rate than shipping them by transcontinental rail.

MODIFY STANDS

Dr. Bladen drew from both manufacturers evidence of a shaded lean in the British and Volkswagen briefs that they were cultivating a new market and not cutting in on Canadian production.

Dr. Bladen commented to Mr. Rootes that a great degree of British competition on the Canadian market seems to come from two American firms producing overseas rather than from distinctly British firms.

"Take out Ford and General Motors and we wouldn't be too worried about British imports," he said.

QUESTIONS STAND

In his questioning, Dr. Bladen took particular pains with a statement in the British brief that Britain's success here has been with a new type of car owner—that imports should be regarded as an addition to the total sales of motor vehicles achieved by Canadian producers.

The commissioner asked Mr. Rootes whether he was prepared to stand by the flat statement that Britain has developed a new segment of the motor car market with no harm done to the Canadian producer.

For example, if there had been 10,000 fewer imports, car sales in Canada would have dropped by that number.

Mr. Rootes said he wouldn't go to that extreme but continued to defend the British position on the basis of the brief.

"Surely we have to agree these are not two separate markets and what you sell affects the domestic market," Dr. Bladen said.

"We enable people to buy a new car who could not otherwise afford one," Mr. Rootes said.

A LITTLE BELOW

Dr. Bladen said the British export price seems generally a little below the British domestic price, and I think the Canadian public is entitled to consider if our domestic producers have to compete with importers selling below or at domestic price."

The British spokesman said the over-all trade balance between the two countries favoring Canada—must be taken into consideration. "If we go on with a continued adverse balance of trade it is going to be very difficult."

Dr. Bladen noted that British cars come into Canada duty-free while Britain imposes a 20-per-cent duty on Canadian vehicles. Mr. Rootes said Britain, if it gave a reduction to Canada, would have to do the same for other most - favored nations in trade.

Mr. Jansen said he would go along with Dr. Bladen in saying German exports to Canada are at least competitive in part but said in his view German cars are more unique in their features than the British product.

TOUCH TAX ISSUE

Questioning of Mr. Rootes and Mr. Jansen touched on the higher valuation tax purposes that the Canadian government is expected to place on British and European cars starting Dec. 1.

Mr. Rootes said it is impossible to give an exact figure but, as a guide, "on a British car selling in volume in this country the cost to the importer will be increased by about $150."

The Volkswagen representative said part of the increase — his firm hadn't calculated it yet — might be absorbed by the factory.

ing."

A purse found among the bricks was the first sign searchers found of Mrs. Pauline Montgomery. Hours later friends located her body at the morgue and broke the news to her five children.

Mrs. Anne Marie Prodeous, 28, who worked as a cook at the grill, was killed when the floor under the lunch counter collapsed, carrying customers and staff into the wreckage below.

One of the customers who took the life of Montreal - born Mrs. Anne Dobransky, 49, who was having a soft drink with her four-year-old grandson, Jeffrey.

ESCAPES

"I heard a crash and never seen grandma no more," said the boy from his hospital bed. He escaped severe injury.

One of the lucky escape stories came from Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson of Windsor, in the basement of the store when the building blew up.

"We heard a bang," Anderson said. "I grabbed my wife and threw her to the floor with me on top. When the smoke cleared we could see the stairs and the main floor. We picked our way through the wreckage. . . ."

Mrs. John Bate, 25, carried her two children unharmed out of the building. She was scarrying one-year-old Michael and leading Sally, 3, as they stepped into the basement.

CHILD SCREAMS

"Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion. Everything went black. I could taste the smoke or gas . . . in my mouth. I hung on to Michael and I could hear Sally screaming 'Mommy, Mommy.' When the smoke cleared I could see her a few feet in front of me."

When Mrs. Bate got out she found her mother, Mrs. Wesley Tierney of nearby Riverside, was still in the basement.

"I tried to get back but the rescue workers wouldn't let me."

Mrs. Tierney was helped out unharmed.

"I screamed and screamed for my daughter," she said. "I've never hollered so loud and so often in my whole life."

Astrological Forecast

General Tendencies: You have it in your mind to make some pretty drastic changes now, but you had better make sure they are really what you want, for some very unpleasant events can occur through lack of careful thinking or inadequate plans to meet whatever the situation happens to be. Double-check all facets. Wait till better day before making any decisions.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — You will find that an associate may reach certain conclusions which an expert advisor may not concur at all, so that you will be quite confused how to proceed. It is best to wait for time. Reach own decision after serious thought.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A situation that concerns you specifically will be looked at in entirely different light by politicians and higher-ups. Stall for time. Be sure you think out every possible angle before reaching any definite decision.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — If you keep busily occupied in particular, job, co-workers will not be able to coerce you into following any course which you feel is not according to your ideals. Time will solve the problem wisely — use great will power.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — Your intuition should not be relied upon today for some important matter, nor the advice of another, since both are fallacious and others concur. Await a better day to come to a decision. Keep busy making payments, collections, etc.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) — This is one of those days when you want you to follow their advice, and those in the business world think theirs is best for you. Be grateful for any interest shown, but do nothing that might regret later. Think and garner further data.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to ...ept. 22) — Any advice you get today may seem to conflict with what you have proven through own experience, but if you are receptive to new ideas, you can combine both successfully and reach your goals. Nobody knows it all.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Be factual — you do not have the wherewithal to embark on that recreational plan you desire to put in operation. So, keep working diligently and start saving methodically.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Be very certain you do not start any arguments at home which could lead to distressing misunderstandings that could be very serious. Keep at your job diligently and in P.M. be charming. Take health treatments you need.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Instead of wasting a great deal of time doing research that is also laborious, a good talk with friends or neighbors will reveal all that you want to know. P.M. take it easy while driving. Avoid that petty gossip.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) —While you are sorely tempted to have a serious altercation with partners, this would only have dire results. Be sure you are more understanding instead and cement better relations. Cooperate more fully than in the past, too.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) —Higher-ups and outside persons of influence in your life all seem to be in a non-receptive mood today, as be sure not to force anything. Be very diplomatic or you lose support. P.M. fix wardrobe, hair — be more glamorous.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Fretting over private problems will not help at all, but if you use a different phychology or method, you can solve them very easily. However, be sure you consider the feeling of others connected with them. Use diplomacy.

If Your Child is Born Today— he, or she, is one of those youngsters who has a very changeable disposition, and you must early teach that one must have a fixed purpose in life if the greatest success is to be achieved. Give the benefit of fine sports to properly utilize energy in this chart. Your progeny will do well in any work connected with the government or any New-Age occupations. A college education is a must here.

DRIVES LAST SPIKE — Major J. L. Charles, Canadian National Railways consulting engineer, uses a gasoline-powered spike driver to hammer the final spike on a new CNR branch line in northern Manitoba. The spike of almost pure zinc marked completion of the 52-mile rail line linking zinc and copper mines at Chisel Lake with the smelter centre of Flin Flon. (CP Photo).

Arrival of First CNR Train At Chisel Lake Created As Much Stir as Royalty

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHISEL LAKE, Man. (CP)—Extra 1389, so designated in the Canadian National Railways train sheet on its new Chisel Lake subdivision, created as much stir in this northern Manitoba mining community as any royal train could ever achieve.

The train was the first officially to run on the 53 - mile branch completed late this summer to link the copper and zinc mines in this area with the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company's big smelter at Flin Flon, some 60 miles away. Hundreds officials of the railway and the mining firm, along with a load of newspaper, radio and television men, for the formal ceremony of driving the last spike.

Virtually all of the 1,000 people who live at nearby Snow Lake, which serves as the residential centre for the mines here and at Stall Lake some four miles away, turned out at the railhead to watch Maj. J. L. Charles, the CNR's consulting engineer who plotted the railway's third branch line to be built in the area in the last seven years, hammer in the spike and signal the start of traffic that will average 1,000 tons of ore daily between here and Flin Flon.

SPEEDY CONSTRUCTION

Maj. Charles performed the ceremony in the modern way—with a gasoline-powered spiking machine that drove the symbolic zinc spike, made with metal from the mine, down in less than three seconds.

It was typical of the way the branch was pushed through in less than two years. Once the roadbed was down the rails followed along, thanks to the modern track-laying machinery, at almost walking pace. The tough part of the job was cutting the right-of-way through the bleak, rocky bushland and pouring in countless tons of fill to provide a solid bed over the swampy muskeg.

Extra 1389 of course wasn't the first arrival here on the railroad. Work trains had been in and out during the construction and ore cars and a switching engine were all ready to start handling the dusty grey ore conveyed to the mine.

As the crowd's cheers mingled with the sound of the spike being driven in, a carload of ore roared down from the overhead storage bin into a spanking new ore car. The switcher pushed the car on the newly driven spike and it was coupled on to the official train for the run to the Flin Flon smelter.

REBIRTH OF TOWN

The cheering reflected the rebirth of Snow Lake, a former gold town whose miner had played out and was closed in 1958. Later the zinc and copper deposits were discovered nearby, and Hudson Bay Mining had a ready - made community. Now some 45 new houses are being built in addition to the more than 100 already there, and school facilities are being doubled for the miners' growing families.

"With the railroad through, it looks as if we're here to stay," said one of the helmeted miners who had gathered with his shift to watch the ceremony.

The light diesel numbered 1389 —extra trains get their numbers from the engine pulling them—turned on the "Y" siding and pointed back toward Flin Flon. The ore car was in the place of honor up front, followed by a diner, a sleeping car and two private cars of officials.

As it pulled out with the branch line's first payload of ore, the Chisel Lake subdivision was officially in business.

DISASTER

high as 13, but were cut when doctors began piecing together mangled forms.

Joseph Halford, 34, store manager, was badly burned in the blast. From his hospital bed he gave his version of what happened:

"I was helping to instal a new heating unit in the boiler room. We had turned on the gas but nothing came out but air. We then decided, after 15 minutes, to try something else since no gas was coming.

"A plumber's helper got a larger wrench and opened the five-inch valve from the main. More air rushed in and with it must have come gas. We had a small summer heater burning in one corner of the room.

"I guess when the escaping gas hit that everything went. The roof fell in.

"Another man, Larry Levesque, a stock clerk, and myself found ourselves under piles of rubble, but still able to move. We saw what looked like daylight through a small hole in the back wall. We crawled toward it and helped each other through.

"There were live high-tension wires down outside and I tried to help keep people away from them. Then they took me in an ambulance."

NEAR THE REAR

Mr. Crozier said early reports indicated the explosion originated near the rear of the building where the gas line was being installed as the store switched its heating from coal to natural gas. He said the Iroquois gas line had been inspected by the Windsor building department last Monday.

R. M. Perkins, branch manager for Union Gas Company, which services the area with natural gas, said his company could make no statement until engineers have had a chance to examine the wreckage.

Search and inspection work during the night was hampered by tottering piles of masonry and brick, forcing diggers to shore up the rubble as they dug through.

Mr. Perkins said a gas conversion burner was being installed in the building. A construction crew had installed a service line from a main along Pelissier Street into the back of the store.

A Union Gas crew hooked up the service Monday. A plumbing contractor working for union gas went into the building Tuesday to connect the conversion unit to the furnace to the meter.

Joseph Unger, president of Metropolitan Stores Limited, said the company has not been able to estimate damage. Metropolitan Stores leased the building from Principal Investments of Toronto.

The back of the building was ripped off, the debris crashing into a lane at the rear. The building is a few doors south on Park Street, a stone's throw from the Windsor-Detroit tunnel.

The rear of the building resembled a battleground but the front where the structure is faced with granite blocks, remained intact.

Some of the victims died where they sat at the lunch counter. Others were thrown through the front of the store and across the street by the blast and suffered lacerations.

Windsor Fire Chief Edward Kelly said $2,000,000 damage was caused to the building of Adirondack-Multigraph of Canada Limited.

The Metropolitan Store was opened at 439 Ouellette Avenue Feb. 3, 1949, as a building providing 30,000 square feet of selling space with business offices on the second floor. It stretched 195 feet along Ouellette and went back 104 feet to the lane.

The basement and main floor were given over to selling and the top floor held stock rooms, staff quarters and private offices.

The front portion of the top floor housed the general business offices.

The entire front of the store was plate glass on the first floor and it was this glass which flew across the street like shrapnel.

Two sets of stairs led to the basement where women's ready-to-wear goods were carried in one section while another featured household goods, furnishings and toys.

Food was brought from the basement kitchen to the lunch-eonette by dumb waiter. The luncheonette was located along the rear west wall of the building immediately above the basement area where the blast occurred.

MORTGAGE LOANS — NOTICE

To those contemplating building or re-financing we suggest getting applications in as early as possible. We do our own inspections and valuations and can, therefore, give immediate action. Advisory service free. Money advanced as building progresses.

Papers Obtain Secret Report On U.S. Prestige

Confidence in Britain In U.S. Leadership Low

Want to Repeal Heartbreak Law In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—South African newspaper headlined: "A kiss is not an immoral act."

This was no joke, but a serious headline which became part of a campaign for repeal of what some jurists call South Africa's Heartbreak Law.

This is a series of criminal law commonly referred to as the Immorality Act to prevent sexual relations between whites and non-whites (Negroes, mixed-bloods or Asians).

The incident that produced the headline occurred when a white man made advances to a Negro woman and managed to kiss her. The man was charged under the Immorality Act but was acquitted, his lawyer pleading that to commit an indecency under the law requires sexual relations.

A leading South African jurist says this country, under white supremist government, stands alone in the world in such a law. The maximum penalty of seven years in prison has never been imposed. But there is so much shame attached to a conviction that it can ruin a man's career or break up a family.

MAY REPEAL

Recently the Afrikaner-dominated government let it be known that it is considering restricting the press by publishing only the initials of persons convicted under the Immorality Act. Some English - language newspapers said this was only a manoeuvre to avoid embarrassment, because many of the men caught in the terrorist sexual relations are Afrikaners.

Prosecutions under the Immorality Act are increasing. Judges in Johannesburg dealt with 30 of six months. Most of these involved white men and black women, although there have been some cases of white women involved with Indian men.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times and the Washington Post have disclosed what they say is a confidential government survey made last June reporting a U.S. loss of prestige with the British and French public.

The Post says it obtained a copy of the summary, compiled by the U.S. Information Agency's office of research and analysis. The newspaper also says the summary was prepared for the National Security Council of which Vice-President Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, is vice-chairman.

The Times, publishing the full text of the summary as well as the story, notes that the survey is not the opinion analysis referred to last week by Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee. Fulbright had been seeking copies of foreign report dated Aug. 29 as well as what he termed a later "barometer survey" by the agency.

CLAIMS U.S. SLIPPING

Senator John Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has charged that American prestige is slipping.

Kennedy, arriving in New York by plane today, declined to comment on the Fulbright survey. He also said he had not seen the newspaper stories.

Nixon has contended United States prestige is at an all-time high. He said last night in a television debate with Kennedy that he has no objection to release of USIA poll findings.

The report disclosed by both newspapers still is classified as secret by the Eisenhower administration.

In a speech last Thursday night in San Francisco, President Eisenhower said a loss of U.S. leadership or prestige among European powers is the abasement of the free world.

There was no immediate White House comment on publication of the report.

FIGURES THE SAME

The percentage figures published by both The Times and The Post are the same.

The Times says a survey based on an opinion sample of 1,000 in Britain and France in the French residents made late in May, gave these major conclusions:

1. "Though the U.S.S.R. is blamed more than the U.S. (mid-May) summit conference, a majority blamed both sides at least in part.

2. "Favorable opinion for the United States is not high enough for President Eisenhower has declined during the past year to the collapse.

3. "Particularly in Great Britain, current confidence is low in the leadership capacity for leadership in dealing with present world problems.

GOLD RESERVES FALL

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—South Africa's gold and foreign exchange reserves fell by £4,000,000 during the week ended Oct. 21 to £89,407,325, the Reserve Bank's weekly statement shows. The reserves now are 'lower than £83,000,000 lower than at March 21.

Vitamin Pills' Ingredients Mostly Useless

VANCOUVER (CP) — Most of the ingredients found in many multi-vitamin pills and diet supplements now on the market are of no value whatever for routine use by the vast majority of adults or children, a spokesman for a well-balanced diet, the British Columbia Medical Association said Wednesday.

In a statement Dr. Gordon Ferguson, the association's executive director, said the association's committee on nutrition has studied reports of sales campaigns in the United States for vitamin and multi-vitamin and mineral preparations.

"Certainly there is no justification for anyone embarking on a plan of purchasing multi-mineral supplements to the extent of spending several hundred dollars annually to their own physician," the statement said.

NEW NAVY TRAINER

THREE BULLETS IN BACK KILL GANG VICTIM

Body Propped Up Against Garage Wall

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto man was gunned down in gangster style early today, shot once in the back of the head and twice in the back.

The body found beside a garage off east-central Milan Street was identified later as that of Lorne Gibson, 52, of no known occupation.

Detectives said Gibson, expensively dressed, apparently had been made to face a wall for gangland execution in the city's seamy "Cabbagetown" district.

The body was found by a salvage collector, Madison Wilcox, who had gone to pick up his push-cart in a laneway in the old residential district.

Gibson was lying with his head propped up against the garage wall.

"I thought he had had too much to drink and had passed out," Wilcox told police. "I shook him but got no response."

The body was found at about 5:30 a.m., but apparently the killing had taken place some hours before.

Ernest Bonneau, a resident of the district, said he was watching a crime programme before midnight when he heard what he thought were three shots.

There was no report, followed by a pause, and then two more in rapid succession.

He also heard what he believed to be a car roaring off.

Investigators said the slaying had all the earmarks of a gangland execution.

When found, Gibson was wearing a light tan car coat, an expensive single-breasted light brown suit and dessert-type shoes. He had on a gold tie clip and matching cufflinks.

Labor, Farmers and Jobless Speak Their Pieces on Cars

OTTAWA (CP)—Suggestions to help the Canadian auto industry, selling in sales and employment as foreign imports flourish, continued to pile up Wednesday before a royal commission which passed the halfway point in its week-long public inquiry.

Labor, farm groups, communities and unemployed spoke their pieces before Professor Vincent Bladen, Toronto, the economist who forms the one-man commission.

After hearing from producers of Canadian and foreign cars earlier, Dr. Bladen said that while he is anxious to make a quick report he still feels answers to a number of problems.

A "Beaver" car, "Bread-and-Butter" cars and a mythical "car called Desire" cruised before the commission.

Prof. Bladen hung the tag of "the utility, austerity Canadian Beaver" on a suggestion that Canada turn out its own economy car—through a public utility monopoly if necessary.

Gordon L. Lambert, presenting a brief by the National Canadian Automobile Sales Intercorporation Council of the United Automobile Workers, said the American-style bread-and-butter car is the lower-priced type in each maker's stable. He said constant style changes, caused by annual redesigning, force layoffs up to six or seven weeks for some employees.

The car called Desire never was identified although it kept cropping up in lighter - hearted moments during the day.

Various witnesses testified to Canada's ability to produce more of the parts that go into the American - style autos manufactured here but the question of achieving cost-cutting volume remained.

"You have to be very careful in increasing Canadian content that you don't kill the industry," Dr. Bladen remarked at one point. At another, he said he must explore the possibility that mutual benefit to both the U.S. and the American-dominated Canadian industry would result from more integration of the two industries.

Lower costs and increased sales might result if engineering economies existed whereby Canadian producers could have access to the U.S. market in exchange for U.S. opening to some U.S. auto products.

Objection to it at expressed Wednesday by some segments of the UAW, he said, appeared to be based either on nationalism

Kennedy Speeches Appeal To Country's Sense of Pride

ABOARD KENNEDY PLANE (CP)—John Kennedy pours out speeches like a human boiler factory. Invariably, they appeal to the country's sense of pride and to the failure of Republicans, and the Republican administration.

In an eight-hour run through Detroit Wednesday, the Democratic presidential candidate delivered six speeches, all in sequence urging the United States to "get back on the move" and he had on a gold tie clip and matching cufflinks.

Undaunted and smiling broadly, the playwright once more addressed the audience.

"You're all welcome," he shouted. "Can you hear me? Can you hear me in the mezzanine? How about the balcony?"

The audience responded with applause and laughter.

"Thank you, Behan said. Then he confided, "I had a fulltime job with my wife, and it lasted all day."

The curtain dropped and later the playwright's wife arrived. She presented him a costume cloak from the play and took him back to their hotel.

Behan ordered a few drinks there and regaled dining room patrons with a round of songs before his wife took him upstairs.

The flareup was the playwright's first since he arrived in the United States in September. Preceded by a prodigious reputation for drinking and merry-making during performances in London, Behan announced on his arrival that he was finally "off the stuff—for health's sake.

Ebullient Irish Playwright Puts on Act for N.Y. Audience

NEW YORK (AP) — Brendan Behan, the ebullient Irish playwright, staged a verbal performance of his London arrest in the Green Room of the Hostage at the Cort Theatre on West 48th Street Wednesday night.

Behan marched down the aisle in his pin - striped prisoner's garb, leaning against the playwright through and interrupted the performance to take a bow.

Then he turned to almost actors and actresses in the world — and a good play. If you don't believe it, God's give a damn!"

He started back up the middle aisle and seemed to stumble. Some member of the cast rushed to his assistance, and the playwright was helped onto the stage where he tried to join the ensemble in a song.

The curtain was quickly lowered and Behan temporarily vanished as the play resumed.

He reappeared at the finale, stepped perceptibly and was greeted by his fellow cast members.

Nixon, if Elected, Would Send Lodge for Talks in Russia

WITH NIXON (AP) — Vice-President Richard Nixon came to Ohio today confident voters that if he's elected, he'll running a mix. Henry Cabot Lodge will go immediately to Geneva to negotiate with Russia on a nuclear testing ban.

Should the Russians agree to foolproof inspection under which military tests would be banned, Nixon said, he would be willing to meet in a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain to make the agreement final.

Should no agreement be obtained by Feb. 1, and he is then president, Nixon said, he would order resumption of underground shots. Thus Nixon proposed an 80-day post-election deadline for a test-ban treaty.

The Republican presidential nominee's virtual ultimatum to the Russians came in a speech to a House approval. It came Wednesday night in Toledo, Ohio, between speeches in which Nixon called on voters to support him for the presidency, he said, he has sat in on and supported Eisenhower decisions on foreign policy.

Nixon announced Wednesday night that the Russians have set off at least one large underground explosion and several smaller ones, while the U.S. has not fired any.

The Soviets have insisted these are high explosives and not nuclear shots, the vice-president said.

BLOODLESS COUP BY ARMY JUNTA IN EL SALVADOR

President Lemus Has Vanished

SAN SALVADOR (AP)—A civilian military-civilian junta held power today in El Salvador after a swift and bloodless coup.

Strong-arm President Jose Maria Lemus had vanished. There were reports the 49-year-old soldier-politician and his financial American republic was seeking refuge in neighboring Guatemala or the United States.

The little coffee-growing country has been seething for months with demands for social and economic changes. Government officials of the 2,500,000 people are apprehensive, passively dominated by a small number of wealthy, plantation-owning families. The army long has influenced politics.

The coup came amid martial law and a state of emergency proclaimed last Saturday night after demonstrations in favor of Christian Democrat Party candidates for mayor of San Salvador and several injured.

GUARANTEE RIGHTS

Thousands gathered outside at the new cabinet was sworn in at the presidential palace. The junta of three civilians and three civilians who led the uprising pledged to guarantee the constitution, guarantee the rights of citizens and hold free elections in 1962, when Lemus' term of office would expire.

Col. Alberto Escamilla, former minister of defense, was named to head the Lemus government secretariat. Ten years ago, was named to the key job of minister of interior. There were no holdovers in the junta.

Dr. Rene Fortin Magana, one of the civilian members of the junta, told the crowd:

"Because we believe that you deserve more than a crumb of bread and justice is precisely why we are here."

Fortin promised a government in which "the voice of society would be represented.

Not all members of the units are Col. Miguel Angel Castillo, former director of the General Treasury; Lt. Col. Jose Alfredo Ynenes Yaras and Maj. Alonso Romero.

Besides Fortin the other two civilian members are Tavio Contilla Figueroa and Ricardo Falla Caceres. All are young government officials who are considered anti-Communist political moderates.

FREE PRISONERS

One of the first acts of the new regime was to release all political prisoners many of whom showed signs of mistreatment. Of them was Valiciello Lopez, a news correspondent who was reported in serious condition.

The coup was launched early Tuesday with the apparent support of the army. The coup was carried out swiftly after the arrival of an artillery regiment in the capital from the eastern provinces, which had remained loyal to the constitutional palace.

Premiers Find Federal Tax Offer Sour At First Taste

Will Put on Pressure For P.M. to Sweeten Pot

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial premiers, finding the federal government's new tax offer sour at first taste, were expected today to put pressure on Prime Minister Diefenbaker to sweeten the pot.

Mr. Diefenbaker unveiled the federal offer Wednesday at the Dominion-provincial tax conference—a proposal that the provinces take over the unpopular job of levying their own share of income taxes and succession duties.

This scheme, to take effect after current tax - sharing arrangements expire March 31, 1962, offered the provincers no greater share of the tax pie than they now get, unless they are prepared to boost taxes themselves.

Mr. Diefenbaker also proposed a freezing of federal equalization payments to the 8 "have" provinces at about their present level of $224,000,000 annually "for the five years 1962-67.

ARE DISAPPOINTED

The premiers, all of whom are seeking a better financial deal, expressed varying degrees of disappointment with the federal proposals.

A round of closed-doors discussion on the politically-touchy issue was scheduled today—second of the two-day conference.

Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters his offer wasn't a cut-and-dried one. Federal sources said there is room to negotiate, if provinces ask.

Thus, with the conference's closing day today earmarked for a session on the unemployment issue, it appeared likely that at least one more round of tax talks will be scheduled before a final arrangement is reached.

Not all the premiers had a chance Wednesday to reply to Mr. Diefenbaker's proposal. Premiers Manning of Alberta and Smallwood of Newfoundland are to speak today at morning sessions.

But most of the premiers who spoke Wednesday had harsh words to say of it.

"Completely — unacceptable," said Quebec's Premier Lesage.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia said the federal offer was "totally in a class" with Premier Douglass of Saskatchewan said it would mean a "return to the tax jungle of the 1930s."

ONTARIO REACTION

One apparent exception was Ontario's Premier Frost, who told reporters that "things are looking ahead nicely" and that another conference source said that in his remarks, Premier Frost also expressed dissatisfaction, though not as strongly as other premiers.

Mr. Diefenbaker's proposal would mean a cash loss to Ontario in tax - rental system under which the provinces, Ottawa collects all the personal and corporation income taxes and succession duties and turns over an agreed share to the provinces. Ontario's share for 1960-61 amounts to some $300,000,000 a year.

Under the federal plan Ottawa would reduce its tax rates to that extent, leaving the provinces free to occupy the vacated taxing area.

If they wanted more money, they could increase taxes on their own. But Premier Lesage said this would be "almost impossible" under present conditions.

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "The government that spends the money ought to get it to collect the money . . . people tend to spend more wisely the money they earn."

CRITICIZES IDEA

But Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick, at a press conference, called it a federal-attempt to relieve some of the burden of unpopular taxation onto the provinces.

Federal officials said arrangements could be made for Ottawa to collect the provincial taxes, provided the tax returns show what money is going to the provinces.

Mr. Diefenbaker's proposals appeared to have had little general support. This would entail huge increases to collect an indirect retail sales tax.

Seven provinces—all but Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta—have a retail sales tax but under the proposal it must be a direct tax, collected on every sales slip. Hence indirect tax would be hidden by being absorbed in a retail store's total sales.

Mr. Diefenbaker stipulated that the provincial governments agree unanimously to such an arrangement and their unanimous powers into the indirect tax field.

The present tax - sharing arrangements, begun in 1956, provide the provinces with the following "standard tax" share of the three direct tax fields: 13 per cent of personal income tax collections, nine per cent of taxable

Belleville Girl Wins $55,000 In Sweepstake

A former Belleville girl, Mrs. Mark (Barbara) McQuaid, of Calgary, has won $55,000 when the horse on which she had a ticket entered in yesterday's Cambridgeshire Handicap in England.

Mrs. McQuaid's horse, "Pougalle" in running second was just nosed out for first place in the race.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyle, Trent Road, Mrs. McQuaid attended St. Michael's Academy and high school and before leaving Belleville, worked for six years at the Stephens Adamson Company here.

She then went to Banff Springs Hotel to work as a receptionist telephonist and while there met her husband who is a geophysicist with Shell Oil Company.

18,000 Names On Voters' List Says City Clerk

Voters' lists showing the names of city property owners and others entitled to vote in the forthcoming municipal elections have now been posted in city schools, at the post office and other public places.

According to Acting City Clerk Adam Stalker, there are this year approximately 18,000 names on the voters' list, including about 1,100 persons other than property owners, who are entitled to vote on money by-laws and matters.

The court of appeal at which persons whose names have been left off the list may make application to have them entered, will be held on November 10th before Harrison County Judge J. C. Anderson.

Special forms on which to make application for the name to be added to the voters' list may be obtained at the office of the city clerk.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Leaves will be picked up by the Public Works Department according to the following schedule and the co-operation of citizens is requested. Leaves should be piled in the street gutters so that they may be loaded in the quickest possible manner.

Fire Fighting Techniques Demonstrated by Company

Over 40 members of the marketing plant, pipe line terminal, distribution centre and driving personnel of the local Shell, Texaco (McColl - Frontenac) branch firms, together with a number of observers from the Bakelite, Ontario Paper and Corby Distillery plants, were given a practical demonstration on Tuesday afternoon yesterday at the Shell depot.

Under the aegis of the La-France fire fighting equipment company all present were given the opportunity of handling the various types of dry chemical and foam extinguishers available, in fighting a gasoline fire. The demonstration was under the direction of Mr. Bob Miller of the LaFrance firm, who coached the men on the most effective use and operation of the equipment available for the Shell plants and vehicles.

Most theoretical as well as the practical operation of the dry chemical and foam extinguishers was explained by Mr. Miller, who was assisted by a number of other factory personnel.

Four peculiar hazards which are to be encountered in fighting gasoline fires, namely the splash type of conflagration, were also explained with emphasis at the Shell depot. Individual not getting too close to the centre of the fire for fear of a flashback. Various "tricks of the trade" were also demonstrated such as protecting oneself from the extreme heat generated by fire before approaching the blaze at close hand by using nothing other than the extinguishers.

With the assistance of a pumper truck from the Belleville Fire Department a demonstration of the proper fire fighting method of fire fighting which is particularly effective on those fires of the nature which those present might be called upon to put out, was given.

The Ontario Provincial Police were also represented at the demonstration, which was held in the field just east of the intersection of Highway 37 which by-passes Belleville.

Following the demonstration those present were guests of the Shell people for some hot coffee and donuts.

Two Resolutions Are Adopted At LODA Meet

A talk on conservation complemented by a color slide show of various conservation measures now in operation in Ontario given by Mr. Michael Chubb of the Moira River Conservation Authority highlighted yesterday evening's meeting of Zone Three of the Lake Ontario Development Association held at the Hotel Quinte. The speaker's remarks were very informative and pertinent, being on a subject which is of great interest to LODA members.

Those present passed two resolutions, one expressed the favoring of the improvement of harbor facilities at Point Anne. The other motion requested that county council include the annual "Highlands of Hastings" booklet available early enough in the year to be ready for distribution at the various sportsmen shows at which the LODA represents the area.

The meeting was under the direction of chairman Wilfred Rose, reeve of Frankford. The speaker was introduced by T. C. Graham of Tweed and thanked by Harold Closs of Bloomfield.

Some seventy-odd members and guests were present.

CNR Proposal To End Service Being Opposed

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—City officials and the Canadian General Electric Company are opposing a CNR proposal to end passenger service on its Toronto-Peterborough - Belleville line. They say it may lead to elimination of service on the line.

Traffic manager M. J. Collins of CGE said at a meeting between city and CGE officials that his company's future in the heavy turbine business is tied up with the railway. He said freight trains were the only means of moving turbines.

City Clerk E. A. Gutman and Accountant A. H. Turner asked the CNR to consider instituting a diesel daylight service.

CNR District Superintendent A. R. Wilson said the plan to cease passenger service was not connected with any eventual curtailment of freight. He said the CNR expects to save a net amount of $250,000 annually by removing the passenger service.

J. A. Breau of the CNR passenger department in Toronto said privately-owned automobiles are the railway's chief competition. Surveys had shown little potential traffic for a Peterborough-Belleville daylight service.

The CNR proposal will go before the board of transport commissioners within likely will hold a public hearing.

corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties.

In fact, because of a 1956 reduction in federal tax rates, the provinces' share of personal income tax is about 14 per cent, Mr. Manning pointed out.

At least four provinces—Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and Newfoundland—are now arguing for a larger share. Premier Frost last July demanded 25 per cent from the three tax fields. Premier Lesage asked for one-quarter of the personal and corporation tax fields and all of the succession duty.

There was also widespread provincial criticism of the federal proposal to fix equalization payments at $262,000,000 a year for five years. These payments are geared to the tax-sharing plan. The federal government plans to raise the per-capita yield of the tax fields to provide equal revenues to the average of the two wealthiest, Ontario and British Columbia.

LUMPS TOGETHER

Mr. Diefenbaker's $262,000,000 would include the present equalization payments with the $23,000,000 in "adjustment grants" given by the Maritime Provinces and the $8,000,000 paid to Newfoundland under the agreement it's 1949 entry into Confederation.

The prime minister told the provinces, to seek a more acceptable formula for dividing the $262,000,000 provided that none of the Atlantic provinces gets less than it now receives in equalization payments and the other provinces get more.

Premier Lesage said the freezing of equalization payments was "the negation of the principle of equalization."

Premier Robin of Manitoba said it is "pointless" to talk of equalization payments unrelated to the requirements of the provinces. A freeze would make it impossible for CNR provinces to benefit from over-all gains in the national economy.

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said it would mean the poorer provinces would get a smaller share of the pie.

Women's Section Of Curling Club Holds Meeting

The Women's Section of the Quinte Curling Club prepared for another successful season on Wednesday evening when they held a fall meeting in the clubrooms with nearly one hundred members in attendance. Mrs. Jessie White, president of the section, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ross Wright, received reports from the various committees which all showed considerable progress in the various projects undertaken by the section.

The general membership will be given the opportunity to use the clubhouse this season as the women's section has turned over funds to purchase new furniture and renovation of the Powder Room. The new furniture has arrived but will not be placed until after the fall and winter functions and decorations downstairs have been favorable comments from all.

The women at their meeting arranged for the winter's game, the first draw to be held on November 14th but the official opening will be a mixed bonspiel starting on November 7th and continuing for three days.

The 12th, when the final game will be played and a social evening and game will follow. Pete Aeborn has consented to chair the spiel and elaborate preparations are being made to get the club off the ground on the right foot.

The women have also arranged for a Dessert Bridge on November 1st, for a get-together. The secretary, Mrs. W. G. Wentbold, announces that the affair will be a success as over forty tables have signified their intention of playing on that date.

Gardens' Deficit $463 in Sept., Commission Told

TRENTON — Finances and more finances, deficits and more deficits were the topics of discussion at this week's meeting of the Community Gardens Commission.

Commission chairman Vaughan-Lange said he explored the continuing deficit on Gardens operations. The deficit for September was $463, compared with $129 for the same period last year. The $1hire deficit for this year is almost $3,000. Decreases were noted in roller skating, snack bar receipts, special events and dances.

Increases in revenue over last year were announced for the in-receipts from auditorium rentals, ice skating, Civic Centre and games nights and wrestling.

Gardens manager Ben Thornton complained that youngsters are climbing over the spectator seats with their skates on and running along the seats. A patrol system will be tried out, with adults on patrol removing children disobeying the rules.

Norman Banfield, secretary-treasurer of the commission since its inception tendered his resignation. Mr. Banfield will continue to work with the commission until Dec. 31 if a replacement cannot be found immediately.

All commission members expressed their regret at Mr. Banfield feels he cannot carry on with his office.

Members were divided in opinions regarding a suggestion to raise the rental for ice time for minor hockey from $6 to $9 an hour. Members felt, however, that sponsoring service clubs should be approached and asked to pay the higher fee, if at all possible. The question is one of the pressing financial problems concerning Gardens operations.

Women Hear Talk on YWCA In Africa

TRENTON — Miss Estelle Amarow was the guest speaker at Wednesday night's meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Miss Amaron has had wide experience as an adult secretary to the YWCA in Southeast Asia and Africa. She told the club members about pre-war and wartime experiences in Burma and Malaya later during the Burmese civil war.

Miss Amaron was introduced by regional adviser Miss Ann Johnson and thanked by Miss Hazel Farley, acting as president in the absence of Jenny Willis. Mrs. Ella Hall sat as thanks on behalf of the members.

Miss Farley spoke to the group briefly on United Nations Week activities.

Last Sunday, Miss Isobel McCredan entertained 26 members of the local club at luncheon.

Child Suffers Broken Arm In Accident

TRENTON — Eight-year-old Shirley May Carey, 86 Heber Street, was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital by ambulance at the supper time rush hour Wednesday, when she was struck by a car, police said was driven by Gordon Turgeon, 44, of R.R. 2, Carrying Place.

The child, according to witnesses, dashed from the curb on Dundas St. East, at Scott St., directly into the path of the car.

She suffered a fractured left arm. She was treated by Dr. J. V. Byrne and Dr. G. W. Telfer.

Miss B. Corbett Will Move To Peterborough

TRENTON — The news that Miss Bird Corbett, local Children's Aid Society representative, will be transferred to the Peterborough district Dec. 1, is being viewed with regret by many of the municipal officials concerned with this work.

Welfare Officer Gordon Davis and Chief Constable F. J. Taylor yesterday expressed their regret that Miss Corbett will be leaving Trenton.

Chief Taylor said, "Miss Corbett has always been very cooperative with our department and we are very sorry that she has been transferred."

Miss Corbett will be especially missed by a group of women who have spent every other Thursday night, for the past few years, sewing for the society. Miss Corbett has made all necessary contacts for the group, acquainting the members with the families in need of the local society and distributing the clothing.

Members of the group are Mrs. Bernice Taylor, Mrs. Marie Winder, Mrs. Isobel Miller, Mrs. Elizabeth Aziz, Mrs. Muriel Johnson, Mrs. Sue Simpson, Mrs. Ruby Jones, Mrs. Ruth Ireland, Mrs. Grace Langdon and Mrs. June Parker.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSTON. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Ellen Jane Ellis, who passed away October 27th, 1959.

Though her memory lingers forever,
And her hand I cannot touch,
I still have so many memories,
Of the one I loved so much.
Deeply missed by her daughter
Dorothy Ellis and son-in-law
God has her in His keeping,
I have her in my heart.
—Your loving husband George.

JOHNSTON. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Ellen Jane Ellis, Mrs. George Johnston, who passed away October 27th, 1959.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweet flowers mark your resting place,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by daughter-in-law Chris, and grandchildren.

JORDAN. — In loving memory of our dear father, Edward Jordan, who passed away October 27th, 1957.

Though the fireside chair is empty,
Still the heart remembers the gift,
Golden memories we will cherish,
Of the one we loved so much.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

MASTERSON. — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Marietta Irene Masterson, who passed away October 27th, 1956.

In tears we saw you sinking,
In pain we watched you fade,
Your heart was full of suffering,
You fought so hard to stay.
Your smile we will remember,
So peacefully, free from pain,
Your life was not wasted,
To suffer,think again.
—Forever remembered by husband, children, grandchildren, sons, daughters, and family.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Golds further lost ground today in an otherwise brighter stock market.

On index, golds were off .62 to 90.85, while industrials jumped 1.25 at 482.63, base metals ined .03 at 149.33 and western traded unchanged as index improved .10 at 79.92.

The 11 a.m. volume was 451,-30 shares compared with 542,-50 traded at the same time Wednesday.

Dome, Hollinger and McIntyre Porcupine led the golds all off 3-4. Canadian Bx bars improved slightly from their opening price, quoted at $36 to $38.25 an ounce.

Industrials took their cue from interprovincial Pipe Line, up 1-4 at 38 3-4, with Algoma Steel, Great Lakes Paper and Imperial Oil all up 1-2.

Hudson Bay and Ventures led base metals to higher ground, both up 1-4 at 14 1-4 and 23 1-2, while senior uraniums were quiet.

Western oils, too, were running modest gains, Pacific Petroleum improving 20 cents at $9.80 at 1314.

Wednesday, the market rallied. Industrials, on index, gained .65 at 481.31, with base metals up .07 at 149.21 and western oils up .43 at 79.82. Golds were off 1.06 at 91.37.

There were 2,094,000 shares traded compared with 2,081,000 Tuesday.

Banks showed the most gains though Toronto-Dominion dropped 1¼ at 50¾.

Papers mainly were depressed, as B.C. Telephone led utilities, up ¼ at 46¾ while, among steels, Algoma went ahead ¼ at 31¾.

In golds, Dome dropped 1¾ at 24, McIntyre-Porcupine lost ¼ at 36¾ and Campbell Red Lake was off ½ at 18. Canadian golf bars closed $36.50 to $36.75 an ounce.

Base metals were led by International Nickel, up ⅛ at 48⅛. Ventures improved ½ at 23¾.

Senior uraniums were narrowly mixed.

Great Plains led western oils with a 25-cent gain at 10¾. Calgary and Edmonton was off ⅛ at 5¾.

London Gold Price Declines

LONDON (Reuters)—The price of gold fell to $35.70 an ounce on the London market today as the buying boom which pushed the price up as high as $41 last week abated.

The price of $35.70 — just 70 cents above the official American price—was established by leading traders shortly after dealings got under way.

Before the "fixing," gold was being traded in a range of from $35.75 to $36.25.

The rush to buy gold last week was touched off then Swiss bankers advised customers to change American dollars into gold in the belief that the dollar would be devalued. The United States government since has denied that any devaluation is contemplated.

MOIRA

On the 6th of September, Moira's doors were opened for the beginning of the second year to admit 741 students. At our first assembly, held indoors this year, we were introduced to both new and last year's teachers. The new ones were: Miss Boyd, Miss Balmer, Mr. Bell, Mr. Boate, Mrs. Ashcroft, Mrs. Bradford, Mr. Close, Miss Falman, Mr. Graham, Mr. Greig, Mr. Holland, and, Mr. Lachman. Miss Maine, Mr. McGaughey, Mr. Millliken, Mr. Sandwell and Mrs. Walker.

There has been action in our physical education department from the first. Banitam, junior (girls) and senior basketball and girls' volleyball teams have been organized. Moira's senior football team has been active (if not successful) and our junior team is standing second in the league at present. Encouraging the players and leading the majorettes are Moira's enthusiastic cheerleaders: Pam Marshall, Linda Ouderkirk, Marilyn Packard, Patti Jones, Jackie Cook, Judy Lambert, Irene Richard, Sandra Belyan, Janice Brooks and Elizabeth Griffith.

Bright maple leaves decorated the gymnatorium the night of Moira's first Commencement. A reception was held in the auditoria afterwards and a dance was soon in full swing.

If you had waited through our doors on Friday, Oct. 7th you would probably have been confronted by a dozen or more excite initiate begging to shine your shoes for one penny. This was only one of their many ordeals.

* * *

Moira students will be in pictures (Pictures that is). These were taken several weeks ago and are expected to arrive soon.

* * *

In case anyone is wondering the building beside the parking lot is our new Agriculture Building. It is being built by the capable woodworking classes under the good-natured leadership of Mr. French.

Hospitals Want More Allowances For Outpatients

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hospital Association Wednesday called for the Ontario Hospital Services Commission to make big allowances to hospitals for free or subsidized outpatient services.

A resolution making the request was passed by the association's annual convention.

Similar to one passed a year ago, the resolution points out that under existing OHSC formulas for grants hospitals must assume the cost of free clinic outpatient services and bad debts from outpatients.

Scouting activities

BY CHRIS F. LEGGAT

"Going Up" ceremony was held in the parish hall. It has become a tradition, and David Belcher is to have this important meeting of Scouts and Cubs at this time of the year when he presents to join in the festivities. Akela Kemp and Scoutmaster Blaker were very gratified at the excellent turnout of mothers and fathers.

The meeting opened with "Flag in" and the Scouts Promise followed by the repeating in unison of the Lord's Prayer. Akela Kemp called the Pack to order with the "Grand Howl" and the meeting began.

The "stars" of the evening were Cubs Denton McBride, Richard Wagner, Donald Middleton, Robert Scott, Robert Fletcher, Warren Hannah, David McCormick and Donald Kleinsulyer, who received their Scouts. Each Cub was presented by Scouter Lionel Blaker by Akela Kemp, who welcomed them to the troop and assigned them to Patrols. Three roaring cheers were given the new Scouts. S.M. Blaker addressed the Troop outlining what was expected of good Scouts. Games were played with Cubs and Scouts participating and a most hilarious game of floor hockey was played by parents, ladies versus men. The Cubs thoroughly enjoyed this.

Cub Peter Middleton presented a book of poetry, "Flint and Feather" by Pauline Johnson, to Akela Kemp, from the parents of Cubs who attended Cub camp. The Scout Troop entertained the guests with a lively sing-song. After which a delightful lunch was served by ladies of the 5th Scouts Auxiliary.

This most enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the "Marching of the Pack" and by the singing of the Vesper Hymn.

CUB RICHARD WAGNER

Our last meeting was at the "Tub Club." It is a pity these Cubs have to discard all 13 badges before they can receive any. They are permitted to wear a Lesping Wolf badge signifying they were "Second Star" Cubs. Heartiest congratulations, Richard. We hope we will be privileged to write about you again when you become a Scout proper.

5TH BELLEVILLE SCOUTS

As it usual to all Cubs, age creeps on and when they approach their twelfth birthday they leave the Pack. Kind of a butterfly in reverse. Wolf Cubs leaving the comfortable safety of the Pack and the tender care of the "old Wolf" suddenly find themselves in the Patrol. There is a feeling of uncertainty and doubt in a Cub's mind when he becomes the principal in a "Going Up" ceremony, plus a tinge of sadness in leaving Akela and friends in the Pack. To the parent, the course is the pride of knowing that in a Scout troop the ideals of the great brotherhood of Scouting the world over, the spirit of intimate group while Boy Scouts are universal — a world wide movement, a truly international good citizenship.

Such was the experience of Cub Sixer McLean Ward, Cub Sixer Harold Wishart and Cub Paul Loder who were received by Scoutmaster Phil Stewart and became members of the Coyote, Beaver and Fox Patrols respectively.

We are happy to report that 75 parents were present at this important function held at St. Margaret's — on-the-Hill.

13 BADGE CUBS

Cubs McLean Ward and Harold Wishart have earned all the badges a Cub may have and we welcome them to our exclusive "13" club. It is really an amazing achievement for anyone who has to be done in about three years. Congratulations to Sixers Lean and Harold and to your parents for their many patient hours helping you.

Cub Sixer Loder received the 9th Belleville Cub Pack are Cubs Clifford Wheeler, "Baloo" Lec Trip, Raymond Jim Ward and "Rikki" Charlie James.

Our Leaders Akela Kemp and thanks to Akela Wheeler for this report.

BADGES PRESENTED

Badges were presented by Scouter Phil Stewart as follows:

Swimmers — Mike Hume and Brian Pullerton; Rescuer's—Ted Robinson, Bryan Fullerton, Mike Hume and Pete Murray; Athlete's — Mike Hume, Art Alyea, Brian Knudsen, Bob Bailey, Bob Bailey, Fraser Ritchie and Brian Fullerton; Arts Mechanic's — Art Alyea; Draftsman's — Art Alyea; Electrician's — Brian Fullerton; Pathfinder's — Pete Murray and Murray Angus; Fireman's — Pete Murray, Murray Angus and Art Alyea; 2nd Class Badges — Brian Fullerton, Mike Hume and Ron Bailey.

Deloro United Steelworkers Confer With Labor Minister

OTTAWA — Representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) union local at Deloro, an area hard-hit by unemployment, met today with Labor Minister Starr and discussed measures for restoring fuller employment in the community.

Employment at Deloro, a one-industry village built around operations of the Deloro Mining and Smelting Company, has declined from 300 in late 1958 to 70 at present. It has been reported that a few more persons will be hired for final plant clean-up work but, by Jan. 15, all except a few watchmen will be out of work.

The local union delegates were accompanied by M. N. Fenwick, assistant to the director of District 6 of the United Steelworkers. They urged emergency measures designed to prevent loss of experienced workers and settlemen should the operations resume, and more training, job location and transportation assistance should be that provided in the Elliot Lake area for employees who were unable to remain in the area.

COBALT OUTLOOK POOR

In a brief presented to the labor minister, the union declared there is little hope for the community's economy over the next decade, because more cobalt than what is required to satisfy the United States stockpile quotas now is being produced at competitively low cost as a by-product in the production of nickel and copper.

"The jobs at this plant have become a casualty of technological change in the production of and consumption of cobalt," the brief said. "If any hopes for re-employment in the community remain, they will depend on the development of new or different products to meet a new demand for cobalt."

Deloro is a company - owned community of village, about four miles northwest of Belleville, with 52 homes. Most of the people affected by the closing of Deloro live not in Deloro but in nine surrounding villages and townships. On July 1, 500 persons were actively employed at the plant and there had 181 dependents.

FEW ALTERNATIVE JOBS

"There are very few alternative job possibilities in the area," the brief continued. "There is only one other large employer in the area — Bethlehem's iron ore operation at Marmora — and that was shut down Oct. 1 for six months. There is some doubt whether it will re-open as scheduled Nov. 15."

The brief asked the government to do what "our union has proposed for some time" namely at Bancroft and Elliot Lake. Through the federal-provincial Department Service, jobs should be obtained for the unemployed Deloro workers and the government should pay the costs of moving workers and their families to areas where they can obtain employment."

The brief also urged the government to show more initiative in re-training the workers for jobs in which the long - term employment prospects are "reasonably secure." It said the National Employment Service could "do more" to assist, encourage and guide workers to the appropriate training facilities which would enhance their job - finding capabilities.

Quinte Retail Pharmacists Hold Meeting

Members of the Quinte Retail Pharmacists' Association held their fall meeting at the Shrine Club Wednesday evening which drew close to 30 druggists from Belleville and area in attendance.

Sponsor of the meeting was the National Drug and Chemical Company of Toronto, with Alec Wallace, store planning manager of the drug firm, as guest speaker. Local Association president Court Miller presided over the meeting, which saw David E. Wright, Toronto manager of the National Drug and Chemical Company, as special guest.

Mr. Walters told local druggists that a proper store planning could mean much in the way of future business success. Improper planning could mean that many customers might leave to secure their requirements elsewhere.

Despite the trend toward prepselling of products, and the self-service idea of the big supermarkets, the speaker asserted that there was still a need for personalized service in the retail drug business.

"This supermarket idea can be overdone," he said. "You just can't pre-sell everything."

Mr. Walters noted it was a good idea to arrange stores so as to separate the articles which can be pre-sold. Store personnel can then concentrate their attention to the section where personalized service is required.

The meeting saw Belleville druggist Gardiner Duff named as the new Association president, with Ross Schryver as secretary treasurer, succeeding Harold Seldon who has acted in the secretarial capacity for many years.

Civil Service Members Meet At Lake Resort

The regular meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Civil Service Association of Ontario, was held on Tuesday, October 25th, 1960, at Lake on the Mountain Resort, near Foxboro, with a large membership in attendance including members from the following departments: Highways, Glenora Farm, Education, Attorney-General, School for the Deaf, Lands and Forests, County Jail and Welfare.

The first vice-president of the Association, is no longer with the civil service. Therefore an election was held and Mr. Robert Davison, Park Ranger stationed for the Outlet Park, was the successful candidate.

The usual business was presented and the following will be representatives from the Belleville branch to the annual meeting, which will be held in Toronto at the King Edward on November 23, 24 and 25th, 1960: Mr. Russell Mitchell biologist, Lands and Forests, Mrs. Miss Florence Fitzgerald, Reg. N. School for the Deaf, Mr. Elgin Vetter, teacher, Mr. Don Rompen, County Jails, Belleville.

Refreshments were served by the staff of the Glenora Ferry.

Conscription Not Solution

It would be a daring man—and a foolish one—who would attempt to weigh the various remedies for unemployment suggested at the conference called by Prime Minister Diefenbaker—and do this on the basis of the necessarily fragmentary reports of the arguments paraded to support these suggestions.

One might, perhaps, be forgiven for suggesting that the majority of the suggestions appear to incorporate a large measure of self-interest—labor organizations advocate increased welfare benefits, industrialists seek tax concessions, the Canadian University Foundation would boost construction by making National Housing Act loans available on university buildings, the National House Builders' Association suggests increasing construction activity by making mortgage interest and municipal tax payments deductible from taxable income. This approach, however, was to be expected—in a very real sense the effort is the desired one, since, as mentioned above, the outlining what he believes to be the most effective stimulus for that section of the economy whose operations he knows best.

There is, though, one exception which surely demands comment. The Investment Dealers Association proposed compulsory military service of two years to absorb some of the flood of young men on the labor market. Now it is possible to make out a good case for peace-time conscription, under certain circumstances, but to use it as a method to reduce the size of the labor force is indefensible and the negation of a basic freedom. Conscription would hamper many a young man in his pursuit of higher education or, if university students were exempt, would threaten to approximate class legislation, since the reason why one young man goes to university and another does not is rooted in the class into which he was born.

True, the Investment Dealers' Association tried to put the best face on its proposal by urging that the conscripted men be trained in skilled work. Perhaps the best way to judge this proposal is to compare it with that advanced by the Canadian Legion, a group which cannot hardly be considered as prejudiced against conscription if it is in the national interest. The Legion too, advocated an intensive program of academic and trades training—but under arrangements similar to that provided veterans of the Second World War after they were out of the armed forces, not while they were in them.

Solve Oil Pollution

The problem of oil pollution of waters, fresh and salt, has apparently been solved by two chemists at Hamburg, Germany. According to Dienst aus Deutschland they have developed a substance which they call "oilsink" and which, when dusted from ship or aircraft over great oil patches at sea, forms a compound with the oil which becomes heavier than water and sinks to the bottom.

It is said that detailed investigations of oceanbiological experimental stations in Germany and in Denmark have revealed that this material will be absolutely free from any detrimental after effects on animals and plants.

Its discovery may well have come in the nick of time for the Quinte area. Oil pollution in waters in this district is not unknown—oil blobs could be found on rocks along Prince Edward County shores half a dozen years ago and there have been reports of similar pollution this past summer. With the number of ships using the lakes increasing as result of the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, and with not all the masters of these ships being overly concerned with what happens to our lake waters, this discovery sounds wonderful. Amongst those who will be particularly enthusiastic are bird lovers—oil pollution has taken an extremely heavy toll of seabirds and water fowl, which are unable to fly once their feathers have been contaminated. Entire shoals of fish, too, have died from the oil.

One question remains unanswered by Dienst aus Deutschland despatch does not mention the cost of the new substance. In the final analysis, though, we cannot afford not to use it. Oil pollution is long-lasting and clean water, fresh or salt, is one of the world's greatest assets.

Miracles of the Universe
Asteroids, Comets & Meteors

By HON. ROBERT W. MACAULAY
Ontario Minister of Energy Resources

This is one of a series of articles by Mr. Macaulay dealing with sources of energy and their application, in the past, the present and the future.

ARTICLE 10

Earth's neighborhood is called the Solar System. It consists of one star (or Sun), nine planets, 31 moons, 1,500 asteroids, thousands of comets and billions of meteors.

The earth's Sun is just an average star. It is not particularly large or bright and it is only one star out of billions and billions of stars in the universe, many of which are larger and brighter.

In the two preceding articles we discussed a few of the interesting details of the Solar System and it remains now to discuss the most populous members of the Solar System, asteroids, comets and meteors.

Asteroids — are great hunks of rock that are circling around in a band between the planet Mars and the planet Jupiter. And in space ship which tries to get past Mars will have to thread its way past three asteroids — (over 1500 of them have been identified), like a submarine going through a mine field. One minor "bang" out space ship will have had it. However, the space is so immense that the chances of a collision are not high.

These asteroids are solid rock or metal and vary in diameter from 480 miles to a few feet. They are circling around the Sun, and distant from it at 260,000,000 miles, and are travelling at about 41,500 miles per hour.

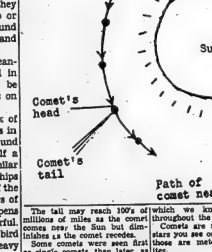
VARIATION IN SIZE

The largest asteroid is 480 miles in diameter and they range down to the smallest which can be seen (about another mile in diameter). There are no doubt millions which are still smaller.

There are a few asteroids between earth and Mars that occasionally harpoon a few earthly space travellers thus reducing a little the odds of the number of early birds that try to get through (the distances are so great a collision is unlikely).

In the 18th Century some scientists believed that there must be related the distances between the planets, that there ought to have been a planet between Mars and Jupiter and, in fact, in 1801 when looking for such a planet, the asteroids were discovered. Perhaps these asteroids are the fragments of a planet that exploded between Mars and Jupiter. More likely these are fragments of a planet that never formed.

There is no life on these asteroids for they are far too small to have a gravity sufficient to hold an atmosphere. The asteroids at best are a constantly moving mine field in the outer space around earth, (not very effective), now because of the vast distances between the pieces).



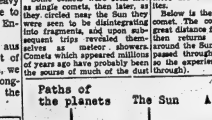
Nevertheless, this mine field is an integral part of the Solar System and as such, it is more predictable than most of the comets.

The Comets, believe it or not, are a permanent part of the Solar system.

They go to 10 comets appear each year, but most of them are too faint to see with the naked eye.

The best known comet is Halley's comet. It was first recorded in 240 B.C., last seen in 1910, and will be seen again in 1985. It returns every 76 years pretty well on the dot. There are other famous comets which have returned time after time only to finally explode, and be followed by a shower of meteors.

A comet has a head which is composed of gas which is surrounded by a hazy patch, from which trails a vague luminous tail. The "head" of the comet is composed, it is believed, of solid rock or metallic material, containing millions of small meteoric fragments — the "head" shining partly because, like the moon, it reflects the Sun's light and partly because it contains gas which glows as it is excited by the Sun's radiation. The tails of the comets are composed of dust and gas which glow for the same reason. The tail always points away from the Sun, driven away by the pressure of the Sun's radiation as shown in the cut below.



The tail may reach 100's of millions of miles as the comet comes near the Sun but disintegrates as it recedes.

Some comets were seen first as single comets, then later, as they circled near the Sun they were seen to be disintegrating into segments, and upon subsequent trips revealed themselves as meteor showers. Comets which appeared millions of years ago have probably been all the scene of much of the dust through which we know is scattered throughout the Solar System.

Comets are not the shooting stars you see on a clear night—those are meteors or meteorites.

Below is the path of Haley's comet. The comet flies out a great distance from the Sun and then returns to circle close around the Sun. (The earth has passed through Haley's tail — so the experience can be lived through).

DESTROYED BY FRICTION

Meteors are small (size of a pea) pieces of material that orbit continuously within the Solar System and when they strike the earth's atmosphere they momentarily glow and evaporate from the friction. It has been estimated that about 100,000,000 meteors a day enter the earth's outer atmosphere layer. Large particles (the size of an egg or bigger) cause bright trails in the sky and these fragments which may finally

FOLLOW YOUR CALLING

Do what you really want to do. That sounds like strange advice for a clergyman to be giving to his readers. Yet most people have within them a genuine longing, often suppressed, for real accomplishment in some particular direction. And for all except the mentally ill or socially warped that goal is usually a worthwhile one.

Many people waste their lives on activities which they neither enjoy nor do well. If you want real happiness and meaning, success, find out where your true ability lies, and pursue that ability with vigor.

George Borrow, the English novelist who tried various ways of life, including living with the gypsies, once wrote: "O ye gifted one follow your calling, for how-do ever various your talents may be, you can have but one calling; follow resolutely the one straight path before you; it is that of your good angel; let neither obstacles nor temptations induce you to leave it; bound along if you can; if not, on hands and knees follow that path; perish in it, if needful but ye need not fear that; no one ever died in the true path of his calling before he had attained the pinnacle. Turn into other paths, and for momentary advantage or gratification ye have sold your inheritance, your immortality."

Sometimes we sell ourselves and our destiny so short that it is really pathetic to behold such folly. Do what you really want to do.

When we have into a motel at night and get a restaurant with our Corgi on a leash, one of the maids busy at a nearby table hurried over.

"You can't bring any dog in here," she said.

"She sleeps in the car," we said.

"We don't want it barking in the night, waking everybody," persisted the maid. We showed her the chair for the dog. In the best hotels, if you arrive with your dog, the maid brings a bowl and for it and a dish for water on bed. She asks if you wish a paper boy to call for it to take it for its walk."

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TALK IT OUT

Love for a dog, I am sure, will never end. What a world of interesting comment could be made about it! The most beloved animal could only express its feelings in barking, and yet it has made a perpetual way of tail and good, honest bark. Forever fixing man from all other animals.

A good dog is easily trained, but the training must start when being. Thousands of dogs and cats are trained. Why don't we train human beings follow suit and see if we can't improve the all that we are? Way don't we, as mankind belongs, keep training and keep improving ourselves?

No commodity is in shorter supply for a man than Time, and one of the basic distinctions is between the man who uses time well and the man who wastes time with.

There is only one inexhaustible subject in the world and that is to be found whenever two men meet. Excluding a third.

Given the mediocre mind, anything excellent is either affected or subversive. Anything to secure the chief characteristic of mediocrity is that it cannot permit the existence of others.

More than a century ago, Emerson declared that "a man in debt is a slave"; but today, it is more likely that a man in economic debt is a highly successful real estate operator.

Leaders who cannot see beyond their own time are doomed to be ruled in the history books of the future as leaders who were out of century behind their own time.

Canadian National Veterans Recall 'Good Old Days' In Club Canara Atmosphere

There are other ties in railroad than those that road-bed the gleaming rails of track steel.

There are the intangible ties that bind and weave a pattern of camaraderie that extends far beyond the deadline of retirement.

They were exemplified in a meeting here yesterday of an unique fraternal organization in the country.

Fraternal in the sense that it is a true brotherhood of men not bound by the printed or written word.

Unique in the sense that none under the age of 65 can become a member—unless because of extraordinary circumstances.

These are the members of the Canadian National Railway Veterans Association.

These are the engineers, conductors, trainmen, high-salaried executives, administration men and members of other shades of the railroad activities who meet on the common level of post-service retirement.

200 GATHER

Some 200 of them, hail from many points in Ontario, the rest from Belleville and district, met in the Club Canara to enjoy the atmosphere of reminiscence and comradeship.

Upwards of 8,400 years of service to the railroad were represented in the well-appointed auditorium of the club when master-of-ceremonies W. J. Thompson tapped his gavel for attention.

Years of service ranged from 35 to 51. The oldest pensioner there was 82-year-old John Henry Jones of Trenton. He was presented with a 1961 membership card.

One hundred of them were the guests of the Belleville District of the CNR Veterans' Association. They were warmly welcomed by the division president, Joe Hunter.

Two lady members of the Belleville Division met many former comrades of the days when steam was king and transcontinental "iron horses" trailed smoky plumes from coast to coast.

They were Miss Minnie Diamond and Miss Mona Waters of this city.

Thanks to the exemplary culinary efforts of the CNRA Ladies' Auxiliary, the veterans enjoyed a delectable dinner. Train-borne visitors were given luncheon or coffee, cheese and crackers for the return journey.

They honored their Queen, and many imported scrumbox. They stood in a bowed reverent hush as George Drury asked divine blessing and said a simple prayer.

Dr. McCaul Metcalfe, city medical health officer, and a CNR veteran of 15 years, was a special guest. So were Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan of London and Winnipeg.

FINE TURNOUT

Master-of-ceremonies Thompson warmly welcomed the guests. "This is a marvellous turnout," he said. "It is wonderful to see you and for you to see one another. It is indeed a remarkable affair and I warmly welcome you who come from all corners of Ontario."

Letters were read from members unable to attend. Henry Flagler gave a detailed account of a holiday trip to the west coast. Homespun poems, written by Neil Sward, were read. Songs were sung by various members.

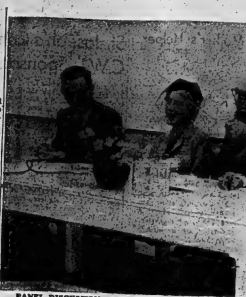
A source of wonder and comment was the fine building that houses the Club Canara. Many tributes were paid to it and those responsible for it. As one member remarked, there isn't anything we have in Ontario and I think it is the finest of its kind in Canada."

Henry Drury, one of the originators of the CNRA and its buildings and activities, gave a brief detailed talk on the origin and aims of the CNRA and how it plays in the recreational life of the railroad and the city.

President Hunter emphasized the importance of members participating assembly and attending meetings. "We can do this if strong organization," he said. "It is up to you to turn out."

Mr. Drury added the welcome of the CNRA and told the veterans they always welcome to use the facilities of the club for their meetings and get-togethers.

Reminiscences flew across the conversational board during the remainder of the afternoon as railroad comrades in railroad arms re-lived the days when they were active on the road.



FORMED HERE

The Veterans' Association is growing in popularity among the "retired" of the Canadian National Railways. It originated here years ago when a few retired railway employees met in a railway coach here and formed the Belleville division.

Belleville, like other divisions, is mushrooming. In fact that over 200 attended yesterday's function substantiates that fact.

There are over 400 pensioners between Kingston and Cobourg and some 1,700 in Toronto. These have a fine assemble hall but this effect on membership is offset by members reaching the "60-year" eligibility stage.

In closing the visitors paid fine tribute to the ladies of the CNRA auxiliary for the splendid repast and luncheon, and to Steward Bryan and the CNRA for the excellence of the hospitality.

Circulating Services Branch Of Library Body Meets Here

The role of the public library and the books which they circulate, was the topic of a panel discussion heard yesterday at the Corby Public Library as members of the Circulation Services branch of the Ontario Library Association met in the city for their annual meeting.

Members from as far east as Ottawa and west to Toronto were represented at the meeting which was attended by approximately 25 librarians from the Eastern Ontario area. Moderator for the panel discussion was Jim Brown, Brockville librarian who is also chairman of the Circulating Services Branch of the Association.

Particularly the panel discussion centred around an address "Circulating What?" given during the spring at a library convention at London by Arthur Hammon, former editor of "Quill and Quire."

Speaking from the standpoint of the layman, Mr. Hammon said time had been critical of librarians setting themselves up as self-appointed censors who leaned toward light reading rather than books of a more serious and controversial nature.

While there was qualified agreement on the truth of Mr. Hammon's claim, panel members yesterday were of the opinion that as long as libraries were supported by public funds there should be a well rounded offering of books available.

It was also agreed that the emphasis in libraries should be toward education.

Noted author Farley Mowat was one of the panel members [illegible] was enjoyed by the visiting librarians at [illegible] Church, where they were officially welcomed to the city by Mayor A. M. Haig.

Past president of the Corby Public Library Board, Mr. Charles L. Hyde, extended the welcome of the local library board.

Hastings County Advisory Board Of Blind Meets

On Tuesday evening the Hastings County Advisory Board for the Blind held their fall meeting at the home of the chairman, Everett S. Fairman, George St.

There was a good attendance with several out-of-town members from Tweed and Trenton. Two new members were introduced and welcomed to the board, Dr. Joan Bronskill and Dr. H. E. Welch.

The county campaign was well organized and is showing encouraging results with Trenton within reach of their objective.

A discussion of the United Appeal in Belleville, of which CNIB is a participating agency, brought out the fact that the budget for CNIB work was based on the actual costs of the services provided for the preceding year.

Field Secretary P. I. Timmins and his assistant Jean Ferguson of Kingston, gave comprehensive reports of their work. Over one hundred visits had been made in the county, and the needs of the blind had been ascertained. Emergency assistance had been provided in some cases, recommendations were made to provide coal, clothing, radio repairs, eye examinations and Braille watches. Transportation was being arranged for a family of five with glaucoma to go to Ottawa, and some others were going to Toronto for treatment.

Prevention of blindness is an important part of CNIB care. A good report of the vision survey in the county was heard where school children were given tests, particularly in Tweed and Madoc.

Plans for a sale of blindcraft products to be held before Christmas were discussed.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Fairman.

reach the ground are called meteorites. Most meteorites which have been found have weighed from a few ounces, to several tons.

The largest meteorite was found in Africa and is still where it fell. It is believed to weigh 66 tons. Several meteorites, which were brought from Greenland to the Natural History Museum in New York, weighed 20 tons and more. Some fine specimens are to be seen in The Royal Ontario Museum, including one which weighs several hundred pounds and which was found many years ago in Western Canada.

Meteorites possess the common atoms of which life and stars are composed. There is every indication that they are small asteroids that have left the track and collided with the earth.

Sometimes there are meteor showers which are quite spectacular. They are the result of the passage of the earth almost directly through the debris of a disintegrated comet.

Dozens of craters have been found on the earth's surface, which are attributed to very large meteors, which are supposed to have exploded on impact with the release of energy comparable to the energy of a hydrogen bomb.

In some of these craters, for example, in and about Meteor Crater in Arizona, iron fragments of meteorites have been found. In other craters, no such meteoritic material is found — supposedly it evaporates or was weathered away. Near Kingston, Ontario, there is a rather poorly defined crater more than one mile across which, according to Dr. C. S. Beals, the Dominion Astronomer, is the remains of a meteorite impact which took place about five million years ago.

Holloway United Church Holds Most Successful Tea, Bazaar

Autumn-tinted chrysanthemums, tall grasses, amber-colored water fountain, and white picket corner gateway formed a most attractive setting yesterday afternoon for the tea and bazaar sponsored by Holloway Street United Church, and was thronged with many patrons and guests.

The tea room was especially captivating with its fishnet fence and ports of silver birch, with the lovely wood wind-chimes tinkling sensitively the open gateway, and each window logs with its complementing basket of fall flowers.

DAINTY TEA TABLE

The tea table was daintily set with a Scotch lace cloth in grape design, and centred by a low flat crystal container holding a tiny green fountain spraying water over a cluster of pink carnations, which encircled it. Tall, pink candles in crystal holders, and the silver services completed the appointment.

A variety of homecooking, which displayed pies, cakes, tarts, buns, cookies, loaf cakes, mincemeat, confections, pickles, jams, preserves, jellies, relishes, fruit cakes, mincemeat, and many other delicious goodies, met with many patronized.

The pantry counter was eye-catching with its centrepiece of a big yellow pumpkin face having a carved mouth, eyes — slightly red from too high living — lettuce eyebrows, and green hair. Surrounding this were taffy apples, popcorn balls, and boxes filled with delicious candy.

COUNTRY STORE

The country store was also well patronized by its crowds, with preserves, basket of carrots, firm hard cabbage heads, cans of salmon, honey, jellies, pickles, and a few African violets, and baby tears.

The delicatessen table was mouth-watering with its delicious tomato aspic, potato salads (not a) with hard boiled egg slices; macaroni salads, cabbage and fruit salads.

Other tables were the novelty and plant tables, filled with attractive merchandise; the novelty with many rubber cushions in pastel green with mauve daisy corners; costume jewellery, writing paper, and work bags, pincushions for Christmas; Yuletide logs; and electric clocks, plaid and doll dresses and bath salts.

The plaid sewing displayed crocheted dolls' dresses in yellow and white; dainty tea cloths; tea cloths; bathroom slippers; fancy embroidered tea towels; fancy aprons hangers in excellent assortment of aprons, and mitts, and socks, to mention but a few.

The many ladies who assisted at the tea in the various capacities are listed as follows:

Receiving—Mrs. C. W. Colquhoun, Mrs. Ouligadyke, Mrs. T. F. Townsend, Mrs. C. W. Ward.

Pouring tea—Mrs. C. Holmes, Mrs. G. Goulter, Mrs. G. Dobbs, Mrs. J. Rapino.

Hallowe'en Party Held by Retarded Adults

On the afternoon of October 26 a Hallowe'en party was enjoyed at the John Street School by the young retarded adult group of Belleville and district. Twenty people were present.

Games of a Hallowe'en theme were played. A specially-built bowling game is used at every party to help the players develop the skill of rolling balls accurately enough to knock down pins.

Gordon Wetherall, one of the members of the group, played the piano for a sing-song.

Refreshments were served after the games and singing.

The table was decorated for Hallowe'en with two appropriately and unusually decorated pumpkins, donated by Mrs. Frank Folwell. Soft drinks were supplied by Mr. J. Brennan, and Mrs. Kay Bushell baked a large Hallowe'en cake.

These parties are held to bring together the young retarded adults for companionship and fun. Retarding program of the Belleville Association for Retarded Children and she prepares all these parties. Mrs. A. Geen assists.

Takes Lead In Women's Golf Tourney

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Maurice Orcutt of Englewood, N.J., carded a five-over-par 78 Wednesday to take the first round lead in the third annual North and South women's senior golf tournament.

Mrs. Orcutt, the New York-New Jersey titleholder, was one stroke, in front of Mrs. Reinert Hargrave of Forest Hills, N.Y., the New York state champion; Mrs. Charles Bartholomew of Brookline, Mass.; Miss Ada Mackenzie of Richmond Hill, Ont., the Canadian senior champion and Mrs. William G. Boggs of Pittsburgh. All had 79s.

Other Ontario golfer's scores: Mrs. W. D. Matthews, Ottawa 85-11—96.

Mrs. J. C. T. Sihler, Simcoe 45-52—97.

Mrs. T. W. Bright, Niagara Falls 48-50—98.

Albert College Guild Sponsors 'Gift Tea'

On October 22, the members of Albert College Guild held a successful "Gift Tea" in the conversation room of the manor.

The conveners of the tea were Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Bird, who had the rooms tastefully decorated with chrysanthemums in autumn colors and unusual arrangements of geraniums and spruce twigs.

The tea-table, with its lace cloth and silver services, had a beautiful centre of bronze and yellow mums with red and yellow candles.

The small tea tables had unique yellow mums in silver glass.

Receiving the guests were: the president, Mrs. E. Hickey, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Bird and Mrs. Gillis.

Those who poured tea during the afternoon were — Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. May, Mrs. Hyde, Mrs. Finkle, Mrs. Fetterley and Miss Panter.

Those serving were — Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Pringle, Mrs. Francis, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Hudgins; Miss G. Tucker; Mrs. Loynes; Mrs. Bowers; Mrs. Fleming; Mrs. Cronk; Mrs. Dimont; Mrs. Dove, Mrs. Jeremiah; Mrs. Casey; Mrs. Colden; Mrs. Hinchey; Mrs. Arnott; Mrs. McCabe; Mrs. Allen; Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Black.

Acting as treasurers were — Mrs. Macfie and Mrs. Vanner, with Mrs. Martin in charge of the gifts.

The living room hostesses were Mrs. Bird, convener of the tea; Mrs. Franklin; Mrs. Howse; Mrs. Dove, Mrs. Wear; Mrs. MacMullen; Mrs. Demeza; Mrs. Clare; Mrs. Morgan and Miss Tulle.

The replenishing of the plates was looked after by Mrs. Sprague and Miss Down.

During the afternoon, several members of the alumni dropped in for a cup of tea.

St. Anne's CWL Plans for Fall Bazaar

The October meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held recently in St. Anne's School, Saint Anne.

The conveners of the various committees read their reports and it was decided that the CWL would send any available magazines to Mrs. Pearson, the Apostolate of the Good Thief, in Kingston.

The main topic of discussion was the coming bazaar and euchre which will be held in November in St. Anne's School from 6.30-8.30 p.m.

Prizes which were purchased by the C.W.L. for the winners of the Catechetical examinations were presented on October 23rd in St. Anne's Church.

The Rev. J. Buckley addressed the ladies, his subject being the "Construction of the New Catholic Church," which will commence immediately. The new site is east of Herchimer Avenue on Victoria Avenue. It will be built in the traditional Cruciform of Indiana limestone and its seating capacity will accommodate 1,000. Plans wishes Father Godspeed in his new endeavor.

Women Propose Eat-It-Yourself Attack on Cheese

OTTAWA (CP) — Women's Institutes of Eastern Ontario have petitioned an "eat-it-yourself" attack on Canadian cheddar cheese surpluses.

Another resolution proposed petitioning the federal government to require manufacturers of children's clothing to put more serviceable materials in collars,

St. Joseph's Community Parish C.W.L. Sponsors Successful Tea

Yesterday afternoon the assembly room of the Knights of Columbus Hall was 'en fete' for a most successful tea and bazaar under the auspices of St. Joseph's Community Parish C.W.L.

Bronze chrysanthemums from the ceiling from corner to corner, while lovely baskets of turnabouts, yellow and copper-toned 'mums, red salvia, and golden maple leaves all added to form a most attractive setting.

The long queue of waiting guests and patrons were received by the reception committee, Mrs. V. Muldoon, president, and Mrs. T. A. Kelly, convener, who were then escorted about by the hospitality committee composed of Mrs. William Meagher, Mrs. R. Poirier, Mrs. R. Johnson, Mrs. A. Hardy and Mrs. F. Maund.

TEA TABLE

The long tea table, situated in the west end of rectangular, in which were also the little quartet guest tables, was appointed with a pretty lace cloth over a shade of green, and centred by an arrangement of golden and russet-colored 'mums, mingled with green sprays of fern,' and flanked by tall green candles in crystal holders, and silver services added the finishing touches.

Those who presided were: Mesdames H. Boos, M. Bulger, H. Callaghan, E. Cook, J. Adkins and L. Kennedy. Those serving included Mesdames E. Gray, D. Mercier, L. Beck, B. McKenna, T. Mavety, D. Green, W. Sweet, D. Beatty, D. Bankey, J. Shortland, T. Black, H. Emerson, J. Letarsky and the Misses Helen LaBelle, Loyd Meagher and Gail Kelly. The tea room hostesses were Mrs. J. Driscoll and Mrs. Eady.

VARIOUS BOOTHS

Round about the room were the various booths, each most successfully appointed with appropriate articles and complementing theme.

The Christmas booth, conveyed by Mrs. C. Murphy, assisted by Mrs. R. McCoy, Mrs. S. Amo and Mrs. S. Poremba, was gleaming with lovely novelties, showing an assortment of Yuletide stockings; crocheted caps, black felt shoe bags adorned with red slipper excrusted with iridescent sequins; cups and saucers; pretty guest towels; foam rubber shopping bags, cards and balls.

The Knitting booth, in charge of Mrs. A. Rosenfeld and Mrs. T. Jury and their assistants, Mrs. A. Reynolds, Mrs. P. Melchior and Mrs. G. Whalen, were busy knitting and crocheting little mitts in many shades and colors; lovely baby sets in pink, blue and white; little bed-jacketed dolls; tiny hats and toques; knit slippers; and a basket filled with pretty shaded yarns.

All the sewing booths there were children's dresses, dressed dolls, and dolls' clothes, crochet centrepieces; doeskin, sheepskin lined slippers; bibs; soft flannelette nighties with pretty blue rose designs; a white silk child's dress and pink smocked dress and many other items.

Mrs. C. Nicholls and Mrs. E. Kozak, assisted by Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. H. O'Neill were in charge of the

APRON FLOWER GARDEN

The apron booth was a veritable flower garden with its display of colorful aprons in turkey-red; golden yellows; red and white gingham; floral tea dress prints and others in soft greens. All gaily trimmed and ric-rac.

The following were received by the reception committee, Mrs. V. Muldoon, president, and Mrs. T. A. Kelly, convener, who were then escorted about by the hospitality committee composed of Mrs. William Meagher, Mrs. R. Poirier, Mrs. R. Johnson, Mrs. A. Hardy and Mrs. F. Maund.

XI Alpha Mu Hears Talk on 'End of Life'

XI Alpha Mu, Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, chose for its first meeting in October to attend in a group the service sponsored International Food and Crafts Fair. The many beautiful possessions displayed, characteristic of the countries represented, proved educational and illuminating, bringing to all who attended a new insight into the culture of other lands, and promoting a better understanding and good-will to new Canadians.

The evening was concluded with a short business meeting at the home of Mrs. V. McLean.

Programs for the coming year were finalized and other items on the agenda dealt with accordingly.

After the meeting adjourned coffee was served by hostess M. McLean and co-hostess Jean Wilson.

On October 17 the chapter met at the home of Mrs. J. Lennox.

Following the opening ritual, several items of business were concluded. As books for children are always needed, and welcomed, all pledged to bring books for the Bethesda Ward to the next regular meeting.

The next meeting of the chapter is set aside as a social event, and all agreed it would be a delightful time. The Hospital Auxiliary Fashion Fiesta and support a worthy cause.

SWABS DISTRIBUTED

Swabs for the Red Cross were distributed, and will be completed by the members.

The speaker for the evening was the Rev. L. Arthur Page of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill, who had consented to speak on the subject "The End of Life."

Mr. Page made a rather difficult subject into a most interesting and thought provoking evening. A question and answer period followed in which all participated. The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. S. Wonnacott, and thanked by Mrs. G. Badgley.

Coffee was served by hostess Jean Lennox, and co-hostess.

GEORGE D.—She's inviting them to send an ex-mental patient. I don't like the idea.

MRS. GEORGE D.—My husband and I are in our late 50s and now that our children have moved into homes of their own, we feel we can be of real service if we share our lovely home with people who need a temporary shelter. We have been approached by the rehabilitation service of the local hospital to take in a recovered mental patient, a middle-aged lady, till she is confident enough to take a job and make a home for herself.

I'm extremely sympathetic toward these convalescents. I know how much our son was helped after the Second World War. After recovering from "battle fatigue" he was seized with the jitters when it came to applying for work and getting back to the workaday world. And, through the Veterans' Administration, he was able to spend a few months in a rehabilitation hall in California. It was called a "halfway house" and it gave him back his courage.

There's no such place around here. A social worker explained to me that she will be around frequently to help me and to look over the guest's progress. This is a new thing, like an escort service back into the community. I want to try it.

GEORGE D.—I can understand taking in a foster child or an elderly person. I can even see caring for a person learning to get around on crutches. There you're dealing with something you can keep track of. But with mental illness, how can you tell what's going on? When you think you're helping you may be making matters worse.

I'm sympathetic, too, just like my wife. I know that people are just like you and me can go under from too much trouble. But if the hospital admits they're not yet ready for the outside world, are they ready for a house like ours? We're on the main highway, with lots of coming and going. And our doorbell and telephone are quiet for long, either.

I'd rather not take off more than we can chew. We'd be smarter to take in someone we feel more certain we can help.

THE COUNCIL: You are two fine people and in extending a hand of welcome to an ex-mental patient you are advancing a new era in psychiatric treatment.

Mrs. D's misgivings are groundless. With the social worker keeping tab on developments, the patient is treated warmly as a valued guest who is passing through en route to other points.

This fits into the modern program for short-term stays in the hospital and indeterminate follow-up out-patient clinics. Thus the patient is not severed unduly from home, family, job and the community. But before plunging the ex-patient back into the world from which he came—and which, incidentally, contributed to his collapse—he is often placed in a "transitional" environment. This is to fortify him to bridge the gap between the completely sheltered life in an institution and the rough-and-tumble buffeting of normal living.

Your visitor will find strength just being with you. Among the well and sitting in a smooth - running household. She—it "rub shoulders" in an ever-widening circle, with your home the mid-point. Gradually the day arrives when the social worker and you and she agree that the mid-point of her security has shifted. It is now inside her. She feels strong and ready to join the mainstream of humanity again.

The best medicine for the scared and lonely is people, but not just very old people at first. They need carefully screened patients like the D's, people who know that a mental illness, like a heart attack, has a beginning, middle and end. And that they are part of the cure.

Mr. D. may rest assured that the ex-patient is well. All that remains is for people like Mr. and Mrs. D., and the rest of us, to join hands with her.

SCOTTS W.F.

SYDNEY — Mrs. Rose Dafoe and Mrs. Earl Dafoe were co-hostesses for the October pot-luck dinner in Scotts United Church.

In the afternoon Mrs. O. Pollard took charge of the Association meeting. Eight members and one visitor were present. Two hospital calls and three house calls were reported. An invitation was read to attend a benefit tea at Stockdale United Church on November 2. Articles for Bins volunteered to be hostess in November.

Mrs. Rose Dafoe took charge of the program, giving a reading on Thanksgiving. Mrs. Pollard read Luke 17:11-19.

PROGRAM

Mrs. M. Bine was in charge of the program on the "Refugee Question," and, with the help of several ladies and two study books, "The Ship Under the Cross" and "The Turning World," showed how the World Council of Churches provides services for refugees, especially the great need for Canadians in the port of Halifax.

A refugee staff of 500 is doing great work in 50 countries among 40 millions of refugees. The service takes many forms, but throughout it all is the idea of helping them to help themselves.

Many have been resettled and given help to start again; from the villages last year, 10 adult; in Hong Kong many new houses are going up and many Chinese and Russian refugees have fled from Communism, and settled in other parts of the world. It was the church which made it possible for the world council to do so much. They still need help.

Mrs. Pollard gave a reading on "Learn To Get Along Together." The only way to success is by combined effort. The brotherhood of man is a Christian concept that must be practised by all people of the world — the only way for peace."

For Low or No-Salt Dieters

By Mary Moore

Without me decrying it you know I never claim to be an authority on medical diets. Doctors are for that.

But I do receive constantly, little beseeching letters, asking orders.

One of the commonest problems is a low-salt (sodium) diet. Reader-patients want to know how to avoid salt in this day of prepared foods. Basing steering them to the dietetic shelves in grocery stores, my advice is to become a good lover of no-salt spices.

I suggest adding herbs to diet vegetables: basil in tomatoes, savory with green beans or mint with peas, to mention a few. Or a sweet-sour sauce will add sparkle to bland vegetables.

For instance, there on salt-free dieps will welcome

SWEET AND SOUR GREEN BEANS (Low Sodium)

1 pound fresh green beans, 2 tablespoons unsalted butter, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-4 cup brown sugar, 1-4 cup vinegar, 1-2 teaspoon savory, 1-2 teaspoon turmeric, 1-2 teaspoon paprika.

Cook beans in unsalted water. Save 1 cup liquid. Melt butter and cook onion in it 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir-in flour, then blend in bean liquid. Cook to a boil, stirring until thickened. Add sugar, vinegar, savory, turmeric, paprika and drained beans; cook 2 minutes more.

OVEN

For those in the family who are not on saltless diet, 1-2 to 1 teaspoon salt may be added after the dieter's portion has been removed.

NOTE

Most fresh vegetables prepared without salt are tolerated on salt-free diets except celery, chard, kale, dried peas, beans.

BEEF STROGONOFF:

(Low Sodium). (To serve 6).

1 1-2 lbs. sirloin or round steak 1-2" thick, 3 tablespoons unsalted butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon water, 1 1-4 cups unsalted tomato juice, 2 tablespoons instant minced onion, 1-2 teaspoon oregano, 1-2 teaspoon basil, 1-4 teaspoon black pepper, 1-8 teaspoon garlic powder, 1-2 lb. fresh mushrooms sliced, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1-2 pint commercial sour cream.

Trim down meat bone; fat and gristle. Cut meat across grain in thin strips about 2" long. In heavy frying pan brown meat slowly in butter.

Mix mustard with water and allow to stand 10 minutes. When meat is brown add tomato juice, mustard liquid and seasonings. Cover and simmer 35 minutes or until meat is tender. Add mushrooms 10 minutes before serving. Serve over hot fluffy rice. Six servings.

Horticultural Society Views Floral Slides

MADOC JUNCTION — Some 30 more members of the Stirling Horticultural Society attended an interesting meeting held last Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clancy.

The president, Mrs. F. Bronson, presided over the business period.

Mr. Frank Harding showed several reels of beautiful flowers and interesting scenery, which he had taken while he, Mrs. Harding and family were on a recent holiday trip.

This was followed by a Chinese auction of plants, roots, seeds, vegetables, jars of jam, crochet and fancy work, with Mr. Maurice Clancy as auctioneer.

The next meeting will be held at the home f Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clarke in November.

75 Per Cent of Family Problems Due to Abuse of Alcohol' States Juvenile Court Judge

The October meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, took the form of a "Parlor" meeting at the home of Mrs. R. G. Coulter.

The devotional period, led by Mrs. Meyers was on the theme of "Thanksgiving". Psalm 100 was read and a poem by Patience Strong, A Thanksgiving solo was rendered by Mrs. T. F. Townsend which all enjoyed.

The National Study Course, under the direction of Mrs. O. Bertrand, was outlined and leaflets secured to be sent to some of the public schools which are in line with their health studies.

Mrs. F. Cook reported several cards sent to the sick members.

CLIP-SHEET PANEL

The clip-sheet, a study on "Alcohol and Family Life, was presented by a panel of members Mrs. O. Bertrand, Mrs. Coulter and Miss Barnum.

Recently a Judge of a Juvenile Court stated "Alcohol is responsible for 75 per cent of family problems." No one denies that the presence of excessive drinking affects the environment in which children live and grow.

"In 'The Young Delinquent,' Cyril Burr states that for the impressionable years of childhood, a drunkard's home is one of the worst conceivable. Money is squandered, health and discipline are neglected, the family is despised by neighbors and the perpetual life of discord, irregularity, and passion is created and sustained."

Does the use of alcohol by parents tend to develop addiction in the child as he reaches maturity?

FOLLOW PATTERN

"Children tend to repeat the family pattern" is a statement by a Manual Reference for Alcohol Education for a western province.

Judge Burke of Los Angeles, who handles cases involving marital problems, states "over 50 per cent of the people who come to this court seeking divorce, list excessive drinking as one of the contributing factors."

Dr. Jellenik of Yale, is the authority for the statistics which add up to nearly four million alcoholics in America. It has been said that at least five people suffer because of one alcoholic, which gives an idea of the widespread results for evil of the use of alcohol.

PROBLEM DRINKERS

Another three million are problem drinkers to whom alcoholism is a threat. Think of the financial losses to industry because of alcoholism. A billion dollars a year is an underestimate.

A report of the National convention, held in Montreal in September was given by two delegates Mrs. George Finley, of Napanee, and Miss Margaret Mitchell, Wooler. Some 80 delegates attended, representing each province of the Dominion.

Many interesting features were reported and some discussion followed.

It is stated Canada has 200,000 alcoholics.

Refreshments were served.

WESTERN ORIGIN

The tomato originated in South America and Italians were probably the first Europeans to grow and eat it, about 1550.

Well Known Church Women To Speak Here

Miss Eileen M. Ratz, B.R.E. and Miss Miranda Brown, B.R.E. of Brantford and Drumheller, Alberta and Tavistock, Ontario, respectively will address the annual fall rallies of the Belleville Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society as a team sent from the Toronto headquarters of the work they are doing.

The rallies will be held in Madoc, on November 3rd; in Napanee, on the 4th; Belleville east on the 7th and Belleville west on the 8th, with Prince Edward section on the 9th. The theme of these rallies is "Unite All the World Together."

Miss Ratz, prior to entering the United Church Training School in 1955, holds a second class Normal certificate; a Toronto Bible College diploma; B. T. B. diploma from the National Bible College Wichita, Kansas. She also has had a three-years piano course, and in 1946 received [illegible] Conn.

Her [illegible] Freeman and French has been most useful during the 12 years as Port Worker [illegible] and the last year [illegible] United Church [illegible] Sydney.

Miss Brown has served church service and received her certificate from Stratford Normal School, and in 1929 graduated from the Toronto Bible College and spent [illegible] of the United Church [illegible] Indian [illegible] 1946 she [illegible] of Religious Education from Hartford, Conn. Since 1930 Miss Brown has served the Church faithfully and well as one of its missionaries in Battleford, Swift Current, Alberta; Sydney, N.S.; at the People's Church, Hamilton and the Church of All Nations, Toronto.

There will be also department conferences and special department speakers, one of whom will be Miss Hettie Unger of Picton, who will speak on candidate work.

EVENING AUXILIARY

FRANKFORD — The regular monthly meeting of the Evening Auxiliary was held on October 19th in the Perkins Room of Rose Lowery Hall. The president, Marjorie Morton, opened the meeting with a poem.

A special welcome was extended to all members and guests by the president and a warm welcome to two new members, Shirley Rose and Jane Secord.

The secretarial report was given and roll call showed 14 members present. The treasurer's report was given by Margaret Caldwell.

A nominating committee for the selection of new officers for the year 1961 consisted of Hazel Rowe, Lois Rumsey, Dorothy Way and Merina Tomecek.

Hazel Rowe presented a summary she had compiled regarding the merging of "The Women's Association" and "The Woman's Missionary Society" into a unified Women's organization to be called "The United Church Women."

DEVOTIONAL SERVICE

The devotional service was opened with a poem by Edna Wallace. Marjorie Moran favored with a vocal solo. The Prayer of Thanksgiving was read in unison from the hymnary. Ruby Dyer read the Scripture taken from Luke 17: 11-19 Kay Wallace closed with prayer.

The subject for study "In the coming months is entitled, "Into All the World Together." This portion of the meeting was conducted by Era Osterhout, Ruby Pyear, Kay Wallace and Pauline Kemp.

Judy Whitmore gave a piano solo. Slides emphasizing the word "ecumenical" which means relating to the whole world, were shown. "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" was sung. A vocal duet was sung by Mrs. Grace Frost and Mrs. Walter Morrow; a reading "The Quiet People," was given by Nellie Lott.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

East Canada Indians' Topic At Q.F.N. Meet

The Quinte Field Naturalists held their regular monthly meeting at the Entomology building on Monday evening. A good crowd was present in spite of inclement weather.

Major items of business included the listing of a resolution to act on a program aimed at saving the Eastern Bluebird from extinction, and the Club will sponsor a contest as part of this program which will be announced soon.

Mr. James Bayly, of Brockville, who is a director of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, congratulated the Club on behalf of the F.O.N. for its initiative and foresight in providing the Nature trail markers at the recently opened Col. Roscoe Vanderwater Park.

The Club announced a further grant would be made to assist in this program.

SPEAKER

Mr. Bayly introduced the speaker, Mr. William Sleeth, of Brockville, who gave an enlightening and interesting talk to the Club on "The Indians of Eastern Canada."

From the beginning of his talk, it was apparent that Mr. Sleeth has done a great deal of research on this subject, and the audience was enlightened on many misconceptions regarding these early Canadians.

he speaker co-related his outline and story of the Indians to early Canadian history and many of the audience left the meeting with the thought that they were not proud of their ancestors.

Mr. Sleeth pointed out that the Jesuit reports are the most accurate available on the early Indians and since that time a great deal of misinformation has been circulated. He went on to describe the different tribes and the areas in which they lived and their relationship with their neighboring tribes.

HABITS DESCRIBED

He described their habits which apparently were better than some of the so-called enlightened people of the time, particularly as to their social habits and honesty.

Mr. Sleeth described the food of the tribes and the methods and weapons used to procure it. Their clothing, buildings, transportation, medicines, politics and their fighting techniques were all dwelt upon in considerable detail.

Some of their manufacturing processes, such as tanning, were described and a pair of present-day Indian moccasins were displayed, which are practically identical to those made and worn by the early Indians.

In conclusion, Mr. Sleeth pointed out that the Indians gave Canadians many of the commodities of life-such as canoes, corn, tobacco, maple syrup and sugar, and many other food stuffs which are used. In return the Indians were given rum, disease and bad habits.

Mrs. Alma Wallis thanked the speaker and the meeting closed with refreshments.

Dr. Mutchmor Speaker at St. John's Church

CAMPBELLFORD— The special guest speaker at the anniversary services at St. John's United Church here on Sunday, was Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the committee on The Church and International Affairs, representing the United Church of Canada. He spoke at both morning and evening services.

Dr. Mutchmor spoke mainly on international affairs. In the morning he chose his text from the story of the Good Samaritan, and dealt with one's attitude toward strangers.

He said that man could regard a stranger as an enemy, just another stranger, a neighbor or a brother. To regard him as an enemy is dangerous — to regard him as one in whom we have no interest reduces the possibility of trouble, and to regard him as a neighbor is not enough. "We must look upon all men as brothers," he said. He urged these listening to bear in mind that when the Law and the Prophets failed for a time, then God sent His son to redeem all men.

During the evening service, Dr. Mutchmor chose the text, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God". The speaker told the congregation that many persons believed that man had mounted a horse too big for him to ride".

"When we look on the wonders of science, particularly the means of destruction at our disposal, this seems to be true".

Dr. Mutchmor said that Christianity has had its effect in many lands, and it is interesting to note that in such countries as Nigeria and Ghana and other places where missionaries have been active, no trouble seems to be pending. However, he said, in the Congo, where there was no missionary activity, there has been little education, and much trouble.

OUTLINED ACTIVITIES

The speaker outlined the activities of the Committee on The Church and International Affairs, which he said has been extremely active through the years, promoting Christian ideals and international good will and relationships.

The committee has made a study of nearly every international problem, and briefs have been prepared and submitted to the General Council of the United Church for their approval and action.

Former Resident Given Surprise Party, Gifts

2nd SIDNEY — Mrs. Morris Stickle entertained a few friends and neighbors on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Mrs. Vera Sine, who left this neighborhood several weeks ago to live with her son at Chatterton. Mrs. Sine was brought back on Tuesday afternoon by her two daughters after telling her that it was to be a plaque party.

A reading "Shopping with the Wife", was read by Mrs. Frank White, two contests were put on by Mrs. Alfred St. Hilaire and these were won by Mrs. Fred Meyers of Johnstown. A panel of four ladies, Mrs. Clayton Curtis, Mrs. Vera Sine, Mrs. Floyd Sandercock and Mrs. Glenn Stickle were given a pair of oven mitts to put on and then blindfolded and handed a nylon stocking which they were supposed to put on after taking their shoe off. This was hilarious with Mrs. Sine winning the prize.

A reading was given by Mrs. A. Meyers, "Radios and Families", a couple of contests, put on by Mrs. St. Hilaire, were won by Mrs. Bird.

Mrs. Donald Sandercock read an address to Mrs. Sine stating that this neighborhood would be the poorer for her leaving here as she was always willing to help whenever she could in anything that was doing in the neighborhood". Mrs. Morris Stickle presented Mrs. Sine with a beautiful rhinestone necklace and earrings and a hammered aluminum tray. Mrs. Sine thanked all for their kindness to her.

After singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow" a bountiful repast was enjoyed.

QUESTION BOX

Question: When a bridegroom is a member of the Armed Services, is the same procedure followed as that in a non-military wedding? — Miss M. S. V., Hackensack, N.J.

Answer: The religious rituals (subject to the faith under which the ceremony is performed) are the same, and the traditions for both the home and church wedding are of identical form. The only differences are that the military wedding usually includes the colorful customs of having an arch of sabers for the bride and bridegroom to pass under when leaving the church and the cake-cutting ritual when the bridegroom cuts the cake with his saber.

Question: At the close of Ladies Club year, does the gift and floral custom apply from retiring to the outgoing president without being alerted to do so? In repeat terms of two years or until the new president is installed. Now we are wondering if this is correct. — Mrs. C. I. Z., Plymouth, Ind.

Answer: It is my understanding that most women's clubs present a gift to the outgoing president at the last meeting of her reign. Then, at the installation of the new president, she is presented with flowers. Some procedure might be subject to change depending upon customs followed in different communities.

Question: My daughter is being married next month and we have hearty quite an argument. After the ceremony is over we are planning a wedding breakfast, to be held in a hotel. The question is: Do we invite to this celebration the minister who performs the ceremony? Some say yes, we do and some say we would be rude if we did. — Mrs. G. E., Oshkosh, Wisc.

Answer: You would be rude if you didn't! The minister and his wife definitely should be invited and also should be shown special recognition and considered as honored guests at the breakfast. By all means extend a personal invitation to them.

Question: We plan to have an "open house" shortly after the arrival of our new baby. A bot and sod shower will be served. Is it proper to state the time — for example, 7 to 8:30 p.m." and do the guests usually adhere to it? We don't want this to go on far into the night, but still we want to extend our hospitality to our friends!

Mrs. W. M. — Harvey, Ill.

Answer: Most people pay no attention whatsoever to the times set on such an invitation. Why, I will never know! They themselves must at some time have been the victims of late staying guests, but somehow they seem to forget this when they are guests themselves. If they are having a good time, they stay put for hours. There isn't much you can do, short of asking them to leave, in your case you have a good excuse. At 8:30 you can retire upstairs with the new baby and let your husband take over. One thing that you can do is quietly remove any liquor that is being served. This usually sends the late-stayers on their way!

Mrs. Packman Honored on Departure

STIRLING — On the evening of October 20th over 100 ladies from St. Paul's W.A.-and Carmel W.I. gathered in the Sunday School room of St. Paul's United church and tendered Mrs. A. Packman a surprise party before her departure to Toronto.

Mrs. C. Davidson welcomed the guests and presented the honored guest with a rose corsage.

Mrs. Dave Duffin conducted the devotional; Mrs. Ashley Brooks read the Bible lesson and Mrs. Roy Tucker read the meditation on the theme "The Doer of Good." This closed with a hymn.

The program consisted of a vocal solo by Mrs. Sid MacDonald; readings by Mrs. Russell Hubel, Mrs. Oliver Stapley and Mrs. Jack Bush; a piano selection by Mrs. Arthur Pryer and a vocal duet by Mrs. H. Philp and Mrs. R. H. West.

Mrs. Volney Richardson read an appreciative address to Mrs. Packman, and Mrs. Archie Bailey made the presentation of a chest of silver.

The recipient graciously thanked the ladies of St. Paul's and Carmel for their lovely remembrance. She also gave an inspirational message to the group. Mrs. Packman has been active in the community during her six years in Stirling and has been a valued member of the W.A. groups of both churches.

The committee in charge served refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Women's Institute

UNIONDALE W.I.

SIDNEY — The October meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Allen Sine, 6th concession of Sidney, with 22 members present.

Correspondence was read, consisting of the final Belleville Fall Fair, Opera Festival and Medical Health, to which a donation will be sent after the January meeting.

Mrs. M. Sine gave a splendid report of the Auxiliary meeting she attended at the County Home. A bazaar was also held at the Home at which Uniondale Women's Institute participated and partook of the refreshments.

Several members also attended an invitation to Wooler W.I. and report a wonderful evening.

Delegates to the area convention were Mrs. Edison Sine and Mrs. J. Martyn.

The program for the October meeting was taken over by Mrs. A. Sine, the convener of health and home economics, which consisted of a reading by Mrs. M. Grills, "The Farm"; a solo by Mrs. A. Martyn, "I Don't Know About Tomorrow"; household hints by Mrs. W. Rose and Mrs. Frank Phillips; Mrs. Bleecker gave a reading, "Cut Housework with Foil". A paper was read by Mrs. A. Sine, "For Happy Memories."

Lunch was served by the October committee.

November will be a "Grandmothers' Program," and the starting of a class for the making of draperies of which Mrs. G. Burkitt and Mrs. G. Bird are leaders. Anyone interested should attend the November meeting in order to get books of instruction.

Birthdays Marked by 30 Friends

POINT ANNE — On Friday evening about 30 relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keene in Bellevville, to honor Mr. and Mrs. John Bolling of Carrollton, and Mr. and Mrs. Les Bradshaw of Point Anne on the occasion of their birthdays.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing euchre, favors going to ladies: Mrs. Annie Akey, Mrs. Gertie Botting; consolation — Mrs. Eleanor Botting, men — Earl Keene; (Mrs. Lena Akey playing as man); consolation — Lee Bradshaw, ladies' lone hand — Mrs. Botting; men's lone hand — Mrs. Akey; lucky plate — Mrs. Gertie Botting and lucky cup and chair — Mrs. Edna Bradshaw.

After euchre, Mr. and Mrs. Botting, Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw were seated at the table, which was nicely decorated for the occasion with two birthday cakes for both couples, donated by Mrs. Earl Keene and Mrs. Percy August in Orillia.

Akey.

They were presented with lovely gifts for which, thought taken by surprise they thanked all for the lovely gifts, and also to those who were so thoughtful of them and Mr. and Mrs. Keene for opening their home for the party. All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", and wished them "Happy Birthdays" and many more.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Beale, Mrs. Earl Keene and Mrs. Percy Akey. A social time was spent together.

Mr. Earl Keene showed pictures of the 12th of July in Ireland and Kingston, and 12th of August in Orillia.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

IVANHOE W.M.S.-L.A.

IVANHOE — St. Andrew's Ivanhoe W.M.S. and L.A. met at the home of Mrs. Harry Benson on Saturday evening with Mrs. William Donnan presiding.

The program opened by singing "Come Ye Thankful People Come," followed by prayers led by the president.

There were 23 members and three visitors present.

Plans were made for the open meeting to be held November 11th. A nominating committee was appointed to bring a slate of officers to the December meeting.

The key word, "Truth," was given by Mrs. Russell Sills.

An account of the Presbyterial W.M.S. sectional rally held in Tweed Presbyterian Church on October 19th, was given by Mrs. Barton Haggerty.

A solo, "God Answers Prayer," by Mrs. Milton Shaw, and reading were given by "Thanksgiving," by B. Fleming, and "At Autumn," by Mrs. John Wright.

"Sing to the Lord of Harvest"

ST. MARK'S W.A.

BONARLAW — The regular meeting of St. Mark's W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Jack Fraser, October 12th.

The president, Mrs. Jones presided.

The Bible reading from Matthew 22 was read by Mrs. Reg. Stitt Heath.

The treasurer gave her report on the afternoon tea; the visiting committee reported six call made. It was decided to have the annual turkey supper the first of December; also to cater to a wedding in December; it was voted to purchase nine dozen juice glasses and a new tea kettle for the kitchen.

The Rev. J. Fleming closed the meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Barlow, who was in charge of the program, read two interesting poems and conducted a contest.

Lunch was served by the hostess and a social half hour spent.

and the Mizpah brought the meeting to a close.

Lunch was served by the hostess and co-hostesses.

Former Resident Given Surprise Party, Gifts

2nd SIDNEY — Mrs. Morris Stickle entertained a few friends and neighbors on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Mrs. Vera Sine, who left this neighborhood several weeks ago to live with her son at Chatterton. Mrs. Sine was brought back on Tuesday afternoon by her two daughters after telling her that it was to be a plaque party.

A reading "Shopping with the Wife", was read by Mrs. Frank White, two contests were put on by Mrs. Alfred St. Hilaire and these were won by Mrs. Fred Meyers of Johnstown. A panel of four ladies, Mrs. Clayton Curtis, Mrs. Vera Sine, Mrs. Floyd Sandercock and Mrs. Glenn Stickle were given a pair of oven mitts to put on and then blindfolded and handed a nylon stocking which they were supposed to put on after taking their shoe off. This was hilarious with Mrs. Sine winning the prize.

A reading was given by Mrs. A. Meyers, "Radios and Families", a couple of contests, put on by Mrs. St. Hilaire, were won by Mrs. Bird.

Mrs. Donald Sandercock read an address to Mrs. Sine stating that this neighborhood would be the poorer for her leaving here as she was always willing to help whenever she could in anything that was doing in the neighborhood". Mrs. Morris Stickle presented Mrs. Sine with a beautiful rhinestone necklace and earrings and a hammered aluminum tray. Mrs. Sine thanked all for their kindness to her.

After singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow" a bountiful repast was enjoyed.

Next First Lady of U.S. Will Be Attractive, Poised, Delight to Fashion World

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next first lady of the United States will be attractive, poised and a delight to the fashion world.

But there are more differences than similarities between Patricia Nixon, 48, and Jacqueline Kennedy, 31, one of whom will be the wife of the next president.

Difference in age, experience and personality is more pronounced in them than in their husband.

Politically speaking, both wives have one thing in common: Each at one time belonged to the political party opposite from that of her husband.

LOOKS LIKE MODEL

Mrs. Kennedy, five-foot-seven, usually weighing about 125 pounds and fitting into a size 10 or 12 dress, has the looks of a fashion model and often dresses in the highest style.

Mrs. Nixon, two inches shorter and a trim size 10 who doesn't diet, has made her wardrobe conform to what she envisions as the conservative role of a Republican vice-president's wife.

Mrs. Nixon wears her auburn hair gently waved in a simple off-the-face style that has attracted little attention through her years in public life.

Because Mrs. Kennedy's naturally wavy hair is done in a bouffant style of her own creation known as "the swan." It has created almost as much attention in the campaign as her Democratic senator husband's boyish but now famed forelock.

LIVES DIFFERENT

As different as their hairdos are the lives of these two fashion ladies.

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy was born in exclusive Southampton, Long Island, into a moneyed and Republican—society family. She has always been at home in circles of celebrities and dignitaries.

She led the life of a debutante in New York and Newport, R.I., attended an exclusive school, went to Vassar College and studied for a year at the Sorbonne in Paris.

She speaks three foreign languages, Spanish, Italian and French.

At 36, she married a young millionaire senator already casting a figure in politics.

HARD LIFE

By contrast, Pat Nixon had anything but a life of ease. She was born in the lost town of Ely, Nev. Her father was an itinerant gold miner, her mother a German immigrant.

Her early life was spent on an 8l-acre California truck farm, with no electricity and few comforts.

Her mother died when she was 28. At 17, her father died and she struck out on her own. She worked in a variety of jobs from secretary to x-ray technician, earning money to put herself through college.

Finally, with a high school teacher's certificate, she got a job teaching commercial subjects in Whittier High School in the California hometown of her future husband.

Unlike Jackie, Pat had no idea of a political life ahead when she settled down after her marriage in 1940 to life with a small-town lawyer—Richard M. Nixon.

Within a year and a half, Nixon was off to duty in the wartime navy. He made his plunge into politics after her war.

NOW CAMPAIGNER

Pat's life has been filled with the business of raising a family of two daughters, one now 12 and the other 14; actively campaigning with her husband in his bids for office, and travelling 140,000 miles to 54 foreign countries with him.

It has left her with little time for reading or hobbies, she says.

But Mrs. Kennedy has had time for many pursuits. Even with daughter Caroline, now 3½, she has been able to indulge in paint-ing, riding with hunt clubs and interesting herself in literature and history.

While Pat Nixon now has a quiet assurance in meeting people of all walks of life, Jackie Kennedy is still somewhat shy facing a public life that calls for press conferences, television appearances and shaking hundreds of hands.

Women's Activities

ROSE HALL W. A.

HILLIER SOUTH — The Rose Hall W. A. meeting was held at home of Mrs. W. Cunningham; Mrs. W. Conley presiding.

Good reports from all officers were given. Thank-you notes were read from Mrs. W. Young, Mrs. Thompson and Rosalie Roote.

Members handed in bandages to be sent to the leper colony in West Africa.

The study book lesson was given about "Johanna". Mrs. W. Cunningham had charge of devotions and read a poem, "He Gave His All for Us." Mrs. E. Selder read the Scripture taken from Ephesians 6. Mrs. M. Conley read, "The Christain Home is the Garden of the Lord", "The Real Schools of America are the Homes".

Mrs. Don Roote and Mrs. Alan Davis assisted the hostess in serving a dainty lunch.

Mrs. Kristalyne thanked the committee.

Next meeting to be held at home of Mrs. G. Jackson.

Women Raise $899,159 For Hospitals

TORONTO (CP) — A total of $899,159 was raised for Ontario hospitals last year by the 170 units of the Women's Hospital Auxiliaries Association, its provincial golden jubilee meeting was told Tuesday.

Of the total $521,845 was spent for hospital equipment, furnishings and buildings, and $55,372 for nurses' accommodations and educational funds.

Mrs. J. C. MacMicking of Markham, who presented the financial report, said the association still has a reserve for hospital expansion.

Mrs. W. P. Telford of Owen Sound was re-elected president of the organization. President-elect is Mrs. C. W. Sheridan of Orillia.

Other officers elected: Vice-presidents, Mrs. William Scoltis, Perth, Mrs. C. G. Fraser, Hamilton and Mary Percival, Sudbury; recording secretary, Mrs. H. Japp, Chatham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Bowes, Owen Sound.

The Experts Say
A Woman's Wardrobe Is Like A Bouquet of Mixed Flowers

By ZENA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)— A wardrobe is like a bouquet of mixed flowers, says Pierre Balmain, one of the world's top fashion designers.

Some dresses, like some blooms, fade quickly. But some blooms, and some dresses such as a basic dress, live much longer.

There is no reason why a good dress, suit or coat cannot last several seasons, said the Parisian couturier during his first visit to Toronto.

He said he was never more happy than when he saw one of his best-dressed customers boarding a plane wearing a four-year-old suit."

CHARM IS KEY

"It's not clothes that make the woman—it's herself, her charm, her movement," he said.

Graceful movement is important. He chided New York models "who photograph beautifully but who don't know how to walk."

All of his models are not photogenic, eh says, but all of them know how to walk.

"When they model a dress they look like they own it."

He said he found Canadian women are most fashion-conscious.

Too often, women fail to take advantage of what they have and mean because they are either too small or too short.

"They should learn to play the trumps they have," Mr. Balmain said.

No matter how lovely the ensemble, Mr. Balmain would not admire it unless elegant shoes and elegant gloves were included. "And the gloves must be plain," he added.

When asked about the length of dresses for the coming season he was firm in his opinion that "a woman must never forget she is a lady."

"The proper length of the skirt is the becoming one," he advised. This was generally mid-calf but "it's a matter of proportion," he added.

Big shoulders generally quired a longer skirt but a narrow top looked better with a short, full skirt. "At long as the skirt hides the knees but is well above the ankle, and that gives about a 10-inch variation."

Graduating Class Feted by H-S Assoc.

MARMORA — Marmora Home and School Association of Public Schools were hosts to the 8th grade graduation class of 1960 on Wednesday evening, when 34 students were served a banquet.

On entering the hall, the students were presented with corsages and boutonnieres of yellow and bronze mums.

Seated at the head table were: chairman of the board, Mr. Vaughan Glover and Mrs. Glover; principal of the public schools, Mr. K. C. Gillies, and Mrs. Gillies; the Rev. J. M. D. McLeod and Mrs. McLeod; president of Home and School, Mrs. J. R. Barker and Mr. Barker; principal of the Marmora High School and Public School Inspector for North Hastings, Mr. G. W. Nelson.

Mr. Glover gave the toast to Her Majesty, The Queen, and Rev. J. McLeod said grace.

Miss Linda Glover cut the graduation cake and following the dinner, Mr. A. T. Ashley gave the toast to the graduating class which was replied to by Miss Joy Neal, who also thanked the Association, on behalf of the graduates, for the dinner.

INSPIRING ADVICE

Mr G. W. Nelson gave an inspiring talk to the students, advising them that their actions in good or evil reflected on their school. Mr. Vaughan Glover was chairman for the occasion and made the presentation of the diplomas.

Women's Institute

HILLIER W.I.

HILLIER SOUTH — The Hillier W.I. meeting was held Oct. 21st in Hillier Hall when the council members and wives were guests.

This called on Mrs. S. Foster to introduce the guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor, Mr. K. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hind, Mr. MacCrae Dunbird, Mr. R. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lloyd and Mr. R. Burris.

Mr. McGowan was on hand to answer questions re old cemeteries and much discussion was forthcoming.

Lunch was served with Mrs. C. Benway and Mrs. C. Clapp pouring tea.

Mr. K. Wood thanked the ladies for the splendid evening's entertainment.

"Lines on Life"

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Too many of us permit our doubts about the meaning of life to make us into harmless but hollow persons. We doubt if we can be any good in the world and so we do nothing but talk about the evil. Talking about evil because we have great doubts about the good can never do any good.

And in the midst of cynical doubting, we ask: Where is God? Perhaps we had better begin with ourselves, asking: Where are we? God is in the moral law of the universe which calls upon us to stop retreating from responsibility and to begin upholding the Law. But where are we? We say that God has called us; that we are still waiting for Him to change the world. Have we ever considered that perhaps we have failed Him by ignoring His law? Perhaps it is God who wails pathetically:

The mortal suffering we produce and the inter-human tensions we create are perhaps the best proof available that God is working in the world! If we could go on selfishly keeping and enjoying our advantages, while the rest of the world lacks, this, then, would truly be a mad world. If we could go on hating people because of skin color, creed, wealth or talent, and still enjoy harmony and peace, this, then, would be an immoral universe.

Why bitterness? Why tragedy? Why can we not discover our duties, learn our lessons amidst greater comfort and in wider ease? For the same reason that Moses had to experience, personally, the evils of Egypt, feel the lash of the taskmaster's tongue and while, before he could long for a promised land. Only when a man personally feels the evils of an Egypt can he dream of a land of Hope.

Humans are strange creatures. We either refuse or are unable to learn from the experience of others. In the philosopher's words: "History teaches that history is nothing."

One man-keeper that truth poignantly when he conferred: "I have made much money in life, I have amassed a great fortune. You would think that I should be happy. But I am not! My greatest sorrow is that while I can offer my children wealth and fortune, I cannot give them my experience. There is nothing that I can do to prevent them from inheriting hurt and pain, difficulty and sorrow. They will have to experience these for themselves."

Perhaps this best explains why there is evil in the world. To help among goodness take stock of itself! God hardened the heart of Pharaoh. Had He not, perhaps the Israelites would have remained in Egypt. Evil becomes so evil that good people must ultimately shatter their own doubts, move away from their complacency and strike forth boldly to glimpse a better world.

God is the Author of Evil. He fashions a Pharaoh; but He also creates a Moses. Each generation has its Egypts; each generation can also have its promised lands.

Dedication Services Held at Free Methodist

SARMORA — Marmora Free Methodist Church members held the dedication of their new church on Sunday afternoon and evening. Dr. W. J. Stonehouse was the speaker for the day and Mr. Carl Green was soloist.

The Frankford Choristers were pleasing in their rendition of "How Great Thou Art," with Miss Kathleen Guster taking the verse in solo.

The Misses Myrna and Margaret Sine of Frankford also rendered a duet.

Besides the dedication of the church, a set of oak collection plates were dedicated which were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wills of Trenton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wells of Stirling, in memory of their parents the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells. The oak pews were a donation from Mr. and Mrs. Richie Wells.

An overflowing congregation was present at both services. At the evening service Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green sang a duet. Mrs. A. Chisholm was in charge of the music. Mr. P. O. Miller.

An overflowing congregation were present from Belleville, Campbellford, Frankford, Kingston, Madoc, Peterborough, Stirling, Trenton and Warkworth congregations and from Marmora Legion of which Mr. Miller had been a former Padre.

White's Church Sponsors Fine Bazaar, Tea

WHITE'S DISTRICT—White's Church, Bayside, held its annual fall bazaar and tea on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance of visitors from surrounding churches.

Mrs. William Yeleman, president, and Mrs. Roy Rickard, wife of the pastor, received the guests at the door and piloted them to Mrs. W. A. Jeffery, treasurer of White's W.A.

The ladies visited the shopping district, which included the baking centre, with its delicious pies, cup cakes, tarts, small and larger cookies and the jelly, fruit and pickle section, conveneri by Mrs. Charles Hatch and Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson.

Next they visited the sewing centre under the management of two efficient saleslades, Mrs. Ernest Curtis and Mrs. Walter Jones. These ladies offered fancy and not so fancy aprons, crochet work, dolls' clothes and children's clothes. They also presided over the novelty section and the plant and flower section.

Later [illegible] two's three's and four's to the tea room, covered with [illegible] tured with baby linens and [illegible] with four place mats. [illegible] Five Oaks Christian Workers Centre. These tables were attractlessly served by Mrs. George Bilham, Mrs. Clayton Stickle, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Robert Van Allen and Mrs. George Colten.

At a small lace covered table, tea was poured into fancy cups from the silver teapots by two tea hostesses, Mrs. Albert Jones and Mrs. Orval Ghent. The tea was brewed by Mrs. Carey Ketcheson.

Last, but not least, the plates were filled with nut, raisin and orange breads, fancy cookies and tarts, trays of pickles, olives and celery. The ladies, who so efficiently kept the food supplied, were: Mrs Frank Sandercock, Mrs. Floyd Sandercock, Mrs. Jamuyn Palmer, Mrs. B. Westover and Mrs. Samuel Reid.

The bazaar and tea was a decided success not only from the money standpoint; but was also socially important bringing the ladies together for a quiet chat with their cup of tea.

Economy of World Depends On Food Producers, Women's Institutes Told at Ottawa

By ELISABETH MOTHERWELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Farm woman Lyngburner of Port Colborne, should "stop apologizing for president of the Ontario Federathemselves," says Mrs. I. G. Hoo ot, Women's Institutes.

She told some 250 farm women attending the annual convention of Ottawa area Institutes Wednesday that "the economy of the world depends on food producers." Now that farming is big business, farm organizations must be established on a scale comparable to industry.

Expand your institute circles beyond people you have known for years who think alike and do the same things. That is very pleasant—but it is not the way the Women's Institute carries on.

She said members must raise their horizons to the international scope of their organization. Those in other countries looked to Canadian women to give leadership in an organization they started.

Exchange visits among farm women of various provinces might be a way for Canadians to help one another know their own country.

Institute members should support Pest own projects. Last year Ontario's 35,000 members raised $125,000 for other charities while the Institute's Pennies for Friendship fund to help organizations elsewhere targeted.

Ontario has raised $3,200 of its $5,500 quota toward restoration of the Adelaide Hoodless Home, stead at Stoney Creek, near Paris, Mrs. Lyngburner said.

ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE

Institute members across Canada are asked to contribute 10 cents each to raise the $11,000 purchase price of the home to be restored in period furnishing as a memorial to the institute founder.

Generous support has also been given the Institute's Adult 400 Coupon Project undertaken to help Jamaican women in co-operation with the United Nations. Each $10 contributed provides a coupon for purchase of supplies.

Mrs. Lyngburner said the Lady Aberdeen Memorial Scholarship needs support. It commemorates a Canadian governor - general's wife who promoted the International Associated Country Women of the World. The aim was to establish a $30,000 fund to provide a $2,000 annual scholarship.

MRS. BUTLER WILL SAVE PLENTY

"I plan to make clothes for the whole family," declares Mrs. Tom Butler, 77 Hickson Ave., Kingston, who is seen operating the White Portable Sewing Machine she received for 21 books of stamps she won in Loblaws Lucky Green Game. "My three boys need a lot of pants — and patches," she adds.

Grinder Creates Extra Space
"It helps me off the dishes, too," says Mrs. J. Weary, Silver's Corners, Ontario, shown with Coco Knox Grinder she received for 81 books of Lucky Green Stamps. "I put a pair of shoes in one side, "I put a pair of shoes and put it together in no time," A Pittsburgh Pirate fan, Mrs. Weiser is one of 12 women who red 900 at a Thanksgiving Dinner in Silver's Corners.

Can Opener Works like Magic
"You just press this button — and it does the rest," says Mrs. A. R. MacDonald, 181 Hillcrest Ave., Kingston, shown with the Sunbeam Can Opener she received for only 81 books of Lucky Green Stamps. "I find it a big help around the kitchen," adds Mrs. MacDonald, whose brother is a Loblaws manager on Lucky in Prince Edward Island.

A Big Help When Someone's Sick
"It's wonderful around a sick room, as well as in the kitchen," says Mrs. L. Alvin, 239 Division St., Kingston, as she points the Sunbeam Electric Vapor Control Kettle for 64 books of Lucky Green Stamps. "All you do is fill it up, set the vapor control switch and it will make steam for hours, quietly, clearing up the children's colds."

SALEM W.A.

MINTO — The regular meeting of Salem W.A. was held in the church hall on Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Lorne Hagerman as hostess.

The president Mrs. Mel Wickens welcomed all and opened the meeting with the theme song and prayer. Hymn 199 was sung. There were 18 members and several visitors present.

President reminded all of the W.A. rally to be held at Mt. Pleasant on Oct. 26. An invitation from Bethesda, to attend their banner was read. Final plans were made for an afternoon tea and bake sale in the church hall.

Mrs. Frank McGee, convener of the program, took charge of the meeting. Hymn 577 was sung. Mrs. Albert Twiddy conducted the devotional, reading the Scripture and Mrs. Ivan Sarles read the meditation. Mrs. J. R. Hagerman offered prayer. Mrs. George Hagerman read, "Be Thankful Unto Him", Mrs. Harold Holden read, "Thanksgiving" and also Mrs. Frank McGee read, "A Button Box". Mrs. Orval Jackson thanked all who had helped with the program.

W. M. S.

FRANKFORD — The October meeting of the Frankford United Church W. M. S. was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Smith Octerlony. There was a good attendance, both of members and visitors.

President Mrs. G. McLay Morrow then gave the financial report. Roll call was taken followed by the business period. Mrs. Grills rendered a vocal solo, "Count Your Blessings" in keeping with the Thanksgiving meeting.

A reading, "The Water Mill" was given by Mrs. P. E. Bonisteel; a reading, "Christmas," by Mrs. Fred Charlesworth; a reading "The new singly book, "The Ship Under The Cross," was given by Mrs. Georgs Montgomery.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. S. Osborne and Mrs. L. Hanna.

and hymn 353. A period of silence and a personal tribute to the memory of Mrs. Chas. Hanna was given.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. R. Rowe then brought a message which explained the new plan of carrying on all work in the United Church. She gave an interesting and detailed account of this work.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and Mrs. W. Morrow then gave the financial report. Roll call was taken followed by the business period.

P.S. Teachers Hold Convention

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Public School students had a holiday from school here on Friday when the teachers attended the annual convention of the Northumberland Teachers Institute held in Peterborough. Peterborough Public Schools were host to 120 elementary school teachers of the No. 1 Inspectorate.

During the morning, the group was split up to attend the various schools in the city, where the visiting teachers were able to see modern teaching techniques in use.

GUEST SPEAKER

The teachers enjoyed a banquet at the Kawartha Gold and Country club at noon, with F. B. Smitheran, vice-principal of Peterborough Teachers' College was the guest-speaker. He spoke on the "School and the Community", and during the course of his address, drew a vivid picture of the role of the teacher in a rural community.

He compared the role of the teacher today to that played by his counterpart many years ago. At one time, he said the teacher was not only the leader in education in the area, but was also the social, religious and community councillor as well. The role of the teacher is still vitally important today, he said.

L. E. MacCrimmon, Master of Peterborough Teachers' College, was another speaker. He spoke to about 80 teachers of Grades 4 to 8, emphasizing the teaching of Geography in public schools. He said that all subject matter should be based on three points: the study of man, the study of man's environment, and the relationship between man and his environment. He indicated the extent to which the topography of one area would cause man to adjust in a fashion entirely different from what might be found in another area.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. MacCrimmon distributed a booklet which he had compiled.

It dealt with a suggested pattern for teaching the geography of a region, the use of the globe throughout the various grades, map skills at each grade level, and finally, what should be expected from the students regarding notes and records.

Miss Muna Cox, music supervisor of Peterborough schools, addressed a group of music teachers, after they had paid visits to the schools.

Teachers of the primary divisions were addressed by Mrs. Mary Every, itinerant remedial reading teacher of Peterborough public schools. She spoke of the importance of testing and observations as well as the records that a teacher must keep in order that an accurate diagnosis may be made of the pupil's area of difficulty. Mrs. Every, of an excellent display of remedial reading aids on hand, and discussed many remedial techniques with teachers of the primary division.

HEAD TABLE GUESTS

Guests at the head table during the banquet included: Mrs. P. Babcock of Campbellford, Stanley J. Nichols, inspector of public schools for Peterborough; L. E. MacCrimmon, Master, Peterborough Teachers' College; D. Hynes, superintendent of elementary schools, Peterborough; F. B. Smitheram, vice-principal of Peterborough Teachers' College; A. L. Whitfield, Campbellford, president of the Northumberland Teachers' Institute; E. W. Jones, inspector of public schools, Northumberland; L. W. Coop, principal, Peterborough Teachers' College; Dr. E. P. Say, Director of Education, Peterborough; Mrs. Mary Every, itinerant remedial reading teacher, Peterborough; W. Irwin, secretary-treasurer of Northumberland Teachers' Institute, Zone 1, and Mrs. T. Fraser, incoming president of the Northumberland Teachers' Institute.

Those attending, many of whom were from the Campbellford area, told president A. L. Whitfield that they considered the annual event very worthwhile. They gained particularly from the visits to the Peterborough schools, and by the table bed by the various discussion groups during the afternoon.

Mr. T. W. Young, whose inspectorate comprised those taking part, said he felt the conference was educational and helpful and he felt sure those teachers who attended were richer for the experience.

REUNITED AFTER BLAST — Louis Zebic is reunited with his wife and children in their Windsor home after he spent hours searching wreckage of a department store nearly demolished by a blast. Mrs. Zebic and the children, however, were not in the department store on schedule but were in another store next door. After several hours Zebic returned home and found his family intact. Left to right: Zoreen, 4; Louis, 34; Tommy, 3; Mrs. Zebic, 35, and Polly, 18 months. (AP Wirephoto).

INJURED BY EXPLOSION — An unidentified blast victim is made comfortable in a hospital after an explosion wrecked the Metropolitan Store in Windsor. (CP Wirephoto).

Believe Only One More Body Remains in Ruins of Store, Setting Windsor Toll at Ten

WINDSOR (CP) — Rain-soaked searchers, clawing through a shattered toyland, said today there is likely only one body within the ruins of the Metropolitan Stores Limited building.

The body of a ninth victim was pulled from the wreckage Wednesday night. Henry Boyd, civil defense director, said searchers likely will know today whether more than one body is in the building.

If only one victim remains, the final toll from Tuesday's natural gas explosion will be 10 dead and more than 80 injured, instead of the 11 that search officials had feared. Twenty-eight injured remained in hospital today.

Seven bodies were removed from the wreckage soon after the shopping-hour blast occurred and were identified almost immediately. An eighth, Mrs. Timothy Sleep of Howard Cty., Mich., was identified Wednesday.

The ninth victim was John Lepage, 52, of Windsor, a cook who had been working near the entrance area where the blast occurred.

Mr. Bird said Lepan's body had been visible from two points and had been mistaken for two bodies.

The remaining body visible, he said, is believed that of Joseph Bobdac, a store accountant.

First death reports ranged as high as 13 a confusion reported at the scene.

Attorney-General Kelso Roberts inspected the building and said he is after "quick and thorough" action to determine the exact cause of the explosion.

The bodies recovered earlier were identified as Mrs. Anne Dobrowsky, Mrs. Ella Maria Myles, 35; Mrs. Anne Marie Prodeus, 28, Mrs. Mabel Day, 68; Mrs. Pauline Montgomery, 54, all of Windsor; Mrs. Rachel ack, Sandwich West and Mrs. Lillian Goss, 70, Pike Creek.

Mr. Roberts said Eric H. Silk, assistant deputy attorney-general, likely will conduct a public hearing into the disaster.

Mr. Roberts left Wednesday night to confer with Premier Frost, attending a federal-provincial tax conference at Ottawa.

Mr. Bird said demolition crews had to slice gently through wreckage at the front of the store because the entire structure was weakened.

The main part of the two-storey store is made of reinforced concrete but large areas of brick were used in the rear section.

Three cranes, a bulldozer, tractor and heavy dump trucks were being used. Work was hampered by a cold drizzle.

Police, civil defence workers and other rescue crews were standing by. There was still glass in the gutters of Ouellette Avenue, on which the building fronts. But traffic was rolling again toward the nearby Detroit-Windsor tunnel.

All the dead had been in the rear of the store when the explosion, blamed by store manager Joseph Ratford, 34, on natural gas, was touched off apparently by a basement heater during furnace-conversion work.

Three of the victims in hospital were reported in serious condition.

They are Mrs. Esther Naylor of Windsor, in critical condition with a fractured hip and lacerations to the head and arms; Mrs. Ann Randal, 35 of Windsor, in fair condition with severe lacerations, leg and head injuries, and Howard Schram, also of Windsor, with severe multiple rib fractures, burns and undetermined abdominal injuries.

Reserves Judgment

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice D. C. Wells reserved judgment Wednesday on a motion to quash proceedings of the May 18 inquest into the death of a two-day-old London, Ont., baby.

Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wolfe argued that the coroner at the inquest, Dr. J. B. C. Robinson, refused the parents a right to be heard through counsel.

The jury found the baby died of an RH blood condition or hemolysis. The parents, Jehovah's Witnesses, refused on religious principles to allow its blood to be changed through transfusion.

After an 18 - hour delay, the child was ordered into the custody of the Childrens' Aid Society and two transfusions were given before the child died.

The jury recommended hospitals be empowered to give emergency transfusions to children without the consent of the parents.

BODIES REMOVED FROM BLAST SCENE —Rescue workers take body up ladder while other workers begin lifting woman out of debris at a downtown Windsor, Ont., store. The store blew up with an estimated 10 persons killed and more than 65 injured. Building commissioner Paul Bois says "there is very little doubt" a gas explosion occurred. (CP Wirephoto).

Works Program Not Adequate Says Leader

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Liberal Leader Wintermeyer Wednesday night called for the establishment of a provincial department of industry to study unemployment.

In a CBC provincial affairs telecast, Mr. Wintermeyer said the purpose of the department would be to study present unemployment and future employment patterns, extend government encouragement to industry to expand employment and to undertake a massive program of job training.

He criticized the Ontario government for what he called the spending of tax money to import unemployment by buying foreign-made products and by continuing an inadequate winter works program.

TO DISTRIBUTE FOOD

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The United Nations economic committee Wednesday night unanimously adopted a plan for distributing surplus food to needy nations. It will be considered by the General Assembly today. The resolution calls on the UN food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) to sell surplus food to needy countries at low cost and in local currencies. Main contributors of food would be Canada and the United States.

BBG Head Denies Changing Decision of Board in Dispute And Refuses to Resign Post

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors, denied Wednesday that he changed a decision of the board under political pressure. He also refused to resign his post.

The former university head swung into the latest round of a 6-yelection TV feud touched off last week in Peterborough where a Liberal candidate charged that Progressive Conservatives were allowed to use advertisements on a local TV station of a type denied the Liberals.

CCF-Leader Hazen Argue also stepped into the feud Wednesday, announcing that he will press for a Commons inquiry into the case after Parliament convenes Nov. 17.

Liberal candidate C. Donald Munroe last week called for Dr. Stewart's resignation. He said the BBG bowed to political pressure in allowing the broadcast of a dramatized Conservative advertisement on station CHEX-TV contrary to the Broadcasting Act banning "dramatized" political announcements.

The clip showed Harold Matthews, Conservative candidate in the Oct. 31 federal byelection.

SOUGHT PERMISSION

Mr. Munro said the Liberals—and the Conservatives—had earlier sought permission to use such advertising and both had been turned down. He charged that Allister Grossart then obtained permission through Dr. Stewart for use of the Conservative advertisement.

Dr. Stewart said the film simply showed Mr. Matthews talking about the normal activities of a candidate, e.g. calling at homes or places of business, speaking to people on the streets, kissing babies, etcetera.

He said the BBG decision to allow broadcast of the film was reached after obtaining an independent interpretation from the laws lawyer A. R. B. Lawrence, former BBG counsel.

Mr. Grossart last week denied applying any partisan pressure. He had simply sought and obtained a ruling on material which he thought was the "very opposite" of dramatized.

NO DIRECT BEARING

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said at the same time that the government had no direct or indirect control over the BBG.

Dr. Stewart said the "essential fact" of which Mr. Munroe was unaware was that the board had sought "independent advice" of Mr. Lawrence and "acted on the advice obtained."

He made no reference to the charge made by Mr. Munro that BBG counsel W. C. Pearson had previously turned down a similar request by both the Liberal and Conservative associations.

Dr. Stewart added:

"As a citizen, Mr. Munro is right in insisting that the Board of Broadcast Governors must be free from partisan political pressures, however they may be exercised, and must resist them when they occur. There was in the Peterborough case no pressure on the board, and the board did not come to its decision as a result of pressure."

"Mr. Munro is also entitled to express his opinion on what the chairman of the board should or should not do; and his should not be interpreted as putting pressure on the board.

"However, not being fully informed of all the circumstances, Mr. Munro came to a mistaken conclusion. Consequently, the chairman sees no reason to follow Mr. Munro's advice."

Dr. Stewart said that when the BBG was presented with the proposal to show the film clip it sought an opinion from the justice department but was advised by Deputy Minister E. A. Driedger that "it would not be proper for him to give legal advice" to the BBG.

The question was then referred to Mr. Lawrence — who acted as BBG counsel before Mr. Pearson's appointment as permanent solicitor — and he gave the opinion that the Conservative film clip could not be judged to be in "dramatized form" and contrary to the act. The board governors accepted his opinion.

Enquiries with respect to the acceptability of continuity may come from stations, agencies or sponsors," Dr. Stewart's statement said. "The decision of the board will always conveyed to those who make th enquiry.

"Because in this case was addressed by Mr. Grossart in a letter initiated by him."

The same interpretation given to Mr. Grossart will be applied in all similar cases, Dr. Stewart said.

In his statement a few hours earlier, Mr. Argue said he has filed a question motion for production of all correspondence between the BBG and any other person regarding a "dramatized" announcement made over CHEX-TV.

Mr. Argue's motion is accompanied by an order-paper question which asks:

"Did the Board of Broadcast Governors receive any written or verbal submissions from any persons or persons regarding the use of dramatized television film in connection with political advertisements in the Peterborough federal byelection Oct. 31?

"If so, what was the name of the person making each such request? On what date was each such request made? What was the nature of the such request and the reply given by the Board of Broadcast Governors?"

German Army 'Overflowing' Into France Under NATO

Germany's army is "overflowing" across the Rhine into France for the third time since 1914 — but this time with the blessing of the French government.

Under an agreement signed between the two countries, West Germany is permitted to take up training positions in eastern France.

Although the camps will remain under French command, both French and German authorities are aware of the ticklish nature of the scheme. French men haven't seen German troops on their soil since the Second World War, and they were glad to see the last of them then.

The agreement, after six months of negotiations, climaxes a delicate search for adequate facilities for the West German army.

German officials have argued that the choice training and storage areas in their own highly industrial country are taken up by British and American troops.

There just wasn't enough room to train and supply their own army, growing steadily in recent years, they argued. Bases outside Germany were needed.

Germany is relatively approached Spain but gave up the idea after touching off protests within the NATO countries. Some feared the motives behind German expansion into Spain.

The French - German agreement, however, has the blessing of NATO. It was suggested, when the secret German - Spanish talks came to light, that Germany should seek facilities acting its allies.

The Germans and French are losing no time in putting the agreement into effect before opposition, sparked by bitter memories of previous German eseries can crystalize.

Many Frenchmen have not recovered from the psychological shock of defeat in 1940, and the period of the occupation by the Nazis is still a haunting memory.

To keep at least some of the 5,811 out of the French resentment, the initial German contingents will wear khaki uniforms —of the type worn by French, British and American soldiers— rather than the field grey of the Second World War enemy.

Also, German officers ordered their men to be on their best behavior when they enter France. One officer said the conduct of the units can be vital to future French-German friendship.

INCREASE RESERVES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal reserve board announced Wednesday, plans to add about $2,100,000,000 to the lending power of the U.S. banks and to provide an extra $1,000,000,000 in currency for the Christmas buying season.

SOCCER STAR — Les Fabri, one of many Hungarian refugees who have become stars in Canadian soccer, kicks the ball downfield during an exhibition game against Zenit in Vancouver. Fabri, 25, who moved to British Columbia a year after the Hungarian uprising of 1956, scored a goal to give B.C. All-Stars a 3-3 win over the Russian visitors. He also played with the All-Stars in their 3-2 draw with Heart of Midlothian of the Scottish League. (CP Photo).

Majority Hungarian Refugees Fitting Into Canadian Way Of Life, Many Came Penniless

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hungarian refugees admitted to Canada after the abortive 1956 uprising have been integrated rapidly and successfully, except for a small hard core.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows the majority of Hungarian refugees are fitting into the Canadian way of life as well as other immigrant groups in some cases better and faster. And most of them came here penniless, without jobs and with no knowledge of English or French.

A total of 37,563 refugees were admitted to Canada four years ago after Soviet military forces crushed the Oct. 26 Hungarian revolt. Of this number 1.3 per cent—some 500—were dissatisfied and went back home at Canadian government expense.

For the 37,000-odd still in Canada biggest problems have been of language, lack of money and difficulty in getting jobs. As a group, they have met these challenges.

AVERAGE UNEMPLOYMENT

Those who couldn't get jobs in their own field took other work. Lawyers became truck drivers, technicians became labourers. Many who came from cities went to work on farms.

There still is some unemployment but it's no larger than among other groups of immigrants.

Provincial and civic welfare agencies say their main problem has been with young immigrants who have found it difficult to adjust and keep a steady job.

Clergymen close to Hungarian refugees say most are happy in Canada but they regret that a large number of young people do not attend church. Police say that except for a relatively small number of male teen-agers the Hungarian refugee is no more of a problem than anybody else.

CONFIRMED REBELS

Those who have broken the law—murder are in jail—are described as mainly "revolutionaries" against any kind of authority. A few, not unusual among a group of 36,000 persons, were criminals in Hungary and merely transferred their activities to Canada.

Police and welfare officials say the revolutionaries, mostly young men, came to Canada with a mistaken idea of freedom.

In their homeland they rebelled against authority—in this case, communist. When they came to Canada they encountered the democratic form of authority and rebelled again because they felt they had to oppose any kind of authority.

An immigration department official in Ottawa described the small hard core of young Hungarians as "fly specks." He said their troubles should not be emphasized to the point where any kind of blot is placed on the movement of Hungarian refugees to this country.

There are many notable cases of Hungarian refugees who have achieved success and prominence. These include doctors, dentists, engineers, restaurant owners, a symphony concert master and at least 12 university professors.

Among three Roman Catholic priests who came to Montreal with the refugees is Rev. Jean Mahig, who recently celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination.

Les Fabri and Mike Kuczi starred at Empire Stadium in Vancouver last spring when the British Columbia all-stars held the touring Heart of Midlothian from Scotland to a 3-3 draw. Fabri was recently suspended from Canadian soccer for skipping to a U.S. team.

WOMAN IN ENGINEER

One of the best examples of a Hungarian who made good in Montreal is Gaby Bodis, who received a degree in 1959 in mechanical and electrical engineering. She was the first woman graduate from the University of Montreal's Ecole Polytechnique.

Miss Bodis now is employed by Quebec Hydro. When she becomes a Canadian citizen in 1962 she plans to specialize in mechanical engineering.

Dr. Imre Fejer, now a Toronto heart specialist, said the language barrier was difficult at first. However, he had solved this problem and now felt at home at Toronto's Western Hospital.

Dr. Agoston Eiso, about 38, now a Toronto dentist, hasn't stopped enthusing about Canadian education and opportunities for native-born Canadians since she arrived four years ago.

"If I can accomplish this," she said, sawing one hand in the direction of her fourteen differ- "by coming here with only six shoes and unpresentable clothing, native-born Canadians should be able to do even better."

In Winnipeg and other centres many refugees are making names for themselves in music and other branches of the arts.

One is Mrs. Marta Hidy, former state and concert artist in Hungary. She is concert master of the CBC Winnipeg Orchestra and violinist with the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Hidy—her husband is a cellist with the Winnipeg Symphony—said she finds a great deal of difference between cultural life in Canada and Hungary.

"I feel that Canada needs more of the cultural life with more operas, theatre and symphony. But life is coming gradually and we are happy to be taking part in the change."

SOCIAL CRIMES

HUNGARIAN REVIVE — The Hungarian Roman Catholic parish church of Notre Dame des Hongrois in Montreal is filled as Rev. Jean Mahig (third priest from left) proceeds to the altar to celebrate jubilee mass marking the 25th anniversary of his ordination. Ivanhoe

IVANHOE — Mr. Earl McMaster who is a patient in the General Hospital is progressing favorably.

Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. M. Shaw, Miss B. Fleming attended a Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. sectional rally in Tweed Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Mrs. John Wright spent Wednesday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stobbart and children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stobbart.

Mr. Jack Wood attended a 4-H Club calf judging competition held in O.A.C., Guelph.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benson and Patsy attended anniversary services held at Bethel United Church on Sunday and were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott.

trymen who have run afoul of the law.

He said most of the crime involving Hungarian refugees has been of a social nature—infraction of drinking regulations, minor assault and other misdemeanors.

A number of Hungarians in Winnipeg and other cities have been charged with more serious crimes—theft, violence and rape. In Port Westminster, B.C., Victor Lekszo, 22, and John Kolonyo, 26, were sentenced to life imprisonment for rape. Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of the B.C. Supreme Court called them a "pack of wolves" and said that to call the jury's verdict "freedom fighters "is a desecration of the word and an insult to all those who were."

But many young Hungarians were eager students in Canadian schools after their arrival. One is Sandor Rajtyorsky who arrived in Winnipeg at 16, unable to speak English.

Three years later he had completed high school and was working as an office boy at The Free Press. Now a staff reporter, he covered the Olympic Games in Rome for the paper.

Sculptor Med Ironyel is one of the best examples of a Hungarian refugee who has achieved success in Vancouver. He now is carving a 17-foot statue of Christ for a Catholic school in Edmonton.

Another is Med Macskary, a mathematics instructor at the University of British Columbia since March, 1957. He also is noted chess player and holds the B.C. chess championship.

RCMP Supt. Retires After 30 Yrs. Service

OTTAWA (CP)—Retirement of superintendent H. A. (Henry) Larsen, 61, world-renowned Arctic navigator and twice conqueror of the Northwest Passage, was announced Wednesday by the RCMP.

The Norwegian-born police officer, first navigator to make a west-to-east voyage through the Northwest Passage, retires after more than 30 years of unique and noteworthy service with the RCMP.

Since 1952 he has been officer commanding "G" Division, responsible for policing the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

A private farewell party was held for Superintendent Larsen at the RCMP officers' mess at Rockcliffe barracks last Saturday, he was presented with an engraved silver cigaret box.

END OF ITEM

RCMP Commissioner C. W. Harrison said in making the presentation that Superintendent Larsen's retirement marks the end of an era of Arctic exploration which started centuries ago.

Superintendent Larsen said he plans to reside on the east or west coasts, preferably in Vancouver or Victoria.

"I want to be by the sea," he said, restating that he was a young man he served aboard deep-sea square-rigged sailing ships from 1915 to 1919 and later commanded the famous RCMP schooner St. Roch.

SPY DUE FOR RELEASE

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Greenglass, confessed atomic spy who was the chief government witness in a 1951 trial of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, is scheduled to be released from prison Nov. 16. The federal board of parole said Greenglass will complete the minimum term of his 15-year sentence, with time off for good behavior, on that date. The Rosenbergs were executed in 1953 as atomic spies for Russia. Mrs. Rosenberg was Greenglass' sister.

able cause. The survey showed.

WANTED LIVE TARGET

COEYMANS, N.Y. (CP) — Six boys ranging in age from 13-16 pleaded guilty Tuesday to shooting at two other boys because they "wanted a live target." Police reported two instances where a boy was lined up against a building and shot at with BB shot. A 16-year-old was placed on probation and five other boys will appear in children's court.

New Montreal Mayor Pledges Clean Sweep at City Hall

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Drapeau intends to turn city council into a little parliament. The fiery 44-year-old lawyer said Tuesday a municipal Hansard will be published to keep track of what is said at council meetings.

Mr. Drapeau, who is to be sworn in Monday as mayor, promised regular council sessions on regular dates, with all business open to the public.

The new mayor swept to victory Monday on a morality campaign. He attacked the former council as lackluster and mired in factionalism.

Mr. Drapeau also said he plans to enlarge the police force and add to its facilities.

Obviously referring to St. Lawrence Boulevard, the cabaret district in which crime has run rampant in recent months, he said he will not brook a "no man's land" in Montreal.

Mr. Drapeau, vice-boxer and one - time nationalist politician, has one complaint about public life—it prevents him from pottering in his vegetable and flower gardens.

LIKES TO GARDEN

A family man with simple tastes, he likes to spend his leisure time in the garden behind his cozy cottage in Montreal's middle-class Rosemount district.

His appearance doesn't reflect the fiery reputation that has built up around him. He's a man of average build, scholarly in appearance with little moustache, a fading hairline and thick-rimmed glasses.

In college he was known as studious—but a determined rebel who harangued the student body into protest demonstrations with vivid oratory.

Bouncy, idealistic and a vigorous speaker, he is a cold and hard - hitting campaigner on the political platform, barbed in speech and sometimes inclined to mud-slinging.

Met face-to-face, however, his personality is warm, perhaps just a touch withdrawn at times—but over-all, friendly.

BUILT A ROOM

His interests include photography and woodworking. In the basement of his home he built a rumpus room for his three children — Francois, 12, Pierre, 13, and Michel, 9.

Controversy has marked his political career. When first elected Montreal's mayor in 1954, the springboard was a reform platform arising from a vice investigation in which he served as a public prosecutor.

Calling for a clean-up he won an eight-way mayoralty race in a landslide—at 38 becoming the city's youngest mayor. Then there came a crusade against bawdy houses, bookies and night club owners.

STOCKDALE

Anniversary Services Draw Big Audiences

STOCKDALE — The United Church here was filled Sunday morning and evening for anniversary services. The Rev. H. M. Beach of the Batawa United Church was the guest preacher. In the morning his theme was "Seeing the Invisible" and in the evening, "Spiritual Unemployment". Mrs. Leslie Frost of Frankford was visiting organist. The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with Fall flowers for the occasion and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Percy Hobbis, contributed appropriate music. Visitors were present from Frankford, Zion, Batawa, Stirling and other places.

A large part of the congregation assembled after the evening service for a fireside hour, with music by the choir and the ladies served refreshments. Mrs. F. Hubble expressed appreciation of Mrs. Frost's contribution and the minister, Rev. C. R. Judd, thanked Mr. Beach for his inspiring messages.

The Board of Stewards is going to install a new electric heating system in the lovley the church.

"Just a Second"

modern kitchen of this church and the Women's Association is going to pay for it. The treasurer of the Board of Stewards, Mr. John Schwass, reports envelope and collection receipts for the three quarters of the year, above that for the same period last year and a substantial surplus in the Pastoral Charge Account. This church is holding all worship services in the mornings now, alternately at ten and eleven o'clock, to fit in with the other churches on the charge.

Men and Women Competing For Place in Next Congress Not Getting Much Play

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The men and women competing for a place in the next United States Congress are having trouble making themselves heard in this election campaign.

Perhaps it's the saturation use of television by the presidential candidates: People seem to be reluctant to leave their easy chairs and listen to a would-be senator or member of the House of Representatives in a cold schoolroom.

And in a jet-age campaign that sweeps the presidential nominees across and around the country, the local aspirants get but a glimmer of the limelight when Richard Nixon or John Kennedy are in town.

Surveys on the likely course of voting frequently make the point that this year the choice of president is not expected to have much influence on the political complexion of the next Congress.

DEMOCRAT MAJORITIES

In the expiring Senate, the Democratic party had 65 seats and the Republicans 34. Each of the 30 states has two senators elected for six-year terms on a staggered basis so that one-third of the Senate is renewed every two years.

In the House of Representatives, all 437 seats, distributed according to population strength, are at stake every two years. In the last house, the Democrats had 283 of them and the Republican party 154.

The pattern of Democratic control of Congress has been broken only twice since 1932 and persists even with Dwight Eisenhower, the only Republican president in 28 years, in office.

Unless Nixon wins by a landslide (and there is nothing in the public opinion polls or elsewhere to suggest this is likely) it is expected Congress will continue to be controlled by the Democrats.

SPLIT PERSONALITY

This appearance of a split personality between the executive and legislative branches of government in Washington has strong critics. How can the country be sure that a president can pursue the policies he believes to be right and necessary?

Harry Truman was exceedingly bitter about his "do-nothing" Congress. Eisenhower seems to have got along fairly amiably, perhaps because the southern wing of the Democratic party and the Republicans found they had much in common.

But the road for Nixon or Kennedy would probably be rockier.

While Kennedy would theoretically be supported by his own party, the same Republican-Southern Democratic coalition could be a source of continual harassment. The selection of a Texan, Lyndon Johnson, as the Democrats' choice for vice-president was intended to offset this. However, many old-guard southern Democrats still view Kennedy with a jaundiced eye.

REPUBLICAN LIBERALS

As for Nixon, the "liberal" wing of the Democratic party, which has its main strength in the northern and western states, can be expected to be much tougher in dealing with him than with Eisenhower.

The thinking was that as Eisenhower was a "popular" president who attracted votes from people who were nominally Democrats, it was not "good politics" to criticize him too sharply.

Of the 34 seats at stake in the Senate, the Democrats had 20 of them and the Republicans 11.

Eleven of the Democratic seats are in southern states and are considered absolutely safe; three of them so much so that the Republicans are not even bothering to contest them.

ASSURED MAJORITY

As the Democrats have a 65-to-35 majority in Senate seats for which there are no elections this year, the 11 sure bets assure them of at least an over-all majority of 34 to 66.

To many observers, it's doubtful whether the Republicans can expect to have 46 senators. Six of the seats needed for that total are considered marginal for the Nov. 8 vote.

As for the House, the most the Republicans are anticipating, even in their most hopeful moments, is to trim the size of the 129-vote Democratic majority.

This is most likely to be effected in the middle-west states where the Democrats picked up strength in a traditionally strong Republican area in 1958.

Republican strategists are said to be hopeful of getting back as many as 40 or 45 House seats. This would seem to be a reasonable expectation because the feeling is that the Democratic bulge in Congress must be near its natural limit.

Nevertheless, enthusiasts in the Democratic camp are talking of taking as many as a dozen seats from the Republicans. Some observers suggest they will be doing well if they can keep their losses to that also.

Junior 'A' Circus

By BARRY SHARPE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule opens in Hamilton and Peterborough tonight, and already three teams have been picked to finish in first place.

Only two of the seven teams remained unchanged throughout the summer while the others either obtained a new coach, a new nickname, new team colours or a change of city.

Guelph Royals, St. Catharines Teepees and Toronto St. Michael's College Majors are the pre-season favorites while Hamilton Red Wings, Niagara Falls Flyers, Peterborough Petes and Toronto Marlboros are expected to battle it out in the second division.

Guelph Royals, formerly the Guelph Biltmores, were purchased outright in the off-season by the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League and Eddie Gat Francis, who moved over from Eddie Buch who is now with Hamilton will make his coaching debuts in the Junior A ranks.

FRANCIS CONFIDENT

"We are thinking of first place as we open the season," said Francis, who spent 14 years in professional hocks pys a goalie.

"A hockey team has to," added Francis, "and we have a good chance of doing it. We have the depth, experience and the rookies to do it. I have never seen more spirit on a team than this one has."

The Royals, sixth last year won thre exhibition games and tied two.

Twelve players with A experience are back, led by Rod Gilbert and Jean Ratelle, second- and third-highest scorers in the league last year with 81 and 78 points. They team up with rookie left winger Terry Oliver.

Veterans Bob Cunningham, Barry Jakeman, Don Diberardine, Borden Smith, Paul Andrea and Marc Dufour will be joined by rookies Oscar Allen, Marcel LaBrie, Tillesbourg Junior B's, and Billy Taylor.

Francis had holdovers 'Al Lebrun and Mike McMahon on defence as well as newcomer Reg Whaley from Guelph B's and John Hartig from Aylmer, Ont. even Bob Flager is expected to be out for a month with a pulled muscle in his knee.

Denny Jordan will be in the nets after three seasons with Hamilton, due to an off-season deal.

LOSE FOUR STARS

The St. Catharines Teepees, defending Memorial Cup champions, will be without four big names in Chico Maki, scoring champion with 82 points, Pat Hadfield and defencemen Pat Stapleton and Carlo Longarini. Terry McGuire and Don Grosser are also over-age.

Coach Max Kaminsky welcomed back defencemen Bill Speers and Larry Burns and forwards Doug Robinson, Duke Harris, Ray Cullen, Murray Hall, John Stevenson, Bill Ives and Dick Prodovitch, and netminder Rodger Crozier.

The Teepees, a farm team of Chicago Black Hawks where the high - scoring Bobby Hull toils, will prepare another Hull for their NHL sponsor. He is 16-year-old Dennis Hull, a brother who plays left wing.

Another notable addition is centre Howard Kellough, obtained from Saskatoon Quakers on a break-to-berook transfer.

Rev. David Bower has taken over as coach and manager of Toronto St. Michael's College Majors, succeeding Bob Goldham. He says "no one team is going to walk away with everything. Count us in with the first division."

SAVE TOP GOALER

St. Michael's have the league's top goaler back plus Dave Dryden to spell off Gerry Cheevers. Four top defencemen have returned to give the club one of the best defensive clubs in the league.

Terry O'Malley, Paul Jackson, Arnie Brown and Mike Cyr will help to break in Roger Gallaway, a regular at - footer from the St. Mick's B's.

Forwards returning include Dave Keon, now with the parent Toronto Maple Leafs, George Gish, Bob Dykstra and Gus Robellato are all over age, as is defenceman Dave Chambers.

The club also lost Dave Draper and Les Kozak to the priesthood.

Forwards returning are Bruce Draper, Larry Keenan, Jack Cole, and Jim Fowler. Newcomers are Garry Dineen, Tom Rokosky, Pete Nanz, Bob Seeley, Paul Coolin, Bill McMillan, Mike Champagne and Terry Pratchett, son of Leaf's assistant general manager King Clancy.

It's exhibition games for Mike's had two wins and a tie.

Hamilton received a new name, coach and colors and only two players—both over-age.

The former Tiger Cubs, who are the Red Wings ant-ell wear the colors of the CHL sponsors, Detroit, Eddy Bush, have left with Guelph last term, and played pro hockey with Detroit. hrs taked over as coach.

"There is only one way for us to go," says Bush of his new red, cellar-dwellers. "I'm not making any early predictions. My main objective is to play .500 hockey all year."

PRE-SEASON WINS

But the scrappy Red Wings, with eight newcomers, defeated Marlboros, Peterborough, St. Catharines and tied with St. Michael's in pre-season games.

Bud Bloom and Detroit-born Jim Clement are reportedly starting goaltending, replacing Jordan. Larry Zilliotis, a 200 - pounder from Kirkland Lake, Ron Harris and John Mizuk, are rookie defence-men.

Keith Walsh and Bob Wall return to defence and Ken Lamb, beau, on loan from Peterborough Petes, is a slick rear guard.

Wings' first string line consists of Neil Forth, Pit Martin and Gary Jeffrey, all returnees. Lyle Porter, a Schumacher youngster who played with the Cubs two years ago will centre rookies Paul Henderson and Doug Galloway.

Bob Dillabough, Lowell MacDonald and Ken Broderick have returned. Rookies are Wayne Rivers of Hamilton, Dennis Hubbard, of the U.S. and Keith Burton of Newmarket.

Manager-coach and owner Hap Emms has moved his Flyers to Niagara Falls after 14 years in Barrie and admits it is the biggest gamble of his hockey career.

HAS 11 HOLDOVERS

With 12 holdovers from last season's second-place finishers Emms has added about 10 newcomers. Two are from the OHA Junior B champion Waterloo Siskins. Left winger Bowie Dietrich and defenceman Don Awrey, brother of veteran Bob, a right winger.

Wayne Rutledge is expected in goal again while his brother Marve, Ed Westfall and Bobby Wright are the returning defencemen.

Up front, Emmas has Jean Gilbert, Dennis Fenchuk, Billy Knibbs, Marcel Trestler, Nels Lelchik, Gary Butler and Wayne Clairmont.

Other rookies include Gary Hamer, Harding Reinbeck, Ron Hergot, Dick Brown Bill Gashan, Ron Hebert, Wayne Manner and Paul Brander and Garry Phillips, both draft choices.

Coach Scotty Bowman's Peterborough Petes have lost Wayne Connelly, Dick Dawson and Gary Mork but the Montreal Canadiens farm club is considered a dark horse.

"We've lost five good players from last season's fourth-place club," says Bowman, "and 12 of our prospects this season are 16-year-olds. However, we still have strong contenders and will be in the play offs again."

THEE TWO GOALERS

A pair of goalers with two years of Junior A left are Jerry Randall and George Holmes, who share assignments.

Barc Plager and newcomer Lou Kozanchuk of Port William, both in their last year, will be the mainstays on defence, joined by rookies Bob Jamieson, Brian Watson and Paul Zakos.

Holdover forwards are Doug Senior, Wayne Boddy, Claude Larose, Hugh McGonigal and Reg Mulholland with Junior B recruits Pete Morris, Ricky Eckert and Keith Wright. Tom Carty and Lorne O'Donnell were sent to the Petes by Montreal.

The Petes are 3-2 in exhibition contests.

The team hit hardest through over-age and promotion is Toronto Marlboros, who led the league but lost four straight games to St. Mike's in the first round of the playoffs.

Jerry Brown, ooce coach of the Hamilton club is now the club's boro mentor.

Absent this year will be Jim Pappin, Jack Martin and Don Curry, and a total of 80 goals. Tom Stewart is also among the forwards that are too old while Martin was turned professional by the parent Toronto Maple Leafs.

ONCE RETURNEE

From the most feared defence last season, Jim Wilson is the only returnee. Roger Cote and Bill White are with Rochester of the American League and Rene Morrison and Bob Sheffield are through.

Back from last year are goaler Ken Broderick and forwards Sonny Osborne, Gary Jarrett, Ricky Hay, Gaston Brisard, Howie Menard and George Standing. Brian Conacher is expected to report sometime near Christmas.

Up from the Junior B Marlboros are rearguards Frank Fidler, Braddon Houston, Lee Oliver, Walter MacLean, and forwards Bill Smith, Karl Winterstein, Paul Westwood, Garry Rowworth, Bill Weeks and Brian Bell. Bill Hennessy, a defenceman was drafted from Woodbridge Dodgers.

Marlbo lost four of five exhibition tilts.

Tonight, Guelph visits Hamilton and Peter host St. Catharines.

In 1956-60, the teams finished up in this order: Marlboros, Barrie, St. Catharines, St. Michaels, Peterborough, Guelph and Hamilton.

New Set-Up Will 'Murder' Leafs Roster

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the International Baseball League pennant - winning Toronto Maple Leafs are in for a murderous assault on players during the roster draft.

Leafs, losers in the competition for a new American League franchises, will be taking aim for the winning clubs, Los Angeles and Minneapolis.

Before 1958, Leafs owner Jack Kent Cooke would not have had to worry. But in that year the rule was changed to unlimited draft and the draft price increased to $25,000 from $25,000.

Almost certain to be drafted from the Leafs as Los Angeles and Minneapolis search for 40 players each are pitcher Bob Hirschfeld Smith, second baseman Sparky Anderson and outfielder Chuck Tanner.

Cooke, who battled almost singlehandedly for major league baseball in Toronto, will be left with a lot of money but few of the players who helped him win the pennant.

NOT DISTURBED

Undisturbed in Los Angeles Wednesday night, Cooke said he was not greatly disturbed by the possibility of losing players.

"If some of my players get an opportunity to advance, my happiness for them will transcend my disappointment in losing them," he said.

He said he believed Toronto's chances of getting major league ball are greater now than they were before because the American League's expansion committee had promised to add two teams from the Continental League by 1962.

"The National League has discharged its responsibility to the Continental League by adding New York and Houston for 1962. I cannot believe the American League will not follow suit.

"I believe that if the rumors that I've been exposed to for the last three days crystalize, into fact, the National and American Leagues may expand to 12 teams each, in which case it is quite possible that Toronto may be coupled by both major leagues."

DIES PLAYING FOOTBALL

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — A young high school boy collapsed and died while playing touch football in gym class Tuesday. Police said Kenneth Mayer, 15, a junior, jumped up to catch a forward pass and collided with another boy. Both fell down. Young Mayer didn't get up. Cause of death was not immediately determined.

Maroons Nip Woodstock

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Reigning Allan Cup champion Chatham Maroons fought for a 4-2 victory over a Woodstock Athletic crew Wednesday night, to take over first place in the Ontario Hockey Association senior league's five-team western division.

The win was Chatham's third in four starts. Second - place Windsor Bulldogs have played twice and won both. Meanwhile, Stratford Indians edged into third place with a 7-6 victory over Strathroy Rockets.

Held scoreless in the first period, Maroons outskated Athletics 3-1 in the second and the teams split goals in the third.

For Chatham it was playing coach Ted Power, winger Fred Fletch and defencemen Jack Douglas and Cliff Arthur. Junior Barrash and Larry Plaff counted for Woodstock.

Ross Graham's goal with two minutes remaining in overtime gave the Stratford team their victory. It was his second of the night.

Other Indian scorers were Walt Williams, Ken Doig, Jack McIlwain, Bill Flick and Maurice Lavesque. For Strathroy it was Stan Long, Art Sullivan, Bob Gedder, Harry Bentley, Willie Haas, and Clark Horner.

FENDER ILL

BOSTON (AP)—Paul Pender, claimant of the world middleweight boxing title, pulled out Wednesday from a bout with Marcel Piqou of France.

They were scheduled for a 10-round, non-title bout at the Boston Arena Nov. 5. Pender, recognized as the world champion in Massachusetts and Europe, complained of not feeling well.

He was examined by Dr. Nathan Shapiro and ordered to bed for five or six days. The doctor said Pender has a respiratory infection.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

As the man with the evil-smelling cigar, the 1945 Hungry and the private-stock treehouse said in Memorial Arena last night, "It's about time somebody made up their pea-picking minds about this hockey business."

Yesterday after a member of the Welland Warriors' executive said this corner over the telephone that his club was definitely out unless there was a five-team league and equal schedule rights for all, the situation looked darker than Jassh's bondoir in the inner sanctum of the whale.

It looked as though Gordie Bell's effort to secure and train a good team—and I believe it is a good team—had gone for naught.

A gleam of light filtered through the darkness when the OHA announced that a special meeting will be held in Toronto tonight at seven o'clock—and Welland had consented to attend.

The ray of hope lies in the fact that Welland has agreed to sit in on the conference. It looks like a change of heart for—if they had no intention of entering or consider listening to argument, why would they bother travelling to Toronto for the confab?

Yesterday Mr. Sam Metes, member of the Welland Warriors senior hockey club executive was on the phone.

In the ensuing conversation with this department, Mr. Kates was very definite and refused to be shaken from his statement that the Welland club had withdrawn from the OHA senior hockey league's eastern division

Not only that but he made some serious charges mainly against the Oshawa Hockey Association with one directed at the management of the Oakville Oaks.

After his executive had learned of the inability of Whitby to fee a team, Mr. Kayes said it had called a meeting of members, players and sponsors and it was their unanimous decision to withdraw.

"We did not want to do it," Mr. Kates explained. "We have gone to great expense for equipment, etc., and we felt that we could not afford to operate in a four-team group."

"In fact," he went on, "Mr. Hanley of the OHA was notified to this effect prior to the group meeting held in Toronto last Thursday night. That was our decision. We did not attend the meeting."

He was reminded that the Welland club owed a moral obligation to the Belleville McFarlands to play here tomorrow night. He said he was sorry and realized the trouble the Belleville team had gone to, but "sorry, we won't be there."

Statements in the press and over the air about the indecision of Whitby to enter had affected attendance at the Warriors home game, he said. "We had only 500 out to usher in the new set-up. Fans up here will not support a four-team league. We have had that experience before. They don't want to see the same faces appearing every other game."

He charged the OHA had shown favoritism to the Oakville team by cutting their part of the schedule four games —those to be four-pointers.

"Oakville," he said, "said they could not finance the full schedule of forty games. Players have told us the reason was Oakville agreed to pay players so much per game and in order to meet the cost needed a shorter schedule. Why did the OHA accede to this request?" (They hadn't.)

Mr. Kates also charged that the OHA could have done a lot more for Whitby. "Regarding their looking for a goalie for Sandy Ali," he said, "we gave the OHA names of goalies in Niagara Falls and Hamilton. They were never contacted."

"As far as we are concerned unless the OHA comes up with a fifth entry and makes Oakville play a full schedule, we are definitely out of the league," Mr. Kates said. And he didn't sound as if he were joking.

He said later the Welland club would not disband, but seek entry in an intermediate league.

But that was yesterday. Tonight it may be different.

American League Expands To 10 Clubs

L.A., Twin Cities New Entries

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League is going into Los Angeles next year, with Hank Greenberg as the owner, and Calvin Griffith is moving his Washington Senators into Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The American League expanded to 10 clubs for 1961 Wednesday with a new franchise to be set up in Washington. Its ownership will be announced later.

The surprise expansion move beat the National League to the punch by one year. The older circuit only 10 days ago expanded to 10 teams for the 1962 season by granting franchises to Houston and New York. The American will operate under a 162-game schedule in 1961 and the National will do likewise, abandoning the present 154 - game schedule in 1962.

The American League has only six months in which to stock the Los Angeles and Washington teams, which will start from scratch. Only St. Paul will inherit a seasoned club in the person of Rookies of the Year Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Jim Lemon, and such pitching stars as Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos.

CUMBERSOME SHEETS

A committee comprised of the present eight general managers met in Chicago immediately after the historic American League meeting to set up a formula to provide players for the two new clubs.

One plan, still to be accepted, would freeze 15 players on each club. The rest would be made available for purchase at a figure estimated at $75,000 a player. No more than three players could be purchased from one club.

The league player limit would be cut to 25 from the present 28 from May 15 to Aug. 31.

The AL has scheduled another meeting here Nov. 17 when it may make known its player provision plan.

TWO VOTE AGAINST

The vote to grant a franchise to Los Angeles was unanimous but Griffith just managed to receive the necessary six votes. The two clubs which voted against the Washington shift to Minneapolis-St. Paul were Cleveland and Detroit.

Greenberg first must dispose of his 20 per cent stock in the Chicago White Sox, of which he is vice-president, before he can secure the Los Angeles franchise. No one would say Greenberg will operate the Los Angeles franchise, but it was learned definitely that the Hall of Famer is the man.

The Griffith family owns 60 per cent of the Senators. Gabriel Murphy represents a minority group holding the other 40 per cent. He has been fighting the transfer in the courts for some time, recently losing his second suit. It was not immediately known whether he planned another suit.

Griffith said he decided to move to Minneapolis - St. Paul "for the betterment of the franchise."

GUARANTEED MILLION

"We've been guaranteed a million attendance for the first five years," he said. "Also, we have received five radio-television offers, each much better than the one we have in Washington. We also will have the concession rights, of which we will pay a small percentage to the park commission. They will retain the parking rights."

Griffith said the Senators were paid $180,000 for the radio - TV rights in Washington last season. The Twin Cities' offers are all in the neighborhood of a half million dollars. He said the club most likely will not use the name Senators and said he probably will ask for a fan poll to determine the team's new nickname.

"The Metropolitan Stadium, where the Washington team will play, actually is in Bloomington, Minn. It currently seats 22,000, but it will be extended to seat 40,000.

HAS TWO PLACES

The new Los Angeles entry probably will play its 1961 home games in either the Los Angeles Coliseum or Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League. Both are available, said American League president Joe Cronin.

"We decided on an immediate move because the park was available and we realized we've got to get a move on."

The decision to accept Los Angeles and the Twin Cities left Detroit North, Toronto and Buffalo, other cities hopeful of landing franchises, out in the cold at least for the time being.

"This is only the first step," Cronin declared. "We are considering other cities for future expansion to 12 teams, possibly by 1962 or 1963."

Jacke Kent Cooke, owner of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, campaigned vigorously for a franchise, but is in the National League, then in the American.

Promoter Lost, Too
Cleroux KO's Turman In Second

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian champion Bob Cleroux showed flashes of finesse as ever, caught Buddy Turman with a hard right hook for a second - round knockout Wednesday night in the feature return to the heavyweight ring after a hiatus with a blood condition.

Promoter Eddie Quinn appeared only took a setback, too. The scheduled 10-rounder drew a disappointing turnout of 5,468 to the Montreal Forum for a $23,300 gate, short of covering the expenses. There was no television or radio coverage.

The knockout avenged the only smear on the 26-fight pro record of the 23-year-old French-speaking Montrealer, ranked No. 8 contender by Ring Magazine and 10th by the National Boxing Association. He was outpointed by Turman in an eight-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden 16 months ago.

In the dressing room after the finish, Turman, 28, smiling weakly, said the blood disorder he suffered some time ago had not hurt his performance.

DIDN'T SEE PUNCH

"But that right he threw, I didn't see it coming until too late."

The blow landed flush on the side of Turman's head and in slow motion he sagged to the canvas in a squatting position, toppling on his side. He was counted out at the 2 - second mark by referee Tony Mancini. It was a sudden end. Neither fighter scored with any stiff shots earlier in the round.

Cleroux fought his usual fight, mixing a crude mauling style with sheer power.

Turman, back-peddling from a stand-up stance and jabbing the left, was able to slip most of Cleroux's punches.

Cleroux weighed 208½ to 187½ for the battler from Tyler, Tex.

It was Cleroux's 20th knockout. He also has four decisions and a draw. Turman was left with a record of 35 wins, six losses and a draw.

In a preliminary, stiff-punching Joey Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., won his 15th fight in 16 pro appearances when he scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Ronnie Porambo of Elizabeth, N.J.

Royals Crush Kingston 8-3

Before 1,800

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The magic number was eight for Montreal Royals and Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers last night as each team scored 8-3 wins over their opponents in Eastern Professional Hockey League action.

At Kitchener the Beavers moved into a tie for first place with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens when they smowed the league-leaders under a five-goal third-period.

The Beavers led all the way, getting off to a 3-0 lead in the opening frame and matching total goals in the second. Their hard-checking play appeared to pay off in the final outing, but not before they had dealt heavily in penalties. Kitchener collected eight minors to four for the Canadiens.

STRONG DEFENCE

The strength of the K-W defence was pointed up in the third period, when two minor penalties left the Beavers a man short for close to 90 seconds. The Canadiens managed only one weak shot on goal.

In another fast night was a rough one for Canadiens goalie Ed Johnston. The Beavers tallied on five of seven shots in the final 30 minutes.

Ed Sandstra, Bob Sahourin and Mel Pearson scored twice for the winners, while singles were by Dennis Olson and Leon Rochefort.

Cliff Pennington got both Canadiens' third - period tallies. The third left Ottawa counter was notched by Gilles Tremblay.

The other game played at Kingston where a crowd of 1,800 found little to cheer about as the homebown Frontenacs went down to their second straight 8-3 beating. Sudbury was on the winning end Saturday night.

EARLY LEAD

The Royals took command midway through the first period when they scored four times in answer to a Kingston opener. Montreal's edge on the play showed in the shots, where they beat the Frontenacs 42-30.

Yves Sarrazin, Lou Diotte and Wayne Connelly each scored twice for the Royals, Skip Bronsdell and Jim Roberts shared the other two for the winners.

Red Oulette scored two of the Frontenacs' three tallies. The other marksman was Charlie Burns. Both players had their last games in Kingston unfurled before leaving for a tryout with the Montreal Rocket Richards of the National League.

The win moved the Royals out of a last-place tie with the Frontenacs, who now have won only two of their eight starts this season.

Y Basketball

The Satellites and Globetrotters challed up victories as the YMCA's four-team youth basketball house league opened its schedule Tuesday evening.

The Globetrotters squeezed out a close 29-33 win over the Celtics. Rick Donovan paced the winners with 16 points while George Campbell hooped seven. Bernie Lalonder five and Robert Fletcher one.

Gene Yorke topped the Celtics with ten points while Fred Wier had nine and Terry Wright six.

Graydon Scott starred for the Satellites as he sunk 23 points in his club's 66-17 win over the Steelers. Larry Campbell also bent a bat night with 23 points while Lyle Adams sunk 10 and Jack Jury two.

Bob Doogan paced the Steelers with eight points followed by Rod Turner with four, Milt Pye with three and Eric Deacon with two.

Andy Hebenton, a picture of frustration when the New York Rangers finished last in the National Hockey League last season, is making a comeback this season.

Hebenton now is a feared marksman around the nets and came up with big goals Wednesday night against Detroit Red Wings.

Hebenton, 31, scored twice—his fourth and fifth goals in nine games—to lead the Rangers to a 4-3 triumph over the Red Wings in the league's only game. The victory lifted the Rangers into a fourth - place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs in the standings.

Andy Bathgate also got into the Rangers' win Doug Mohns scored for the Rangers while Howie Glover, Pete Goegan and Parker MacDonald of Sydney scored for Detroit.

SLUMPED LAST SEASON

Hebenton, who has played in 364 consecutive games since coming to the Rangers at the start of the 1955-56 season, got 18 goals and 27 assists last season.

It was the first time he had failed to score at least 21 goals in one season.

Hebenton scored his two goals Wednesday within one minute and 11 seconds in the second period to pend the Rangers into a 2-1 lead.

He fired his first at 8:42, slapping defenceman Bill Gadsby's rebound past goalie Terry Sawchuk. His second came at 9:53 after taking a cross pass from linemate Camille Henry.

THE WINNER WAS BACK

Lorne Worsley was back in the nets after being replaced by Gump Worsley Monday night. Worsley allowed 30 of them in the final period. Terry Sawchuk had a easier night, stopping 21 shots.

The Rangers will attempt to move up another notch in the standings tonight when they meet the Montreal Canadiens in the league's only game.

The Bruins, with only five ties in eight games, Wednesday recalled forwards Charlie Burns from Gerry Ouellette from Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

To make room for the players, General Manager Lynn Patrick ordered forward Dick Meissner to report to Kingston and Bill Carter to Hull-Ottawa Canadiens of the same league.

Ouellette will temporarily replace injured Bronco Horvath in one left wing-spot while Burns will probably be in permanent. Burns was with the Bruins last season.

Ole Archie Says Sponsors At Fault

ROME (AP) — Aging Archie Moore, sounded off at the National Boxing Association Wednesday for taking away his light heavyweight championship, and insisted he is ready to fight.

"I am ready, willing and able to defend the title at the proper time," added the old ring warrior.

He said he had a contract with Feature Sports Incorporated for a bout with Eric Schoeppner of Germany, probably to be held in Miami.

"It's their fault," Moore said in an interview here, where he is preparing for a non-title bout Saturday. "They are trying to renege on the contract—on the price."

David Oil, NBA president, said in Cleveland Tuesday the association has withdrawn recognition of Moore because of failure to make arrangements to defend his title against Schoeppner.

NBA represents virtually all the United States associations except those of New York and Massachusetts.

Moore signed a contract with Feature Sports to fight Schoeppner in Toronto in July. The bout was postponed once and later cancelled.

The Miami Boxing Commission refused to recognize the NBA action. Said commission chairman, Charles Gelger:

"As a member of the NBA, we were not consulted. Ott was aware that Miami groups were making concerted efforts to bring the Moore-Schoeppner fight to Miami."

It is believed the New York State Athletic Commission also will continue to recognize Moore as champion.

Admit Whitby To Eastern Junior Loop

Whitby Hillcrests, the powerful OHA Junior "C" Ontario champions of last year, were admitted to the Eastern Junior "B" grouping Wednesday according to group convener Jack Devine.

Devine said that all managers of the group welcomed the Whitby club into the grouping rounding out a six-team division. He spoke of the fine cooperation of the Whitby management while arrangements for the club's entry in the grouping were being completed.

The loop's entries are Belleville Lambert-Rollins, Kingston Frontenacs, Peterborough Canucks, Cobourg Rockets, Picton Merchants and Whitby Hillcrests.

The Hillcrests are coached by former OHA Senior "A" star Bus Gaston who retired from active playing last season. He played with Whitby Dunlops, Kingston and Belleville McFarlands in the Senior "A" league following a professional career.

The Whitby entry is expected to be a strong one. The club loaned several of its players to the Senior Whitby Dunlops last season while Bobby Attersley and his mates were in Squaw Valley. They did not book out of place in the higher classification. The team has been fed up one loop-added exhibition this season over Cobourg Rockets.

The entry of a sixth club will necessitate the redrafting of the Eastern Junior "B" schedule. It is likely the new schedule will be ready for release by the first of next week.

$43,300 PURSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Elmendorf's Nickel Boy and Warner Stable's Woltram won the split divisions of the 20th running of the $43,300 New York Handicap at Aqueduct Wednesday. Nickel Boy was clocked in 1:41 for the mile and an eighth. Woltram's time was 1:50 3-5.

Indians Down Barons 6-0; Aces Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goalie Marcel Paille turned in his second straight American Hockey League shutout—and his fourth of the season—as Springfield Indians turned back Cleveland Barons 6-0 Wednesday night.

In other games, Quebec Aces downed Hershey Bears 3-0 and Buffalo Bisons downed Providence Reds 7-1.

Gerry Foley and Bill McCreary each scored twice for the Indians, in a first-place tie with Quebec.

In three games against Springfield, Barons have failed to score against Paille. Paille shut out the Barons 4-0 at home Oct. 8 and again in Cleveland Oct. 14 with a 2-0 score. It was Springfield's fifth straight home victory.

Springfield scored two goals in every period.

Foley scored his first goal at 8:42 of the opener. Jim Anderson made it 2-0 at 15:24 on an unassisted effort.

In the middle period Bob Kabel and McCreary scored and Foley and McCreary added the third-period tallies.

SCORELESS PERIOD

In Buffalo, the Bisons broke loose for five goals in the final period to end a losing streak at three games. Dick Gamble led the Bisons with two goals, including the one in the second period that split open them ahead.

Phil Maloney, Chino Maki, Larry Wilson, Barry Cullen and Bob Courcy scored the others.

Antonelli On Block

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lively interest has greeted the announcement that Johnny Antonelli, San Francisco Giants' left-handed ace, is on the trading block.

The southpaw is being sought by clubs of both the American and National Leagues.

"Everybody around baseball is up for a deal and everybody is after pitchers," Giants' boss said Giants' vice - president Chub Feeney.

"We think he's still a top pitcher and so do other baseball men. We'll have to get quite a bit for him."

The veteran from Rochester, N.Y., has been with the Giants since 1954 when he won 21 games for the club that won the world series. He won 20 in 1956 and 12 in 1958 after the club moved to San Francisco.

He had a 6-7 record last season.

George Ranieri tallied for Providence.

Veteran goalie Gerry McNeil came up with his first shutout of the season in Quebec's win over Hershey.

Both clubs went scoreless for nearly 40 minutes before coach Fleming MacKell tripped the light at 18:30 of the second period.

He grabbed the puck about 12 feet to the left of the Hershey net, faked goalie Al Millar out of position and then lifted a long shot over Millar's shoulder.

In the waning moments of the game, Jean - Marie Cossette slipped in an unassisted effort taking a breakaway pass from Michael Labadie.

Washington Mad, Curious

League-Spread Reaction

NEW YORK (AP)—"The more the merrier," said a newspaper hawker in Los Angeles.

"We got a half dozen season ticket orders in the first few minutes," said a spokesman for the Minneapolis - St. Paul Metropolitans.

"Our plan is more practical," said National League president Warren Giles.

"They'll run into problems in Los Angeles," said Walter O'Malley, president of the NL's Los Angeles Dodgers.

"Who do we get?" asked a Washington fan.

That's an example of the reaction to the American League's expansion move that adds Los Angeles and Minneapolis - St. Paul.

The league also has left the Washington franchise for a new owner and a new club, moving the Senators to the Twin Cities of Minnesota in 1961.

NL IS SURPRISED

The National League, which last week added Houston and New York, doesn't play on an expanded basis until 1962.

"I am surprised that they decided to expand in 1961," said Giles. "That's not what's best for the league, of course, but I believe a more practical job can be done for the present eight clubs and the two new ones by waiting until 1962 and making the proper preparations."

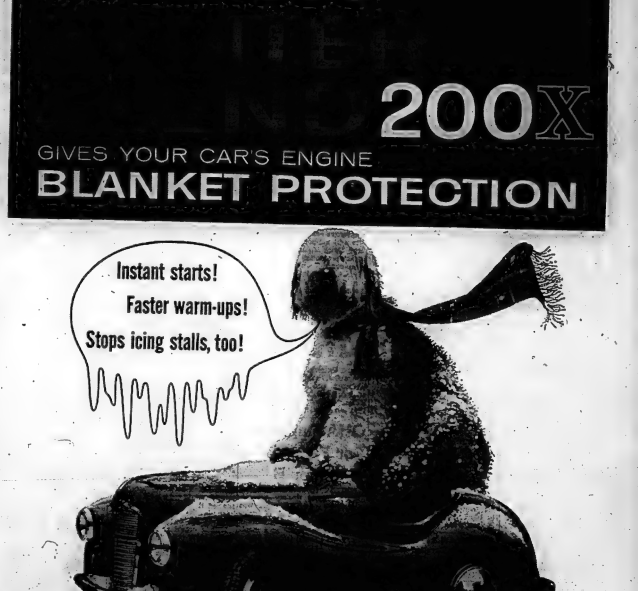
Surprised wasn't the word for O'Malley. Try "upset."

"Another full baseball schedule would wreak havoc," said O'Malley of the Los Angeles sports picture.

"We had expected the American League eventually on the west coast. We had suggested such fine cities as Seattle and San Diego. We had hoped to go out own problems in pioneering the territory and building the stadium behind us before the relatives moved in."

FANS ALSO UPSET

All Washington reaction wasn't happy.



"It's a dirty trick," said one fan.

"We put up with the bad teams all those years. "Now, when they're getting good, they leave."

Fans, interviewed on the street coupled dismay at the club's departure with relief that the 59-year-old Griffith was going with it. And they also held hope that their new AL entry would fare better than the Senators.

BALK AT INTEGRATION

DETROIT (AP) — The parents of children at three predominantly white Detroit schools voted Tuesday night to keep their youngsters home to protest the transfer of 213 Negro children to the schools. About 2,000 parents met and voted to keep their children home Friday and next Monday and Tuesday from the Gesell, Monnier and Noble schools. The Guest and Monnier schools are all-white. The Noble has a few Negro students.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Conn Smythe was quoted years ago as saying that "if you can't lick 'em in the alley, you can't beat 'em on the ice." All he meant was that he wanted followers on his Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club who could handle themselves if the occasion arose.

He had some pretty good battlers on his teams. For instance, there were Red Horner and Charlie Conacher, two huskies who drew some respect in National Hockey League circles. They didn't go out to belt people just for the heck of it but they had few peers in good old-fashioned gloves-off art of self defence.

Now, 63-year-old Jack Adams, who has been around hockey a little longer than Smythe, says the fans love good clean fist-swinging fights. He has been around the NHL as a player, coach and manager since the 1918 - 19 season, so he should know.

FIST FIGHTS DIFFERENT

Adams, general manager of Detroit Red Wings, was conniving on the raid of battles that have broken out in the NHL this year. The brawling has drawn the official attention of NHL President Clarence Campbell but Adams can't see any reasons to fret about it.

"I have no time for stick-swinging, spearing, slashing—but a fight, that's different," he said in Toronto the other day. He referred to a battle a few nights earlier involving Ted Wings and Boston Bruins and said "the fans stood up and cheered themselves crazy."

"There are a lot of kids trying to break in this season and that means there are a lot of veterans trying to hold their jobs. And in hockey there has to be frustration mixed in with bodily contact. Both lead to fights among men."

Adams's advice to the officials is to leave the fighters alone because as he says, half the time they don't hurt anybody anyway. That's true.

FEW GOOD BATTLES

Fans who attend the big league games or watch them on television see few honest-to-goodness fisted fights. Players become riled, their sticks go up and, in many cases, they fling their gloves off and attempt to get at each other after the linesmen or other players step between them.

One of the most celebrated fist fights in the NHL occurred a couple of years ago between Detroit's Gordie Howe and New York Rangers' Lou Fontinato. It was a dandy.

Lou was the "cop" on the Ranger team. He let it be known that "nobody's gonna take any liberties with our little guys, without answerin' to me."

LOU'S NOSE BROKEN

Fontinato told Howe to lay off Ranger Eddie Shack but the great Red Wing right winger didn't heed the warning. The fight was on and officials let them finish without interruption.

The result:

Fontinato went to hospital with a well-crambled face, including a broken nose that looked as if it had been moved a couple of inches from its original settling place. Howe, the unanimous winner, nursed a shiner and sore fists.

Fontinato never did recapture his early-season form and belligerence.

Maybe the officials should allow the boys to settle it with their fists. This probably would cut down on the threatening of sticks that now are becoming a part of games.

CBC Refuses To Telecast Sunday Games

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has turned down a Big Four football union request for telecast for Sunday playoff dates in Toronto.

Managing director Low Hayman of Toronto Argonauts, who had asked for Sunday dates, said the decision may cost the league's playoff pool more than $50,000.

"Our Sunday games have averaged 31,479 and for the one Saturday we played at home the crowd was 34,415," said Hayman. "That's a difference of over 7,000 and an average of about $3.70 per ticket, a gate difference of over $27,000."

A CBC spokesman listed these reasons for not changing the games, already scheduled for Saturday afternoons:

The dates were already set and a change would mean cancelling two hours of live studio productions;

Film fill would have to be bought for the western network, which would not carry the games and for the Saturday afternoon time on both eastern and western networks;

There would be a risk of losing the popular program 50th Century, set for 4:30 p.m., in the west, if the games should run past that time.

Production stabs would have to be paid overtime on Sundays.

Bruins Recall Charlie Burns And Oullette

KINGSTON (CP) — Charlie Burns and Gerry Ouellette of Kingston Frontenacs have been recalled to Boston Bruins, General manager Wren Blair of Frontenacs said Wednesday Ouellette will temporarily replace injured Doug Mohns on left wing if Burns' promotion is likely to be permanent.

Burns, a strong defence player, was with the National Hockey League Bruins last year. He was sent to Kingston of the Eastern Professional Loop as a replacement.

Blair said Frontenacs could not object to the recall. By giving up the players now, he said, Kingston is likely to be sent good players if the club ever needs them.

Lynn Patrick, general manager of Bruins, said forwards Dick Meissner and Bill Carter have been ordered from Hartford to the EPHL. Meissner goes to Kingston, and Carter to Hull-Ottawa.

OHA Rapped For Failure In Junior B

WHITBY (CP)—The executive of the Ontario Hockey Association Wednesday night was blamed for the end of junior hockey north of Newmarket.

A resolution passed at a meeting of the Central Ontario Junior B Hockey League said a lack of support from the OHA forced disbandment of Junior B clubs in Orillia, Barrie and Aurora.

"The three teams forced to disband spent considerable money in good faith that they would be able to play hockey this year," the resolution said.

The Metro Toronto Junior B League also came in for criticism. The resolution said a lack of co-operation from the league forced Whitby to travel 135 miles to play "when there are eight Junior B teams within a radius of 50 miles."

Will Knock Foeman Out Says Brown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Light-heavyweight champion Joe Brown says he will knock Cisco Andrade into retirement when they meet in a world title bout here Friday night in the Olympic Auditorium.

Brown, usually mild-mannered except in ring action, Wednesday described the California veteran as "arrogant." He compared him with Art Aragon, the once-revered local idol who doted on a pose of arrogance and made it pay off in big box office figures.

"He's a second Aragon, swaggering around and making a spectacle. At 34, Brown has no thought of retiring or getting swatted in the sidelines by the Cisco Kid in their 15 - round non - televised match.

Andrade, 30, is a 2-to-1 underdog in the bout for the 158-pound division crown.

The big attraction has its first showings starting Monday at the Park Theatre, Belleville, and Century, Trenton.

Spain Beaten By England At Soccer

LONDON (AP)—England beat Spain 4-2 in an exciting soccer international Wednesday and showed it is at last on the road to recovery in the game the British gave to the world.

With a crowd of 90,000 yelling their hearts out under a torrent of rain, the game saw British forwards finally hit a world-class form to overcome a shirt-pulling Spanish defence.

Twenty - year - old inside right Jimmy Greaves put England on the winning path with a goal after 80 seconds. Inside right Del Sol made it 1-1 in the 14th minute. Bryan Douglas, right winger, put England ahead 2-1 four minutes from half time.

The second half Spain goal came from inside left Luis Suarez. But centre forward Bobby Smith scored twice for England to sew up the win.

"Strangers When We Meet"

Strangers When We Meet, Kirk Douglas' new redwing venture, taking excessive advantages of the new production code.

This casual excursion into adultery in suburban Los Angeles is played throughout on a quiet level without any of the particulars being shot, struck by lightning or killed in a car accident at—retribution for their wrong-doing.

Even Hunter's screenplay (from his own novel) is given depth and meaning by an excellent cast of players.

Richard Quine's direction succeeds in conveying the triteness of the lives dealt with without losing the reality of the situations.

A definite cut above Hollywood's elegant sob stories about unfaithful wives and erring husbands, it's also an interesting portrait of Hollywood's non-film upper-bracket society.

Kirk Douglas brings understanding and sincerity to his role of a clever architect, struggling to keep his essential homes, who becomes aware that his pretty wife (Barbara Rush) is merely fraternizing or running her own career.

Taking his son to the school bus one morning, he meets lonely Kim Novak, whose husband (John Bryant) is content to express his affection for her in words alone.

The two find hapless in each other's company, and begin a clandestine romance.

While this is going on, Douglas builds a house for Miss Novak, who gives a marvelous background performance as an uneasy suitor, given to fits of suspicion and a dislike of critics.

The film is strong on impressive and moving climax by Miss Rush when she discovers her husband's infidelity. Her acting in this sequence is sustained on a high level.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, October 28, 1960.

General Tendencies: Until midafternoon be sure you do not force issues or startling separations and changes can take place. Let conditions work themselves out bending your strokes with the tide of events. Then through tonight all kinds of interesting conditions arise that you can handle by being very practical, down-to-earth.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Go over thoroughly and slowly any schedules you have made with regard to new ventures, either in business or creative, or some slight error can ruin everything. The remainder of the day and evening are fine for increasing prestige.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Until 3 P.M. be sure you don't bring up that private issue and start a terrible argument at home. This evening you will make a very worthwhile new friend, so be sure you are affable and courteous. Will be important to you in the future.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) A disturbing problem connected with your job could keep you from some important errands. If you allow. Forget it and carry through intelligently. P.M. fine for meetings and for understanding in your romantic or married life.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 22) It would be very wise now to confer with proven advisors so that you can get personal, business and creative affairs in good order and save money. P.M. talk over future plans with good associate. Come to a real understanding.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) Important you handle all matters that arise suddenly today in connection with home or business in a very quick and intelligent way. Do not argue. P.M. make wise plans for your activities during the coming weeks.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23). Private problems arise that could deter you from going ahead with today's plans. Don't let them disturb you beyond their importance or you too can still accomplish a great deal. P.M. have fun with those whom you truly like.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 22) Don't give in to that temptation to spend a great deal for pleasure, especially since those you like cannot come along with you. Run things intensively. P.M. enjoy own home and kin.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be very diplomatic in handling any sudden situations that arise, which will also help in clear up understanding with kin and associates. P.M. fine for getting out with good friends for relaxation and fun.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be particularly alert while driving you car today. Also, do not take to hasty decisions that may arise. By evening you will know exactly what action to take that will straighten out your difficulties.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) Be sure to keep your purse zipped today and not gamble on any property matters, or you will regret it at a later day. In fact, try to economize. P.M. go out for fun and relaxation. Meet with good friends.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want your friends to go along with your ideas, but this is not the right day to try to convince them. Get busy with any duties you may have and do not formulate alliances. P.M. fine for theatre, cultural pursuits etc.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) It is better to concentrate upon improving health and appearance now instead of stewing over any problems you may have. Evening is fine for making new friends and enjoying the company of old ones who are loyal.

If your child is born today ...

RIDES AIR CUSHION

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet designers have developed a 400-ton sea hovercraft vessel which can travel five or six feet above the water at a speed of about 100 to 125 miles an hour, the Soviet news agency Tass said today. The air cushion on which it skims over water is formed by a compressor which sucks in air, and then ejects it through special nozzles on the bottom of the ship.

SYNTONA is a well-known LIQUID concentrate of combined therapeutic ingredients (9 of WATER) prepared for home and sports. The ingredients are specially selected for their tonic and beneficial action on the stomach, liver and bowels and its delightful fruit flavor makes it a refreshing pick-me-up anytime, anywhere—a TONIC for finicky appetites.

SYNTONA has helped so many people that the users of this announcement may know personally. Therefore, we are willing to make this INTRODUCTORY offer now in the hope those who are benefitted will keep on using SYNTONA and tell others about it.

What it Will Do!

SYNTONA is taken before meals and aims with the food you eat. It thus acts at once to aid in relieving upset stomach conditions which may often be due to insufficient digestive juices, so relieves gas, sourness, fullness, distress, bloating and belching.

SYNTONA will help relieve constipation which may cause lazy, sluggish liver, headaches, and bad breath; minimizes and nervousness due to constipation.

You will find it helps to improve your appetite, helps you get the most from the food you eat.

Quickly relieves those with headaches, backaches and rheumatic pains and nervous to arms, limbs, joints & muscles.

Many people say that SYNTONA has helped them to get better, sleep better and increased their general feeling of well-being.

Get a bottle. The remainder of this announcement will cost you ONLY 25 CENTS. Supply is limited so ACT AT ONCE. Clip and mail coupon now and get your trial bottle of SYNTONA.

Coupon good only at the store mentioned. Limit of 2 bottles to one customer and good for 30 days only.

DESERONTO—Monday night saw the presentation of the beautiful awards to the leading young players of the town. The awards were sponsored and maintained by the Deseronto Athletic Association, which has chose a great deal towards furthering clean organized sport in the town. Their further activity of the liberation of the transaction.

Cockshutt, under the plan, will acquire all the issued shares—1,000,000—of F. Wingfoot-Sun Florida Corp., whose real estate holdings have an appraised value of more than $15,000,000.

In return, Winston-Sanson and associated interests will get 380,000 Cockshutt shares, which now trade on the Toronto Stock Exchange around $13 a share, compared to a high price last year of $25.25 and a low of $12.12½. Cockshutt issued shares now total 1,907,645.

Of the 380,000 shares going to Winston-Sanson, 190,000 will be held in escrow, and released on performance tests of the new operations. If effect, each $550,000 real - estate profit made from the land by recurring annual net income of $55,000,* will allow the release of 12,000 shares. In the meantime, the escrowed shares will be voted on proxies given from W. K. Winston and the chairman of Cockshutt.

The deal was announced in Toronto by C. H. Millard, president, and Winston-Sanson.

In an interview after the meeting, B. H. Brookfield, Toronto financier who is chairman and president of Cockshutt, said the transaction was "not a take-over bid" and would not, as a result, affect the profit with the issue of the $1,000,000.

Cockshutt has the net loss of $889,-962, shown for the nine months ended July 31 was cut by 75 per cent in August and since then, the company has been in the black.

Stanton D. Sisson, of Winston-Sanson, said that the firm since it started in 1953 has grown from an unprofitable real - estate operation to one which has a net income from 200 per cent to 20 per cent.

The company's Tampa property alone, he said, is valued at as much as $4 million. The shares involved in the present transaction are based on current quotations. His firm was interested, however, in the sale of the sets and earnings reflected in a listed stock for various reasons, including that of taxation.

F. A. Warren of Toronto-questioned the fairness of the exchange values."

Mayor Let of Hamilton asked for the real value of Cockshutt shares, rather than the stock market quotation.

Mr. Bechhold said the book value of Cockshutt shares was $20.

Control of Cockshutt was acquired in 1956 by English Transcontinental, a British firm, apparently through buying shares on the open market. However, in 1959 Cockshutt shares were shown as being owned in Britain and the rest of the remainder are held in the United States and Canada. Mr. Bechhold was appointed president following the change in control.

Cockshutt Transfers 380,000 Shares for Florida Real Estate

BRANTFORD (CP) Cockshutt Farm Equipment Ltd., an established farm machinery firm, Tuesday took the final step authorizing its entry into Florida real estate in exchange for a large block of its own shares."

Shareholders voted heavily in favor of the proposal after two of their number had questioned the value of the transaction.

or fear that the U.S. wouldn't accept anything handed to it.

However, the main brief by the Canadian Canadian section of the Auto Workers made a plea for further study of the integration idea as a long-term means to broadening employment.

Union men said too many models are turned out by the Canadian companies on orders from the Detroit parent companies.

Questioned whether the Canadian public would like being confronted with a choice of cars or whether that would just open the doors of the market to foreign imports.

Mr. Lambert said there are 340 models for sale in Canada and 200 would go.

Murray Elder, Windsor industrial economist representing the auto-making communities of Windsor, Oshawa, St. Catharines, Trafalgar, Oakville and Ste. Thomas, said he thinks the arguments of British car makers that their sales' bare — on duty-free imports from Britain.

Mr. Elder says a per capita basic, Canadians at 18,000,000 strong bought twice as much from the 50,000,-000 people in United Kingdom. The car people declined to accept the idea that basis for the trade balance, Mr. Elder said, would mean British shipment had recently proposed to the U.S. that it regard its trade balance as "one integrated unit."

Mr. Elder had some harsh words for the lack of mobility of Canadian parts - makers to crack the market now. He said the Canadian parts people that could be produced economically if they were given more room if the parts people weren't so "starved reluctant" to bare the profit.

Some components for the automobiles manufactured imported by Canada, could be made in Canada, he said, necessary equipment for similar work now being idle or running at half efficiency.

Canadian auto makers dodged the foreign requirement to remade-in-Canada content, he said, by some instances where this was done by asking the parts manufacturer to raise and bill the manufacturer for six months ahead.

Union and community briefs urged the government to provide incentives through tax or other measures, to get manufacturers of foreign cars turning out their product in Canada.

Cockshutt, chairman, and three board because of opposition to the transaction from directors on the proposed Florida transaction.

Two Arrested, Held For Spying For Soviet Union

3rd Man Out of Country Named Co-Conspirator

NEW YORK (AP)—FBI agents struck quickly Thursday night in round up a Russian employed at the United Nations and a German - born medical illustrator. Both men are accused of spying for the Soviet Union.

A third man, a Russian national now out of the country, was named a co-conspirator but not a defendant.

Seized at their Manhattan homes were Igor Yagovlevich Melekh, 34, a Soviet Russian language section in the office of conference services of the UN secretariat, and Willi Hirsch, 52, who came to the United States as a refugee but never became a citizen.

The pair had been indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury in Chicago. One charge accuses the men of trying to obtain aerial photographs of Chicago, including military installations.

ANNOUNCES ARRESTS

The justice department in Washington announced the arrests at almost the same time the FBI men closed in.

Melekh was seized at his apartment on West 86th Street while a blindfold was being put on for his six-year-old son. Hirsch was taken in his one-room apartment at Fifth Avenue and 10th Street, a fashionable section of Greenwich Village.

Melekh, who came to the U.S. in 1957, attended the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Yeshiva University and their two small children.

A stubby man with grey hair and horn-rimmed glasses, Melekh said as he was taken into FBI headquarters: "We were well prepared. . . . We were well prepared."

At another point he said, "I just shows everybody is ready." He did not elaborate.

HARVEY ELLIS

In his job at the UN, Melekh earned $11,000 a year. The indictment said Hirsch, who is 52, "was known as Peter Stephens and Harvey Ellis."

Hirsch, said also to have used the name of John Turner, was picked up while his wife and daughter were out walking.

Both men had lived in the apartment for the last 10 years. They were taken out of the rear of the short, stocky Hirschman separately. "He was the nicest guy in the building."

In addition to being charged with espionage, the two men are charged with failure to register with the United States, acting as agents of a foreign government.

They were held in $50,000 bail each arraignment before federal Judge Lloyd McMahon. A hearing was set for Nov. 3.

If convicted each man could be sentenced to a maximum of 25 years in prison and fined $20,000. Since the alleged crime was not committed during wartime, the death penalty is not involved.

FIRST UN RED

Melekh's career was the first actual arrest of a Soviet member of the UN staff, although charges frequently have been made that the Russians were using the UN as a spy headquarters.

The third man in the current case, the FBI said, is Kirill Dou-

Woman Blacks Out, Car Kills 5 Chicagoans

CHICAGO (AP)—A car driven by a woman who said she blacked out jumped a sidewalk and ripped through a crowd of pedestrians Tuesday night, killing five and hurling their twisted bodies across a busy downtown intersection.

Three other persons, including the driver, were injured.

Dead and injured were thrown 25 feet as the car scooped up pedestrians and careened across the intersection.

One of the dead was sprayed with blood when the car was hit by another, a two - wheeled racing cart being hauled by a roofing firm truck.

The car, carrying some victims on its hood, then struck another car and both veered side by side out of control.

One body was found jammed beneath the second car which finally smashed to a halt against a row of cars in a parking lot.

The woman's car ended its path of carnage by crashing into a curb.

The driver of the car that triggered the tragedy was Miss Bette Gillespie, 25, who told police she started to halt behind a bus when she "blacked out, and woke up in the hospital."

BLOODY RIOTING OVER ALGERIA SWEEPS FRANCE

Demonstrators Seek Negotiated Peace

PARIS (AP)—Demonstrations demanding an end to the six-year Algerian war swept France Thursday night with bloody violence in Paris and a half-dozen other.

Thousands more demonstrated peacefully in scores of cities and towns. It was the biggest public expression on Algeria since the spring riots of 1958 that led to Gen. Charles de Gaulle's return to power.

The Elysee Palace announced that President de Gaulle would make a radio and television address Nov. 4. It was assumed de Gaulle would be his chief topic.

About 100 demonstrators were injured in the street clashes centered through the capital, Caes, Lyon, Toulouse, Nevers, Rouen and Brest.

The fighting was heaviest along Paris' Left Bank, where 80 demonstrators and 15 policemen were hurt and 37 students arrested. Most of the students were later released.

NEWSPAPER MEN HURT

Nine reporters and photographers were injured covering the Paris riots, The French National Press Photographers Association accused police of singling out newspaper men for rough handling and of seizing cameras and films.

The French National Students Union, many of whose members face conscription to bear arms in North Africa, had called for a day of national agitation to begin in Algeria. Reporters sent banned outdoor public demonstrations but permitted indoor meetings. The Communist party sponsored week - long marches from a few minutes to several hours.

In Paris, 2,000 students gathered in a Left Bank meeting hall and heard speakers who called for a quick negotiated peace in Algeria. Afterward, they massed gathered behind police barricades in the streets around the hall.

Tariffs Belong To 19th Century Says CCF Leader

CALGARY (CP) — Hazen Argue, national leader of the CCF party, said here Thursday that Canada's new left-wing political party will oppose present moves for general increases in tariffs.

"Tariffs belong to the 19th century," he told the Alberta Federation of Labor convention.

Mr. Argue also said the New Party, to be founded in Ottawa next summer at a convention sponsored by the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress, believes that the federal government should open immediate negotiations on setting Canada into a large Atlantic free-trade area.

"There were indications, he said, that the Progressive Conservative government at Ottawa was moving to the old Tory pattern of 'higher and higher tariffs.'

"This Tory high tariff policy is manifested in the Canadian government's opposition to escalating our nation with the European Common Market and the European Free Trade Association," he said.

Canadian participation in a larger Atlantic free trade area would increase Canadian trade, reduce this country's trade deficit with the United States, and lessen control by American citizens over Canadian industries and resources.

Most Papers Are Supporting Richard Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — Most daily newspapers are supporting Vice-President Richard M. Nixon in the presidential race with Senator John F. Kennedy, it getting more backing than did Dwight D. Eisenhower four years ago, Editor and Publisher magazine said Thursday.

Compact, Cheap Royal Commission Operates Under Fingertip Control

OTTAWA (CP) — A compact, economical, very human royal commission is on display in Ottawa.

Powered by order - in - council and free of problems posed by counsel in strength, it is wheeling along merrily under the fingertip control of a driver who is a practising pedestrian.

The method of the royal commission on the automotive industry, 1960, established to recommend ways of hoisting the Canadian industry out of the rut it is being dug increasingly deeper by car imports from the United Kingdom and Europe.

The driver, who manages to direct the course of the inquiry while looking only so much, is Professor Donald Blades, the University of Toronto's 38-year-old dean of arts who forms the one-man commission.

In contrast to the usual royal commissioner, Dr. Blades does not employ counsel. He does all his own questioning, and obviously prefers his witnesses to go it alone in their replies where possible.

Obviously up on his homework after advance study of some 80 briefs, he opened public hearings of the one-man commission Monday in basement Room 112N in Parliament's Centre Block and began getting down to cases.

He employs a highly personal conversational style that verges from penetrating puzzlement, to twinkling bemusement to contagious enthusiasm.

Seeming endorsement at times of the views of witnesses brought out the professor to pause, every so often, to explain his methods.

"You used the phrase 'found a welfare state,' " he recalled to union official who had taken too much for granted from the commission's line of questioning.

In a reminder that has been repeated several times to the full attendance hearings — the meeting room has a capacity of 80 odd including interlopers — he emphasized:

"My views aren't really to be discovered by listening to my examination. I probe to get information."

Bladen Problem Is Local One

OTTAWA (CP) — Angry impatience with views that hold unemployment in the Canadian automobile industry to be a pocket problem was sounded here Thursday.

Professor Vincent Bladen of Toronto, who has promised a post-dependent farm and forest groups that he will give fullest consideration to their positions in making his royal commission findings, voiced the idea that the auto industry woes are a regional problem peculiar to Ontario production centres.

"It is desirable the farmers of the Prairies and their organizations should pay some attention to the problems of industry in this part of the country," he told a public hearing of his one-man royal commission here.

His blast was touched off by reference to a brief presented by the Canadian Co - operative Wheat Producers Limited.

The organization, which represents the three prairie wheat pools, said wheat producers receive a share of the "problems" with a problem of unemployment of such dimensions as to give authorities some concern and that some of their employees "are idle in the automotive industry."

"This is not a matter of some concern," Professor Bladen said. "It is a matter of dreadful concern to all Canadians."

The wheat producers argued that the Canadian automobile industry should, at large part, accept responsibility for solving the problems facing it.

"We suggest that the conditions surrounding the employees in the automotive manufacturing industry are precarious and always have been. For many years these employees their work is seasonal, influenced as it is by production schedules.

India Heads Move to Avoid Red Boycott of Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India sought today to head off a Soviet-bloc boycott on UN disarmament talks by offering a last-minute compromise proposal aimed at bringing the West and the Russians back to the arms negotiating table.

Indian Defence Minister V. K. Krishna Menon hinted at the plan Thursday night in a 90-minute speech before the UN's 99-nation political committee which is debating the arms question.

Menon said India would soon offer the outlines of a resolution on the disarmament question, informed sources said India has drawn up a nine-point proposal with Burma, Mexico, Sweden, Venezuela, the United Arab Republic and Yugoslavia.

The sources said the Indian proposal, among other things, would add five members to the 10-na. tion East-West disarmament committee and call on the committee to report progress to the 99-nation supply-armament committee by next May; urge that no nation supply armament or weapons of mass destruction or means for their delivery; and recommend that negotiations at each step of any disarmament agreement in the country could gain military supremacy at any stage.

The General Assembly, meanwhile, unanimously adopted a Canadian-sponsored plan for aerial photography to be distributed to needy nations by the Food and Agricultural Organization. FAO was asked to sell food, to be provided largely by the United States and Canada, at low cost and for the currency of the country needing it.

Nixon Promises to Visit Satellite Nations in E. Europe

WITH NIXON IN ILLINOIS (AP)— Vice-President Richard Nixon promised Thursday night he is elected president he will visit the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Nixon, struggling off heckling and a possible attempt to derail his train as he campaigned through Michigan and the port-poser of the visits would be to proclaim again a free people's friendship for these people to reaffirm our trust in their ultimate emancipation.

He carried his bid for votes in the industrial states into Detroit today.

Despite the fact that he twice was made a target by egg throwers and was subjected to what his press secretary called "goon squad" heckling, Nixon promised a whirlwind campaign through Michigan Thursday the last day of a 10-day, 11-state presidential campaign.

Following a full - up, Nixon pointed his special train toward primarily Republican sections of Illinois today before a night speech across the Iowa line in Davenport.

Herbert Klein, Nixon's press secretary, announced that a search forces had discovered Richard Fort Wayne, Ind., a piece of metal tied to a track over which the Nixon special was due to pass during the night.

The Secret Service operatives had investigated and found that the object, which appeared to be part of an old transformer, was not a bomb. He said C. R. Smith, head of American Airlines, will train master at Fort Wayne, reported the metal might have derailed a train.

At an outdoor rally in Muskegon, Mich. Thursday night—where he attacked vigorously the economic policies of Democratic rival, Senator John Kennedy—Nixon was subjected to heckling from a small segment of the otherwise friendly crowd.

"I've been heckled by experts, and we'll take care of you," the GOP nominee told the gang.

"All you do is show your bad manners. I'm sorry, but you have to go away . . . Don't let them tell you in Detroit how to vote."

Later, Klein said that on his way to the rally one of two eggs thrown at Nixon struck the vice-president's coat. It was the third time during the day that Nixon had been a target but the first hit.

Klein declined to say whether Nixon's reference to Detroit meant the vice-president blamed labor unions for the heckling.

CPR WILL SCRAP MOST PASSENGER TRAINS IN 20 YRS.

Fast Inter-City Runs Will Be Rule

OTTAWA (CP) — The CPR plans to scrap much of its passenger fleet over the next 20 years and tailor its passenger service to fast inter-city runs.

This was announced Thursday in a major brief by the privately-owned railway to the MacPherson royal commission on transportation, a six-man body set up more than a year ago to dig into the problems of railroads and find a remedy.

The brief foreshadowed the doom of passenger trains as most Canadians know them, a sort of death knell that will mean a warning rivalry from auto and air lines.

It also indicated an all - out drive for more freight for rail carriers in an era of keen competition from trucks, ships, planes and pipelines.

It said the CPR has no plans for large-scale branch-line abandonments, but that it was running that 2,500 miles of CPR branch lines "are not essential." It would be "candidates for abandonment" if the CPR doesn't get some workable rule for western export grain traffic.

NEED RELIEF

The CPR and CNR wants a multi-million-dollar federal subsidy to help them meet deficits to offset losses they say amount to $70,000,000 a year because of the statutory grain rates.

In the brief, CPR Vice-President N. R. Crump said the railway plans to scrap 564,000-odd freight cars, locomotives by 1980—leaving only modern lightweight coaches, stainless steel streamliners and refrigerated Dayliners to operate on routes where a number can be made.

He said the CPR and CNR are actively studying areas where they can either pool passenger trains or eliminate them and run its runs and leave the other alone to do the whole service job.

Mr. Emerson said the CPR firmly opposes the idea of maintaining unprofitable passenger runs for uneconomic reasons, backed by federal subsidies proposed by several political groups at recent events.

He said it would be a "flagrant misuse" of federal money to perpetuate such uneconomic services.

ASKS LEGISLATION

At the same time, he proposed new legislation to replace the rate-by-rate ways to get rid of losing passenger runs. Instead, he said, there must be a major fuss from communities affected.

"Canada and its rail transport industry cannot afford the luxury of discussing every case of necessary passenger services," he said. "The present practice of the Canadian Pacific is no longer regarded by the economic well-being of Canada."

A doubt whether it is fully realized by the public which Canadian Pacific now is a freight rather than a railway, declaring that 90 per cent of the CPR revenue is freight, only 10 per cent involves passengers.

In the last six years, more than 500 passenger runs have been discontinued. Despite the cuts, a CPR study of passenger services in 1958 showed a burden of $15,500,000 from unprofitable trains.

PM and Premiers Stay Poles Apart On Tax Problems

Most of Provinces Want To Keep Rental Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker and the 10 provincial premiers are still apparently poles apart on the issue of the future shape of federal-provincial tax relations.

The second day of their tax conference ended Thursday with Ottawa still insisting on its proposal that the provinces should levy their own share of income tax and succession duty.

Most of the premiers, it appeared, still want continuation of the present tax - rental system whereby the federal government collects these taxes and turns over a share to the provinces.

As well, there was no sign from the closed - door conference of the federal negotiators relaxing their search-confirmed proposal of fix equalization payments to the less-wealthy provinces at a flat $15 a head, $60,000,000 a year after March 31, 1962.

Today's closing session of the conference was scheduled to deal instead with the unemployment problem, although the fiscal issue could crop up again.

NEED MORE JOBS

Mr. Diefenbaker indicated to reporters Thursday that he put the full face for members of Parliament's senators to get pass now under the Railway Act.

Despite efforts to cut down free transportation in the last 10 years, the number of annual free transportation estimated to be 90,000 passes in 1959, a 13-month period in 1959 and 1960.

Passes Will Be Scarce on CPR

OTTAWA (CP) — The CPR plans to abolish free transportation for a wide range of people from the governor-general to free foreigners.

The privately-owned railway announced its plan, effective Jan. 1, 1961, in a brief submitted Thursday to the royal commission on transportation.

The CNR, which goes before the commission next week, is expected to take similar action.

Cancellation of free transportation privileges will affect employees of other railways, the governor-general and his staff, provincial lieutenant-governors, ambassadors, members of provincial legislatures, families of federal MPs, newspaper and magazine writers, fire rangers, forestry officers and others.

The CPR also proposed that the reporting requirements for the full fare for members of Parliament and senators be put on a par with those now under the Railway Act.

Despite efforts to cut down free transportation in the last 10 years, the number of annual free transportation estimated to be 90,000 passes in 1959, a 13-month period in 1959 and 1960.

Three Under Arrest, Girl Released As Police Sift Clues for Murderer

TORONTO (CP) — Three men were under arrest today and a beautiful girl was questioned and released as police linked the murder weapon to the gunslaying of Lorne Gibson.

Deputy Chief George Elliott said detectives have been questioning Gibson, 35, in Montreal's Bordeaux jail and the long-range squad of detectives assembled in the Toronto area in the case combed through Toronto curling ice today and questioned more than 30 persons.

One man was arrested and charged with possession of a .25 - calibre automatic pistol. Another was booked as vagrants and held for questioning.

Gibson was killed late Wednesday night on dingy Milan Street in a rundown east-central residential section known locally as Cabbagetown. Police said he had been shot three times with a 32-calibre automatic.

Chief Elliott was no doubt the victim was taken for a ride and was standing when he was shot. One bullet smashed into his face as he fell.

The dying Gibson was fired into the back of his head as he lay on the ground.

Chief Deputy Elliott said the murder could be connected with the underworld. Gibson, a former Kingstonian, who had a long criminal record, frequented the area where drug users pick up their supplies.

One girl who was questioned was known to have threatened Gibson after the man's girl friend was beaten up by Gibson and a couple of weeks ago.

Elliott said the two men were seen leaving a downtown cocktail lounge early last night with Gibson.

A tall, slim girl in a fur jacket was questioned by police and released. Police said she carried a membership card for the Dorchester Social Club on St. Lawrence Street, Montreal.

Inspector William McNeely said Thursday night Gibson's

New One-Way Street Signs Now in Place

City and district motorists as well as downtown shoppers undoubtedly have noticed considerable activity on the part of the city public works department this week as preparations are being made for the inauguration of the one-way street system on November 6th.

New one-way street signs have been going up along the Cataraqui Bridge, while pavement painting and other work is being done in preparation for the change-over.

Assistant city engineer Mark Heisbutt noted today most of the approximately 40 signs to be erected are already in place. These signs are covered with burlap and will be uncovered when the one-way street system goes into effect.

"Preparations are now fairly well completed with the exception of the street signs, which cannot be placed until just before the system goes into effect," Mr. Heisbutt said.

Included in these last minute preparations will be the installation of traffic islands. One of these will be at Pinnacle and Station street, another at Pinnacle and Dundas and the third at Front and Dundas.

To acquaint themselves with the proposed one-way routes, motorists are asked to watch for route maps, which will appear in the paper late next week.

A large map of the proposed one-way street routes is already in place in a vacant store window on the east side of Bridge Street just above the four corners.

United Appeal Has Obtained Fifth of Its $80,000 Quota

Approximately 20 per cent of the Belleville United Appeal campaign objective of $80,000 has been raised to date, initial returns from national organizations and through payroll giving.

This was announced yesterday by Mrs. Ross Thompson of United Appeal workers. The total amount received to date is $16,333.88.

"Of course we must realize that the returns insofar are most by from national organization contributions and from payroll deduction giving," noted Mr. J. G. Gurnett, publicity chairman for the campaign. "Very little has so far been received from the commercial and professional divisions."

Mr. Gurnett again urged that canvassers for the commercial and professional division complete their canvass as soon as possible and return their kits.

PAYROLL GIVING UP

Returns thus far from payroll giving have been encouraging, it was stated. There has been a substantial increase in giving and amounts contributed by individuals have also increased.

Campaign officials are very pleased with the offers of assistance from Bell Telephone and club members from BCI and Kaydon Engineering who volunteered to assist with the blitz residential canvass when canvassers are calling.

Special mention was made of Miss Blanche Rabel, city high school student whose theme drawing is to be used to help publicize the local United Appeal campaign.

Campaign officials ask city residents to try to be home next Tuesday evening when canvassers will make their call in the built-up residential areas.

"We also urge people to be as generous as possible in their contribution to the 11 agencies making up the United Appeal," Mr. Gurnett said.

Hastings County 4-H Members At Winter Fair

Members of Hastings County 4-H Clubs made a very creditable showing in exhibits and in Inter-County Livestock Judging competitions held on Monday and Tuesday at the Ontario Winter Fair.

INTER-COUNTY JUDGING

In the Inter-County Livestock Judging competition the Hastings team, Robt. Sager, Ed. Fralick and Ronald Heath, with Robert Sager of Madoc, being the top man in the competition. He also was awarded a gold medal for high man in swine. Ronald Harriell won a gold medal as top man in beef and Larry Bertrand also received a single point from being high man in sheep judging.

TO SHOW CALVES AND SWINE

The Friday thirty-two Hastings County boys will show 28 calves and eight swine in the competitions at the Fair.

Brief Says Duty-Free Status Of U.K. Cars Is Handing Our Market to Country on Plate

OTTAWA (CP) — Argument that duty-free entry into Canada's farm products to needy countries would be preferable to dumping in Canada's manufacturing arm was presented here today.

"Let us not become too dependent on foreign markets," the Tool and Die Manufacturers' Association of Canada said in a brief to the royal commission under Professor Vincent Bladen of Toronto.

The association, voicing its concern over competition from Canada's Commonwealth partners in Europe, described the tool, die and machining industry as "the front line force" in manufacturing.

"No product is mass-produced until the tool and die industry has built the necessary equipment," it said in underlining its interest in the health of the Canadian automotive industry.

FIGHT CUT OFF

The tool and die industry was the first to be cut off when production was not made in Canada when the domestic product was replaced by imports of cheap goods from low-wage countries.

"Canada is no longer just an agricultural country," the association said.

"At the majority of our people are supported by manufacturing concerns it would be far better for Canadians to be kept working producing manufactured items and subsidize the wheat and farm products, or even give them away" to the needy countries, rather than cripple our manufacturing facilities.

"Already too many of our skilled tradesmen have been out of work for a time, where offers of better wages and conditions are advertised, and too many of our type of companies are facing bankruptcy."

The tool and die manufacturers said they support unanimously the Automotive Parts Manufacturers' Association brief which also appears before the one-man commission today.

MUST USE TARIFF

The brief of the association said the tariff is the principal equalizing factor between Canadian costs and those of low-cost exporters to the Canadian market and must be used effectively.

"The continued duty-free status of automobiles from the United Kingdom is illegally handing the Canadian automotive market to that country on a plate," the brief said in advocating that a duty rate of 17½ per cent be imposed on cars from British countries.

The U.K. had a vast untapped home market for its vehicles which it should be encouraged to develop, a market that undoubtedly could compensate for the loss of sales that should belong to Canadian manufacturers.

The tariff on most-favored-nation countries should be increased by 25 per cent from the present 17½—the amount sought by Britain — to assist in equalizing Canadian labor costs with low-cost wages in those countries.

Automotive parts from the U.K. should be given duty-free entry except where they are of a class not made in Canada.

ASK STEEL MARKET

A brief expressing views of the primary steel industry of Canada said much of its domestic production was carried out with the assistance of the Canadian automotive industry would continue to grow as the requirements of Canadian steel.

The Steel Company of Canada Limited said there has been the case particularly in cold-rolled sheets, stainless-steel strip, alloy-grade steel bars, aluminum-coated steel sheets and industrial fasteners.

"If the automotive industry does not expand its purchases of steel, the steel industry is left with an excess capacity for the above products. It would require considerable time to develop other consuming markets."

Police Blotter

Investigations into break-ins at the Stirling Public School and at the Kenneth Fraser grocery store and produce store at Desmonto are being carried on today by municipal police officers, it was learned, assisted by Belleville Provincial Police.

Entry to the Stirling school was gained by smashing the glass in a door. Desk drawers were ransacked in the teachers room, the intruders apparently looking for Red Cross collections. Nothing was reported taken.

It was not known whether anything was missing as result of the Desmonto break-in.

In the latter case, yesterday investigated a two-car collision at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets. There were no injuries but police reported considerable damage to the vehicles involved.

PM AND PREMIERS

provinces would levy that share of the tax fields themselves—but Ottawa has no way of collecting if they want. The share is worth about $300,000,000 and the provinces want more money, they would have to take the money from personal income taxes.

Mr. Fleming called this "a new approach to supplant the discord."

Otherwise, we just go on with the pressure the provinces exert on the federal government when they want something more than they have and ask the federal government for it."

The finance minister also defended the federal proposal on equalization payments as less wealthy provinces.

This offer of $220,000,000 a year for the 1962-67 period will include the $25,000,000 in "adjustment grants" split among the 10 provinces, and the $8,000,000 a year to Newfoundland under the 1949 Confederation agreement.

Ottawa has asked the premiers to work out an agreed sharing plan for the $220,000,000 a year. Otherwise, if they can't agree, the federal government will do it.

A number of premiers have complained that the new plan is "frozen" equalization and destroys the principle of such payments as they are geared to the tax-sharing formula.

Mr. Fleming replied that the federal offer would establish the equalization principle right into the future before. It would guarantee more money in equalization than before, and for five years.

The principle of equalization, he said, is that the federal government should redress inequalities among the provinces. Adoption of a fixed amount didn't violate this principle.

Kiwanis Club Presents 'People Of Hungary' to Capacity Audience

One of the finest travelogues presented by the Kiwanis Club of this city was viewed last evening by a near capacity audience in the Collegiate auditorium when Gene Wiancko, narrator and photographer of the film, "The People of Hungary," told the story behind the story of Hungary's early days, when it was overrun with the Magyars, of Mongolia; of their "heart, sweat and blood" to go to the country.

The people of Hungary are proud of their country, of their traditions, of their life; they live on the land, with the land and from the land. The film is an endeavor to tell their story, their hopes, dreams and their day by day life.

Hungary is a small country in the heart of Eastern Europe with beautiful rolling mountains, the Blue Danube, and many ancient castles, some of which were used by Hungarian royalty, certainly show the effects of World War II. There are lovely churches, beautiful in architecture, showing the influence of the Turkish occupation, and many of the buildings in modern design.

Among the lovely pictures shown were those of the Gypsy dancers, the fine Gypsy orchestras, most colorful, and several monuments, one of King Stefton (Stephen), who brought Christianity into the country. Today the people attend church services, but they must be approved by their atheistic masters. It was heartening to see the worshippers carrying their Bibles or prayer books.

Other dances included the wedding dance where the dancers danced with money pinned on their heads; the courtship dance where the ladies sit wearing long the vintage dance; the bride's dance; the candle dance and the shepherd's dance.

The homes are situated close together for security, and have pretty flowers, and thatched roofs which keep out the cold in winter and the heat in summer.

weeks have been traced. Police know he was drinking in a downtown tavern a short time before the crime. Only the last half hour of his life is a mystery.

Police believe the shooting had all the marks of a gangland "ruboff" but police have not disclosed any specific report of Gibson's recent past. Security and special attention was being given to Gibson's narcotics activities.

Persons in the neighborhood of the murder said they heard the shots. Some thought it was a truck backfiring; others thought they were gunshots on a television show.

Police said it was the first apparent gangland slaying since 1945 in Toronto.

OSHAWA NATIVE

Police said Gibson, who was identified by fingerprints in the police file, has a long criminal record starting in 1941 in his native city of Oshawa.

The record includes breaking and entering there; escaping custody in Penetanguishene; and assulting police in Kelowna, B.C. and miscellaneous charges here

Thirty-one year old Donald Gosleigh of Trenton, has been arrested by provincial police and charged with armed robbery in connection with the hold-up of the Royal Bank of Hastings in 1958.

Investigation into the two-year-old bank holdup has been intensified in the Quinte area in the past week with provincial police calling in an officer from the Criminal Investigation Department to assist in the inveigation.

The arrested man has been lodged in the Northumberland county jail at Cobourg.

Gosleigh will be charged in connection with the hold-up of a Trenton bank in 1958 and who two months ago was called to a side road west of Frankford in Sidney township and robbed of several hundred dollars.

of forgery, illegal possession of drugs, possession of a revolver, and skipping bail.

Gibson, along with 12 other men, had been given a ticket of leave in 1945 by the Governor-General to help fill "acute" wartime need for farm and industrial labor.

At that time he was serving 12 months for theft and three months indefinite on a car theft conviction in Oshawa.

of new models which flood the market "immediately."

Mistakes by Canadian manufacturers were held responsible in the last decade for much opportunity in Canada of British and European companies which could have captured one-third of the domestic market.

Agriculture's traditional opposition to higher tariffs was sounded today in a brief by the Saskatchewan government and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Both pointed out that the United Kingdom, whose small size have cornered a good chunk of the Canadian market, is a prime buyer of Canadian farm produce. Higher tariffs might cut those sales.

The agriculture federation sided with the auto makers in advising abolition of the 7½-per-cent sales tax on cars but said a significant change in consumer purchasing seems the compelling factor in the rise of auto imports and the subsequent sag in sales of cars made in this country.

Both briefs supported study of the merits of integration with Canadian and United States industries, already allied by American ownership and by production by producers here.

Saskatchewan asked consideration of the possibility of turning over a standardized part to Canadian vehicle meeting national conditions such as harsh winters.

A third brief on the subject came from the Canadian Automobile Association which represents car users across the country.

It urged removal of the excise tax and said the European manufacturer has "more adequately met and filled the need of the Canadian motorist."

The basics in the motorist's mind were economy, convenience and safety. The present vehicle in Canada car was "excessively expensive in purchase and repair."

The association opposed any increase in tariffs which would raise foreign-car prices.

Real Estate Board Holds First Fall Meet

The first fall dinner meeting of the Belleville Real Estate Board was held at the Prince Edward Suite at Hotel Quinte, Wednesday evening.

The meeting was well attended by both brokers and salesmen, with the association's executive associate members, Mr. Leighton Thompson, City Assessment Commissioner and Mr. Clifford Matthews, Deputy Assessment Commissioner, also being present. The new members were welcomed by the president, Mr. Douglas Stork, who was in the chair. Also introduced and welcomed to the association was Mr. John Dick, the new associate member and salesman with Mr. D. J. Whalen's office.

Mr. F. A. Mackechnie, auditor for the association, gave an interesting financial statement including a report of sales volume sold through the multiple listing Co-Op listing service now effective through the Belleville Real Estate Board. Mr. Mackechnie reported properties worth $1,-324,000 have been sold through the board.

Mr. Story commented on the excellent progress the Belleville Real Estate Board had experienced in the board secretary, and sought the attention of the members that Belleville Board has had all Canada with the listing of properties listed and properties sold per capita each month for the past 5 months. These statistics are reported in the association national slogan-size "The Canadian Realtor".

The speaker for the evening was Mr. Gerald W. Joyce, "Real Realtor, who is interviewed by the president and thanked by Mr. Percival Hall.

Mr. Joyce had recently attended the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards annual convention in Toronto as a delegate of the local board and brought back a report to the local members on Mr. Joyce's remarks on "What it Means to Be A Realtor." A realtor is an accredited member of the local Real Estate Board, and in turn is a member of the Ontario and Canadian Organizations. The term "realtor" is a designation given to only those brokers who have been accepted by these associations and follow their code of standard of ethical practices as set out by the parent association.

Mr. Joyce stressed the importance of a bonded public relations and urged a publicity plan be established within the local Board to acquaint the public as to the significance of the real estate salesman who has qualified for the designation "realtor".

The speaker told those present that the "real estate" board was the facilities of the multiple listing co-op market and urged all members to participate in the co-op system. By so doing they will be rendering a real service to the public, he said.

Large Forecasts Increase In Residential Taxes Unless New Industries Come to Town

TRENTON — "At our present rate of expansion, residential taxes will only increase unless we can attract more industries and commercial enterprises to settle in Trenton," Councillor Vaan Lange, chairman of council's finance committee, told Kiwanians last night.

He warned that if the present 36 per cent assessment for industry and commercial categories, could be raised to at least 50 per cent of the total assessment of the town's business was to be conducted on a paying basis.

"It costs more to do business today than at any other time in history," he said, "and the town's business is no exception to this rule."

Mr. Lange said that in 1945, which was a war year, the town's gross expenditure was $234,000, and that in 1960, the gross expenditure would be $1,434,000. He said the tax dollar came in for a great deal of competition from the modern comforts and luxuries with which the average citizen surrounds himself.

"We spent twice the amount on our yearly capital expenditure in 1945, last year, on education alone," he said.

He added that Trenton's capital debt in 1959 had been $1,700,000 and that the total assessment had been $13,300,000. As the total capital debt should only be 20 per cent of the current assessment, Mr. Lange said that Trenton was the sole taxation point in borrowing.

He said the only answer to the town's problem was capital budgeting for all of the various municipal departments. He said he had advocated a five-year capital budget plan for all departments for a number of years without too much cooperation from the various factions involved.

The councillor paid tribute to the Public Utilities Commission which had budgeted for a 10-year period.

SHOULD BUDGET

He said that the official town plan, which briefly could come into effect, calls for budgeting along these lines for each municipal department and the Board of Education, the public works department, the sanitation and waste department and others should get themselves a five-year budget for their needs and advise council of these needs.

"We must spend close to $1,-250,000 in the next five years for completion of the sewage plant, new roads, not putting our present roads in shape, and sidewalks," he said.

"We must earn and keep on spending without planning."

Mr. Lange said that 45 per cent of all homes in Trenton are assessed at under $2,000, which is not around $10 in taxes. The average of 1.5 children attend school from each home in Trenton, and each child costs the corporation $100 annually to educate. Therefore, in 45 per cent of the homes, the town is out money for the education of the children who come from these homes. Added to this is the cost of fire and police protection, and general town maintenance.

"I feel that Trenton has a bright future," said Mr. Lange. "We have the RCAF at our doorstep, Bateas and the Bata Shoe Company to the north of us, wonderful highways either side of it and a very fine railway system second to none."

He said the federal government was considering the merging of a plan for moving the Trent waterway system a short-cut to Chicago, cutting off 800 miles from the present route.

"It's up to us to decide which way Trenton is going to go and work for that ideal by advertising our town far and wide to attract new industries and other types of commercial enterprise."

Councillor Lange was introduced by Howard Aziz and thanked by "Nick" Fraser.

Seven Wolf Cubs Are Inducted As Boy Scouts

TRENTON — North Trenton Public School was the setting for an impressive "Cub" investiture ceremony last night, when seven Cubs from 6th Trenton Cub Pack were inducted into the Scout Troop by Scoutmaster Jack Dalong. Assistant Scoutmaster Andy Harris and Troop Leader Archie Jaworski.

The seven Cubs, and the patrols designated for their leadership, were as follows: Cubs: Eagle Patrol: Ben Lawson; Buffalo Patrol: Robert Hamer; Bear Patrol: George Hamilton, Wayne Smith; Deer Patrol: Beaver Patrol: Bobby Wilson and Ken Charbonneau.

Colin Clayton will also "go up" to scouts later. He was inducted by a scout patrol by a playmate and was unable to attend the "going up" ceremony.

Norman Davis Named to Head Kiwanis Club

TRENTON — At last night's meeting of the Kiwanis Club, Norman Davis, who served as vice-president of the club during 1959-60, was voted 1960-61 president. Ray Fanham is the retiring president.

Mr. Davis reminded his fellow Kiwanians that "a chain is only as strong as its weakest link" and asked for their full co-operation in the year ahead. He paid tribute to the retiring president, Dick Burnet, and said that he hoped to "follow in the same high standard of the club set by President Burnet."

Mr. Fanham also thanked the club for its co-operation and members had shown in him.

The president read a letter from Lt.-Col. Stanley Genaway, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, Eastern Ontario division, thanking the club for its $575 donation. This had been used to send boys and girls to the Roblin Lake summer camp.

Delay Digging For Sewer Near F. J. Aziz's Home

TRENTON — The public works department was instructed yesterday to commence work at 8 a.m. today digging up a sewer connecting the home of F. J. Aziz on Dufferin Gardens, just outside Trenton's western boundary, to a sewer connected the Hendricks' Apartment with the town's main sewer line in the area.

Mr. Aziz has so far failed to comply with council's order to pay an annual fee of $200 for the use of the town's sewer. Other Devere Gardens residents have paid the fee.

Two weeks ago, Mr. Aziz sent a cheque for $200 to council, but it was not negotiable because written on it were stipulations unacceptable to council of it.

Yesterday, town engineer, Walter Manning notified Mr. Aziz that digging operations would start this morning. Mr. Aziz is reported to have phoned Mayor James MacDonald, advising that that he had received a letter from town solicitor Roderic Campbell, dated Oct. 26, notifying him that the sewer would be cut off if a cheque for $200 was not received within the next seven days of the receipt of the letter. Mr. Aziz claims that he has until Oct. 31 to take some action.

Accordingly, last night, Mr. Murray ordered his men not to interfere with the digging operations this morning.

A small, mechanical shovel had been rented for the purpose of digging up the connecting line.

The exact whereabouts of the connecting sewer is not clear as the engineer is concerned. Workmen were expected to be obliged to guess at its location. Mr. Aziz is not providing information on the line.

A town official said that Mr. Aziz may obtain help by "slipping" an injuction on council requiring that it show just cause for the action if council insists on proceeding with digging operations and that the sewer plugging the sewer connections once its location is established.

Arson Charge Laid Against Madoc Man

Jack Ellis, young Madoc man employed with the Ontario Hydro at Kingston, has been arrested and charged with arson in connection with four fires, which have occurred in recent weeks at Madoc.

The arrest of the Madoc man was made by Madoc Police Chief John McCann and Ontario Provincial Police following an extensive investigation.

Two of the fires claimed by police to have been started by Mr. Ellis were at the rear of the Bastin block, and at the rear of Kowalchuk's Jewellery Store, and the fourth at the Madoc Creamery.

Set Subsidiaries Free

Formation of a national productivity council is planned as the result of the round-table conference on unemployment, held by government, industry and labor leaders at Ottawa this week.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said that all delegates, despite their opposing views on many other proposals, agreed that such a council, to search out ways of producing better, cheaper goods, was desirable.

Nobody can quarrel with this decision; and yet it is going to be easier to suggest building a better mousetrap than to do so.

For our money, a clue to a much more effective step in stimulating Canada's export trade was given by an Ontario brief this week to another hearing, the one-man royal commission on the automobile industry.

This brief asserted that not only in the automobile industry but also in other secondary industries U.S. head offices sometimes forbid Canadian subsidiaries to compete in world markets.

This is not a new charge. It has even been alleged that there have been instances where Canadian foreign trade commissioners have referred inquiries for Canadian products to certain firms and had these firms turn over the information to head offices in the U.S., with the parent companies filling the orders obtained through the work of a trade representative paid with the Canadian taxpayers' money.

It should not be beyond the ability of Canadian politicians to devise some law which would prevent U.S. firms curtailing the economic opportunities of Canadian subsidiaries. Too large a proportion of Canadian industry is U.S.-owned for us to be able to afford to permit this state of affairs to continue. Right now, Canada is in effect forced to fight for foreign markets with one hand—and her right hand at that—tied behind her back.

Out of the Past

A report from Los Angeles the other day said that the district attorney's office is investigating the death 28 years ago of Paul Bern, a Hollywood writer and producer. This story must have been received with unmixed feelings by most newspaper readers although the name Bern did not strike a familiar chord in more than a meagre fraction of them. What brought him into focus for the older readers was the explanation that he was the husband of Jean Harlow.

At the time Bern's death was considered a suicide. Now Ben Hecht, noted film writer, says, the suicide note was forged and that film studio officials decided that the true circumstances, which would reveal that Jean Harlow could not hold her husband, must be concealed.

The younger generation, we suppose, would be puzzled why, in Hollywood, any actress needed to be protected from the revelation that her husband had roving eyes. The older generation can understand it quite clearly. To reveal that Jean Harlow had been spurned by a man, any man, would be something like the suggestion that Elizabeth Taylor, Brigit Bardot, Marilyn Munroe and Debbie Reynolds had had to go to a dance stag in a college town on New Year's Eve.

Harlow was the first of the platinum blondes, not as voluptuously sculptured as some of the later models like Sabrina and Mayne Mansfield, but nonetheless an eyeful. She made her screen debut in a First Great War flying picture—"Hell's Angels" if our memory is true—in a minor part which exposed her to public view, (and she was well exposed), for only a few brief but torrid scenes. Harlow didn't name the big box office, as do Greta Garbo or Marlene Dietrich. Whether she would have retired like Garbo, or continued to hold the spotlight like Dietrich, is a question which will never be answered—she died of natural causes at 26.

From Spain comes the word that the Barcelona Chamber of Commerce has declared war on the traditional siesta. Its director announced: "If our fellow citizens do not agree to shake off the mid-day laziness, we shall parade the streets and beat drums to interrupt their slumbers!" Soon we expect an item saying the campaign failed because too many chamber members were busy enjoying their siestas. (Hamilton Spectator).

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY
DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS
SONS OF THE KING

Rabbi Sholomo of Karlin once wrote: "What is the worst thing the Evil Urge can achieve? To make a man forget that he is the son of a king."

All the things which afflict man — poverty, disease, injustice, and the rest — are insignificant in comparison with this one great claim: that we are all the sons of a king — all sons of the great King who rules the universe and all that is therein.

Many of us, alas, do not live like the princes we are born to be. Although our Father's kingdom is one of love and truth and power, we go about with hatred and lies and weakness. His kingdom is one of light; we insist on walking in darkness.

But it need not be so. We are God's children; He has said so. We are the sons and daughters of the King only by behaving in such an unproper fashion that our kinship to Him is lost.

It is never too late to remember that we are sons of the King and to live accordingly. In our Father's kingdom there is a place for hatred, dishonesty, lust or any other evil, for Hell is kingdom of goodness. We begin to live like princes when we begin to live within the laws of His kingdom.

"The king of love my shepherd is whose goodness faileth never."

Miracles of the Universe
The Milky Way

BY HON. ROBERT W. MACAULAY
Ontario Minister of Energy Resources

This is one of a series of articles by Mr. Macaulay dealing with sources of energy and their exploitation, in the past, the present and the future.

ARTICLE 11

We live on the earth. The earth has a moon which circles around it completely once every 27⅓ days. The earth and the moon both circle around the Sun once every 365 days. The Sun is not the only star which circles the Sun. There are other planets which do the same. There are also over 1500 asteroids (big and little hunks of rock) circling around the Sun. Also, there are comets and meteors that circle the Sun. Everything that is circling the Sun is part of the Solar System. The Sun is the centre of the Solar System, like the hub cap of a wheel.

The Sun is a star. There are billions and billions and billions of other stars in the universe. Billions of these stars may well be the centres of billions of other Solar Systems.

Stars tend to collect in bunches, bunches containing about 100 billion stars like our Sun. Some of the stars are bigger than the sun. Some are smaller and fainter. These star bunches are called galaxies. Each such immense bunch of stars in the universe is a galaxy.

No one knows how many galaxies there are in the universe; the estimates vary from one billion galaxies to ten times that many.

Our Solar System (including our Sun and our Earth) are a tiny part of a galaxy called the Milky Way galaxy.

Our Milky Way galaxy may appear like this if we could look down upon it from above. (Possibly like a pin-point fire-cracker we used to put off on Queen Victoria's Birthday.)

In each diagram I have placed an "X" where our Sun is located. The galaxy is made up largely of stars — in fact, it is estimated that the Milky Way galaxy contains 100 billion stars (100,000,000,000).

From the side the Milky Way galaxy resembles two soup plates put face to face. (It looks a little like a closed optical shell from the side also.)

The galaxy is 90,000 to 100,000 light years wide, and 15,000 to 30,000 light years thick. The centre is denser than the outer edges, so it depends upon what you are measuring.

(A light-year is 6,000,000,000,000 miles (6 trillion miles). So, the Milky Way galaxy is about 600,000,000,000,000,000 miles wide and 120,000,000,000,000,000 miles thick).

THE EXPANDING UNIVERSE

As we stand in Ontario and look up at the Milky Way at night we are looking in the direction of one of the arrows in both diagrams. We are looking into a dense part of the galaxy. If you look either side of the Milky Way in the sky, you are in fact looking out of the galaxy through the thinner dimension so, you do not see as many stars.

The Milky Way galaxy contains in addition to 100 billion stars, vast clouds of hydrogen gas and dust which obscure our view and show up as dark patches. The gas and dust in the whole is contained in the arms of the galaxy. It is thought that stars are formed out of gas and dust and the young stars are along the edges and are carried away from other parts of the galaxy. In the centre is a mingling of the old stars and dead stars which have exploded or run out of energy.

It is estimated that over one-half of the stars are not in fact single stars but are what are called binary or multiple stars. That is to-say they are in pairs or triples or quadruples that circle around each other. Some of the stars in the galaxy are smaller and fainter than the Sun but much hotter. These are called "white dwarfs" (they are red-hot stars which are about to die). Some stars are much larger than the Sun and are a red color. The Sun is yellow color and is middle-aged. Some stars pulsate, that is to say they increase in size and brightness and then shrink in size and brightness with much regularity. Some stars group in clusters within the galaxy, while some "go it alone".

SPIN ANTI-CLOCKWISE

The galaxy is spinning anti-clockwise like a wheel. Our Sun and its complex circle around the centre of the galaxy once every 200,000,000 years — that is the circle inside of the galaxy at about 42,000 mph (local speed) factual speed in the galaxy of the Sun is about 670,000 miles per hour.

Our galaxy hangs around in a group of 16 to 17 other galaxies called "The Local Group".

THE MILKY WAY

The Milky Way galaxy is by weight about 94 per cent stars and six per cent gas. It is probably a fairly old galaxy but not as old as some. The galaxy that is thought to be the farthest away is said to be distant 36,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 (36 sextillion). It seems to be travelling away at about 31,000,000 miles an

The greatest asset of the British Empire is the honor that men recognize in her," the Rev. J. G. Watts, M.A., mathematics professor at Queen's University, declared here on Sunday.

Speaking before capacity congregations at the anniversary services of Tabernacle United Church, the speaker pointed out that "life is something beyond material things. Buckingham Palace is not the centre of the Empire; it is a symbol of its presence. St. Paul's Cathedral may be wrecked, yet it is not the church; Parliament is not the Houses of Parliament; Parliament is housed in men, not buildings," he said.

"Children should not be robbed of their heritage," Professor Watt declared. "The measure of man is not of material value but a measure eternal that goes on into the future. Rome rose and fell but Christ lived on. Eternal values are governing great incidents in life that are coming to men and women," he said. He urged young people to make their minds that life is better further on.

OCTOBER 28, 1910

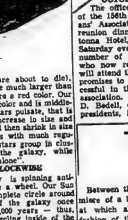
Last evening the members of the Ontario Athletic Club held their annual meeting and banquet at James Wallace's restaurant, and the affair was most enjoyable. Mr. W. Thompson presided, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. Fitzsimmons; vice-president, G. Wardrope; secretary, A. McGie; treasurer, A. Moore. He chair will be given in the Junior Hockey Association.

Mr. R. E. Davis and Mr. W. Card of the Farmers' Bank of Trenton, have been transferred to the branch of the Bank of Toronto in this city.

Messrs. Tom Ketcheson and A. Ostrom of this city, and G. G. Publow of Trenton, will leave tomorrow for Welemkoon Lake for a deer hunt.

THE PACKSACK

BY GREGORY CLARK



Between the acts at the oremires of a big theatrical event in which all the wealth and fashion of the city turned out, I met another grizzled old-timer in comfortable pre-war ill-fitting light old Tuxedo and wing-collar as I was in close-cropped one thing missing", he said, as we huddled off into a corner of the great lobby. "The smell of moth balls."

That was it. I had been groping around in my mind to discover in what important particular this opening night differed from those of the past.

"Remember," said "when Paderewski used to come to town? And how it was a social event packed with all the swells for miles around? And the rest of the public fell for the publicity and psychological appeal (as they'd Freudians think) of the whole thing?

"Now, sure, we've kept in moth balls; scratch feather boas, silk hats dwelt in cardboard boxes and leather hat boxes pickled in moth balls.

Wealth and fashion have a different smell nowadays.

To Your Good Health

NUMBNESS AND TINGLING OF FINGERS CAN ORIGINATE ELSEWHERE

"Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done to relieve numbness and 'pins and needles' in the fingers?—M.M."

The first thing we must keep in mind is that the tingling or numbness which originates in a couple of feet distant from the fingers themselves.

Many a patient is puzzled when the doctor appears to give relatively little attention to the fingers but rather to the neck and shoulders.

There can, of course, be different reasons for numbness but pressure on nerves and circulation disorders, are two frequent culprits.

The nerves leading to hands and fingers, remember, originate in the spinal cord in the region of the neck. In certain cases there can be an arthritic condition, a thickening of the edges of vertebrae. This, obviously, can narrow the space through which the nerves emerge, and put pressure on them.

Influences Mold Our Natures -- Syd

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the favorite subjects of debate among sophomores—and among those who remain sophomores for a lifetime — is the question of heredity vs. environment.

It is a false debate, because each position is meaningless. Both factors can be observed without an environment, and every environment is occupied by living organisms that live within it.

Does the boy, for instance, become a delinquent because of his genes, his individual makeup, his biological and constitutional make-up? Or because of his environment, his broken home, his drunken father, his hostile mother, his poor neighborhood, his dummy school?

It has always seemed obvious to me that trying to separate these two elements is as impossible as unspreading butter. His genetic life is a subtle and complex interweaving of heredity and environment. Even if we do not like it, there is only a "plus."

It is deceived by read, therefore, that a recent convention of the American Chemical Society seems to confirm this view. The discovery of "chemical feedback" in biological processes offers evidence that environments can change organisms as environments change environments.

There is no need — or space — to go into the technical details of this most important breakthrough in molecular biology. Shortly and simply, the human cells help man adapt to the environment, and live in the lower forms of life.

Which means, for instance, that a person may be born with a potential to be a genius, but will not become one unless this potential is developed by the environment. Even a genius cannot be born never emerge.

That, the age - old argument of whether we are masters of our fate, or whether we merely play on words rather than meaningful ideas, both sides are equally right and equally wrong. Heredity fixed the qualitorium from bald-headed row to peanut heaven so that you could hardly breathe!"

Yes, sure, were kept in moth balls; scratch feather boas, silk hats dwelt in cardboard boxes and leather hat boxes pickled in moth balls.

Wealth and fashion have a different smell nowadays.

insisting that we are born with different capacities, and the environment can provide us with the right to insisting that the environment encourages or thwarts those capacities.

Society is more and more arriving at a "systems" approach to human life. Man is not primarily a biological animal (as the Marxists think), or a social animal (as the sociologists think), or a psychological animal (as the Marxists think), or a psychological animal (as the Freudians think). He is all of these — and more.

When we isolate one strand and make that the "determining factor," we end up with vicious fallacies. Complexity, plurality, interaction — a vibrating matrix — is the reality, not a state.

New Concept In Nursing

Financial Post

The new Nightingale School of Nursing which opened in Toronto makes nursing history in its way.

It aims to turn out fully trained nurses in two years, instead of three as needed in most teaching hospitals. This will be done through a commendable new concept in nursing education.

Here's how it works: The school will have full control of the students all the time, within the classroom and in her clinical experience, for two years, avoiding the time-consuming "housekeeping" chores that most students in our public hospitals must do.

Also, all emphasis on training the new school, which has been sponsored by the Ontario government through the Hospital Services Commission, should be able to reduce the length of course study.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ONE MAN

One man may become very great — if he decides that way — and if that man wishes we sometimes call influence. And influence is one of the greatest forces in the world. We wouldn't go far without it. We are led unconsciously.

We are influenced by the color of the sky, by the warmth of the sun, by the fragrance of the flowers, by the feel of the air.

But when a man steps out of somewhere and says, words and leads his personality into people and times that he brings order out of chaos and happiness where desolation was, then one is compelled to admit that great one lives.

A friend, writing to me from the heart of an ancient empire, sends this to say: "What a World, she is!"

And she is! She may prove exceedingly able. He has to decide that for himself, because that is living upon some plane of vision, he may crystallize in his mind what he sees and it is almost centuries. He may pull his finger upon the pulse of a thousand people as well. He may say: "I am going to help. I am going to be of use in the world."

And then it doesn't matter in detail as to what he puts his talents and energies, after such a decision.

You are one man. Or, maybe you are one woman. Sex is neutral when affairs loom. Men and women are one when ideas begin to make.

Lance Nethery Crown Attorney Of P.E. County

PICTON — Crown Attorney for Prince Edward County since 1932, except for a period during the last war when he was engaged in military services, Gordon T. Walmsley, QC, recently tendered his resignation. It was learned on Thursday that Lance Nethery, also another Picton lawyer, has been appointed Crown Attorney in succession to Mr. Walmsley who will become Judge of the County Court of Prince Edward. The changes are effective Nov. 1.

During the war, Major Walmsley served as assistant Judge Advocate General of MD 3 at Kingston. He has practised law in Picton since 1923 and is now associated with his son, Robert Walmsley here.

Mr. Nethery is also a native of Prince Edward County and is a former Mayor of Picton. He is a veteran of the last war and a past president of Branch 78, Canadian Legion.

AIRWAY A NUISANCE

MONTREAL (CP) — A summons returnable Nov. 2 has been issued against World-Wide Airways charging it is creating a public nuisance in suburban Dorval, John Schlesinger, lawyer for the charter airline, said Thursday night. Dorval homeowners complain that the airline's unpaved taxi strip causes severe dust problems when motor cars in their propellers, and also complain about noise caused by late-night flights.

80-Year-Old Hooks First Lunge On Final Day of Fishing Season

It may not have been the biggest lunge caught during the summer fishing season, but the chances are it was the biggest caught by the oldest man.

Mr. Fred Ellerton, 80-year-old Belleville resident living at 24 Harvey Street, caught the above 14-inch sucker at Lake north west of Madoc on the final day of the trout fishing season. The fish measured 38½ inches.

JUNIOR GAME

Quinte Secondary School's senior football club won its fifth straight game here yesterday defeating BCI 18-15 in a close battle. In the junior tussle Quinte were down to a 6-0 defeat.

The first quarter was a scoreless affair with both quarterback failing to make any headway. After 14 minutes of play Gardner Bruce raced 51 yards downfield but was brought down before he hit paydirt.

Early in the second quarter Terry Soules of BCI pulled down a 40-yard pass but again the effort failed. Symons of Quinte came up with a 35-yard gallop but the effort stopped there.

After half time the tables reversed against Quinte, and BCI backfielders grabbed up 99 yards in a number of ground plays. Adams of BCI then received a pass and ran 25 yards for the game's lone major."

The rest of the game was a credit to the defensive teams of both schools as harshly any scoreable advances were made by either offense. Quinte struggled desperately up and down the field trying to get that one TD and convert, but BCI held back Quinte's attack and it ended 6-0.

SENIOR GAME

From the kickoff both teams went charging into each other low, in this fight for first place. The Belleville octogenarian was fishing alone from a boat when he hooked onto the muskie. He stayed the big fish two hours before he was given assistance to get the lunge by Mr. and Mrs. C. Mitchell who noticed the fisherman was having a bit of trouble.

Mr. Ellerton has been a fisherman all his life, but "it's the first lunge I ever caught," he said.

Minister Northern Affairs, W. Dinsdale, Holds Key Post In PC's Vision of Development

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Walter Dinsdale, 44, new minister of northern affairs and natural resources, has the key post in the Progressive Conservative government's vision of national development.

His boyish appearance was among four new faces injected by Prime Minister Diefenbaker into the federal cabinet.

Hotshot fighter pilot, devout Salvation Army supporter and holder of a master's degree in social work, he got there nine years after winning the Manitoba riding of Brandon-Souris from the Liberals in a byelection.

His new responsibilities for Canada's undeveloped north and for resources planning aren't out of line with his background.

WAR OPPORTUNITY CRUSH

"I think Westerners tend to be more conscious of the north's potential," he said in an interview, recalling that he had served as Opposition spokesman on northern affairs.

His social-work experience will come in handy in continuing the policy of vastly-expanded education and health facilities for northern residents—including 10,000 Eskimos—begun a decade ago.

His predominantly rural riding contains the Manitoba oil field centred around Virden, which gives him some basis for insight into the role petroleum exploration under way in the Yukon, western Arctic islands, Northwest Territories and on the Arctic islands.

"Philosophically I see eye to eye with Alvin Hamilton," says Dinsdale, referring to the man regarded as author of the script for "vision."

PLANS NORTHERN TOUR

It was Mr. Hamilton, whose Saskatchewan riding is next door to Mr. Dinsdale's, who sought to assure Canadian participation in northern oil development, plumped for broad surveys of Canadian mineral potential and issued warnings that Canada has 40 years to regain control of her resources or face empty holes in the ground when they are exhausted.

Two of the early steps Mr. Dinsdale plans to take is a tour of the north. He spent two weeks in northern Manitoba several years ago and RCAF sanitary work took him as far north as Whitehorse in the Yukon.

The young man from Brandon is regarded as a gentleman inside and outside the Commons, prone to the reasoned, non-controversial approach in debate. Slender with lightly-touched hair and a quick smile, he is well-liked. He neither smokes nor drinks—"one of those teetotallers," as he puts it.

By coincidence or otherwise, the three previous incumbents of the department, formed in 1953, have all gone on to bigger things. Jean Lesage became Quebec premier; the new defence minister, Douglas Harkness, had a brief stay there and moved to agriculture, where he has been succeeded by Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. Dinsdale's political bent is inherited. His English - born father, George Dinsdale, settled in Brandon and became alderman, mayor and the city's member of the Manitoba legislature from 1923 until his death in 1945.

The young Dinsdale grew up in Brandon where, he recalls, he learned to play the cornet in the Salvation Army Band. He is still a bandmaster and derives much enjoyment from his collection of band music. He was educated in Brandon, earned a bachelor of arts degree from McMaster University in Hamilton and took postgraduate work at the university of Illinois at Chicago.

He worked for the CPR Express from 1933 to 1939, rang up social service experience with the Salvation Army in Toronto and Montreal until 1941 and then joined the RCAF where he served until 1945, rising with 400 Mosquito night fighter squadron.

Mr. Dinsdale scored 4½ kills—he has to stop and think out the total—and won the Distinguished Flying Cross as the first Allied fighter pilot to knock down a German pigeon-back plane, the type

Mr. Dinsdale won quick recognition when the Conservative government was set up—after the first general election victory. He was named parliamentary assistant to

GIFT SHOWER

On Saturday last a miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Alberta Fox, by Mrs. Tom Roberts, R.R. 1, Foxboro, in honor of her approaching marriage.

About 35 relatives and friends were present.

Mrs. Clifford La Rue poured tea, assisted by Mrs. Clarence La Rue, Miss Bernice Coulson and Miss Mary Jane La Rue.

'Law on Home Management' Topic at So-Ed

Ninety young adults met at the YMCA on Wednesday evening for the third meeting of the Belleville So-Ed club's fall session.

During the first hour four classes were in progress. The dancing class under the direction of Harry Morrison continued its lessons with the fox trot and some advanced students tried steps of the cha cha.

John Berkhuizen's sketching class tried their hand at several types of drawing.

The artistic members of the table tennis class were improving their game under the direction of Peter Falvicki.

In the miscellaneous interests group, films entitled "Are People Sheep?" and "Pestilentiary," were shown by Margaret Snell, vice-president in charge of programs.

The ski instruction class will resume on November 9, 16 and 23rd under instruction from Doug Ketcheson.

The entire group filled the auditorium for the second hour to listen to Mr. Ronald Cass, Q.C., who spoke on "Home Management Law." Mr. Cass was introduced by the president, Gordon Christie. Jeanette Twiddy voiced the appreciation of the club to her lecturer.

During his talk, Mr. Cass urged the members to give consideration to making their wills. He warned against signing one's name without understanding the contents. In all he discussed problems which they would be most likely to encounter and gave them an opportunity to ask questions.

Refreshment time provided a period for conversation and of course generous helping of lunch provided over by Jess and Ron Scott, the vice-president of the evening was a social party time, aptly called "Autumn Leaves," under the chairmanship of Dorothy Benedict.

Graham Burris kept the records turning and everyone moving at a brisk pace.

Fred Page, as master of ceremonies, called off for a few square dances.

Doris MacDonald, vice-president of organization and administration, and her registration committee were quite busy with the large number of new members this session. A great deal of credit goes to her publicity committee under the chairmanship of Rose Marie Haight. Her file folders, posters and other advertising placed throughout the city and district.

The club continues to welcome young adults to the remaining nights of the session and newcomers to Belleville are especially welcome.

Christ Church W.A. E.B. Holds Fine Bazaar

The Evening Branch of the W.A. of Christ Church enjoyed a large crowd to their annual tea and bazaar, held Wednesday, October 28th in the parish hall.

Baskets of bronze and yellow mums, colorful autumn leaves, with sweet music in the background, made a lovely setting, for the event.

Mrs. J. B. Creegan, wife of the rector, Mrs. H. A. C. Macstab, wife of the curate, and Mrs. Arthur Bongard, president of the group, welcomed the guests.

The tea table with its white cloth, lovely centrepiece of bronze and yellow 'mums and ivy, tall brown and yellow tapers and gleaming tea service at each end, was most attractive.

The small tables copied the tea table with their white cloths, brown and yellow 'mums and tapers. Sandwiches and sweetmeats in autumn colors.

Throughout the afternoon were: Mrs. R. Godden, Mrs. S. Boggs, Mrs. C. Roper and S. Bull.

Those pouring tea pots and plates were: Mrs. R. Lang, V. Hall, Creegan, C. Hubbs, E. Niles, G. Cherry, A. Summers, J. Miles and Misses Mary Moon and Margaret Novenski.

The bazaar booths lined the walls of the parish hall and were most attractive.

In charge of the sewing table were: Mesdames H. Rose, Clarke, Reid, A. Erwin, W. Brown and J. Howe. Also a lovely display included: aprons, children's clothes, dolls, doll clothes and furniture, stuffed toys, knitted and crotted articles and mitts for older children, crib quilts, pillow cases and tea cosies.

The white elephant table, was capably handled by Mrs. R. Day and Mrs. W. Hall. Fancy goods country store by Mrs. F. O'Connor and Mrs. G. Mason.

Candies and a display of Indian handcraft made by the Indians, at Constance Lake reserve was in charge of Mrs. K. Bongard. The always popular home cooking was conveyed by Mesdames S. Boggs, Lake, Easter, H. Eaton and A. Burley.

Afternoon tea was enjoyed at the fish pond where Mrs. H. Stevens and Mrs. Adams presided over the "big ones."

Foxboro W.A. had a most attractive fish pond table consisting of sewing, knitting, home cooking and aprons.

General convener of this pleasant and successful event was Mrs. Bongard.

The treasurers were Mesdames J. Cowper, C. Cooke and C. Goodfellow.

Wedding

PENNEY—BURRITT

A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 24 at 2 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, when the Reverend Russel Gale united in marriage Sadie Elizabeth Russet, of Harold, R.R. No. 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russett, to Daniel Henry Penney, of Oshawa, son of Mr. Edward Penney and the late Mrs. Penney. White 'mums and Shasta daisies arranged in the church set the mood down the guest pews.

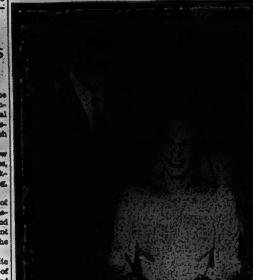
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length bridal gown of white net over taffeta, fashioned with smoothly molded bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline, and long fully-point sleeves accented by a row of tiny buttons at the wrists. She wore a shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, deeply embroidered and designed to be worn draped to form a headdress trimmed with simulated pearls and sequins. Her bouquet was of mauve orchids mingled with white Shasta daisies, in cascade style.

Mrs. Clifford Beadle of Foxboro, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a street-length gown of beige brocaded taffeta with cummerbund and large bouffant back bow; matching gauntlets and hat.

Mrs. Lloyd Yakeley, of Goodwood, Ont., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Eleana Edwards of Scarboro, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids, were gowned in olive-green brocaded taffeta, made similarly to that of the matron of honor. All wore plastic picture hats, with ribbon trim, and carried bouquets of yellow and bronze 'mums.

Mr. Lloyd Yakeley of Goodwood R.R. 1, attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Mr. Harold R.R. 2, and Mr. Richard Bradimore of Oshawa were ushers.

The reception was held in the church parish hall, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing navy crepe trimmed with matching satin and white accessories. She was given a Talisman rose corsage.



For the wedding trip to Peterborough, North Bay, Sudbury, Whitney, Pembroke, Fort Coulonge, Que., and Ottawa and Montreal, the bride wore a wool plaid suit with brown and white accessories and a corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Guests attended from Peterborough, Argyrior, Renfrew, Bancroft, Bonarlaw, Newtonville, Stirling, Belleville, Oshawa, Goodwood and Uxbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Penney will reside at 55 Arlington Avenue, Oshawa.

SWEET STUFF

Damson plums that are used for jam and plum butter are named after the ancient city of Damascus.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilson are shown signing the register in Picton United church, following their marriage. The bride is the former Miss Margaret Joan Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Warren of Picton. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. Wilson of Mrs. Jas. Corbett and the late Dr. J. C. Wilson. (Photo by Hodgson Studio, Picton.)

Arthritic Soc. Names Slate Of Officers

The president of the Arthritis Society, Ross David, reported that the Quinte Branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society had an active and successful year serving the patients of Belleville and district.

The mobile unit was in full operation by the physiotherapist, Miss Beaulé Rose, during the month of August, when Miss Rose resigned to return to Montreal. The branch was extremely sorry to lose the services of so capable and kind a therapist. However, the services of Miss Rose K. Draycott as physiotherapists has been arranged. Miss Draycott is also supervisor of physiotherapy for Eastern Ontario.

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. D. Griffiths reported that during her year of service here, Miss Rose travelled over 7,600 miles and had given a total of 1,200 treatments—504 in the city and 440 in the district.

Mr. Griffiths also reported that the local branch had received last year 75 per cent of the requested amount from the United Appeal. The cost of operating the branch in Belleville and the outlying districts is nearly $7,500 a year. Even the most successful United Appeal in Belleville cannot do more than defray less than half the cost.

Assistance must be obtained from other sources outside the United Appeal such as Picton, Trenton and Stirling which are served by the unit. It is hoped that the nation-wide campaign for such areas to be held from 15 will bring in the financial help. Mr. Gerald Russell, of Harold R.R. 2, and Mr. Richard Bradimore of Oshawa were ushers.

The reception was held in the church parish hall, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing navy crepe trimmed with matching satin and white accessories. She was given a Talisman rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to Peterborough, North Bay, Sudbury, Whitney, Pembroke, Fort Coulonge, Que., and Ottawa and Montreal, the bride wore a wool plaid suit with brown and white accessories and a corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Guests attended from Peterborough, Argyrior, Renfrew, Bancroft, Bonarlaw, Newtonville, Stirling, Belleville, Oshawa, Goodwood and Uxbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Penney will reside at 55 Arlington Avenue, Oshawa.

WHEELER — NASH

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was the setting for the pretty, lovely wedding when Mary Josephine Nash, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nash became the bride of Mr. Joseph "Gabe" Wheeler of St. Andrew's West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wheeler. The Reverend Monsignor J. Sullivan officiated before a background of yellow and white gladioli in tall standards, interspersed with bronze chrysanthemums. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

The Reverend Sister Mary Joan of Ave presided at the console of the organ when she rendered the soloist, Mr. Adrian Vought in his rendition of "Ecstacy," "Ave Maria" and "Wedding". "Ave Maria", "Panis Angelicus" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" also featured.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Nash, the bride was radiant in her full-length bridal gown of white French lace, featuring a molded bodice to the hipline. With Sabrina neckline, and long lily-pointed sleeves over the wrists. The bouffant skirt folded into deep inverted pleats in the back. Her finger-tip veil of white tulle illusion was held by a princess lace crown studded with rhinestones and sequins complimenting those on the bodice of her dress. She carried a cascade of red roses.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Marie Nash, of Belleville, gowned in a bronze waltz-length dress of crystalette over taffeta with matching mitts and bronze and yellow floral headdress. She carried a cascade of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. John Wheeler of St. Andrew's West, was groomsman for the bridegroom, while Messrs. Peter Nash and Gordon Nash, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, and John McDonald, of St. Andrew's West, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at the Belleville Sirhce Club, where the bride's table, with white damask, was centred by an all-white three-tier wedding cake topped with red Sweetheart roses misted about the base with white tulle illusion and flanked by silver candelabra with tall red candles and the bridal bouquets.

The bride's mother, wearing a misty-rose satin brocaded dress with matching accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing a silk ensemble in beige of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nash became the bride of Joseph Dennis Wheeler, of St. Andrew's West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wheeler, of St. Andrew's West, at a ceremony performed in St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday afternoon, October 24th, at 2 o'clock.

Husbands Feted By Christ Church C.C. Wives

On Monday evening, members of the Conlect Club of Christ Church were pleased to be hostesses to their husbands and also to Archdeacon and Mrs. J. B. Creegan, and the Rev. R. MacLeish.

The event was in the form of a pot-luck supper and the girls of Betty Yates group spared no effort in making the hall look attractive with its Hallowe'en motif. Orange and black were the predominating colors, appropriate for this season, and ghosts, pumpkins and lovely orange marigolds made the festive atmosphere complete.

The serving table was soon laden down with a delectable variety of oven dishes, cold cuts and desserts which testified that the "cook" was a pretty good kind of "luck" after all.

Archdeacon J. B. Creegan proceeded to the blessing and everyone setting down to enjoy a delightful meal, and pleasant companionship.

WELCOME EXTENDED

President Doris Stewart welcomed the members and guests.

Following the supper, everyone enjoyed singing Hallowe'en songs, under the guidance of Betty Yates.

Prize winners were: Laura Baird, Mrs. Teed, Doris Stewart and L. Jones.

Stan Wiggins expressed thanks of the husbands to the wives for the enjoyable time the evening had provided and the event was equally planned for the husbands.

The Conlect Club will hold a Corporate Communion on Oct. 31st, Reformation Sunday at 8 in the parish hall and all members are requested to attend.

Cannifton W.A. Holds Most Successful Tea

A pretty and successful bazaar was held by Cannifton church W.A. in the Sunday School rooms. The president, Mrs. A. Doyle, welcomed the guests and thanked them for their attendance.

Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. D. Brenton welcomed the visitors at the door. Mrs. F. Windsor and Mrs. A. Holgate acted as cashiers for the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. H. Empson.

The color theme throughout was brown and gold.

The flower and vegetable booth was prettily decorated and displayed plants, eggs, vegetables and pickles for sale. Mrs. H. Pound, Mrs. R. MacMurray in charge of this pretty booth with Mrs. C. Cole assisting.

The apron booth was radiant in yellow. Much like a sun burst, with pretty aprons in all sizes and colors. Mrs. G. Lywood, Mrs. D. Brenton, Mrs. Pound and Mrs. F. Moore were in charge of this attractive offering.

ALL-OCCASION CARDS

Mrs. Roy Pound also had her get-well and all-occasion cards for sale. Mrs. Pound received the proceeds of these sales on behalf of the W.A.

The Janice Pound embroidered with the cats, etc.

The home-baking table with its snowy tablecloth, centred with bronze and gold looked a most attractive and tempting affair. Here offered for sale were home made cakes, small cakes, also pumpkin pies, homemade loaves, tarts of all sorts and other goodies. Mrs. Ross Empson made and donated the pretty cans for this table. Mrs. J. Sotting, Mrs. H. Brenton and Mrs. F. Howard were in charge.

The fancy work booth was a evidence of the many beautiful and useful articles made by busy hands so make; lovely embroidered pillow cases in pretty rose and white crocheted lily "trimming and many other designs. A coffee table in this piece was prettily done in white and gold.

Quilted mitts and other woollen articles for children were also on display. As well as quilted squares and many other articles too numerous to mention. Mrs. C. Steele, and Mrs. W. Brenton were in charge of this booth.

The lunch-and-tea table was colorful with the little parcels wrapped in autumn and Christmas papers at $1.00 each. Mrs. Cole, were offered the homemade candies in attractive little colored cups and plastic glasses boxes and other containers. Mrs. F. Putman and Mrs. G. Empson were in charge of the gifts and Miss Marie Howard sold the candy.

The fish pond, as ever, was a mecca for the children.

Mrs. Pope and Mrs. F. Furnidge were in charge and did a thriving business to the noise of bells and mouth-organs.

SOON

The entrance to the lovely tea room was through an arch of bronze and gold leaves and centred over the door with a banner, reading "1852 - 1960, the 108th anniversary of the church." On each side of the door were stalks of corn tied with red berries or bitter sweet and a large yellow pumpkin at the bottom.

Mrs. C. Bird invited the guests to the tea room.

The entire table was covered with a rich cream lace tablecloth with a green background showing through. Centred was a colorful A large silver bowl filled with various colored blooms and tall pink and white lights in the silver candelabra and silver candlesticks, and made an attractive setting.

The small guest tables were covered with snowy-white linen cloths and centred with beautiful animal pilgrims filled with various colored blooms. Large silver Dakota fifled with the same flowers were placed around the tables and added greatly to the appearance.

The tea rooms were: Mrs. R. Putman, Miss Gladys Hagerman, Miss Beth Boyd, Mrs. D. Brenton, Mrs. Gordon MacPherson, Mrs. H. Fithman, Mrs. Bruce Walsh, Mrs. G. Brenton. In the replenishing and Mrs. A. Boyd made a delicious cup of tea.

Those pouring tea were Mrs. W. Crowley, Mrs. O. Rollins, Mrs. D. Brenton and Mrs. G. Bird.

A happy note was to see the CGIT girls helping this year.

Mrs. C. Bird and Mrs. G. Brenton were convenors for the lovely and attractive tea room, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Walsh.

Many thanks to all who helped in any way and a special thank-you to Mrs. D. Collett for the lovely blooms donated; to Mrs. Boyd for the convenor's wife, and other lovely flowers.

The Family Council

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, about the clergyman, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each week they discuss a case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with for responsible exercise and counsel.

Gretchen: We find we were defrauded. Our uncle was trusted.

William I.: Yes, my nieces have been misled by trouble-makers.

Gretchen: A lily sister and I are in our late 30s. One parents are dead, but we considered ourselves fortunate to be part of a warm and loving family of cousins, uncles and cousins. We were particularly close to our grandmother, our father's mother, who died two years ago.

But now there's nothing but quarrelling and bitterness among us and all because of my uncle, our father's brother. When my grandmother died, she left all her property to my sister and me. She knew my brother was wealthy and didn't need it.

Somehow, though, my uncle and his lawyer convinced us my grandmother left enormous debts and that the estate was not quit against her. One of her accounts was for $50,000. They scared us into signing documents by which we agreed to settled for $500 each and a few pieces of antique furniture.

Now we find we were cheated that we were duped. The estate was valued at $100,000 and after the lawsuit was dismissed, and there were debts left over. Now we hear my uncle is selling my grandmothers holdings to a man who is going to open a museum house.

Judge: could a blood relative, especially one who doesn't need more money, do that to us?

William I.: — I feel very sorry for you. I can't begin to explain to my nieces that I acted in good faith because I would have been saddled with obligations which the estate could not possibly meet.

This rift is the result of their trusting me and my trustworthiness. Some old crones, friends of my mother's, have put me to some trouble in our family. I've been in business for a half century, and now they've succeeded.

It's true I sold mother's properties in a hurry. But this big deal turned up recently, long after I had straightened out Mother's affairs with final receipts from my own pocket. There were no outstanding judgements. Hens waiting to be satisfied. And she was one of the landlords the housing inspectors were after for slum violations of another. She had just left Belleville for Toronto.

Even now I'm trying to help her friends find new apartments at the low rents they can afford and I'm paying their moving expenses. The malicious rumors about my "gold mine" are false.

Gretchen and Elsie should know I have been their interested heart. Just let them find nine husbands and I'll set them each up with dowries, the very my brother would with. I know that's what my mother had in mind for them.

The Council: This is not the first family to be rent asunder by the death of a rich. The passings seems quite unnecessary and in view of the carefully nurtured family affection underlying the dispute.

Where are the lawyers in this picture? Why was not a complete partial presentation of facts were called for, it's now. There is no way to determine from the story as told by each side. Surely the lawyers for the girls must have asked to see the executor's final estate account and knew what they were signing. And even if they were too naive to ask, the executor's lawyers never produced chapter and verse to back up their selection of the "heiresses". This would be easy to suspect, as do the "true-blue" Elsie's that he had this deal up his sleeve right from the start. He's been acting years in behalf of the girls are his clients.

A good use for part of that $500 might be a fee for their lawyer to call a conference of the family "wedding presents" from their uncle.

But leaving legal matters to the lawyers, I suggest that the sister should hasten to repair the damage family and, since money and possessions will never give any of them the lift that comes from love, a family lunch of children gather in behalf of family unity. The "true blue" Uncle William is invited to celebrate New Year's Eve with the clan. The bunch loque uses of Grandma's jewelry, loque tables in Gretchen's home.

GIVE A HALLOWEEN PARTY

Hallowe'en and the traditional ghoulies and ghosties" will be with us next Tuesday night. And so will the youngsters dressed in fantastic costumes, ready to play tricks or treat according to the traditional sentiment.

To give the supernatural spirit which usually predominates on things like this, many parents worry about their children's safety for fear that harm may come in the form of things put out of bounds. My suggestion is to give a party, let them have fun where you can keep a watchful eye on what is going on.

It can be gotten up on the spur of the moment. A little crepe paper and a few jack-o-lantern, black cats and witches and transform one's living room into the perfect background for the kind of things Hallowe'en games. Another suggestion is to have the party in the kitchen, for a host of things are necessary, to say the least. For instance, the "bobbing" of the apples which have been placed in a large pan of water.

If Mother is afraid that a dunking might result in colds, suggest that she put a hand stirrup which, in turn, are tied to the kitchen stirrup that has stretched across the room, will be quite sufficient for the purpose as bobbing for them. Or, if the floor is one of the game I use for the contestants is one in the entire apple without pulling it off the stem. Then eaten and knew what they were signing. And even if they were too naive to ask, the executor's lawyers never produced chapter and verse to back up their selection of the "heiresses". This would be easy to suspect, as do the "true-blue" Elsie's that he had this deal up his sleeve right from the start. He's been acting years in behalf of the girls are his clients.

Readers' Friday Dinner

As conducted by Mary Moore

LETTER — Your column tonight on preparations for a dinner recalled fond memories of a dinner I attended when I was in RCAF Station at Goose Bay, Labrador where we were introduced to, and thoroughly enjoyed, this delicacy. Thought you might be interested to hear how most of us served it that year. Moose meat was plentiful, being caught and so we had the option of removing or leaving the bones in the cuts of meat. After thoroughly cleaning the chair, we cut it in large pieces, such as you might use in a pot roast. Added to these were potatoes and carrots cut in large pieces and seasoned with parsleyed salt and pepper. Truly a feast for the gods. Have also enjoyed the recipe for Scalloped Fruit Cake and intend to make up a batch in a week or so — sounds delicious.—Allie C. T.

ANSWER— Your know-how method of cooking char was new ever so welcome for it comfortable to hear that even a small part of our audience was familiar with this delicacy. Thank you very much.

QUESTION — I wondered if you could help me. The way I enjoy making yeast rolls and would like to make some Hovis but have been unable to find the recipe. Thanking you for your service to us.—Rhoda B.

ANSWER—Alas, Rhoda, you are asking for a commercial formula and it is not available. I can give you though a large pot luck whole wheat flour and whole wheat flour of which are in the Hovis loaf.

FRIDAY

Stuffed Baked Whitefish; Tomato Sauce; Baked Potatoes in Foil; Broccoli; Celery Hearts; Apple Dumpling; Baked in Lemon Syrup; Coffee.

HOVIS-TYPE BUNS

1 package granular yeast; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 1 teaspoon sugar; 1 cup scalded milk; ¼ cup sugar; 1 tablespoon salt; ½ cup shortening; 2 cups whole wheat flour; 1 cup fine slow-cooking rolled oats (not instant); ½ cup fresh wheat germ; 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Add sugar to lukewarm water and sprinkle yeast in, give it a stir and let stand 10 minutes. In large mixing bowl combine scalded milk over sugar, salt and shortening. Add sugar, salt and shortening, stir well and cool. When lukewarm add yeast liquid. Combine the flours, oatmeal and wheat germ and add half of them and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour mixture. Turn out on well-floured surface-sprinkled board and knead until smooth and elastic about 50 knead strokes. Replace in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour.

Punch down dough, turn out on lightly floured board, divide into halves. Form 2 "long rolls 8" in diameter and cut into 12 even pieces, shaping each into a roll and place on greased pans at least 1½" apart. Let rise until again doubled and touching. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 15 to 20 minutes.

Bride-to-Be Feted With Many Gifts

CENTENARY — On Tuesday evening a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Marilyn Gallopher, bride-to-be, was held at the home of Mrs. Ken Kerr with Mrs. C. Dafoe as co-hostess.

After a social hour was spent Mrs. Harper gave a reading entitled "Neighbors" and Mrs. Kerr gave a reading "To a Bride-to-be".

Mrs. Kerr wheeled in the load of gifts, which were opened by Marilyn and many beautiful and useful gifts received. Mrs. Dafoe designed a lovely ribbon bell for the bride-to-be, wore during the lunch hour.

Marilyn thanked her many friends for their kindness and hoped they would visit her in her new home.

Mrs. Kerr, assisted by several neighboring ladies served a delicious lunch.

Mr., Mrs. Joseph Chapman Mark Golden Wedding Anniversary

Wedding bells rang again for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chapman, of 198 Burnham Street, but his time they were golden bells in commemoration of their 50th wedding anniversary when over 200 guests attended.

At Christ Church, Belleville, on October 19, 1910, the Reverend R.B. Hagarty united in marriage Miss Anne Poste, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Poste, and Mr. Joseph Chapman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chapman, of Selkirk, Manitoba. They honeymooned in Toronto.

Mr. Chapman, who was born in Ontesheed, England, came to Belleville in 1909 and became an employee of the Belleville Rolling Mills. In 1918 he and Mrs. Chapman moved to Midland, where he was employed by the Midland Steel Products Works, in Selkirk. In 1923 they returned to Belleville and for 37 years he was employed at Corby's Distillery and in 1960 he went to work for McCool's Brothers Stores, where he is still employed.

Both the attendants at their marriage in 1910, Miss Ethel McConnell, and Mr. Frank Poste, who were married in 1911, were present at the anniversary last week.

FAMILY

They have two daughters, Mrs. Edwin Long, (Madge), of Toronto, and Mrs. Wilfred Pullyen, (Hilda), of York, England; and three grandsons, Robert Long, and Christopher and Derek Pullyen.

For the special occasion, Mrs. Chapman wore a sage green lace gown with black accessories, and corsage of yellow roses, and Mr. Chapman a white carnation boutonniere.

Those who received at the door were Mrs. Manley Tugnett, Mrs. Edwin Long and Mrs. Frank Poste, during the evening; assisted by Mr. Frank Poste, Mr. Harry Poste, and Mr. Ted Poste; brothers of Mrs. Chapman, and Captain Edwin Long, son-in-law.

Mrs. Audrey Muir, of Belleville, supervised the guest book, and Mrs. Russell Poste, the gifts.

The tea table was daintily appointed with a lace cloth centred with a lace cloth in cream color, and a three-tier anniversary cake bearing "50th Anniversary" at the top, and flanked with gold candelabra with yellow and gold candles.

Lovely floral arrangements of baskets and plants of gold and white chrysanthemums, yellow gladioli and yellow roses added a golden aura to the atmosphere, as well.

PRESIDING

Those who presided at the tea services in the afternoon were Mrs. Frank Poste and Mrs. L. Finkle; Mrs. H. Pitts and Mrs. Charles Long. During the evening those who poured coffee included: Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. C. Ostrom, Mrs. J. Armstrong and Miss Mary Carmichael.

Those who served were: Mrs. Ted Poste, Mrs. Frank Poste, Mrs. L. Fever, Mrs. B. Reid, Mrs. E. Loucks, Mrs. L. Dougherty, Mrs. W. MacLaughlin, Mrs. T. Kechneon, Mrs. W. Warner and Miss M. Lynch. Assisting were: Mrs. G. O'Brien, Mrs. W. Purdy, Mrs. J. Herman, Mrs. C. Bushnell, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. W. Parker, Mrs. J. Darvell, Mrs. E. Pope, Mrs. H. Arnott, Mrs. D. Walker and Miss J. Carson.

CONGRATULATIONS RECEIVED

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were the recipients of many cards and congratulation which included that of the Prime Minister of Canada, John Diefenbaker; Mr. Lee Grills, MP; Mr. Elmer Sandercock, MLA; Mrs. Jack Wilson, MP.P.

Those present; Premier Leslie M. Frost, telegram; as did Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Mr. Selkirk, Manitoba, sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Chapman, and from her daughter, Mrs. Pullyen and husband in England, also a lovely framed scroll from the Province of Ontario signed by the Provincial Secretary, the Honorable James Allen.

Mr. Chapman is a member of Moira Lodge, No. 7 of the Masonic Order; of Moira Chapter, No. 7, R.A.M., and a life member of both.

Mrs. Chapman is a member of Belleville Chapter, O.E.S.; of the Bethlehem Shrine; Woodmen of the World; the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church and of the Women's Conservative Association.

As a hobby Mr. Chapman is a lover of beautiful flowers, and a well-kept garden; while Mrs. Chapman spends her leisure time in lodge and church work.

Guests attended from Toronto, Ottawa, Selkirk, Manitoba, and Napanee.

The community extends to this fine couple best wishes for the days that lie ahead, that they may see 50th annivversary together in health.

Neighbors, Friends Fete Young Couple

SCHOHARIE — Friends and neighbors gathered in the Pleasant Hall on Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ormold Shahan, who were married recently.

Carl Gilbert and Ronald Deshane provided music for the evening, and a number enjoyed dancing.

Ross Foster read an address and the young couple were presented with many lovely gifts from the community.

Both expressed sincere appreciation for the shower and invited all to visit them in their apartment in Picton.

Refreshments were served by several of the young people and the guests departed, leaving best wishes with Ormold and Evelyn.

Comparative Religions Topic At Women's Study Guild

"Comparative Religions" was the topic for study and discussion at the monthly meeting of the Women's Study Guild, held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Varcoe, Hunewood Drive.

In introducing the subject, Mrs. Varcoe said that Judaism is essentially a religious being.

Mrs. Jack Buchanan dealt with six great living religions:

HINDUISM

(1) "Hinduism, the religion of India's 315 million people living in India, Ceylon, Burma and Pakistan. Though simple in theory, Hinduism is complex in practice, with dozens of sects, and the caste system which includes some 3,000 sub-castes. But beneath all lies a unity and a fellowship that should exemplified to us the aspect of nonviolence. Hindus are very vegetarians since they believe in reincarnation, and have reverence for everything. Their yoga exercises are beginning to be known in the western world.

HUMAN CONDUCT

"Buddhism is the religion of the island of Ceylon, Burma and in large sections of the Asian mainland. It probably the oldest religious institution in the world. It is a system of human conduct concerned with ethical principles; eight virtues portrayed in the Noble Eight Fold Path and five great precepts. These moral and ethical conduct are remarkably similar to the Christian elements.

"The Buddhist practice is to keep aloof from the affairs of the world. Thus, they "withdraw from Crowds".

Mrs. Wight read thank - you cards from Mrs. Ida McFaul, Mrs. Ida Gay, Guernsey, Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. Mae Vance, Mrs. E. Freeman and Mr. D. Gay.

Five dollars was received from Mrs. D. Rogers for quilting done for her. The "Workbee" will be held in the town hall, November 3rd at 1:30 p.m. Lunch will be enjoyed. It was decided to purchase a new sink and a dish pan and two dish cloths, and 50 new mug shots.

Mrs. Wight and Mrs. Herrin were voted to approach the council re-garding the chairs for the hall; the W. I. will help pay for them.

Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. A. Allison, and Mrs. Marvin, contributed to the birthday box. They will be invite Green Bush Institute to the next meeting. Mrs. Tripp and Mrs. Tripp are to arrange a trip to Prescott.

Mrs. Foster's hostess for the evening, took over and presented Mrs. Marvin who presented Mrs. B. Smith, the poem of the month "October", a beautiful solo was given by Mrs. Gorton, "The Stranger of Galilee", which was enjoyed. It was a picture of the Seaway being constructed.

The contest followed with Mrs. J. Callow winning the prize.

Refreshments were then served by the committee in charge.

WOMEN DOCTORS

The Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania was opened at Philadelphia in 1850.

Women's Institutes

WELLINGTON W. I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Wellington Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall, Wellington, with 40 members present. Reports were about forty members and guests.

Mrs. S. Tripp, president, opened the meeting in the usual manner. Mrs. Tripp, probably the oldest religious institution in the world. It is a system of human conduct concerned with ethical principles; eight virtues portrayed in the Noble Eight Fold Path and five great precepts. These moral and ethical conduct are remarkably similar to the Christian elements.

TWEED

Russell Brown Heads Land O'Lakes Assoc.

TWEED — A meeting of The Land o' Lakes Tourist Association was held at the Legion hall, Northbrook, recently, and Russell Brown of Cloyne, was re-elected president for another term. Other officers elected were, vice-president, Grant McKitrick; Ferrelegh; secretary, Sam Curry, Tweed; treasurer, Stan Walters, Tweed.

Over fifty members of the association were present and there was keen interest in the program outlined for 1961.

J. J. Savigny obtained the approval of the meeting to name the new high school in Northbrook, Frontenac and Addington "The Land o' Lakes High School District" Named to approach Frontenac and Lennox and Addington county councils for grants and also to assist in the membership canvass were: John Savigny, Ted Courtney, Russell Brown, Cliff Crouch, Earl Slack, Mervyn Rutherford, Byron Wing, E. A. Northey, Bert Gribble and Fred Lehman.

J. R. Simonette, M.L.A. said he had always felt that the Land o' Lakes area had a great potential for additional tourists, much of which had not been utilized. "You are doing good work within this association and it can not help but pay off if you continue," he noted.

It was generally agreed that the association should have a booth at the Canadian National Sportsman's Show in Toronto next March, as well as a continuance of the advertising in American and Canadian newspapers.

S.S. CLASS ENTERTAINED

WEST HUNTINGDON — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooke entertained the members of the Endeavors Sunday School class for the October social gathering. There was a good attendance.

Mr. Roy Stapley was present and showed a number of pictures taken with his movie camera. Scenes were local, such as weddings, all of which were most interesting. Mrs. Stapley was also present and contributed an instrumental number. Other items on the program included prayer by Mr. George Dyson; Scripture lesson by Mr. Clayton Wright; and the commentary by Mrs. Dan Cooke.

Following the business period and benediction, lunch was served and Mr. Mac Sarles voiced the appreciation of the Class to all those who assisted with the program.

Roslin

ROSLIN — The October meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Chisholm with a good attendance. The roll call was answered with a hobby for my old age. The leader, Mrs. D. Chisholm gave a paper on the motto. The world is full of willful people. Sons willing to work, the rest willing to let them.

Mrs. K. Sharpe read a paper on how Eaton's catalogue originated.

The district president gave a short talk.

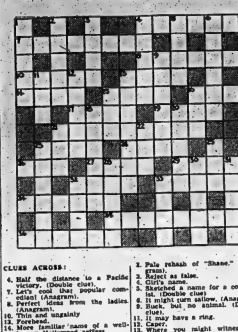
Plans were made for the Hallowe'en party.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social time was enjoyed.

CAMPBELLFORD

C of C Cancels Santa Parade

CAMPBELLFORD — For the first time in over a decade the Chamber of Commerce will not sponsor a Santa Claus parade in Campbellford this year. Earlier this year the Chamber made the decision not to have a parade in 1960, but it was not until this weekend that the final decision was announced.



The Chamber will instead sponsor one or more Santa Claus parties, with free shows for children on a Saturday afternoon. The first such party will be held on December 10th when children of the district will be able to watch a color sound movie of the annual Santa Claus parade in Toronto, without getting cold or wet. The Chamber members felt an indoor activity for the children would be best for both them and their parents. The weather has been a major factor affecting the decision to cancel the parade, but the Chamber has experienced difficulty in arranging a varied program each year and they did not want the event to become stale.

INDEPENDENT JUDGES

For several years the Campbellford parade was judged by independent judges, made up of radio and newspaper men from Toronto and other cities, to be the best parade east of Toronto, in Ontario.

However, the children of the district will not miss Santa. The Campbellford Chamber said this week they have contacted the jolly little man and he has agreed to visit the town each time a Santa party is held, and will distribute candies and fruit to the children, just as he has done after the parade in previous years. The movie on December 10th will likely be held in the high school auditorium.

Govt. May Allow Limited-Kill Moose Season

HALIFAX (CP) — Clarence Mason, Nova Scotia director of wildlife conservation, says it is likely the provincial government will allow a limited-kill moose season soon.

Mason, a big-game hunter himself, spends much of his time travelling through Nova Scotia forests. He says the big awkward-looking animals are multiplying fast in parts of the northern counties of Cumberland and Colchester.

They are causing heavy damage in some areas by feeding on young hardwoods and balsam fir trees.

He says the season will likely be for resident hunters only with hunting restricted in certain areas.

Hamilton Will Not Get Chance To Try System

TORONTO (CP) — Transport Minister Yaremko promised Wednesday a major decision from the province next August on the two rival pedestrian walk systems proposed for Ontario cities.

During a two - hour meeting with a Hamilton delegation he indicated that Hamilton will not get a chance to try out its proposed system before the decision comes.

The Hamilton system gives pedestrians the right of way over motorists at all intersections. The other system, now under trial in Metropolitan Toronto, gives pedestrians the right of way on painted crosswalks.

W. E. Dewes, Hamilton traffic director, said the system he proposes is in use in 1,400 of the 1,700 North American cities that report to the American Automobile Association pedestrian program appraisal.

Mr. Yaremko said if Hamilton were allowed to try out its system and the province decided to adopt the Toronto system, there would be a problem converting Hamilton drivers to the provincial system.

Capt. J. Rose Says He's Only Pilot 'Daft Enough' to Guide Ships Into Churchill, Man.

By STAN McCABE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) — A genial Scot who adopted Nova Scotia as his home plies ships into this northern Manitoba harbor where "boulders rise up from the bottom like raisins in a pie."

Capt. James Rose of Wolfville, N.S. has been the pilot at this bleak Hudson Bay port since 1948 and he has had no serious accidents with the ships in his care.

Asked by a visiting seaman whether he was the only pilot for the port at the mouth of the Churchill River, he replied: "No there are 20 of us. I'm the only one who's daft enough to go on the ships."

"Every stevedore on the wharf is a pilot."

He appears to take his job lightly but by simply reciting the bare details of his work he proves it is no cinch. And in a serious moment he admits "it takes a bloody good heart."

BRIEF SEASON

To Saskatchewan wheat farmers the ports of Churchill is an outlet to Europe that gives them a better price for their grain. It doesn't cost as much to ship through Churchill to Europe as it does through the Great Lakes.

To mariners it is a tough port of call. Ice, weather and navigational difficulties all arise in the short shipping season that this year lasted from late July to Oct. 12.

Located just beyond the tree line 510 miles north of Winnipeg and 940 miles south of the Arctic Circle, it had temperatures in the 30s and 40s even in late September. Chill winds from the north whipped rain, snow and heavy mist across the port. Sometimes ships anchored in the bay to the northeast of the river mouth could not be seen from shore.

Amid the cold structural steel and bleak concrete of the docks, stevedores hooded parkas had their shouts carried away by the wind as they lowered grain-loading machines into the holds of ships.

NARROW CHANNEL

The port has 1,895 feet of dock wall where ships berth, but the main grain gallery is only 1,460 feet long. Two ships can share the four grain spouts.

Between the wall of the pier and the other side of the channel out in the river the distance is only 600 feet. And the far edge of the channel is mostly boulders.

Capt. Rose said there are several reasons why it is difficult to dock a ship at Churchill. There is no protection against winds west of north and the flow "of a long river with a tiny little mouth" is unpredictable.

Ships come in bow-first against an ebb tide that can run up to seven knots (almost 10 m.p.h.) in the river and about five knots at the wharf. There may be about five to 10 minutes of "dead water" between the tides which change twice a day and run from 10 to 15 feet.

90 MINUTES TO TURN

Fighting the ebb tide on the river can be a hair-raising experience even for a pilot who has worked the port for 11 years. With such currents, it is a tough job for a pilot handling a 730-foot-long grain ship such as the Greek Dora Katerina which must be turned end-for-end in a channel only 600 feet wide.

When a heavily - loaded grain ship is ready to leave the move must await flood tide. Otherwise the tug could not pull the stern away from the wharf against the current. It takes about 90 minutes to turn a ship until the is clear and headed down the channel.

The first heading is 40 degrees west of North. "The worst part," said Capt. Rose, "is a point of boulders sticking out in the channel like an arrow — Ship Point. There you have to turn to a course 56 degrees east of north."

This means a ship carrying 10,000 tons of wheat, rushing downstream on a seven-knot current, must be turned through a right angle without piling up on the boulders opposite the point or on the point itself. That's — where Capt. Rose's "bloody good heart" comes in.

POOR ANCHORAGE

The pilot takes a grain ship out about two miles in good weather—the water depth at that point is about 43 feet. Coming in, the pilot may be on the ship for two hours before she is docked or secured.

One of the complaints of visiting skippers has been the anchorage to the northeast of the river mouth. The bottom consists of boulders, sand and mud — not what mariners call "good holding ground."

During a strong wind in September, Capt. Rose noticed from his office that two ships lying off awaiting berths were dragging their anchors. He notified their skippers before they themselves realized they were being pushed toward shore.

Capt. Rose, 48-year-old native of Edinburgh, has been at sea since he was 15. He was on the North Atlantic run during the Second World War and came to Canada in 1944. Later he was master of a Roman Catholic mission ship in the north and worked on Canadian Arctic supply ships.

Asked about the possibility of lengthening the Churchill shipping season, he said: "In my opinion the shipping season is as long as it will ever be or ever should be, considering the various barriers—mostly ice."

PORT PILOT

Capt. James Rose of Wolfville, N.S., has been piloting ships at the Hudson Bay port of Churchill, Man., for 11 years. Wind, rocks and tides make his job difficult but he has had no serious accidents. The 48-year-old native of Edinburgh, who has had wide experience in northern waters since coming to Canada in 1944, says he doesn't think the short Churchill shipping season can be safely lengthened. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1960

Noel Dorion, Canada's New Secretary of State, Avowed Nationalist, Criminal Lawyer

OTTAWA (CP)—Noel Dorion, Canada's new secretary of state, is something of a paradox.

He is an expert in constitutional law. He has been in the criminal courts that he gained the most fame.

He is an avowed nationalist but a firm believer in the interdependence of nations.

He is a Progressive Conservative in federal politics and a supporter of the nationalistic Union Nationale party in Quebec provincial politics.

Inherited in politics from his student days, he backed many a successful candidate in election campaigns but was unable to win an election himself until 1954.

Once he became an MP, however, the 56-year-old native of Charlesbourg, Que., was looked on as a likely candidate for a post in the cabinet.

As a result, few were surprised when it was announced he had figured in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's first major cabinet shuffle.

The responsibilities of the secretary of state's department are largely administrative and as a result its functions are probably not as well known to the public as those of other departments.

The secretary of state has jurisdiction over the government printing bureau; the distribution of parliamentary publications and documents; and the purchase of supplies for government services —up Item amounting to $15,000,000 a year.

The department's head is also spokesman in Parliament for the Civil Service Commission and the Chief Returning Officer. He is responsible for laws governing patents, trademarks, copyrights and companies. The government translation services fall under his jurisdiction.

He is custodian of the Great Seal of Canada and the Governor-General's archives. The solicitor is registrar-general of Canada and is the communications agent between the Crown and the Canada government and with the provinces through the lieutenant-governors.

He is also custodian of enemy property.

Since his 1958 election as member for Bellechasse, Mr. Dorion has attracted attention by his conduct in parliamentary debates. An experienced lawyer, his arguments were always well documented.

He also defended the government's legislation establishing an alternative method for paying grants to universities. The formula was a compromise between Quebec and the rest of Canada.

Mr. Dorion does not deny he is a nationalist but says the word "nationalist" has several meanings. He favors the type of nationalism that would give Canada more sovereignty but take into account the interdependence of nations.

He said:

"The nationalistic school which nourishes ideas of separation has a right to its views, and must be considered in the country's political development, but this does not mean that I agree with it."

One of the founders of the Conservative Association of Quebec County, Mr. Dorion was defeated as a Union Nationale candidate in the 1948 provincial election and also as a candidate in the 1949 federal general election. He served as an alderman in the Quebec suburb of Ste. Foy for seven years.

He was Quebec Crown prosecutor from 1936 to 1939 and from 1944 until 1958. During that time he worked on several important criminal cases, including those of Wilbur Coffin andAlbert Guay.

Coffin was hanged for the bombmurdering of three American bear hunters in Gaspe bushland. Guay and two accomplices were hanged for the line-wrecking of a Canadian Pacific Airlines passenger plane, a case from Quebec City to Sept-Iles. Twenty-three people died in the crash, including Guay's heavily-insured wife.

Mr. Dorion holds a doctor of laws degree and is a professor of law at Laval University, Quebec.

He is batonnier of the Quebec Bar, he shaped a new code governing the discipline of members of the legal profession and was considered one that produced the best results.

Attorney for the Quebec Provincce College of Medical Doctors, he drafted the new medical law, expected to be presented to the Quebec provincial legislature.

Mr. Dorion's wife is the former Olga Malherbe, Russian-born but of French descent. They were married in Liege, Belgium, in 1932.

They have two sons—Louis who is practising law in Quebec City, and Jacques, a former bowling prestidge law for several months, who has returned to continue his studies at Laval.

Canada's Trade Deficit a Third Of Last Year's

OTTAWA (CP)—Sharp gains in overseas exports, along with only a fractional rise in imports, combined to shave Canada's trade deficit to $130,500,000 in the first nine months of 1960—less than a third of the imbalance a year earlier.

Exports at $3,305,400,000 showed a rise of 8.2 per cent from the comparable 1959 period, pushing the nine-month figure to its highest level of any similar period since the end of the Second World War.

Imports rose fractionally to $4,115,900,000, as against $4,107,-600,000 a year earlier.

Much of the advance came in the third quarter—the July-September period — when exports soared to $1,365,300,000, another record level for any quarter, and outstripped imports to produce an $89,400,000 surplus.

For the whole of 1956 Canada had a foreign trade deficit of $380,000,000—roughly double the 1958 figure.

OPP Inspectors To Form Assoc.

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial police inspectors will form an association to present to the government a request for increases two years ago, will form an association to remedy what they call a "deplorable situation."

Some 30 of the provincial inspectors is expected later this week. District HQ here in Toronto for a provincial government Quarter Century Club banquet.

The new association, to represent the 50 inspectors in seven branch inspectorates, staff inspectors at headquarters and district inspectors, will also plead its case to Attorney-General Roberts.

Inspectors' salaries start at $6,000, rising to $8,800. Staff inspectors get $7,300.

Unemployment Major Issue In Peterborough Byelection; Charges of 'Bribery' Made

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—That's one unemployment, with all its confusion and despair, is a major issue in the Peterborough federal byelection Monday.

The topic has been discussed widely by champions of three parties battling for the House of Commons seat vacated by the death of Gordon K. Fraser, the Conservative incumbent two years.

Candidates are Harold Matthews, Progressive Conservative; Lionel Munro, Liberal, and Walter Pitman, New Party.

The campaign has been relatively quiet, centring mainly in this city of 46,561 population, except for charges that the Conservatives torpedoes a Liberal-sponsored television commercial and attempted to bribe voters with a $10 payment for their votes.

Most of the 37,550 eligible voters look at unemployment as the major issue affecting their communities—from the Kawartha Lakes tourist area to rolling farmlands.

The Liberals estimate unemployment in excess of 4,000 in the New Party, while not committing itself on figures, says the total is higher than last year. The local unemployment insurance Commission office at the front of the town hall says 1,600 are registered, but its jurisdiction takes in municipalities outside Peterborough itself.

The Canadian General Electric plant is down to 1,200 factory workers, compared to 4,200 in 1953. Nearly 150 men out of 600 are expected to be laid off by Quaker Oats Company by the end of the year. The Outboard Marine Corp. plant in suburban North Monaghan Township which has been served as a conciliator and Mr. Matthews says employment is down 50 per cent on the local level by boosting tourist trade and the trade can be doubled within two years by mortgage loans to vacation resorts and improvement of tourist and boating facilities in the Trent Canal system.

Mr. Munro, the Liberal candidate is 58, a city alderman, and was a teacher for 35 years before retiring as a public school principal in 1950. He has promised to set up, if he is elected, a non-partisan citizens' action committee to advise on local problems, particularly unemployment.

Mr. Pitman, the New Party candidate, is 21 year-old high school teacher, came here from Toronto five years ago. Like the other two candidates, he is making his first bid in big-time politics.

He says his election could cause a psychological reaction on Parliament Hill by showing there is interest in the New Party idea, supported by the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress.

Political observers here see Mr. Pitman as a man in a hurry. Before starting his history classes in the morning, he spends 30 minutes at the gates of local factories shaking hands with anyone who will stop and speak with him.

The campaign has had its lively moments.

When a $7,192,826 department of national defence contract was awarded to CCE this week to provide more than 100,000 manhours of work during the next year, the Liberals and New Party charged the government with attempting to bribe the voter.

Allister Grosart, national Progressive Conservative party director, was accused by the Liberals of applying political pressure on the Board of Broadcast Governors to block a CBC report showing one of Tory political film producers had a financial interest in a station. The Liberals charged that there existed the showing of a film of their party leader charged political pressure was brought to bear by Mr. Grosart or Dr. Andrew Stewart, BBG chairman.

Peterborough has been Conservative for 20 years. In 1940, the CCF polled 4,448 votes, Liberals 12,078 votes; in 1958, Liberals polled 11,778 votes with the his nearest Liberal opponent. The CCF always ran third.

Daylight Time Comes to End This Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Clocks will be moved back an hour this weekend in eastern Canadian municipalities in their switch from daylight to standard time.

The switch will end the confusion which usually results from an earlier switch to standard time in other communities.

Most centres in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland will change from daylight to standard at Sunday. Prince Edward Island, which has a law forbidding daylight time, stayed on standard time all year.

In Ontario, most major centres will return to standard time during the weekend. Those changing will include Belleville, Brantford, Galt, Guelph, Kingston, Hamilton, Kitchener, London, Niagara Falls, Oshawa, Orillia, Owen Sound, Peterborough, St. Catharines, Sudbury and Toronto.

Quebec returned to standard time early in September, Other southwestern Ontario communities, including Aylmer, Sarnia, Stratford, Thomas switched Sept. 25.

Port Arthur, Port William and Fort Frances will do nearby communities on Wednesday and Fort William on standard time all year.

REDS HIT JEWS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Soviet leaders are trying to "erase every vestige of Judaism in Russia," Rabbi A. J. of the world's largest Jewish organization, B'nai B'rith, said here. Katz, 42, of New Orleans, president of B'nai B'rith, said Russian Jews are being persecuted on religious and cultural levels.

FIGURET
LADY SYLPHIDE

"Are these the prices?" Joe asked, pointing to the tags on couple of large Turkish bankies. "I'd want several of each."

"Yes," they are," The girl smiled. "The small one's a quarter cheaper than the big but it makes no difference how over many you buy."

"Oh, well," Joe took out his wallet, and made two little heaps of bills on the counter. "Here's the exact money for eight of the small size," he said, "and the other is the exact money for a dozen of the larger. It's funny that the two digits of one total are the same as the two of the other, but reversed."

It was plenty to spend on gifts. But what were those prices?

"Hallowe'en for UNICEF" Taking Place of Devilry Usually Seen on This Night

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hallowe'en, once celebrated as a festival of death in the ancient world, is becoming more a holiday of hope throughout the new.

The rattle of coins collected by children calling on other children is replacing the buzz of medicine rattles in the hands of pagan priests.

This year, more than 300,000 Canadian children will participate in "Hallowe'en for UNICEF" collections sponsored by the United Nations Children's Fund to supply food and medicine to children of other lands.

Last year the program collected $200,000 to bring the total since it began to $500,000. In the years it has been going, a gift augmented annually by the Canadian government, has totalled more of $650,000.

The two chief characteristics of ancient Hallowe'en —or All Hallows Eve—were the lighting of bonfires to belief that of all nights in the year, Oct. 31 was the one during which ghosts and witches were most likely to walk abroad.

Further, it was a Druidic belief that on the eve of the festival of death, called together all the wicked souls that during the past 12 months had been condemned to inhabit the bodies of animals.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press indicates that while a certain amount of devilry will be perpetrated this Hallowe'en, Traditional masquerade house parties will be held and children and oldsters alike will rave over the plea "trick or treat," but no large celebrations are planned.

There is a tradition of fire-works in the Maritime provinces, but today many centres have banned this form of celebration. Many parents, even grandparents as adults, Prince Edward Island has a law allowing confiscation of dangerous fireworks under the Fire Prevention Act.

Windows will be soaped in the cities and gates will vanish as ritual in the rural areas.

Hallowe'en is not the large-scale festival in Quebec City that Mardi Gras is. Such celebrating is left for Oct. 31 is carried on in the English-speaking areas. The Mardi Gras celebration—which takes similar form to Hallow'een—comes later, at the end of the Quebec Winter Carnival.

Nothing has been organized in Montreal by schools, police or service agencies. The parks department, however, plans to put out candy to children at their 22 recreation centres. Police and firemen expect to be out in force as usual in the Pointe St. Charles and St. Henri districts, where vandalism has been rife in previous years.

Toronto, where Hallowe'en has been quiet in recent times, will have a 10 p.m. curfew enforced and about 1,500 officers patrolling. Extra help will come from the auxiliary police wing of the Civil Defence organization.

The annual plea of the Manitoba Dental Association has sounded in Winnipeg.

"Don't give the children candy. Bring out apples or nuts. Some children collect enough candy to last until Christmas — all the housewives are doing is passing out new candies."

The Manitoba health department issues a safety plea, which is supported by many other organizations throughout the country:

"Parents should inspect carefully some while material into costumes or better still, use reflective tape. Costumes should be outfitted so vision will not be limited. If paper costumes are to be worn, make sure they're flameproofed."

Gate - removal, privy - tipping and window-soaping are expected in Saskatchewan as well as the masked balls for the children to attend. Activities are to be minimum and to prevent anyone from getting hurt. Regina is expected offspring a truckload of grain into the parlor of an unoccupied farmhouse with a mechanical loader.

Alberta reports the use of fireworks is usually not as great a problem as in places where their sale is restricted. They are sold in the foothills province all year around. Police say there will be house and a spokesman for the Alberta Safety Council said: "We don't think they have the vaguest idea of the times in which we live."

He urged 250,000 garment workers in the Toronto garment district area of Seventh Avenue to help "put the treat back in Hallowe'en" the way back to California (Hollo'o bome state)." It drew the line at "egging" America.

In Pennsylvania today, Kennedy started a final drive for Democratic votes in industrial areas by accusing Nixon of "selling America short."

The Democratic presidential candidate said his Republican opponent has been telling the rest of United States can't afford what Mr. Nixon is doing in Pennsylvania in programs for the aging, in medical care, in housing, in development of our national resources.

"I say we can," declared Kennedy. "It is Mr. Nixon—not I—who is selling America," he added, "It is Mr. Nixon—not I—who is selling America short."

In his third visit to New York in as many weeks, Kennedy drew cheers as he left his hotel suite lighted as evidence that he will capture the state's 43 electoral votes.

Frank Doyle, executive secretary to Democratic Mayor Robert Wagner, estimated that 500,000 persons in Manhattan alone saw and rapidly hailed the senator. Unofficial estimates at midnight put Kennedy drew in Brooklyn at night ran to 30,000 or more.

Kennedy Tells N.Y. Crowds Nixon Selling America Short

ABOARD KENNEDY PLANE (cp)—John Kennedy, hailed by cheering crowds that left him almost non-stop noon-to-midnight visit to New York City today, carried his campaign back to another vote-rich state, Pennsylvania.

One frequently repeated theme in New York was his fear that "chief disagreement with Mr. Nixon and the Republican party is that it don't think they have the vaguest idea of the times in which we live."

He urged 250,000 garment workers in the Toronto garment district area of Seventh Avenue to help "put the treat back in Hallowe'en" the way back to California (Hollo'o bome state)." It drew the line at "egging" America.

Savings Bond Sales Are Good

TORONTO — With the 1960 Canada Savings Bond campaign now in its third week, the regional director of the payroll savings division for Ontario, C. G. Beatty of Toronto, has described the results to date as encouraging.

Ontario campaign officials hope for a total of $1 billion to increase over last year in sales of the bonds under the payroll savings plan. Last year a record $1,-saw 221,089 persons purchase $200,000,000 worth of bonds through payroll savings.

Organizers are already making good headway toward their objectives. Among these are E. W. Simpson of Toronto's payroll savings organizer for a section of Eastern Ontario including Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Trenton, Picton, Newcastle, Campbellford, Brighton, Stirling, Trenton, Picton, Tweed and Napanee. They have achieved 60.4% of his objective with sales amounting to $1,631,-000.

Body of 10th Victim in Blast Taken From Store Thursday

WINDSOR (CP)—Investigators today hoped to make their way into a "concrete firecracker" which blew five and death Wednesday at Bailey Metropolitan department store.

The body of Joseph Bobbal, 51, a worker in the store's basement, was recovered Thursday afternoon, bringing to 10 the number killed in Tuesday's explosion to 19 with more than 40 injured. Officials have not commented on the possibility of finding further victims.

"We'll be in there today to look," Mr. Crozier said. "The building is dangerous but I'll look enough. It takes a lot of gas to do something like this. It must have been packed."

He said the small size of the room probably added to the destructive force of the explosion.

"There wasn't too much of it," he said. "Just enough that the gas fired and expanded just so that it blew the whole room with it. That flying concrete didn't have been thrown hard."

Police and investigators are interviewing witnesses, poring over pieces of evidence, pieces of concrete workers to piece together the story.

Investigating teams earlier toured sections of the wreckage. Fire chief Joseph Hamilton of the Metropolitan Store, who was severely burned, said he was hospitalized bed after the explosion that it was caused by gas. He said he saw workmen from Jessop Plumbing Limited had completed installation of the gas heating unit and had just opened gas lines in it when the explosion occurred.

Demolition crews working under the direction of Chief Thursday night broke the last huge concrete section of the second floor which had fallen, blocking off the north end of the store, and under the edge of the floor that the last body was found.

EVACUATE APARTMENTS

A four-d w e l l i n g apartment building across the street from the store was evacuated as it was feared the back section of the store might collapse.

One elderly resident had to be carried out by police.

"My house stood the explosion," she said, "and worry about that bit of floor!"

May Refer Death Of Newspapers To Commission

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government is considering referring the death of London evening newspapers to its monopolies commission, it was disclosed Thursday.

There now are only two London evening dailies — Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard and Associated Newspapers' Evening News. The third evening paper—Mr. Cecil Harmsworth King's Evening News as part of last year's merger with The News Chronicle and The Star by Rothermere interests.

The renewed struggle in the Congo is the overshadowing diplomatic tussle in the United Nations, where African countries are for the most part ranged themselves.

A special session of the UN General Assembly—which ended Sept. 20 only hours before the 15th regular assembly opened—recommended a conciliation mission be the Congo.

It was one thing to get a recommendation but it turned out to be something else again to decide how the conciliation should be and what countries it should include.

This decision was obscured by the oratorical fireworks of the first few weeks of the UN assembly but still presents a problem to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's advisory group on the Congo, which includes all countries in units in the UN Congo force.

NO HELP

"The danger is that we'll send to the Congo a conciliation team will merely reflect the differences already troubling the Congo," one diplomat said.

The 24 - nation African group has met repeatedly without reaching a decision. When the African delegates conferred with their Asian colleagues, the situation was even more confused.

Although the Congo itself has been excluded, no delegation has been seated.

Ceylon, India, Ghana, Guinea, Morocco and the United Arab Republic are sponsoring a resolution that would recognize the representatives of the "central government" of the Congo promptly.

They take this to mean, first of all, Premier Patrice Lumumba's executive of deposed premier Joseph Kasavubu, whose only hope for a reconciliation between themselves and President Joseph Kasavubu, whose only hope for a reconciliation between themselves and President Joseph Kasavubu, whose only hope for a compromise between the two men came early in the long UN assembly debate.

Even apart from the Soviet bloc, which has openly thrown its hold over the Congo and its espousal of Lumumba, the African countries are divided on whether a conciliation commission of five, three or seven members should be gone as high as 12, excluding only such "white" members of the African group as Britain, Ireland and Sweden.

Behind the scenes have been urging support for Lumumba but there is a growing silo opposition from African nations of the French Community, Canada, it is understood, is willing to be left off the conciliation commission but hopes that its body will not become prey to factions.

Some delegations see value in proposals made by Nehru of India, Prime Minister Abhali Sir Abdawar Tafawa Balewa of Nigeria, the newest member of the UN.

Balewa recommended a fact-finding committee to delve into the real causes of the Congo's trouble—a committee that would exclude all "white" members.

He urged that the UN work for the restoration of "authority" Congolese leaders — meaning presumably, Lumumba and his men—however "imperfect" they may be.

The UN, under the Nigerian plan, should be strengthened during this unsettled period. Enabling the country in check until new elections could be held, so that a government could be found—one capable of governing.

Today's SPORTETTES . . .

Three young Belleville hockey players moved into the OHA Junior "A" series this year, two with St. Catharines Teepees and one with Peterborough Petes. Dennis Hull and Larry Mavety have caught berths with St. Kits, while Stu Muirhead joins another local boy, Paul Zakos, in the Peterborough lineup. The league schedule, by the way, opened last night.

Tony Parisi and Claude "Watch-Pocket Rocket" Richard, a couple of hockey players well known to fans in this district as members of the Todelo club in the IHL. Bob Bingley and Gerry Devaney, formerly of the Cornwall Colts, are now playing under their former manager Ray Miron for the Jersey Larks. Russ Kowalchuk, formerly of the Macs, has hung up his skates, due, he says to "pressure of business."

Home Town Will Honor Ole Casey

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—The familiar red carpet will be unrolled Saturday for the return home of Glendale's favorite adopted son, Casey Stengel.

There has been a welcome of sorts every year Stengel returned from the baseball wars since he began managing New York Yankees.

This will be something special, however, since Casey is no longer with the Yankees.

There will be a reception committee at International Airport in Los Angeles. The Stengels will then hop by helicopter to adjoining Glendale and set down on a ball park named several years ago for Stengel.

After more ceremonies at the park, Mr. and Mrs. Stengel will go by motorcade to the city hall for still another welcome-home affair.

'Honest Joes' Win Quarter

Honest Joe may not be a bowler but his club won't be found dead in any gutter.

Last night they won the Major 'A' Bowling League schedule first quarter with a 36-point score.

Next are Lloyd's Cleaners with 31; Belle Cleaners 30; Stewart's Shell, 24; Wilkinson Motors, 22; Station Marketeria, 22; Moore's Cleaners, 21 and McEvoy's Caterers, 11.

Last night's results:

Honest Joe's (7) 2624, McEvoy's Caterers (0) 2653; Lloyd's Cleaners (1) 2422, Moore's Cleaners (6) 2600; Wilkinson Motors Ltd. (3) 2538, Station St. Marketeria (3) 2173; Stewart's Shell (5) 2129, Belle Cleaners (3) 2077.

High triples — Len Rumleskie 803 (321), Russ Jones 797, Jack Stewart 782 (310), J. McKenzie 754, J. Lloyd 752, L. LaBelle 734, R. Saylor 734, L. St. Louis 717, W. Dever 712, J. Canning 698, B. SUBS FOR FENDER

BOSTON (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones of New York was named Thursday to replace ailing Paul Pender in a 10-round televised boxing bout against Marcel Pigeo of Paris Nov. 5 at Boston Arena. Pender, the middleweight champion of New York, Massachusetts and Europe, was to have fought Pigeo in a non-title bout but has a respiratory infection.

How to build a complete rec-room with

Abitibi PLATEWOOD

An improved particle board PROVEN IN PRACTICE as the most solid warp-free panel made today!

If you have the room, Platewood has the versatility to turn those drab walls and dark corners into a beautifully finished recreation room. More interesting is the fact that you can do the entire job yourself, inexpensively, in a short time! See the coupon below.

Platewood is the handymen's dream come true! Saw it, nail it, glue it. Platewood is easy to work with because there is no grain and there are no knots. Ideal for cupboards, shelving, and built-ins. Platewood is easy to finish with stain, varnish or paint-wipe-off techniques. Your lumber dealer has a stock of various sizes and thicknesses to suit your needs. Random Platewood for wall panelling, comes in ¼" thickness (4' x 8') v-scored for smart plank effect. Blok-Board Platewood (4' x 4') is v-scored in 12" or 16" squares for ceilings. Platewood is also available veneered in handsome walnut, oak, birch and rich-toned mahogany.

Platewood is the most solid, warp-free panel made today. See your lumber dealer now, and ask for a sample of Platewood. Hold it up and look along it. It's dead flat and uniform in thickness. And it stays that way, because Platewood is tougher, harder, more stable than any other wood product. Good reason why professional furniture makers, contractors, builders and handymen like yourself use Platewood in so many ways.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

L. I. P.

Right now of this moment, hockey in this city has one foot in the well-known stave—and the other on a carpet of banana skins.

As is revealed in a sports-page story, the eastern group's fate rests in the hands of the laddybucks of the western division of the OHA senior league.

The thin lifeline hangs on their decision to play certain interlocking games with the remaining three clubs of the east, Belleville, Galt and Oakville.

And five gals you ten the answer will be "Thanks for the invitation gentlemen, but we are tied up for the next few months. Drop around again sometime."

If memory is correct the OHA decision to split the newly-formed senior league into east and west divisions, was spawned from the refusal of the majority of the western clubs to travel this far east.

Oakville in a last-minute, desperate attempt to save the remnants of the Eastern Division, has called a meeting Saturday of all clubs in the senior league to discuss the interlocking situation.

But don't bet your Grey Cup tickets there will be a full attendance of western division clubs.

However it is likely the OHA will exert heavy pressure on the group that has already been torn with internal troubles. It has since settled down and goes into action. There is no reason to believe it will be willing to disrupt its schedule to accommodate teams it did not want to play with in the first place.

However, stranger things have happened in this weird world of sport. Something could happen now.

Personally, we have ordered a wreath.

"CY" COMES TO TOWN!

If you attend the annual wing-ding of the Belleville and District Softball League at the Club Commodore tonight and you meet a guy by the name of "Cy" Parkin —don't be misled by the moniker.

He's no relation of Lum and Abner nor is he the hero in the new television series, "Saturday Night at Cornob Corners."

This much-travelled, soft spoken gentleman will be none other than Mr. Clarence Perkin of Simcoe, president and reneralissimo of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association.

When Mr. Perkin was a youngster some one dubbed him "Cy". Perhaps it was the schoolmarm who interrupted Mr. Perkin's day dreams of a vast Ontario softball empire and wanted to get a message over quickly. At any rate, the name stuck.

We met Mr. Perkin at a social "do" here a year ago. We found him to be a fine type of gentleman whose recreational heart is with his beloved softball and whose effort from the presidential chair has been one of the big factors in plaster softball on the hitch pedestal it occupies in the sports life of Ontario.

But "Cy" would be the last man to claim the credit. He has surrounded himself with a fine executive and administrative staff. The collective effort aided by that of the thousands of "live" softball men in the province helped make 1960 one of the best, if not the best, year in the history of the association.

We understand "Cy" will step down from the presidency next year after his allotted second term of office. Softball will pay deserved tribute, but in this corner's opinion, the best monument to his presidential memory will be the outstanding job he did for the sport during his tenure of office.

Sportsmen of the city and softball in particular join this department in extending a warm, sincere welcome to President Clarence W. Perkin of the OASA. We hope and trust he enjoys himself and "long may his lum reek."

Associated with Mr. Perkin at the B. and D. League's social: notice will be first vice-president Don Lee and honorary president Harry Rollins. The "Senator" will likely deliver the speech from the throne with vice-preesy Lee seconding the motion.

League officials have arranged a fine program for their social whirl. We understand trophy presentations will be made although these were made on city diamonds during the season.

There will be dancing with special prizes, door prizes and what not. A beauty queal, identity unknown, will select a "Miss Softball of 1960." There is no truth in the rumor the Senator will disrobe himself in an effort to cop the glory and the bauble that goes with the award.

Interlock With West Dim Hockey Hope

Welland Was Not Interested

—By BARRY SHARPE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—For the second time this year the Ontario Hockey Association senior series looks like its going to get an overhaul.

An emergency meeting of the newly - formed eastern division whose ranks have been depleted from five to three this week, decided to seek an interlocking schedule with the five-team western division.

Representatives from Oakville, Belleville and Galt, smarting from the withdrawal of Welland and Whitby, agreed in principal that the only way to make hockey a paying deal for them this season was to get additional games with the western clubs.

The western loop consists of Windsor, Chatham, Stratford, Strathroy and Woodstock.

TRY PERSUASION

OHA business manager Bill Hanley and chairman Lorne Cook agreed to ask OHA convener Lloyd Pollock to try and persuade the western teams toward an interlocking schedule.

Meanwhile, Bud Corbett, Oakville manager invited the three remaining eastern teams and as many western clubs to attend a meeting in Oakville Saturday to work on an interlocking schedule.

Corbett proposed Oakville, Galt and Belleville play each other four times at home and four away encounters with the western divisions. This would make a 36-game schedule, with 18 games at home.

Delegates expressed concern over this week's loss of two entries in the eastern loop, so soon after the amalgamation of the former Senior A and B leagues.

A representative from Welland had been expected to attend, but a telegram from general manager Tom Brooke confirmed that Welland was not interested in a four-team league, or an interlocking schedule.

Welland secretary Sam Kates said "I was hoping the OHA would come up with something that would keep the Eastern circuit alive.

PLAY INTERMEDIATE

"However, we have been asked to form an Intermediate A team from Crowland Township in the absence of the Seniors.

Galt manager Tom Duvall, noting the anxiety of Oakville and Belleville for their home gate earnings, proposed that Welland pay them compensation for loss of expected revenue. Last week Welland, in its only game, defeated Oakville 9-4 at Welland.

"The book says they have to play a return game and I think Oakville should get some of the gate from the game played," said Duvall.

Duvall also added that Belleville should be compensated for funds spent in advance publicity for tonight's scheduled game. Coach Gordie Bell of Belleville said 1,700 advance tickets had been sold.

"My men have been ready for the last three weeks," said Bell. "We were supposed to play Whitby last Friday and they dropped out, and we're supposed to play Welland this Friday, but it doesn't look like they will be there, does it?"

Dempsey Asks Clean-up In Pro Boxing

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Dempsey, one of the greatest heavyweight fighters in history, Thursday night called for a worldwide cleanup in United States professional boxing.

Dempsey, now 65, said the scores of boxing commissions throughout the U.S. should "unite in agreement on an over-all commissioner to be appointed by the federal government."

Dempsey came into Toronto from New York for the opening tonight of the Devry electronics training centre.

"There are persons on various boxing commissions throughout the U.S. who know as much about running the fight business as I know about running a bank," he said in an interview.

Dempsey, a New York restaurateur, said: "If I don't serve good food the customers don't come back. There's a parallel in the fight fan.

"Matters should be an enforced splitting of the game so there'd be no doubt in the public mind what it's seeing and what it's paying for."

He suggested a cost reduction to help boxing, especially on the small-fight level. "Why should there be three or four judges when one competent referee would do?"

TITLE BOUT TONIGHT

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Johnny Devlaton of nearby Glace Bay places his Canadian bantamweight title on the line here tonight against the man he beat for the championship 11 months ago. Marcel Gendron, the hard-hitting fighter from Quebec City, meets Devlaton in a 12-round title go at the Sydney Forum.

Defeat Rangers 6-4

Ukes Hit Stride, Bruins Win First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bronco Horvath and his Ukrainian line teammates finally broke to life and it paid off for Boston Bruins in Thursday night's only National Hockey League game.

While Horvath, Johnny Bucyk and Vic Stasiuk were having trouble scoring goals, the Bruins went through their first eight games without a victory, although they tied five games.

But Horvath, who missed the league scoring championship last season by one point, scored twice and Bucyk got another to get the Bruins under way to a 6-4 victory over New York Rangers.

The three goals were only the sixth, seventh and eighth the line has been able to get this season.

Horvath and the Bruins hope things will improve.

"We should be just as good if not better this season," Horvath said recently reminiscing over the 1958-59 campaign when the line scored 86 goals.

The Ukes shared Thursday night's glory with Jerry Toppazzini, who scored twice in the third period. Don McKenney got the other goal.

Earl Ingarfield, Ken Schinkel, Dean Prentice and Ed Shack scored for New York.

BRUINS STILL LAST

The victory left the Bruins in last place but only one point behind Toronto Maple Leafs and Rangers who are tied for fourth position.

Don Simmons, who for the first time in his career has the Boston goaltending job to himself, stopped 32 Ranger shots, 14 of them in the first period. Lorne (Gump) Worsley saved 35 for New York.

There are no games scheduled tonight. Saturday the Bruins will play the slumping Canadiens at Montreal and return home Sunday for a return game with the Canadiens.

In other weekend action, Chicago plays the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday and the Red Wings in Detroit Sunday. Toronto and New York also play Sunday in New York.

Could Upset Big Four Applecart

Watch Those Tigers, And All Too!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tiger Cats, slimmed down from Big Four football playoffs, are still in a position to throw a monkey wrench into the works, especially those of league-leading Ottawa Rough Riders.

If Jim Trimble's squad, who fumbled away a playoff berth to Montreal last Saturday, can upset Ottawa Saturday and some observers think it is possible, Ottawa would be dumped back into second place behind Toronto. That is of course, assuming the Argos polish off the Als Sunday. Both Toronto and Ottawa have identical 8-4 won-lost records, but Rough Riders have a 32 - 0 point edge.

In four meetings so far this year Ottawa has won three against Hamilton. And Toronto, who meet Montreal in the league finale Sunday, has won all four games the two played during the season.

Alouette coach Perry Moss, lamenting a fortnight ago that he had no chance to make the playoffs, that he had no material, that what he did have was on crutches has changed his tune.

"Alouettes can win the championship," he said Wednesday. "Don't discount the Alouettes. We've got the best offence and defence (Sam Etcheverry is very) in Canada."

But Argo coach Lou Agasi claims he has the best pivot in Tobin Rote, even though the former NFL star was sandlotted until Ottawa's 36-1 win last week.

Trimble, with nothing to lose now, will be giving some men who spent much of the season on the bench a turn on the field. George Jelesic will play where Clive Centre, Don Sutherin, Ken Kilrea and Silas Wood will also be fielded.

Coach Moss says he will start Paul Palmer at quarterback, but observers figure reliable Bernie Faloney will be in the game too.

Ottawa coach Frank Clair claims most of his sidelined injuries are mended, with the exception of John Jelesic whose knee troubles will keep him out the rest of the season.

End Lou Bruno and Tod Smale and guard Marv Collins have been hoarding up injured knees and will play. Quarterback Ron Lancaster who threw brilliantly to veteran Bob Simpson last week, will play with Russ Jackson ready to spell him.

Larks' Perry Moss will be trying to change up a combination to stop Rote who devasted them in previous games, only lineman Billy Shipp and Jackie Simpson will sit out the game.

The game has not announced any major change in the Argo lineup. But Ottawa and the chances are likely that Toronto won't be the only one up a point deficit he may go easy on his stars and save them for the playoffs.

Hull Whips Beavers 5-1; Wolves Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens snapped a first-place Eastern Professional Hockey League lead Wednesday night by downing Beavers 5-1.

Kitchener-Waterloo had forced Canadiens to share the berth with an 8-3 win Wednesday. Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds moved into sole possession of third place with a 5-3 victory over Sudbury Wolves in Thursday night's other game.

Sudbury now is tied with Montreal Royals in fourth position and Kingston Frontenacs are alone in the five-team league's caller.

GET FAST LEAD

Canadiens, led by defencemen Jean - Claude Tremblay and Al McNeil, jumped into a 3-0 advantage in the first period. Mel Pearson scored Beavers' only goal in the final frame.

The other Hull-Ottawa scorers were Terry Gray, with two, and Willie O'Ree.

A crowd of 2,600 watched the Thunderbirds take a 3-1 lead in the first period and hold the two-goal margin at 4-2 at the end of the second.

Centre Milan Marcetta scored his second and third goals of the season to lead the winners. Singles went to John Offidani, Ed Kachur and rookie Cliff Schmautz.

Rookie Jim Pappin scored two goals for the Wolves and Leo Amadio got the third.

Popular Big Four Choice

Russel Trophy To Stewart

OTTAWA (CP)—Halfback Ron Stewart of Ottawa Rough Riders, the little man with pistons for legs, today was named 1960 winner of the Jeff Russel Memorial Trophy.

The award is made annually to the player in the Big Four football league who best combines clean play, sportsmanship, will to win and promotion of team spirit. Ability, prowess and number of points scored are not the prime considerations in selecting a winner though they do have a bearing.

The trophy commemorates the late Jeff Russel of the old Montreal AAA team in the Big Four. Russel was electrocuted while repairing a power line in Montreal May 3, 1926.

Winner of the Big Four's rookie-of-the-year award was also announced today. It goes to Bill Mitchell, defensive linebacker with Toronto Argonauts.

Players on each Big Four team nominate two of their teammates for the Jeff Russel Trophy and the selection is made by the league's board of governors and referees who have seen all teams in action.

Nominees this year were: Stewart and Kaye Vaughan, Ottawa; Tobin Rote and Dick Shatto, Toronto Argonauts; Paul Dekker and John Barrow, Hamilton Tiger-Cats; and Sam Etcheverry and Hal Patterson, Montreal Alouettes.

Stewart, five - foot - seven, 175 pounds, is the second Canadian in a row to win the award. Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson won it last year.

Etcheverry is the only player to win twice. He won in 1954 and 1956. Patterson won it in 1959 and Shatto in 1957.

In the 30 years the award has been made since 1928—there was no award in 1942-46—Ottawa has won it 13 times.

Stewart, 25-year-old native of Toronto, established an all-Canadian rushing record Oct. 11 in Montreal by galloping for 287 yards, including runs of 97, 82, 51 and 39 yards for touchdowns.

He has 15 touchdowns by rushing this season, two under the league record held by Pat Abbruzzi of Montreal.

Stewart began playing football in high school in Toronto and was a defensive end. Queen's Golden Gaels retired his number when he graduated. (Russel's No. 1 sweater was retired by Montreal.)

Stewart is in his third year with Riders. He has scored 66 points this season, 12 less than league-leading George Dixon of Montreal.

Mitchell, the rookie of the year, and winner of the Grey Cup Trophy, was Argos first college draft choice. He played tackle, guard and defensive end with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs and was voted the most valuable player in the Intercollegiate circuit last year.

Mitchell, 23, six-foot-two, and 210 pounds, immigrated to Windsor, Ont., at the age of 11 from London, England, and turned from soccer to football in high school. Argo coach Lou Agasi rates him as the finest kickoff and placement kicker to come out of college ranks.

Nominees for the rookie-of-the-year award were: Mitchell and Roy Jokanovich, Toronto; Nick Ciokan, Lionel Conacher, Mecio Pollifrai and Gerry Samuel, Montreal; Frank Cosentino and Peter Howard, Hamilton. There were no Ottawa nominees.

Last year's winner was Joe Poirier, Ottawa defensive halfback.

Promoter Says So

Canada in Pro Soccer?

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Soccer League, which gained momentum in New York last summer, will expand operations in 1961 and take in a Canadian city, promoter Bill Cox said Thursday.

There will be eight teams in each section instead of six, representing Europe and North and South America, and a total of 18 games will be played in Canada. Jersey City, where attendance was poor, will be dropped.

Cox said among the new teams he has signed are Besiktas of Istanbul, 190 champions of Turkey, and the Real club Deportivo Espanol of Barcelona, Spain. All the teams are top notch professional clubs.

In the first section of play will be clubs from England, Germany, and the United States together with the Besiktas team, Kilmarnock of Scotland and Bangu of Brazil. Two other European clubs will be signed later.

The second section will be Austria, Yugoslavia, Italy, Israel, Portugal, France, the Spanish team, and a Canadian team.

Winners in each section will play for the championship. Last summer Bangu won and Kilmarnock was runner-up.

The Canadian city probably will be either Montreal or Toronto.

Cox said nine games in each section will be played in Canada, and 19 in New York—probably at Polo Grounds, where last summer's championship game will draw about 22,000.

AL Will Operate in 1961

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick, National League president Warren Giles and Los Angeles Dodger owner Walter O'Malley were undismayed, Thursday, by the American League's 10-team league in 1961, one year before the rival older circuit follows suit.

"I respect the commissioner's wishes and I don't wish to sound like we are opposing him," said George Medinger, vice-president of Cleveland Indians and a member of the American League expansion committee. "But we're going ahead with 10 teams next year. There were people in our league who thought we were moving too fast, but the majority agreed it was the proper move."

Frick met with Joe Cronin Thursday and told the American League circuit would have preferred expansion in 1962.

Giles said although the Americans had granted immediate franchises to Los Angeles and Minneapolis - St. Paul shifting Washington Senators to the Twin Cities and placing another team in the United States capital, considered the National League's granting of franchises to New York and Houston for 1962 was a "more practical" plan.

O'Malley, who pioneered major league ball in Los Angeles, deplored the American's "hasty action," and added: "Another full baseball schedule would wreck baseball in Los Angeles."

"We are aware there'll be problems," said Medinger, "but we feel we can surmount them."

Although no prospective buyers for the Los Angeles and Washington franchises have been identified, it was learned Hank Greenberg and Bill Veeck will land the Los Angeles plum after selling their Chicago White Sox stock.

FOUR IN SIGHT

There are at least four possible purchasers of the Washington franchise. They include Admiral John Bergen, board chairman of the corporation which owns Madison Square Garden.

The American League's surprising action brought censure from still another quarter. Bill Shea, founder of the defunct Continental League, chaired the owners with "revenging" on an agreement. "We built a rooting the Continental group, and "committing a disservice" to baseball.

"The whole thing was done to get even with O'Malley," he shouted, "but it was done at the expense of the Continental League." He said the American League owners went back on their promise to accept only Continental League franchise holders.

Frick, in effect, denied this by saying he had been assured the Continental group was consulted in other matters. The Continental League had included Toronto.

AT THE PARK — Jeffrey Hunter, right, and Bill Williams capture Sesume Hayakawa as a Japanese general on Saipan, in climactic scene of "Hell to Eternity". Hunter portrays Marine Pfc. Guy Gabaldon, credited with taking more than 1,000 prisoners, single-handed during the inland battle. David Janssen, Vic Damone, Patricia Owens, John Larch, Richard Eyer, and Wilhelm Yaka are co-starred with Hunter. The big war attraction opens at two theatres Monday, Century, Trenton and Park Theatre, Belleville.

AT THE BELLE — Bing Crosby and Fabian are roommates in the freshmen dorm in the first all-time fun show, "High Time", a Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe Color film co-starring Tuesday Weld and Nicole Maurey, showing tonight and Saturday at the Belle Theatre.

Debbie Reynolds Makes TV Debut in Hour-Long Special

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Debbie Reynolds of the motion pictures made her television debut Thursday night on ABC with a special hour's program that was practically all a variety show.

Miss Reynolds is a cute, vivacious, comedy actress and singer who dances well and sings appealingly. But except for a moment here and there, it was a dull and uninspired hour.

The trouble was that Debbie didn't have much good material with which to demonstrate her talents.

Her imitation of Zsa Zsa Gabor doing a little cooking and parody was amusing and her solo impression of a teen-ager on her first date was another bright spot. Walter Brennan and Charles Ruggles turned up in a tedious sketch which didn't improve when they all sang and danced. The sets were undistinguished, the music and dance numbers were pedestrian.

We have been hearing about the large amount of money spent for the program — $250,000 to $300,000 were the figures mentioned—and the program was, alas, likely to have taken much effort to put together.

Neither the expenditures nor the effort showed.

With the return of Goodman Ace to the Perry Como fold, the hour-long variety show has taken on a fine gloss. Wednesday night's show was a particularly handsome one—including as attractive and talented guest stars Andy Williams, Jane Powell and Thelma Ritter. But I wish Ace would do something about that interlude in which Debbie comes on and the unseen Frank Gallup.

Will Televise Grid Games

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC said Thursday it will televise all playoff games this year in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union, at least two of them on a coast-to-coast network.

The second game of the Big Four's two - game final series Nov. 19 will be seen in the west if there is no WIFU game that day.

The second game of the best-of-three WIFU finals will be carried on the eastern network at 9:30 p.m. Nov. 16 and the third game, if necessary, would be carried in the east following the Nov. 19 Big Four game.

FINE KUNTZ

WINNIPEG (CP) — Halfback Bobby Kuntz of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football league has been $75 for conduct resulting in a match penalty, Canadian Football League commissioner G. Sidney Halter said Thursday night.

Tigers Seek Paul Richards Says Paper

DETROIT (AP) — The Free Press said Thursday night Detroit Tigers are trying to sign Paul Richards as general manager club to replace the departed Joe Gordon.

Richards is manager of Baltimore Orioles and has a 1961 contract.

Earlier Thursday, the Times said it had learned that Bill Rigney, former manager of the Francisco Giants, would be sought to manage the Tigers.

The Times said confirmation of Rigney's selection at $30,000 a year would come shortly from John E. Fetzer, who owns controlling interest in the Detroit Baseball Company.

The Free Press said Rick Furtell, Tigers acting general manager and James Campbell, a club vice-president, left Detroit for Phoenix, Ariz., "to try to woo Paul Richards into accepting one of his contract to manage Baltimore next season in exchange for a lush five-year pact at Detroit."

PARIS PRODUCTION

Jazz trumpeter Louis Armstrong stars in Paris Blues, a United Artists' movie which starts production in Paris this month.

John Mills Makes Hollywood But Only as a Babysitter

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Thirty dairy farm as hour's drive from years late, John Mills has made London. The actor has resisted it to Hollywood for—of all things—a job of baby-sitting.

One of England's most distinguished actors, Mills has never made a film in Hollywood. But he might have been a permanent resident.

"Fox wanted me to come here to play in Cavalcade, he recalled. "It was a temptation. After all, I would have played the role I created in England, which Noel Coward wrote for me.

"But the studio wanted me to sign a straight seven-year deal. That frightened me. I had only been on the stage for 18 months. I decided to stay in England and learn my craft. And I did. I remained in the theatre for 10 years, and I've never regretted my decision."

What brings him to Hollywood now? None other than his talented daughter Hayley, a sensation as a new Pollyanna. Mills has enjoyed a rare two-month vacation while his 14-year-old has been making her second film for Walt Disney, Pettticoat Junction and Bluejeans. Her father also starred for Disney in Swiss Family Robinson, made last year in The West Indies.

TALENTED FAMILY

Mills and his playwright wife talked about their talented family. Juliet, 18, is also an accomplished actress, having appeared on Broadway in Five Finger Exercise. Not yet on the boards is Jonathan, 10, although he made an excellent test for Disney.

The Mills home is a 450-acre advice is more his residence to another country for a tax advantage.

"I couldn't do it," he said. "Yes, our taxes are high; I get more expense from every pound, have been told by my advisers to live elsewhere, but I couldn't stand knowing I could only stay in England a certain number of weeks.

"Besides, the children need roots. Though they do a lot of travelling they still return to their own home and their own rooms. They have an identity. I wonder what will happen to those children who grow up in Switzerland. They won't know who they are."

BENNY'S VIOLIN

Jack Benny will be violin soloist with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra at its 30th anniversary concert Nov. 1.

Voters Okay Sunday Sport In Winnipeg
WINNIPEG (CP)—Voters in Winnipeg and neighboring St. James apparently handed a lawful of headaches to Manitoba's attorney - general Wednesday when they approved Sunday sport.
The attorney - general now must decide, for example, whether or not a jazz concert of rock 'n' roll session contribute to Manitoba culture, and should be allowed to charge for Sunday performances. He also must decide whether professional football or hockey teams are "non-profit" organizations.
Deputy Attorney - General D. M. K. Kay said Thursday "courts would have to decide" most of these questions. Mr. Kay said he did not think, personally, that jazz cohorts of rock 'n' roll sessions have any semblance of culture.
Mr. Kay said he "wouldn't know" whether or not professional hockey or football could be considered "non-profit."
Admittance may be charged, but the event must be sponsored by a non-profit organization. No player over 21 can take part in the series more than half his annual income from the sport.
This would allow junior hockey but professional hockey games would be out. But the juniors could play; charge admission and the professional Warriors of the Western Hockey League could appear as an "added attraction."

ATTENDANCE WORRIES

SUDBURY (CP) — Unless attendance at Eastern Professional Hockey League games improves, the area commission announced Thursday, a special emergency meeting will have to be called within three weeks to discuss the financial picture.

Astrological Forecast

Saturday, October 29, 1960
By CAROLL RIGHTER

General Tendencies: This is your day to forego fun and to take a good look at whatever has to do with your surroundings and improve them greatly. Be sure you make all art, music, cultural objects and other interests exactly as suit you the most. Add touch of paint where needed. Tonight is fine for loved friend, satisfactory pleasures oodlets.

- Aries (March 21 to April 19) This is the ideal day to put surroundings in finer order, or get experts to give you the finest ideas. P.M. be sure you go out sociably to the most formal function you can enjoy and profit from. Be poised, calm.

- Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Try not to be jealous of anyone or anything today. Also, help those who come to you for assistance. Then be sure you go to some place you have never been before where you can garner the information you want. Adopt the modern.

- Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Handle any matters connected with the general public today and steer clear of any paleface speaking associate. P. M. plan a more modern and efficient mode of operation where job is concerned. Then be happy with loved one.

- Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Take health treatments in early morning. Then handle personal affairs wisely. After lunch is fine for motoring or enjoying some satisfying sports or get into the modern swing. P.M. take associate out to dinner at a nice club.

- Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Steer clear of pleasure that will be very costly and not give you the chance to analyze your true financial position so that you can plan more wisely for the future. Figure out how to reach your goals more swiftly. Think and study.

- Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Avoid that tense situation at home by going out early into the interesting world of action. Good for shopping and seeing busy people who cannot be reached during busy week. P.M. have fun with good friends at favorite sports.

- Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Handle important personal financial affairs instead of wasting time with gossips. P.M. please loved one by going along with any plans he or she may have in mind.

- Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Every opportunity is yours now to put aside financial and business worries and get off to the recreation that most pleases you. Do just that after dressing in the height of fashion and very comfortably. Have fun.

- Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Listen to the good advice of a member of your family and follow it! Carry for fine results instead of trying to force your own views. P.M. make plans to acquire a greater abundance, and to spare.

- Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) It will do no good to worry over your problems. Get early and stop, visit, do all the constructive things that will help you to get ahead. P.M. fine for doing as you please with regard to any social plans you may have.

- Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Steer clear of that gossip today and save valuable time. Get property fixed up so that it increases in value. P.M. fine for clubs, charming romantic interludes, life-is-lotus with delightful persons.

- Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Spend time in the day putting your appearance and health at its very best. Then call on key people who can be of assistance where information and support is concerned. P.M. help the poor individual who comes to you.

If your child is born today . . the interest in life will mainly be in fields of culture, art and music, but it is necessary you also give a good foundational education in the practical side of life. Don't neglect religious training for a more happy life. There will be a wonderful ability to study any project and whittle it down to a practical and workable basis. Much success is in this chart, for there an understanding and loving parent. . . . . (c) 1960 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CATTLE STAMPEDED

NEWARK (AP)—Two hundred head of cattle from Scotland stampeded through this Nottinghamshire, England, market town today to the River Trent. The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals blamed the government railway system for shipping the cattle without water. As they were being unloaded from railway cars, they smelled the river and broke loose.

Sunday School Lesson

God Knows the Inside Facts

By ROY L. SMITH

A very great deal of cynicism and defeatism is going about in our world under the name of realism. The realist is the man who thinks he knows the facts and faces them. His weakness lies in the fact that he usually overlooks some of the most important facts—perhaps the most important.

A cynic who boasted of his realism was discussing an evil situation, which existed in his town with the pastor of the city's leading church. "I am a realist", he concluded. "I believe in looking the facts squarely in the face".

"I too am a realist", the preacher replied. "I too believe in looking the facts in the face. Between us, however, there is one important difference. I believe in looking all the facts in the face; you believe in looking at only a few. And you leave out the most important fact in this case. The fact is that God is active in this situation, and He has some very decided preferences".

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for October 30: "Our Response To God", Psalm 1; Romans 13, 14.

WHICH THE WIND DRIVES AWAY

It is a fact, of course, that righteousness has suffered many reverses in our world. Honest men have been defrauded, and the thieves have never been brought to justice. Virtuous people have been slandered, and have carried the wounds to their graves. Lies have been circulated while the truth has never caught up. Heresies are revived almost every year which the past buried, without honors, hundreds of years ago.

The wind which carries the chaff away is very comforting to the honest man. It means that there is something temporary about every evil.

Gone are the hordes of those who carouse through the streets of Paris, shouting their praises of Reason, impersonated by a harlot, Joseph Stalin once the terror of half the world, has been down-graded, Benito Mussolini was dragged obscenely through the streets of Milan and Adolph Hitler died by his own bunker.

God's wind is forever blowing; the chaff is forever being separated from the wheat.

WAY OF THE RIGHTEOUS

The word "Knows" which appears toward the close of the first Psalm means that God is much more than aware of the facts. He has weighed them, evaluated them, and understands all their implications.

Back in the early days of the Ku Klux Klan the sheriff of a highly populous county of the midwest, anticipating trouble, applied for membership in the Klan and was admitted. From time to time he attended meetings, observed the operations, and familiarized himself with the methods of the organization.

Then, came a day when the Grand Jury found it necessary to investigate some outrages, and in that emergency the sheriff appointed as a witness to say, "I know!" His testimony did not consist of guesswork, hearsay, or rumor. He had been on the inside and he knew what the facts were.

When the Psalmist says that the Lord knows the way of the righteous, he is saying that God is operating on the basis of indisputable facts. Our society need corroborating testimony. He has first hand information. He knows.

WAY OF THE WICKED

There is always something brutal about the way of the wicked. It inevitably leads to oblivion, disaster and death. It is not that the wicked themselves always suffer; it is, rather, that the way of the wicked is a one-way street that always heads in one direction.

The crook seems to enjoy so many of the good things of life; the embezzler often have a considerable part of the funds left when they get out of prison; the demagogues seem to have a way of getting the votes.

In the end, however, the way of the wicked is sure to perish. There was a time when the common slogan of business was "Let the buyer beware". That is to say, the buyer had no other security than that which was guaranteed to him by his own wit.

That day is past and pure food and drug laws, corrupties and trade-marks, employers' liability laws, and a thousand other safeguards have joined in outcasting the way of the wicked.

Crofton

CROFTON — Mrs. W. J. Gray and John Mallored, to Kingston on Monday and spent the day with Mrs. Henry Vanguesen and Mrs. Ina Holmes of Gleneora were guests of the former's daughter Mrs. D. S. Munro, Mr. Munro and Keith on Wednesday.

Mrs. Victor Boogard spent Monday with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Alyea at Pleasant Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Decker of Mountain View airport spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Munro and Keith.

Mr. Geo. Hutson spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Emery and Dennis at Roslin.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Moran were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Munro on Thursday evening.

Marine Exercises Bring Invasion Charges By Cuba

1,400 Land at Naval Base For Rest and Recreation

HAVANA (AP)—The arrival of a contingent of U.S. Marines at Guantanamo naval base today for the weekend was expected to launch Premier Fidel Castro in to new charges that the United States is grooming as invasion force.

Cuban officials showed great interest in the announcement from Washington that 1,450 Marines on manoeuvres in the Caribbean will land at the U.S. base on Cuba's far east end of Oriente province.

The Cubans did not comment. But Castro was to make a television speech today.

Meanwhile, the government-controlled press said the 200 Marines already at Guantanamo were polishing up their training with combat exercises. A Marine band has been flown in and there have been injured by mines planted along the perimeter of the base, the reports said.

Cuban authorities at Santiago, the provincial capital, also appear to be concerned that the United States was preparing a fake attack against the base to justify installation as a pretext for armed intervention in Cuba.

U.S. ASKS INQUIRY

The U.S. state department Monday asked the Organization of American States to investigate charges that thousands of tons of Soviet - bloc army have been shipped to Cuba and that Communist technicians to train Cuban militia are in the country. A committee was set up last August to look into U.S.-Cuban disputes.

The UN announced that the fall General Assembly would meet Monday to hear a report appeal by Cuba for a quick hearing on its charges that the United States plans an armed invasion.

In Moscow, Tass said Nikita Khrushchev told Cuban reporters his promise of rocket support to Cuba in event of armed aggression "should be considered-of-premises".

Earlier, Revolucion, the Castro organ, said Khrushchev was asked if Soviet rockets were ready to assist Cuba in case of attack and the premier gave an answering: "Unquestionably . . . but it is hoped that there will be no aggression, as we will do everything possible to avoid using our rocket arms."

INVASION REPORT DENIED

Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes denied press reports of an invasion fleet assembling in Puerto Barrios and part of Puerto Barrios were "confined to barracks".

The Cuban press almost ignored the departure Friday night of U.S. ambassador Philip Bonsal, recalled to Washington for consultations. He was expected to be home here early in 1959.

The dismissal left smiling, amid jeers from doctworers as he boarded the West Palm Beach ferry and with a clear view of the lines of Cubans waiting at the embassy for visas to leave for the United States. Applications from about 45,000, are being handled at a rate of 100 a day.

STEAL $50 TIRES

HAMILTON (CP) — A tractor-trailer loaded with 550 automobile tires was reported stolen. The stolen Thursday night from the freight yards of western freight lines. Police said the tires, the truck, empty and abandoned on highway 20, 10 miles southeast of the city.

Vatican Avoids Being Involved In U.S. Election

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican has carefully avoided becoming involved in the U.S. elections, in which a Roman Catholic for the second time is a candidate for president.

Pope John has uttered no public word on the subject.

Observatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, rarely initiates to express its opinion on elections in Italy but it has published no editorial word on the United States contest.

The general impression here is that the Vatican newspaper has even played down straight news coverage of it normally would give a U.S. election.

Despite all the Vatican press office for comment upon the elections was gently but firmly turned aside.

When Puerto Rico's bishops issued a pastoral letter forbidding Roman Catholics to vote for Governor Luis Munoz Marin's pro-labor Democratic party, the Vatican officially said nothing.

An authoritative spokesman did issue a statement backing the bishops' right "to inquest, to keep faithful, in religious and moral matters, those directives which in their pastoral conscience they consider necessary and useful."

The statement, which in fact came from the Vatican secretary of state office but was described as not official, pointed out that the bishops' letter was restricted to Puerto Rico.

Barrie Couple Found Dead Inside Car

BRADFORD (CP)—A 23-year-old Barrie man, police said, because he had failed his accountancy examinations was unable to cope to death with his wife last night on a country road near here.

Police listed the deaths of William G. Creighton and his school-teacher wife, Mary Loreen, 23, as murder and suicide.

The dead youth's father, Jack Creighton, said he was "distraught" because of his examinations and the couple had decided to tour the southern United States to "cheer up" the younger Creighton.

Police said Creighton was clutching a .22 rifle when the bodies were found beside the Creighton car.

UN Troops Told To Open Fire If Resisted

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — United Nations military secretary said today UN units in The Congo have received orders to fire at Congolese troops resisting their authority.

UN officers said the order specified that any opposition to UN efforts to maintain law and order will be considered an act of aggression.

In the past, United Nations standing orders permitted the use of arms only in self-defence.

Meanwhile, Associated Press correspondent Michael Hamilton was taken under UN protection today after a group of armed Congolese soldiers attempted to break into his room.

PEARSON CALLS FEDERAL GOVT. CONFUSED, INEPT

Economic, Defence Policies Are Flayed

THUNSO, Que. (CP)—Liberal Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson flayed the federal government for "confused, inept and inefficient" handling of unemployment, finances and defence at a political rally here Friday night.

Speaking on behalf of Gaston Clairmont, the Liberal candidate in Monday's federal byelection, Le Labelle riding, he told some 300 supporters in the town hall that four years of Conservative rule had broken down the prosperity inherited from the Liberal administration.

He used Mr. Diefenbaker's words in a television talk last week as a springboard for his attack.

"The prime minister told us 'You ain't seen nothing yet' . . . and he spoke the truth. When do we start.

TURNED INTO DEFICITS

The Conservative government had turned surpluses into deficits, he said.

When the Liberals had gone out of power the unemployment insurance fund stood at $221,000,000 and soon there'll be none $22,000,000 and soon there'll be none left.

He said the government had created a new word for recession.

"They call it a stilling of adjustment,' he said.

In fact, unemployment in Canada was greater than in western European countries and in the U.S.

HITS AT BOMARC

He also hit at the government Bomarc missile program.

"You may see millions of dollars spent on this kind of unwise defence."

If the Liberals were returned to power, a new look would be taken at defence "from the bottom-up," he said.

The election was oldie necessary by the appointment of Henri Courtemanche, secretary of state, to the Senate.

The Conservative candidate is Jean Lapierre, Montreal insurance broker from Mont Laurier.

MAY INDICATE

Observers feel the result of the election will give a strong indication of the chances of each party carrying the province in the next federal election.

The election constitutes, in a way, a test for the government's provincial wing which has lost some ground in the province since the Liberal victory in the provincial election last June.

Special Winter Hunting Season Not Allowed

TORONTO (CP)—There will be no special winter hunting season at Bonnechere Yard, a deer yarding area of about 25 miles west of Pembroke on the southern shore of Algonquin Park, although 142 deer died of starvation there last winter.

H. G. Lambden, lands and forests game management supervisor, said Friday residents around the tract have objected to suggestions for a winter hunt and the department has agreed to their wishes.

He said the residents refuse to believe the mortality figures put out by the department which indicate 37 deer died on each of the yard's 21 square miles.

Mr. Lambden said a special midwinter hunting season would have reduced the herd at the tract so deer would not starve.

Canadian Signalmen Now in Congo Will Return on Rotation in January

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—Canadian signalmen serving with the United Nations force in The Congo were told Friday that some of them will be returning home in January.

Rotation of the 140-man contingent will begin six months after the 57th Signals Unit assembled at Camp Petawawa, Ont. It will be spread out over six months to maintain continuity of service in the UN force.

Priority lists for return home are being established on the basis of individual wishes of the signalmen, personal problems and over-all requirements.

The soldiers were told that no announcement would be made of a special Congo allowance, but Ottawa reports quote army officials as saying the allowance will not be less than the $20 a month paid to Canadian members of UN Emergency Force serving in the Gaza Strip. Signalmen now are paid $1.30 daily by the United Nations, plus regular army and foreign service allowance.

Announcement of the rotation was received with mixed feelings in the Canadian squad. Some want to return to Canada as soon as possible but others, who expected one year's service here prefer to remain.

The signals unit was also informed Friday of an administrative reorganization under their new unit commander, Col. Paul D. Smith of Edmonton and Vancouver.

Commissioner Views Tariff Boosts With Reservation

OTTAWA (CP) — The royal commission study of Canada's automotive industry closed Friday its public phase Friday. Now chairman is Vincent Bladen.

Vincent Bladen, University of Toronto economist, the one-man commission, hopes to have special recommendations ready by March 31. His decision may well apply to secondary industry as a whole, some briefs suggested.

Week-long questioning by Canadian foreign auto producers, Canadian parts and fabricators, pointed to Dr. Bladen's interest in finding whether a broader, more greater volume can be obtained for Canada's economy without losing with United States plants.

He made it equally plain that he was by no means an all - out Canadian prices, such as tariff boosts, was viewed with reservation.

Canada-U.S. auto integration is "exciting in its possibilities but worrying too," Dr. Bladen said. Integration, he suggested would involve telling Canadian auto producers: "If you want to produce cars subsidiaries; "If you undersell you'll be by Canada an amount (in parts) equal to what you'll let you import cars and other parts from." Integration would be required of the two.

More than 80 briefs were submitted to the body.

Generally, the producers, parts and cars—asked protection against U.S. imports. Opposed to higher tariffs were government officials from Saskatchewan, labor, farmers and other non-protectionist exporters.

The industry case for a full revision on grounds that American-market considerations, based on "built-in obsolescence" of style changes at high cost, left a Canadian market vacuum soon filled by foreign makes. Two witnesses proposed nationalization if necessary.

The commission was established against this background:

The industry is centred in Ontario. The big three in production, in order of volume, are General Motors of Canada Limited—turning out parts as well—Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited and Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited.

Ford and GM also sell here British cars made by subsidiaries.

Studebaker-Packard of Canada Limited, producing cars, and International Harvester Company of Canada Limited, turning out trucks and station wagons, are the others. American Motors (Canada) Limited will start producing Ramblers near Brampton next year.

Canadian production totalled 605,587 vehicles last year against a peak 629,000 in 1953. Imports totalled 165,564 against 58,475 in 1953, and 139,208 of the 1960 imports were European passenger cars, mostly from Britain and West Germany.

Canada exported 11,708 cars compared with 68,111 in 1946 and sold 87,000,000 worth of vehicles and components to the U.S. compared with American imports worth $1,000,000,000.

Employment in the industry has fallen below 42,000 this year compared with 54,000 in 1953.

British cars enter Canada duty-free and their imported parts are subject to 17½-per-cent duty plus the excise tax of 9½ per cent.

perimental cancer; the action of drugs on the heart muscle, liver damage and of course, disease and insulin research.

Dr. Best is famous mostly for his co-discovery with Sir Frederick Banting of insulin, in 1921. But he is also responsible for discovering the substance named histamine, and, with Canadian colleagues, for the discovery of choline. His work has also helped delays blood clotting and is used in preventing thrombosis is also well known.

Trade With Common Market To Boom Says Trade Expert

PARIS (CP) — The man who is the most powerful trade minister Canada has ever had said Friday night supressed confidence that Canada's sales to the European Common Market community are on the upswing.

"We believe the Common Market is just beginning to expand," Deputy Trade Minister James Roberts told a press conference.

"The Common Market nations are growing faster, richer and greater impetus from this point. As their markets grow, we believe our exports will grow. We believe and accept this."

The Minister Friday wound up its three-week tour of the major European Common Market.

Aim of this bloc is to create a free trade area among its members, while giving protection privileged by a single tariff wall.

Roberts said the two-member mission had three broad aims:

To study the newly-developing trading area and to assess its future impact on Canada's export trade.

To determine how Canada's industrial and primary products producers can make adjustments to continue to maintain a foothold in the European market.

To stress to European businessmen the importance of Canada as a politically - stable and continuing source of supply for raw materials.

The mission also wanted to influence European businessmen against exporting the development of liberal trading policies to Common Market.

"We believe the objectives of the mission were achieved," Mr. Roberts said.

The four took place during the Geneva negotiations on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) which Canadian negotiators are seeking to ward off the effects of common external tariff on products coming into the six-country market of 165 million.

FOUR CHARGES LAID

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Morris Dean, 30, of Hamilton was charged Friday with failing to remain at the scene of an accident, driving while his licence was under suspension, drunk driving, and criminal negligence causing death. Provincial police there charged a car Thursday night after St. Thomas police arrested Dean, who will appear in an Ayl-mer court Tuesday.

12 KILLED AS PLANE PLUNGES INTO MOUNTAIN

Aircraft Rolled Over On Back in Air

FRENCHTOWN, Mont. (AP) —Investigators sought an explanation today for the crash of a Northwest Airlines DC-4 passenger plane which overturned in air, plunging against a mountainside.

The eight passengers, three crew members and a hitchhiking stewardess died Friday in the burning wreckage scattered over a quarter-mile.

Only low in cloudy weather, the airliner bound for Minneapolis for Portland, Ore., was due to make an instrument landing at Missoula, 16 miles southeast of Western Montana.

"It started to roll over on its back," Mrs. Sue Hough said after watching the crash. "It hit with a tremendous noise and fire."

CRASHES UPSIDE DOWN

"As the plane headed toward the timber," said another witness, "Dave Anderson, the winged over on its back and headed for the ground against the mountain."

The first of flame lit up the pine-covered mountainside a quarter-mile from where Anderson, 27, and Ray Ness, 30, were hunting.

Like a roaring tank, the four-engined plane skidded through the timber, leaving a trail uprooted 100 yards down the hillside. A door was flipped into a clump of trees a half-mile away.

The bodies of all aboard the plane were burned beyond recognition, coroner Haigh Gardner said.

Almost within sight are an emergency landing strip and a 6,000-foot field on which another plane might have landed.

Defence Minister Reaffirms Faith In Army Militia

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Hellyer reaffirmed Friday his faith in the militia.

Any reduction in the army in militia organization" will be made only if unavoidable by the national survival role, he said in Montreal.

"If a nuclear attack took place, national survival would become the primary task of all the armed forces," he said.

"It is in the overall interest of peace that the Canadian Army should be kept up to strength and well trained to provide the assist in forming the backbone of the mobilization base for such forces."

Mr. Harkness gave no indication of the reason for issuing the directives.

He said sub-units of militia in some city regiments may be formed in some surrounding major urban centres, "thus broadening the basis for their recruitments in the event of extended."

"Their formation would in no sense diminish the importance of units in the city where they are but, on the contrary, would give the urban units an improved operational capability."

Fatally Injured

SIMCOE (CP) — Robert Palmer, 20, of Delhi was killed instantly when he fell from a moving freight train at Simcoe. The injured Friday night when his car rolled over in a ditch.

Police said the driver lost control of the vehicle on fog. The girl, not identified, escaped injury.

World Believes Russia Well Ahead Of U.S. in Space, Will Hold Lead

NEW YORK (AP)— A recent survey of world opinion was reported today to have found wide belief that the Soviet Union is well ahead of the United States in its space program.

The New York Times says the survey was one of a series made periodically for the U.S. Information Agency and that the USIA, report on it was made Oct. 10.

The newspaper says it was marked confidential and has not been released publicly. However the Times says it had obtained a copy. The Times says this was based on interviews with persons in 10 countries—Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Japan and Mexico.

The report said that in no place in more than 15 per cent of those polled believe the U.S. was leading.

The Times quotes the report on the survey as saying at one point:

". . . Moscow now is viewed as being . . . superior to the U.S. in military capability . . . There has been a loss of confidence in American capacity for world leadership."

Lack Of Accord On Key Issues Seen In Talks

Premiers Going Home With No Commitments

OTTAWA (CP)—Three days of federal-provincial talks on two key issues, unemployment and tax relations, ended Friday with the same result on both scores: Lack of agreement.

Provincial spokesmen bombarded Prime Minister Diefenbaker Friday with proposals for federal aid to combat the unemployment situation.

Labor Minister Starr dismissed their ideas as local ane-quilting appeals for more federal money. The provinces, for their part, did not accept Mr. Diefenbaker's plan for a new committee to study the problem. Most of the premiers termed it a needless duplication of effort.

The discussion on unemployment appeared to be as fruitless as the two-day series of talks on how to carve up the rich federal tax fields of income tax and succession duty.

The provincials, speaking to reporters, indicated nothing new has happened Friday to bring provincial agreement on the sweeping federal proposals that the provinces withdraw from their own share of these taxes. NO TAX WAIVER

The prime minister said the conference agreed to use the $100,000,000 in unemployed general tax viewpoints by means of consultation between him and the premiers.

It appeared that the next getting-together will be only the premiers. Premier Lesage of Quebec was presenting a provincial conference in Quebec City Nov. 7 and 8.

He has also invited Mr. Diefenbaker to come—or send a federal representative. The prime minister indicated he won't attend since "it's a provincial meeting." British Columbia's Premier Bennett has said he won't go unless Ottawa is represented.

Mr. Diefenbaker, asked about chances for another tax conference, said that has been left for them to decide. Premier Lesage said reporters at the prime minister had informed the federal-Quebec conference, that another conference of this would be convened.

DECISION

Mr. Diefenbaker said the goal is to reach a decision well in advance of the next budget on tax - sharing arrangements on the five fields. He indicated that Ottawa does the tax-collecting, paying the provinces an agreed share. Ottawa now collects the direct tax field.

So far, the provinces have called for a continuation of that sharing system, with a larger share for the provinces. The federal proposal would have them levying their own taxes and collect the existing share, worth about $400,000,000 a year. If they wanted more money, they would have to take the responsibility of boosting taxes.

Friday's unemployment discussion was held with only the Premiers Lesage and Bennett.

Premier Roblin of Manitoba Starr at a press conference it would be "premature" to call while ideas as the prime minister's round-table conference on the subject would be earlier in the week.

PREMIERS CRITICISES

There was criticism too from the premiers.

Mr. Roblin at conference Premier Bennett told Mr. Diefenbaker to be sure that the federal government will lose the next election unless it gets cracking on an effective program to counter unemployment.

The prime minister said his proposed committee on unemployment would "act as a clearing house" for information without making any final decisions.

Ontario's Premier Frost at first supported the idea, thinking the minister would be handled by an existing committee—a combined federal committee of federal and provincial ministers. But when he realized the plan was for a new body he said

Tonight's The Night!

Hickory, dickory dock,
It's time to change your clock!

And do not forget to do it, because the clocks had been wailing for since last April when decree forced you to lose an hour's sleep.

Tonight you get your revenge.

Just in case circumstances tempt you to forget, a federal danged clock back an hour tonight you go out tonight.

Go ahead, set it early, fall in front of the TV set, what-have-you.

But don't forget to take your naked eyeballs off your ear. Time, the hour is yours. Gulp it down.

Set that clock back tonight!

Ghosts and Goblins to Roam City Monday Seeking Pennies For Children in Many Lands

Monday night is Hallowe'en.

Remember? That's the night the weirdest of the weird, the hobgoblins, the banshees and ordinary ghosts are on the prowl.

That is the night you and I "shell out".

That is the night the moppet raiders come out in the open. That is the night you pay toll with candy, apples and sweetstuffs to the nocturnal pirates.

But before you fall in fury with these goodies, bear a new angle on this Hallowe'en business.

Actually it will not cost you a cent more unless you enter into the mood. And you will be when you read this.

The best part of this deal is the young "pirates" are co-operating in the fullest extent.

Okay, buy them apples, candy and whatnot. Give them anything but money. Fiction knows no desires.

But here is the main item. And you will like it.

When you're knocking up with Hallowe'en goodies for the pirate bandits, lay in a supply of pennies.

Coppers, Gerds, you know, the biggest phase of the coin of the realm.

And here is why. Note carefully.

The youngsters who will call on you with their "Trick or Treat" are not "Trick or Treat" have something or somebody else in their neighborhood.

They are landing or giving their Hallowe'en gifts to the kiddies of their own age in the countries of the world where children do not know the meaning of Hallowe'en, where treats are virtually unknown and even necessities are scarce.

Behind their grotesque masks and mummer costumes these Belleville youngsters will be doing a humanitarian job.

Some of them will be shy. Others be quite pushy.

That is where you step in. It is up to you to fill the bags full of pennies you should have and doin them out to the youngsters. Dimes and even the dollar will not give you 100 penalties.

On the other hand, do not restrict yourself to pennies. Half-cents, quarters and "folding green" lettuce will be welcome. You can toss in a cheque, too.

These youngsters are part of the UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund).

They are working wholeheartedly with the UNICEF set up in Belleville. The UNICEF movement was started in Canada in 1947 when some $116,000 was raised.

It caught on, especially with Canada's youngsters. Funds have mushroomed from that year to $500,000 donated in 1959. This year should see a larger amount.

Heading the Belleville UNICEF committee is Mrs. Barbara A. Wilson. With Mrs. Wilson are Mrs. George Mountford, Mrs. Walter Rollin, Mrs. F. Pickering, Mrs. F. R. Clarke, Mrs. R. Nemitz, Mrs. D. Mackenzie, Mrs. H. Bowerman, Mrs. Charles Scott, Mr. F. A. Noble and Mr. R. C. Harvey.

Home and School Associations in the city are co-operating to cover the school areas.

Cub Packs of the city are co-operating with their fellow-youngsters. The proceeds from the Show-Town Dance at Club Canara were donated to the fund last night. UNICEF dance will be held in the Recreation Centre Monday evening.

"Kick 'em High, Tackle low,
Are we ready?
Let's go!"

This was the shout of the many jubilant R.C.I.V.S. students who lined the sides of the Bayside football field last week despite near-freezing weather to watch both our juniors and seniors outdo their Trenton rivals. Those students who made a special effort to attend were not at all disappointed by the exciting game.

To better prepare the student body (especially the girls!) for the all-important rugby games against Quinte (Oct. 27) and Moira (Nov. 3) the Boys' Athletic Society, at the Wednesday morning assembly, showed us the fundamental principles of offensive and defensive formation. The junior and senior team members, as well as the cheerleaders, were individually introduced. The program was neatly rounded off by "pep talk" by our own Mr. Mott. (Didn't he look remarkably like Andy Griffith ! !)

COUNCILS TAKE STEPS TO ENSURE FUN ON HALLOWE'EN NIGHT

The "Hallowe'en Howl" will be sponsored by the Students' Councils in conjunction with the high school Radio Clubs, the Recreation Commission and the police department at Club Canara Oct. 31, from 8.00 to 11.30 p.m.

Radio station CJBQ will broadcast the dance from 8.30 to 9.30. Dancing will be to the top 100 records, and prizes will be given out for both novelty dances and costumes. All proceeds from this dance will be donated to UNICEF.

As another service to the community, the RCIVS Students' Council will present a Tea Dance on Nov. 2, from 4 to 8 p.m. The dance receipts will be contributed to the United Appeal.

Girls' interform volleyball was climaxed last week with grade 11D winning the upper-school championship. House league basketball will commence shortly. Still in the playoff stages but by this time next week results should be in.

In closing, might we submit a rather pertinent quotation? "The most valuable result of education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you ought to do, when it ought to be done, whether you have to do it or not."—Furbes.

REV. WILLIAM HENRY SHADBOLT (Medoc)

Retired minister of The Standard Church of America and resident of Medoc for the past 11 years, Rev. William Henry Shadbolt died suddenly in Belleville General Hospital on Friday. He was in his 72nd year.

Born in Middlesex County, England, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shadbolt, he came to Canada at an early age and was ordained in the Ottawa district where he attended Annesley College. He was a member of the Standard Church Conference. He was of jovial disposition and was well liked in the Medoc area.

Before entering the ministry he was a station agent at Escarlata, Ontario, in the North Bay district.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alexanderina Beecham, two daughters, Mrs. Ernest (Jessie) Steenburg, of Brockville, Mrs. N. W. (Bessie) Warren, of Ottawa, Mrs. Arthur (Irene) Whiteman of Stirling, and Reginald, all of Ottawa.

Also surviving are two brothers, Mrs. Emily Summers and Mrs. Anne Weber, both of England; three sisters, also in England; six great grandchildren.

Resting at the Reynolds Funeral Home, Medoc; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this issue.

ERNEST JOHN MITCHELL

CAMPBELLFORD — The funeral of Ernest John Mitchell was held from Tabernacle United Church, Campbellford and Campbellford on Tuesday afternoon. Mitchell died in Campbellford Memorial Hospital on Saturday. He was 77.

Rev. Mr. Hall officiated and Mitchell and Elizabeth Martin, Mr. Mitchell was born in Belmont Township, where he lived all his life. He was a farmer there for many years before moving to Campbellford where he lived actively in the various church organizations.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mary Jane Goode, one son, Ernest Seymour; one brother, Herbert S. Mitchell of Belmont and one sister, Mrs. Fred Slollery of Seymour. There are also three grandchildren.

The Rev. Gordon Whitehorne conducted the funeral service.

The bearers were Arthur Nelson, Maurice Bowerman, Jeffs, Bruce Grills, Jack Mitchell and Tam Chadwick. Burial was in English Line Cemetery.

City Delegates Attend Parley On Planning

The national planning conference of the Community Planning Association of Canada completed a four - day program in Hamilton on Thursday, October 27.

Mayor Lloyd Symington was attended by more than 300 delegates, from 10 provinces, many states and the British Isles.

Charles A. Maitland, city engineer, Dr. John Barlow, chairman of the Belleville Planning Board, E. R. Wightman, secretary - treasurer of the Belleville and District Planning Board, and T. S. Ransom, consultant to the planning board, attended the conference, returned with new ideas and increased enthusiasm.

Two major points were stressed throughout the conference. First was mainly devoted to the theme, "Planning For the Changing Communities," increased public information, and larger regional areas to be set up to serve the smaller communities.

Locally, the delegates hope to regain momentum in their city planning issues, planning board and its zoning committee, meetings, and editorial comment on area problems. The public library of Hamilton had a display of available planning literature and the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board will consider placing printed material in the local public library for public use. Coming meetings of every planning board will see new efforts to put planning problems and ideas before the public.

The idea of regional planning areas was developed by Municipal Affairs Minister Warrender, whose community planning branch now has a large voice in the form and manner of the growth and control of rural municipalities and whose influence will continue to grow. Though he received many ideas on regional development were presented as helpful guides of an advisory nature, some delegates expressed fears that federal and provincial regulations would replace simple advice to the detriment of local self-determination.

Ronald Taylor Is Found Dead Sitting in Truck

TRENTON — Ronald Taylor, 50, of 12 O'Clock Point, was found dead early Sunday morning in a truck in a service station garage on Dundas St., East, here.

Const. Roy Miller said he was checking properties along Dundas St. when he heard a motor in Large and Fetter's garage. Upon looking through a window he saw Mr. Taylor sitting in a truck. The constable smashed the window and called Hector Walters, who was across the street. Together the two men carried Mr. Taylor outside.

Const. George French arrived and applied artificial respiration, but was unable to revive Mr. Taylor. Coroner Dr. Ferguson declared him dead.

A post mortem was held today.

Revision Court Will Hear Some 81 Appeals

TRENTON — Town assessor Allan Campbell said yesterday that his department would immediately mail out notices to persons who appealed their assessments this year, advising them when their appeals would be considered by the Court of Revision, which sits on the evenings of November 8, 9, 10 and 15.

Chairman of this year's court is Councillor D. R. Fraser. Members are Coun. Lloyd Lancefield, Howard Asis, Harold Turvey, Harold Blakely and Fraser Milner of Mirco and Lassing, contractors. Mr. Mirco was appointed to the committee to replace Lloyd Worrall who resigned because of business pressures.

This year, 81 persons appealed their assessment. Last year, the assessment department conducted a complete re-assessment of the town, resulting in an alltime high number of 1960 appeals.

The industry in northeast Trenton, a cold storage plant, warehouse and a large garage and service station on Dundas St. East appealed, claiming coal dust damage to their roofs. Most residential appeals are on properties assessed for less than $5,000.

Two commercial appeals were heard in the afternoon after the owners had conferred with the assessor.

Lions Hear Salvation Army Lt.-Colonel

TRENTON — Lt.-Col. Stanley Coombes, commander of the mid-Ontario division of the Salvation Army, was the guest speaker at Thursday night's meeting of the Lions Club. He was introduced by Capt. A. T. Robinson of the local Salvation Army Citadel.

Lt.-Col. Genery spoke on his experiences in Newfoundland where he was principal of the Salvation Army Training College for nine years.

He said that during a recent visit to the province, he had noted the great improvement which had taken place since Newfoundland joined the other Canadian provinces. Roads have been built, existing roads improved, schools constructed and the erection of a large university commenced in St. John's, the capital. Now, young persons do not have to leave the province to gain an education. Secondary industries had been developed and jobs provided for young men and women. Training for doctors and nurses is available also.

Lt.-Col. Genery touched lightly on the work of the Salvation Army in Newfoundland. He said that it is the third largest Protestant denomination in the province.

The old system of separating the students in denominational schools is giving way to the public school system.

While in Newfoundland as head of the training college, Lt.-Col. Genery was second-in-command of all Salvation Army forces.

He was thanked by W. J. Houston.

107th Birthday

TRENTON — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and King Street United Church will both be marking 107th anniversaries on Sunday.

At St. Andrew's, the guest preacher will be Rev. Stuart Rose, secretary of lay services of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The R.C.A.F. Street, W/C the Rev. A. R. Mercer, who is stationed with the RCAF at Ottawa, will address the congregation at morning and evening services.

In Brighton, Trinity-St. Andrew's United Church celebrates its 112th anniversary on Nov. 3.

Attend Convention

TRENTON — Mrs. Harold Ketcher, president of the Trenton Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary and Mrs. Norma Spear, vice-president and chairman of the ways and means committee, have attended the 50th convention of the Ontario Women's Hospital Auxiliary Association at Toronto.

United Church Marks 84th Anniversary

Johnstown United Church held its 84th anniversary last Sunday morning with a fine attendance. The ladies did a splendid job in decorating. The flowers were many and beautiful.

Mrs. Alex Vanderwoort opened with choral music played "Near er My God Is Thee", in variations. The choir sang "Where By Galilee", with the Misses Gail Lohnes and Marion Bush singing a duet. The choir anthem was "Behold I Stand at the Door and Knock."

Mr. Brian Thrasher spoke on "The Sum of It", saying that, "Number 7 is a perfect number, and is used a great deal in the Bible — indicating completion. Also our forefathers settled here in '70. Three, equals the Holy Trinity, four, equals the four corners of the earth, and three equals past, present and future. Therefore 3 plus 4 plus 3 equals 10 which equals the 10 commandments."

Mr. Thrasher said "we have to ask ourselves what have we done with the Holy Trinity? What does it mean to you? Your forefathers must have shared the Holy Spirit for they must have sacrificed much. There must be a lack of the Holy Spirit in us if we say that our ancestors had more time for such things than we have".

"What do with the present is important", said Mr. Thrasher, "is the most deal with Christ now. Anniversary time is a time to renew objectives, and look forward for another 12 months. We must think of taking Spiritual vitamins, as we take all other kinds. We should have a little more family prayer be a little easier to live with, maybe take a Sunday School class. The work of Kingdom building should be the greatest joy one will ever know. Take the gospel to all corners of the world. One cannot have God's love without wanting to share it, for to help in mission, is to be healthy."

In the evening the church was filled. Mr. Thrasher spoke on "In Him the week are made strong", saying that "Christ took a week man and made him strong, and on his confession, Jesus said He would build His church, when a church lifts up the fallen, the church is called Church".

Misses Marion Bush and Gail Lohnes sang a duet, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere", and the choir anthem was, "Songs of Joy".

Mr. Thrasher commended Mrs. A. Vanderwoort on her good work with the choir.

Heavy Police Court Docket

CAMPBELLFORD — A heavy court docket kept magistrate's court in session here until the early evening on Thursday, Magistrate R. B. Baxter presided, with Harvey H. Brent appearing as Acting Crown Attorney.

James R. Smith, 19, of Toronto was convicted on a charge of racing with another auto. Smith pleaded not guilty but was found guilty and fined $50 and costs. The other driver entered a plea of guilty and admitted out of court.

Ronald Grills paid a fine of $50 and costs when he was convicted on a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his motor vehicle.

Winston McCrory was fined $10 and costs on a charge of theft of soft drinks from a local service station. He was remanded out of custody on September 29, with a warning to be off the streets by nine. Campbellford police said he failed to live up to the curfew. He was also fined $25 and costs on an additional charge of failing to yield half the roadway.

Walter J. Owens was granted a two-week adjournment at his own request, so that he could obtain legal council. He appeared on a charge of careless driving arising out of an accident in there are enough committees already.

Mr. Bennett said only government leaders can handle unemployment — "we don't need another committee."

Said Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan: "We don't need a committee so much as a plan of action." The proposed committee of civil servants would have "no power to commit governments to anything."

DEFENCE RECORD

Labor Minister Starr defended the federal government's record on both unemployment, and financial dealings with the provinces.

He said federal payments to the provinces have risen to $1,- 300,000,000 a year from the $670,- 000,000 when the Conservatives took office in 1957. Ottawa had to raise the tax revenues to pay for this.

"It has always been the provincial line and cry that they want their fair share of the tax dollar. Now when we have offered it to them, they run for cover."

The labor minister said he couldn't divulge now any of the government's plans to meet the rising term unemployment problem.

But he spoke enthusiastically of the government's program to encourage municipal winter works projects by paying half the labor cost. With this winter's program two weeks old, applications had come in for municipal projects that would employ 36,767 men.

Mr. Starr promised consideration of a Quebec request that the winter works program give priority to municipalities with heavy unemployment and a poor ability to pay.

But so for the general run of provincial proposals, he said, "there were no suggestions today from any of the provinces for any national project."

"Each province had its own axe to grind, some particular project like the Chignecto Canal in New Brunswick."

Mr. Lesage suggested keeping students in school longer, to delay their entry into the labor market and prepare them better for modern job conditions.

Premier Douglas and Premier Roblin of Manitoba both urged that the municipal winter works program provide for federal assistance inside up from just labor costs.

The conference's fiscal talks, besides reaching no agreement on the tax issue, produced unanimity on another proposal. This was Ontario's suggestion for a provincial indirect retail sales tax.

Provinces are barred from the indirect tax field under the constitution, and Mr. Diefenbaker stipulated that any change would need unanimous support.

Campbellford on October 24, DRIVER CONVICTED

J. R. Brown, 35, of Buckhorn, was fined $100 and costs when he was convicted of careless driving following an accident at the intersection of Front and Bridge streets. Police said he drove at an excessive rate of speed and went through a red stop signal.

Murray Smoke, 19, of R.R. 1, Cobourg, paid a fine of $50 and costs for driving while his licence was under suspension. He was also charged by Campbellford police with obtaining liquor while under age, was convicted and fined an additional $25 and costs. A companion, George Gray, 20, of R.R. 2, Cobourg, was fined $25 and costs for obtaining liquor while under age.

Donald Dunkley of Belleville was found guilty of being intoxicated in a public place and also of having liquor in a place other than his residence. He was fined a total of $30 and costs in addition, and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued by Magistrate R. B. Baxter when Dunkley failed to appear after being personally served with a summons.

A number of charges under the LCA and the HTA were settled out of court.

Everything for the Traveller Now 'Instant' and 'Disposable'

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Ever hear of a "mobile martini?"

Not a new bootlegging technique — though there are intriguing possibilities there — but a portable potable in just one of the host of by-products of the travel age that have been flooding the market of late.

Extra dry, for dry stains, the martini comes in a little plastic envelope that can be torn open and poured over anyone's ice. Bring your own olive.

Other intriguing products range from the ridiculous to the useful. A product of most of the world's magnetic tape, calls its about a 12-volt inverter that makes it possible to plug a tape recorder into a car's cigaret lighter. They say there are already 100,000 of these in use.

Sounds just like what travel writers need, except that we never meet a travel writer who could afford a tape recorder.

Whoever invented the automobile cigaret lighter probably never dreamed of the uses to which travelers would put it.

We used to carry around a button-like plastic bag that was supposed to warm baby's bottle on being plugged into the lighter. It took 30 minutes to turn the milk luke warm, while the baby screamed bloody murder.

We finally gave it up in favor of a combination egg boiler and bottle warmer — honest — that plugged into a wall socket and heated the bottle via a little water in the bottom. Still using it, like a good idea for those who travel with infants.

There are several brands of electric shavers that plug into cigaret lighters and at least one that operates on batteries. There's also an after-shave lotion that keeps the wearer awake.

DESIGNED FOR KIDS

Many of the travel age products are designed for children. One of the most useful is a disposable playpen-crib that can be opened in the back of the car. These usually come with a net, but travelers we used ours we had a mattress made up to fit around $12.

Disposable paper diapers in recent years have, gratifyingly, gone up in quality and down in price. There is a type with a plastic backing that eliminates the need for rubber pants, but these are fairly expensive and we have favored the insert-type used with pants.

Either one is better than tossing around cloth diapers, especially after they've been used.

Disposable bongo, 12¢, was patented and is hoping to market a new type of paperware that seems to be a pretty good idea. Designed like the conventional bamboo bag, it is stronger, more rigid, and has a carrying handle on the side so it may be tucked under the arm and carried in the manner of a suitcase. Unlike garment bags, it can be stood up.

England's Rootes Motors is producing a compact sleeper-auto called a chamois three feet shorter than most American cars. The "mobile home" sleeps four adults and a child.

IT HAS EVERYTHING

During the day beds fold up into divan-type seats. There's a two-burner stove and broiler on board, as well as a combination and closet space, dining and kitchen tables, porcelain wash basin, self-contained water supply, waste water storage container and an accordion-fold collapsible roof extension which provides head room.

and sales tax of 11 per cent on all cars sold in Canada.

Canadian plants are required to guarantee cars for 12 months penalty — made-in-Canada content varying with production volume. The top is 60 per cent for volume of 20,000 vehicles per more.

Some American parts and components are imported duty-free but others enter free if it is established they are not made in this country.

Primarily before the public hearings began this week, it was understood the government intends, I to go part way to meet one industry complaint. Just how far Dr. Bladen was unable to establish.

That change involves increasing the basis of evaluation on European cars for tax and duty assessment. A British industry spokesman said it would add about $150 to a British car selling in quantity in Canada.

Chrysler urged, on the protectionist side, that foreign producers move into Canada to face competition on equal terms unchanged.

Chrysler urged, on the protectionist side, that foreign producers move into Canada to face competition on equal terms unchanged.

A theme that cropped up in other submissions.

General Motors, which has studied the feasibility of turning out here the British Vauxhall, GM subsidiary product leading and import car sales in Canada, said the step was closer than it might be thought.

Ford said the matter of price is a major consideration in the preference of Canadians, even for cheaper imports—all three Canadian-owned firms have special "compacts" initiated last year have cut more into big-car sales than into those of imports—and took the long tack of saying it was up to industry primarily.

There were repeated demands for cutting down the 20 models available in Canada but Studebaker-Packard said "savings are less substantial than might be expected."

Ford and GM denied that as segments of international subsidiary systems, they adjusted output to avoid markets which might be handled more profitably elsewhere.

Dr. Bladen's preoccupation with integration presumed the need for a wider-volume market than Canada's 18,000,000 persons can provide. Motor vehicle registrations total more than 5,000,- 000.

Suggestions for the all-Canadian car, dubbed the Beaver or Canuck, were met by Dr. Bladen's dictum that the industry could not provide reduce costs compared with the European import produced on the basis of large domestic sales and good exports.

European car makers continue that their sales help balance Canada's trade with their countries.

Dr. Bladen obtained consent from the big-three auto producers men in Ottawa to give him a list of the main principles that would have to be involved in Canada's permanent sharing. Later he plans to visit Detroit where, it is understood, he will confer with industry and labor figures.

Budget Deficit During Sept. Is $81,400,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming reported Friday night that he has an $81,400,000 budgetary deficit during September, reducing his surplus for the first six months of the present fiscal year to $24,700,000.

At the end of the first four months of the fiscal year which began April 1, Mr. Fleming had accumulated a surplus of $207,- 000,000. The September deficit included one of $142,500,000 in August which cut the surplus for the first five months of the year to $106,100,000.

In his March 31 budget speech Mr. Fleming forecast a $12,000,- 000 surplus for the full year ending next March 31.

His monthly treasury statement, issued here Friday night, showed that there was $39,700,- 000 deficit for September, 1959, and an accumulated deficit of $105,100,000 for the first six months of the 1959-60 fiscal year. The year ended with a $413,000,- 000 deficit.

Anti-Communist Hysteria

Two middle-aged Oregon men are facing deportation from the United States, one to Canada and one to Finland. It is alleged that in the thirties they belonged to an organization of the unemployed which in the McCarran Act of 1949 was listed as subversive, that is Communist-controlled. The men deny that they were Communists in the thirties or that they are Communists today. No evidence seems to contradict them.

"It's difficult for Canadians to grasp how a law passed by the U.S. congress in 1949 can now penalize men for what they did or are claimed to have done in the early 1930s," says the Vancouver Sun.

And yet this abhorrence of retroactive laws is not the fundamental objection which a person who loves justice will raise. The more basic objection is not to the retroactive feature of the law but to the principle of any country being bound by its laws to hold against a citizen the company he kept, quite legally, three decades ago and to deport him for nothing more than this.

This is a frightening measure of the state of anti-Communist hysteria existing in the U.S. and a more telling yardstick of the state of U.S. prestige than a dozen opinion polls conducted in Britain and France.

Alcohol Causes Blowouts

The driver is not the only part of the family chariot which can be made dangerous by an injection of alcohol. Believe it or not, there have been reports of alcohol causing tires to explode. Some service station operators, apparently, have been using alcohol to free ice-clogged air hoses. When these hoses have been used to inflate tires, alcohol enters with the air. The tires may then spin on snow or ice and this builds up static electricity, which ignites the alcohol. The result—a blowout just as dangerous as that one to celebrate a football victory, or a birthday or New Year's Eve.

The Rubber Association of Canada is the authority for this story and it and the Canadian Highway Safety Council have combined to issue warnings to service station and garage operators to avoid using alcohol-based anti-freeze in air compressors and hose lines. They also warn that some types of commercial rubber lubricants, if used to lubricate a tire's bead, also can cause explosions.

The Rubber Association could have kept this information semi-secret. Its action in making the danger public deserves commendation, for it guards against such mistakes being made by uninformed do-it-yourself enthusiasts and amateur mechanics.

A Call To Action

Men, we are falling down on the job. The members of the Women's Institutes of Eastern Ontario are up to shame with a crisis in one of our basic industries, they have gallantly offered to attack the problem. They propose to eat up the surplus of Canadian cheddar cheese.

This is not woman's work. Only a nation where the men were slackers, where the moral fibre of the male population had proved deteriorated, would permit mere women to face a task like this. It is time we loosened our belts and got down to doing our duty, not foisting the job onto women's shoulders.

Let us be men. Let us, like Churchill, boldly announce that if the women and our employers will give us the food we will do the job. All we need is a couple of weeks' holidays, a steady supply of beer, a quiet room where the children will not intrude, a pack of cards and a poker chip credit card—give us these and leave us alone with the cheese and crackers for a couple of weeks . . . at the end of that time, if all Eastern Ontario men do their duty, we guarantee that there will be no more surplus cheese. It is in crises like these that the true heroism of the male is certain to emerge into view. Now let us get to work.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

—DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WE SEE AS WE THINK

Three men were watching the (thing) appear to him from a sunset. One said, "The sun looks like a big silver dollar, and boy, do I wish I had more of them."

The second man, a scientist, said, "This star called the sun is the centre of a planetary system. I wonder if there are not other God such systems throughout the universe."

The third man of the group was a minister. Gazing at the beauty of the sunset, he murmured, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God of hosts, the whole earth is full of Thy glory."

We are inclined to look at everything in life from our own personal interest. We interpret the world according to the pattern of our desires and experiences. If money is first in a man's experience, then every-thing appears to him from a monetary standpoint. If science is first, then he thinks of the phenomenon of the universe only in terms of scientific principles and interests. But if he is a religious man, he looks upon nature and sees behind it nature's God.

Surely an intelligent Being created this physical order which operates with precision and uniformity. The highest thing we see in this universe is personality, as superior to Him. And this is blasphemously absurd.

Must be sure, God may have something even better than personality, but if so, "Glory be." That makes the godhead even more marvelous.

Miracles of the Universe Galaxies

By HON. ROBERT W. MACAULAY
Ontario Minister of Energy Resources

This is one of a series of articles by Mr. Macaulay dealing with sources of energy and their application, in the past, the present and the future.

ARTICLE II

The universe contains billions and billions of stars. In fact, Harlow Shapley has estimated that there are over 100,000,000,000,000,000,000 stars (100 quintillion) in the universe. Moreover we look there seems to be stars close by. Beyond these stars there are in turn vast groups of stars. These vast groups of stars are each called a galaxy. Put the reverse way, a galaxy is a group of stars. But it's a pretty big group, however, because a galaxy may have about 100 billion stars in it.

So, the largest unit in the universe of which we are aware is the galaxy or even clusters of galaxies. Each galaxy is made up of stars somewhat like our own Sun — billions and billions of stars make up one galaxy. Some of these stars are brighter or fainter than our Sun, some larger, some smaller. The number of galaxies in the universe varies from authority to authority—but the most commonly referred to number is 100 billion galaxies visible to man's most powerful telescope. The estimates range to 10 times that many. All galaxies fall into one of three general classifications.

(1) The collection of stars are grouped together in the general form of a football. The football may contain 100 billion stars and may measure thousands of billions of miles from side to side. These galaxies are called "Ellipticals". About 17% of all the galaxies are of the football shape, as illustrated below.

(2) The second collection of stars are grouped in the general shape of a revolving pin-wheel (they resemble pinwheels when looking down from above). From the side they look like a closed oyster shell or two soup plates put face to face. This is probably the shape of our Milky Way galaxy of which our earth is a part about 80 per cent of all galaxies are of this shape. Galaxies of this shape are called "spirals."

(3) The third collection of stars appear grouped in no shape other than a football (17%) or a pin-wheel (80%). These are called "irregulars" galaxies and represent 3% of all the galaxies in the universe.

Galaxies tend to group together in clusters. The cluster in which the Milky Way galaxy is one, has 16 or 17 galaxies in which all shapes are represented.

A typical distance between galaxies may be about 18,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles. Therefore, it is quite clear why galaxies do not likely collide very often — there is so much space between them. Yet, at this moment, about 10 galaxies are known to be colliding.

A typical distance between the stars which are grains of sand in galaxies is about 3 miles. If a galaxy is about 30,000,000,000,000 (3 light years). Even when galaxies collide, it is doubtful any of the stars themselves do so because of the vast distance between them — instead, the galaxies pass through each other like water through a sieve, (as far as the stellar content is concerned, that is).

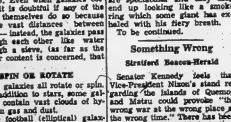
ALL SPIN OR ROTATE

The galaxies all rotate or spin. In addition to stars, some galaxies contain vast clouds of hydrogen gas and dust.

The football (elliptical) galaxies have little or no gas and the same is believed to be true of the galaxies that have collided. Gas and dust are found in quantity in the other types of galaxies, especially the spirals.

The universe is moving relative to its neighbors. The farther away the galaxies are, the faster they seem to be moving relative to us. These respective speeds and distances are related it seems clear.) The farthest known galaxy moves at the rate of two per cent per million years (or 46 per cent of the velocity of light in a vacuum).

Some astronomers have suggested that football galaxies are not spinning as fast as the pinwheel galaxies and this accounts for the difference in the quantity of gas present in the two different types of galaxies as well as their respective shapes. (The slower spin enabled the elliptical (football) galaxy to form all of its gas into stars that are little left over, per some scientists.)



The vast clouds account for much of the importance of radio telescopes. A telescope through which a man may look cannot see through clouds of dust and thus much is lost in that universe is lost to the human eye. But radio telescope is a telescope that hears and does not see and it can penetrate cloud of dust to list to what is out beyond, (what is out beyond is making a noise, or noises which the radio telescope will hear.)

In the meantime, let's look together at some of the other interesting sights to be seen and heard in the universe. When man dies at old age, as a rule he's pretty quiet about it. But when stars die of old age, they are spectacular and they make up a looking like a smoking ring which some giant has exhaled. It's fiery breath.

To be continued.

'Right to Report' Victory

New York Herald Tribune

Every victory for a newspaper's right to report is a victory for every citizen's right to live in a free and informed society.

This is not the pompous edict of a newspaper handing out areas of selfish authority or insisting on liberty of action denied to others. It is the long and close established democratic tradition by those amazingly prescient architects of the republic, the framers of the Constitution. The First Amendment stands today as a monument to their dedication to freedom: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press".

It is Georgia reported the "Atlanta Constitution" and "Constitution" encountered an effort at abridgment. Superior Court Judge Durwood T. Pye, sitting in news papers guilty of contempt for publishing reports of the previous arrest of a defendant during a robbery trial. Judge Pye levied a $50,000 fine.

But the final chapter of this case was dictated by the First Amendment. In a unanimous decision of Georgia's Supreme Court quashing the lower court. Justice Carlton Mobley stated: "Freedom of speech and of the press, as guaranteed by the Constitution, is essential to the preservation of a free society, but its exercise must be compatible with the preservation of other freedoms essential to a democracy and guaranteed by such Constitution".

Judge Pye if not the first is take offence at a newspaper story, or to seek to impose limitations on the press to be printed. Contemporary history no less than the days of John Peter Zenger's struggle for freedom of press is the slap of self-appointed censors who threaten "the very life of the paper". Sometimes they operate openly and honestly as Judge Pye, but just as often via subtle pressure from those in high places. The result, if such efforts were successful, is the same — the suppression of news.

As journalism is not an exact science, like chemistry or mathematics, there can be no exact definition of editorial problems. That is why it is not enough to have a free press; we must have a free and responsible press, possible only when the public can put its trust in the judgment of publishers and the publishers can turn confidently on the courts for protection from undue harassment in performing the public trust.

Vigorous and thorough reporting is always to be commended. The time to worry is when the press stops digging for facts and the courts stop defending its right to dig. Fortunately this is not the case in Georgia, where an enlightened court has come to the rescue of the "Journal" and the "Constitution" and of the nation's finest newspapers.

Justice Mobley spoke to the point: "The press should be given room for wicked latitude possible in the exercises of its freedom which is consonant with the orderly administration of justice".

As justice is thus rendered in Georgia, the public will soon ask other round in the struggle for the right to know.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

MOST OF US HAVE A BIT OF CLAUSTROPHOBIA

"Dear Dr. Molner: Since childhood I've had claustrophobia — elevators, busses, then automobiles. I am 39 now and feel that I should do something about it. My doctor seems to think I must eventually fade away, and that I don't want to. I am afraid. "I am tempted to make reservations for an air trip east, but I'm almost panic-stricken at the thought of being "trapped" in the air liner.

"First, would you suggest psychiatric help? Second, if I am forced myself into an airplane, do you think the terror and physical experience could become great enough to cause a heart attack, or perhaps some other serious result? I am in good health now. — M. G."

I don't like to give you a yes or no answer to the question of psychiatry. In the first place, I don't know enough about you and the severity of your problem. In the second place, there are other factors to consider.

But above all, remember this. Claustrophobia, in itself, is not abnormal. Most of us have a natural fear of being shut in — a dark closet, a very small chamber or whatever. I suppose a great deal of us may have a panicky qualm at the moment when we see the plane door close when we take our first airplane trip.

Some of us may feel the finality of that moment more strongly than others. Some of us may find that moment of finality productive of a great set and excitement of doing something new.

Real "claustrophobia" is really only an extreme and hence abnormal development of the emotion which, in ordinary amounts, is reasonable and perfectly human.

It's a matter of degree, you see. And saying "yes" or "no" to whether you should consult a psychiatrist depends on the degree of the problem. Is it mild enough so you can handle it by yourself, and gradually overcome it? How serious a handicap is it, really? And what about the financial picture — do you want to spend the money for expert treatment, or isn't it that serious?

As to the question about the heart "giving out enough to cause a heart attack," certainly not to a healthy person. Nor can I conceive of any other physical trouble that could result.

When a victim of a moderate degree of such trouble reaches the point of considering taking a trip in an airplane anyway, it would be my opinion that the victim is more than half-over-all-ready.

From here on in, gradually trying out the worrisome experiences may be the answer. For when you are afraid of something, and then get the courage to do it anyway, and find out that it isn't so bad after all, you are really making progress.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about the harm beer does when drunk to excess. My son says it is all protein and does no harm. I disagree. — Mrs. A. N."

Beer most certainly is not all protein. This is a phoney excuse often used by people who are trying to justify their overindulgence in beer. As far as possible to become an alcoholic from beer as from anything else.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My little boy is past three, and cries every time I try to put him on the toilet. He gets scared and screams. I get all nervous, but it doesn't do any good; he cries more. — Worried."

This little fellow is pretty sick like that just for the fun of it. Sometimes he's frightened and worried him. Maybe he fell off or maybe he has been left alone there and is afraid.

Stay with him, try to comfort him. Perhaps by watching closely you can discover what has frightened him. Or perhaps you can help him to relax by letting him look at his favorite picture book.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Art of Reducing." For a copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Intelligencer Sun Times Syndicate, P.O. How happy the birds that flew in and out of the branches. Soon they will fly, and the leaves be haunts but with that farewell song of theirs which all lovers of the wild hear as autumn's natural will life. I always feel that I am in the presence of the forest!

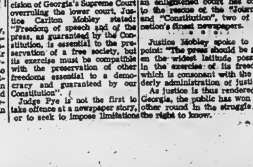
THE PACKSACK



BY GREGORY CLARK

Since TV is confined largely to the voice in the home, to companiment with visible action, radio has the field of music almost to itself. Clearly radio does not seem to have waked up to its opportunity. It continues to compete with TV, even in the core of TV saturation, and around the large centres of population where practically every home has a TV set. It has not found its own memory servers, as much time to drama as it did before the advent of TV. It still spends hours every day employing the human voice blind, in discussions, panels, lectures. And the bulk of its programming still consist of the usual blather of disc jockeys and an overwhelming proportion of the human voice in radio is given to ballyhoo in popular song.

It would be interesting to have a survey made to discover how many TV owners possess records for no purpose but to accompany each day from TV for a few minutes. The quickest music TV must have made the human voice over so much more tiresome than it has ever been before. I know a considerable number of persons in which the radio is reserved entirely for symphony hours and certain other half-hour periods in which instrumental music such as Roger Williams's is played. A friend got from the everlasting yack of the electronic age.

SUET LOVERS

By WINNIFRED WILSON

One reason why birds went fat old-fashioned wire soap shaker th winter is because it contains makes an ideal container to hang a lot of water which in our Canadian climate is not avail- able in its ordinary form at this season. We can readily see why a Canada jay might take a great fancy to suet offered on a cold winter day; but why a chipping sparrow should want to pack at a soggy melting mass on a hot summer day is hard to under- stand.

However, many different kinds of birds enjoy nibbling it in all weathers. Tie a lump of suet onto a small piece of bark. This should be tied or nailed to the feeding tray or it would be in danger of being carried away. Song sparrows and white-throats, remind us of children eagerly licking all-day suckers.

FED TO BABIES

Before baby juncos can feed themselves their parents give them small doses of suet as hu- man parents produce the cod liver oil bottle. In a very few days the young juncos are able to break off tiny morsels for themselves. Before long the tug- ging of many little bills has given the suet fringed edges.

Catbirds also consider suet good for babies. They sometimes carry away tiny bits for them. Once the youngsters reach the tray they are fed suet regularly sunflower seeds, bre-d crumbs, peanut butter and raisins. "Tom," their father, tackles the suet like a boxer practising. He is very funny to watch.

The young blue jays are so anxious to get their share that they nearly knock their poor mother off the tray. Jays are most boisterous, their table manners not very good.

SERVED DIFFERENTLY

Nuthatches and chickadees, as well as downy and hairy wood- peckers, prefer their suet served differently, because they would rather perch sideways than stand on a horizontal surface. Of course nuthatches and chick- adees are noted acrobats. An

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Among those who assisted at the recent 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chapman, were Mrs. J. McEwen, Mrs. W. Marner, and Mrs. William Heard.

Sig. Marvin Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall, who has been stationed at Algt, N.W.T., army base for the past six months, is spending his leave with his wife and family, at his parents' home, 3rd of Thurlow.

In the list of those assisting at the candy booth of St. Joseph's tea and bazaar, the following names were omitted from the list submitted for write - up: Mrs. S. Snafsen, Mrs. T. Sendee, and Mrs. Q. Keeley. Mrs. D. Dunmire was the convener of the knitted goods booth.

Mrs. G. Clapp (Grace) is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Q. Elizabeth H-S Assoc. Plans "Open House"

At the recent Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association meeting, room count was taken and the campaign was won by Mrs. Swan's Grade 8 class.

Mrs. Arthur Watson gave a briefing on UNICEF. She urged everyone to support the Hallowe'en program, as the children of the world are everyone's concern. In 1957 the program began in Belleville. All children taking part. The campaign will be directed by children, chaired by Kate Allison for the Province of Ontario.

Mr. McGrath, the principal, urged the members to be out at "open house" to be held next month. He also introduced Miss Blatchford, safety officer for Belleville.

Sgt. Blatchford stated in part: "We need co-operation between the safety officer and parent. The parents must teach the children good examples. Kindergarten, grades 1 and 2 are taught the six basic rules of safety. They are taught the meaning of traffic lights, to obey and interpret police signals; to pay attention to school guards and to cross between intersections.

Grades 3 and 4 review the basic rules and also learn safety in buses, trains and aircraft; they learn how to plot safe routes from home to school, church and arena. Grades 5 and 6 review the basic rules, followed by a discussion of safety. They learn the meaning of traffic lights, how to obey and interpret police signals; to pay attention to school guards and to cross between intersections.

Grades 7 and 8

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a woman's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counsellors and social workers.

Mrs. F. S. — Brenda says I don't trust her friends right.

Brenda is right. They all laugh at her behind our backs.

Mrs. F. S. — My husband and I have been married 15 years and have one daughter, Brenda, who is 14.

Because she is an only child I have always done my utmost to encourage Brenda's friendships with youngsters of her own age. I believe I did what might be considered open house for the neighborhood ever since she was of school age, and still do.

In spite of this, Brenda has no really close friends. She is quite unhappy about it. But I never suspected she blamed me until the other night when she broke down and cried. She said I was all to blame for the trouble and dog her friends right. This is absolutely crazy and I have told myself out for her friends as no other mother has.

Brenda S. — My mother acts so crazy when her self-assured of her in front of my friends. I just know they don't laugh about her behind our backs.

Mother keeps thinking up weird ideas for parties and nutty games. Most of the time these are for children or they're for kids. A few months ago she tried organizing a treasure hunt. Well, what kind of 14-year-old kids went to go on a treasure hunt?

When I bring a friend over after school mother starts pestering to her and running around fixing sandwiches and things. She's also so silly. The other mothers just buy stuff and get some milk from the refrigerator and then they let you go home.

The Council: A child's eye can be very cruel and we suspect that in this case, at least they are also fairly accurate.

The image Brenda has drawn of her mother is that of a woman tormented by a sense of inadequacy, driven by a need to press her favors on others lest they bypass her.

The fact that Brenda feels free to bring her pitiful problems to some deep-seated feelings of inadequacy in her own part. Self-confident children always find the right reasons to take pride in their parents.

Mrs. F.S.'s statement suggests that she has a strong sense of guilt about not having given Brenda more security, although we hope this is one reason for her feeling of inadequacy. She appears to have failed as a disciplined child and has succeeded in traumatizing Brenda and her daughter.

The first step should be to recognize that her guilt feelings are unworthy and unrealistically based. Only then can she begin to see herself as highly privileged. Then she can begin to value her friends because they're not trying to compensate by the bowering of a fearful mother.

Mrs. F. S. should try to withdraw from her role as social and social worship and confine her hostessing to a welcoming smile and a few words. She should let Brenda do the honors of the house for her own friends.

First Female Notary Is Montreal Girl

MONTREAL (CP)—Barrangere Gaudet, whose mother was a lawyer and a judge, is Montreal's first female notary.

Her late uncle, Mr. Justice A. Gaudet, was a Superior Court judge in the Eastern Township. Her late father, Mr. Mrs. Gaudet of Montreal.

Miss Gaudet, now in her 30s obtained her BA of the arts at 19 through private classes.

She graduated bachelor for two years at Ste. Marie College before entering the University of Montreal, where she took three years of law to get her licence and articled last year to get her notary's certificate.

She says the law to permit women to become notaries was passed last year.

The first woman in the province to take the oath of office was Miss Dumoulin, but Miss Dumoulin, however, practises law only a few months.

In Quebec, the only province where law is based on the old French civil code—as opposed to British common law—a notary's function is similar to those of a lawyer, but the notary does not plead in court.

Miss Gaudet does not expect to specialize in any particular branch of her sea. On a recent trip to the Continent, she observed France's preoccupation with the feminine lateries and feels attitudes here will be similar.

Hallowe'en Party Held by Couples' Club

WELLINGTON — The United Church Couples Club had a very successful evening Monday Oct. 24th when they entertained the B.B.C. Couples Club at their annual Hallowe'en party. All fourteen couples were in beautiful costumes.

A parade followed. The judges finally decided that the best dressed man was Tom Nash and the best dressed lady was Betty Bishop. The most original costume, was worn by G Gregson(Tom Hume) and Mrs. George Longstaffen of B.B.C. Club and the best comic, Leonard Scott of the B.B.C. Club.

The devotional period was given by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nash. Ken Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pierson had the recreational period and everyone was kept very busy.

Mrs. Ross Field was shown by the Rev. A. Poulter which closed the activities for the evening.

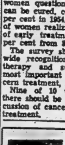
A delicious lunch was served which consisted of sandwiches, chicken, doughnuts, coffee and cider. A very happy evening was enjoyed by all.

Should Doctor Tell the Truth About Cancer?

MONTREAL (CP) — Should a doctor tell the truth to a cancer victim?

Yet, said 64 per cent of the women interviewed in a countrywide survey for the Canadian Cancer Society.

Only 17 per cent believed the doctor should not tell — a drop from 23 per cent in a 1956 questionnaire — while 19 per cent thought his degree of frankness should depend on the person concerned.



Maurice Forget, president of the Quebec society, said the results of the 1960 survey show Canadian women know significantly more about cancer than they did six years ago.

Knowledge of cancer of the womb, stomach, bowels and lungs has, however, not kept pace with the widespread general knowledge about breast cancer, he said.

Seventy - one per cent of the women questioned knew cancer can be cured, compared with 63 per cent in 1954. The percentage of women realizing the necessity of early treatment rose from 87 per cent from 83.

The survey showed there was wide recognition that radiation therapy and surgery are the most important methods of cancer treatment, said Mr. Forget.

Nine of 10 women believed there should be more public discussion of cancer symptoms and treatment.

STORIES of FAMOUS HYMNS

by HORACE S. POWELL

THROW OUT THE LIFE-LINE

Throw out the Life-Line across the dark wave,
There is a brother whom some one should save;
Somebody's brother! oh, who
Will launch the quick boat?
To throw out the Life-Line,
His peril to share!

Throw out the Life-Line with hand quick and strong,
Why do you tarry, why linger so long?
See! he is sinking; oh, hasten
today,
And cast with the Life-Boat away, then, away!

Throw out the Life-Line to those ye can help,
Why should they drift to eternity's shore,
Hasten, then, my brother, no time for delay,
But throw out the Life-Line and save them today.

"Throw out the Life-line;
Throw out the Life-line;
Someone is sinking away;
Throw out the Life-line;
Throw out the Life-line;
Someone is sinking today!"

Almost any sight, in gospel missions across the world, one is apt to hear the chapel rafters echoing with the grand old gospel winning hymn. It was written in 1885 by the Rev. Edward S. Ufford, a Baptist minister.

Mr. Ufford, who lived on the Massachusetts coast, was walking day to visit the life - saving station at Point Allerton, on Hingham Bay, when he noticed there the station crew were practising a rescue drill and how some of the men told the pastor-friend of a shipwreck near the beach in which the life-saving apparatus had been used to bring many passengers to shore and safety.

Mr. Ufford was fascinated by the drill and by the rescue story. As he heard the command given again and again to "throw out the life-line" and watched the line go out to imaginary victims in the storm-tossed sea; he thought of how men and women, buffeted about on the sea of life, need the saving message of the one Life-Saver. He went home to write the hymn which, through the years, has led many a life to Christ for thousands of distressed souls.

A Lift For Living

What is Life Worth to You?

BY DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

We do not appreciate many of our possessions until we lose them. Health is appreciated only when it is impaired. Time we waste, as if we could kill it and not ourselves. Even our sins we do not count dear until we have committed them. Then we see what they cost us. Liberty is another precious possession which we take for granted until some one is threatened or lost.

Jesus did not talk much about death. He preached no gloomy gospel. But He did tell His disciples to face up to the question of just what is worth while. He put to His followers these two searching questions: "What is a man profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

WOULD YOU TRADE?

I very well remember a sermon which I heard in my boyhood on this text. It ran something like this: How much of your life would you give up for a million dollars? In those days a million dollars was a good deal more than the highest monetary symbol that ordinary folk could comprehend. Of course, in these days of scores of billions in governmental budgets, a million would be hardly pocket change, but to a minister's boy it was a big little sum. The old preacher began by asking, "Would you give up a hand for a million dollars?" "Oh, I should! I could get along pretty well with the hand and a million dollars!" Then he asked would you give up a leg with it? And so on, until I think a little more carefully. But he stepped up the exchange still further, and asked, would you give up your eyesight for a million dollars? I hesitated on that. Then came this question: Would you give up your life for a million dollars? I hesitated again, but finally I replied, "I guess I could, of course I would.

Then the preacher pressed his query home. He told me that then our physical lives are a small consideration compared to our immortal souls. Think, he said about eternity. He said, if a bird were to come from another planet once in just such a way as a million years, and were to carry away just one grain of sand at a time, when that single bird had carried away the entire earth, eternity would just be begun. That figure of speech has haunted my mind ever since. When a man thinks of his soul's welfare throughout all eternity, he says, "Why, it would be unprofited if I were to gain the whole world and lose that."

But the fact of the matter is that souls are not sold in stock clean-cut transactions as goods are sold in the market - place. Life in the sense of character or personality does not come all at once, nor is it sold or lost all at once. Life is acquired by the process of growth and accumulation. And life is lost by a process of spending or barter. The thing to do now is not what men say they would give their lives for, but what they are spending their lives for.

STANDARD OF LIVING

It is a boast that we have in North America the highest standard of living in the world. What do we mean? To many it means that we have the largest incomes, the finest houses, the fastest cars, the lushest luxuries. But the way to measure our standard of living is to take stock of the values we produce rather than of the values we spend.

Back in 1904 the Brown Book Company published a symposium for a definition of success. Here is one of the prize - winning answers: "He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much; who has enjoyed the trust of pure women, the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has looked for the best in others and given them the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory a benediction."

LETTER:

. . . A few months back you had a few columns regarding baby clothes and about to find out notice one of my favorites. I am enclosing a copy . . . G.G.

EGGS SMOOTHIE:

(Courtesy G. G.)

Put 1 1-2 cups milk, 4 unbeaten eggs, 1 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper in top part of double boiler. Beat slightly with rotary beater. Drop tablespoonful butter on bowl; cover pot over 1 inch boiling water, and cook. Do not disturb for 15 minutes, then peek to see if eggs have started to set; if not, cook a moment longer. Spread out, serve at once. Makes 4 servings. Delicious on hot toast — with bacon for breakfast — with asparagus tips for lunch — with almost anything else. Quick, easy, and you've to make a quick, nourishing meal.

ANSWER:

I lament that you sacked me not to give your letter in full. It was so good. A big "Thank you"!

QUESTION:

Would you have a recipe for shortbread cookies using icing sugar and corn starch? . . . Mrs. D. S.

ANSWER:

SHORTBREAD:

1-2 cup corn starch, 1-2 cup icing sugar, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 cup butter or margarine.

Sift together corn starch, icing sugar, and flour into bowl. (Have butter at room temperature). Blend butter or margarine into dry ingredients with a pastry blender until dough is formed. Shape into balls about 1" in diameter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet about 1" apart. Flatten dough with lightly floured fork. Bake in slow oven (300 deg. Fahr.) 20 to 25 minutes or until edges of cookies are lightly browned. Yields 3 to 4 dozen cookies.

NOTE:

If dough is very soft, cover

Women's Institute

ELDORADO W.I.

ELDORADO — The Eldorado and Ramsayburn Women's Institute held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Clayton Hutchings on Thursday afternoon with a good number in attendance.

Mrs. John Thompson, the president, opened the meeting. Mrs. McCrimmon gave a splendid report on the Institute convention. Several of the ladies gave readings on the use of wood.

The meeting closed by singing "God Save the Queen."

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants and a social half hour spent.

HAPPY TALK

GRAND FALLS, N.B. (CP)— Mrs. H. Wiseman of nearby Windsor talked on the telephone recently with a sister she had not seen for 40 years, and had thought was dead. Her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Baker, lives in St. John's. They were separated in childhood.

QUESTION:

Would His Acre plain cookie recipe be . . . Mrs. J. M. R.

ANSWER:

Please see Shortbread cookie recipe above. Also I think you will enjoy.

SHORTCOOKIES:

2 1-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup cream salt, 1-2 cup soft butter, 1 cup granulated, 1 1-3 cups sugar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon lemon extract, 2 eggs, 2 to 3 tablespoons milk.

Sift together 5 times with next 4 ingredients. Cream butter and shortening until shiny; add sugar gradually and cream well. Stir in flavorings; beat in eggs until fluffy. Add flour in 3 or 4 portions, mixing until smooth after each portion. Chill 1 hour. Remove 1-3 of the dough at a time. Keep rest chilled). Roll out on lightly floured board to thickness between 1-8 and 1-4 inch and cut with cutter. Place on greased baking sheet. Leave plain or sprinkle with sugar, or press a raisin or half nutmeat in center of each cookie. Brush with egg white beaten slightly with 1 tablespoon of water, if desired. Roll leftover dough. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. 8 to 10 minutes to a light golden brown. Let stand on baking sheet 1 to 2 minutes, then remove to cake racks to cool. Makes 3 dozen 3 1-4" cookies.

MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Hagner Elliot

Question: Just what does the term "informal" mean when it appears on an invitation? I assumed it meant an afternoon dress for me, and regular clothes for my husband. We dressed this way for a party we attended recently, and I was embarrassed to learn to find that most of the other women were in evening clothes. The men were in business suits. Where is the distinction made between "informal" and "formal"?

Mrs. G. B. S.—Rochester, N.Y.

Answer: You were correct. This is a distinction that too often is not understood. Actually, it should be clear, simply by the use of the word "informal" — which means afternoon gowns for the ladies and a dark suit for the gentlemen. You were correct in your attire; the other couple's attire was incorrect. Invitation says either "Formal" or "Informal" and evening dress or should be worn by the women and tuxedos by the men.

Question: I am to be married in November and am confused as to what it is permissible for my best man and ushers (and myself) to wear regarding dress and white coats? Or should we wear the dark jacket? Should it be the formal noon wedding.

Miss P. W.—Toledo, Ohio.

Answer: You are wrong on two counts! The white summer jacket is not worn after Labor Day in most months, except perhaps in a hot climate. A regular tuxedo should never be worn at a wedding at any time. (The white jacket is permissible for a wedding during the summer months, but the dark jacket is the best choice and never be worn.) For the formal noon wedding, cut-away or cutaway is correct. You and your best man and ushers may rent these, which is perfectly proper and is done all the time. You should all dress alike.

H-S Assoc. Plans Future Activities

DESERONTO — The regular meeting of the Deseronto Home and School Association was held on the evening of October 20.

Before the meeting, Mrs. Thompson demonstrated how to make foam rubber flowers. Later she was thanked by Master Art Thertien and Mrs. J. White demonstrated French binding. She was thanked by Master Craig Spence.

Mrs. Sarsch and Mr. Winterburn, as a committee, are to see to the construction of the basketball rack.

The Department of Agriculture and Education are willing to have a night school class in sewing for those interested should let Mr. Dirks know. The course will be decided by the demand, and all surrounding districts will be welcome.

Open house at the high school will be held in November.

The donation to the scholarship fund was voted to be 1st-year pupil and a fund-raising project will be suggested.

The number of the members plan to attend the conference held in Peterborough, Oct. 29.

PROGRAM

Mr. Winterburn's class was in charge of the evening's program which consisted of three choral readings. Later a film was shown by the Bell Telephone Co.

A vote of thanks for this was tendered by Master Jim Johnston.

Mr. Winterburn's room won the $2 for having the most parents present.

Pupils from this room also capably served refreshments of hot chocolate and crackers during the social half hour.

Mr. Mrs. Cecil Rowley Mark 50 Years of Married Life

By MRS. PERYT MACMULLEN

On the evening of October 15th Frankford Community Hall was the scene of a happy gathering when approximately 150 friends and relatives gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rowley, Frankford, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The hall was decorated with pink and white streamers and bells with potted golden yellow chrysanthemums.

The long table was centred with a three-level anniversary fruit cake decorated and lettered in a color scheme of gold and white, and flanked with vases of yellow marigolds and nasturtiums.

Guests were in attendance from Toronto; Weston; Alex; Cobourg; Colborne; Grafton; Brighton; Campbellcroft; Campbellford; Trenton; Norwood; Hastings; Belleville; Consecon; Mount Pleasant; Bawdon and the Frankford area.

Mrs. Dan Hutchison welcomed the guests as they arrived, assisted by Miss Mary Hutchison.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowley have recently returned to Frankford, to reside following Mr. Rowley's retirement in 1959 as machinist at the C.N.R. station after twenty-five years.

Following their marriage in 1910, they have lived in Frankford area for several years and for many years they have been residents of Toronto.

Mrs. Rowley was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gomery and his wife, Mary Jane Smith, a pioneer family there, and was the former Olive (Ollie) Montgomery. She has two sisters, Mrs. Fred (Jane) MacDonald, Frankford; R. B. and Miss Mina Montgomery, Frankford, and two brothers, Edward Montgomery, Frankford, and Albert Montgomery, Frankford.

Mr. Rowley's relatives reside in England.

The couple have two daughters, Miss Olive Rowley, Toronto, and Mrs. Rose (Edna) Stewart, Frankford, and one son, Jack Rowley, Toronto, Ontario. There are seven grandchildren.

Several friends from Toronto were in attendance on this auspicious occasion.

Mr. Dave McConnell was master of ceremonies for the evening's program. Mrs. Robert Hadwin, Colborne, was pianist for the sing-song of old favorites and also contributed several piano selections. Mrs. Mae Cahill, Cobourg, favored with two cute dance steps.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mount Pleasant, rendered a couple of humorous readings.

PRESENTATIONS MADE

The chairman spoke briefly, as he presented the bride of 50 years with a lovely floor lamp shade, on behalf of the groom.

On behalf of the relatives and friends, Robert MacDonald and Bill Demorest made the presentation of a combination end table and book case in blonde finish, and a matching tri-light floor lamp.

The tastefully voiced thanks for the lovely gifts, and invitation and all to visit them in their new home on Main Street.

The cake ceremony followed, and numerous pictures were taken as a permanent record of this happy event.

The older guests were seated at long tables, and light refreshments served.

The committee in charge included Mrs. Ross Huffman and daughter, Mrs. Harry Forbes; Mrs. Dave McConnell, Mrs. Vincent McClatchey, Mrs. Reds. Parks and several other close relatives.

The group extended best wishes for many more years of happy married life.

Mr. Jack Sexton, of California, was unable to be in attendance. He resided with the Rowley family for several years before going to the United States.

H-S Assoc. Formulates Future Events

TWEED — At a recent meeting of the Tweed Home and School Association, presidents and executive members of associative were installed by S. H. Connor, principal of Tweed Consolidated District.

A program committee convened by Keith Cotton and Mrs. Audrey Lett was appointed, and Mrs. Cotton and Mrs. O. Allen were named a committee to investigate the possibilities of forming a skating pool for young mothers on H-S-A and School meeting nights.

It was announced that "open house" will be held at the school on November 16th, following which a play will be presented in the high school auditorium by a group of students, directed by Miss Lett.

Arrangements will be made at the next meeting of the executive for the annual "Talent Tea" which is scheduled for early in December.

Mr. Bancroft urged all parents to take an active part in the activities of the association and make this season one of the most enthusiastic that the organization has yet experienced.

Ottawa, Argonauts Shoot For Top Spot

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Gerry Blair, a brother of you-know-who, who writes a sports column in the Whitby section of the Oshawa Times, sheets gleefully from his columnar housetop, "IT'S OFFICIAL" "There will definitely not be any senior hockey in Whitby for the coming 1960-61 season". End of cheer.

Mr. Blair, who is the self-appointed Whitby public relations officer for the Kingston Frontenacs hockey club, has at last mentioned senior hockey in Whitby.

During the weeks when Sandy Air and company were waging a futile battle with the aid of several community minded businessmen of the town, to organize and almost successfully, a club to play in the eastern league, Blair blotted columns about the high velocity and high calibre of the Frontenacs.

The reaction of the Whitby public might be summed up in a note from a prominent Whitby hockey fan "Where is Kingston — and who are the Frontenacs?".

Never did Blair ask for support for the Whitby hockey effort through the printed word. While Sandy and his fellows were getting a club together, he never wrote a sentence in their favor. At least not until Long John Henderson, one of the prime movers for a Whitby entry was suddenly spirited away.

"The main reason" he wrote, "for the Merchants hockey club not being able to see their way clear was lack of competent players who are willing to play for a fee of it. When it came time for the season to open several of the intended players refused to sign".

Sandy Air's version — and we'll accept that over any other — was that he had a Whitby entry all set and ready to go. The schedule was drawn up and Whitby dates set.

At the last minute the new well-known Henderson "kidnapping took place — and Air was left without a suitable goalie. Subsequent efforts to produce one failed.

And that, for Mr. Blair's benefit,is the reason the Merchants team could not operate.

Ah, well, that was just one of the nails in the coffin. By the time this reaches the front porch, the fate of the eastern division of the OHA senior hockey league will be known.

The meeting called by Oakville and the OHA to discuss possible inter-locking games with teams of the western division is probably history by now. That is, if there was the proper western representation.

As was mentioned yesterday we do not believe the western clubs will consider playing interlocking games because they did not feel like travelling as far east as Belleville.

We were talking to Lloyd Pollock, OHA vice-president of Windsor last night and he said he did not think interlocking games would work because Woodstock, Stratford and Hanbury won't travel to Belleville. "That was the main reason why we formed two groups in the first place".

Whether they changed their minds this afternoon, we do not know. We doubt it. On the other hand Woodstock, miffed over the OHA awarding a player to Stratford, have threatened to pull out of the western division.

Wurra, wurra, what troubles

But this is where the OHA should step in and crack down on somebody.

Welland pulled out of the eastern group saying they would not play in a four-team league. They promised to reconsider, then failed to turn up at a meeting. Officials said the team would play in an intermediate league.

The OHA should take punitive measures against Welland or is it going to let one of the tails wag the dog?

If Welland refuses to play in one league why should it be permitted to shop around, pick out a nice comfy league with a minimum of expense, and go merrily on its way without a "by your leave, sir".

Tigers, Larks Mean Business

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The team few expected would come out on top meets the team few expected would finish last to begin the final weekend of regular-season Big Four football union play on a note of suspense.

Hamilton Tiger - Cats are at home to Ottawa Rough Riders today and Frank Clair says his Riders will be going all out for a win to clinch first place and a bye into the final series.

Toronto Argonauts, who play Montreal Alouettes in Toronto Sunday, will be watching the Hamilton game intently. Should Tiger-Cats win, Toronto will be flying against Montreal because an Argonaut win and an Ottawa loss would give Toronto that coveted first place.

However, victories by both Ottawa and Toronto would leave them tied for first place with 10 wins and four losts each. In that case the Rough Riders get the bye into the home-and-home, total-points final on the basis of their 22-point edge they have over Argos in the two games they have played against each other.

The Argos would then play the third-place Alouettes in the sudden-death semi-final.

The Argos-Als clash today become little more than an exhibition if Ottawa wins the game today to wrap up first place.

No matter what, quarterback Tobin Rote of Argos will be gunning for another Big Four record against a club which has helped him set two so far this season.

In previous outings against Montreal, Rote set a North American pro football passing record of 38 completions in a game and a league mark of seven touchdown passes in a single game.

Today he'll be trying for the 32-touchdown passes record for a season shared by Montreal's Sam Etcheverry and Argos' 1956 pivot, Arnie Galiffa.

Title Fight At Stake

NEW YORK (AP) — For the sake of a $6,000 purse, Argentina's Federico Thompson will risk his long sought shot at the welterweight title tonight when he meets Gaspar Ortega of Mexico.

They will clash in a nationally-televised 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Thompson, 32, a veteran of over 100 fights, is all set to meet welterweight king Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba in a title tilt at the garden, Dec. 10. A decision defeat at the hands of the aggressive Mexican tonight could cost Thompson the title fight.

Irish Edge Hamilton 5-4, Royals Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Wide - open, fast - skating play was the rule Friday night as St. Michael's College Majors and Guelph Royals edged their opposition in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A play.

At Guelph, five goals by Rod Gilbert enabled the ace 5-4 win over Hamilton Red Wings. The win, second in a row for the Royals at the Wings' expense, pushed Guelph to an early season's lead in the seven - team league.

A 5-4 win by the majors marred the home debut of Niagara Falls Flyers, Hap Emms' Barrie Flyers of last year.

Lightning - fast breaks and strong defensive work were the deciding factors in the Majors' win, St. Mikes overcame a 2-0 Niagara Falls lead midway through the first with one goal late in the period and another early in the middle frame. Flyers held a 3-2 lead briefly in the second, but two Toronto goals gave the Irish a 4-3 lead into the third.

LATE-GAME TIE

Bobby Wright put the arena in an uproar with a tying goal late in the third period to tie Jackson's second goal of the game with total scores which was the decider.

The big Irish line of Larry Keenan, Bruce Draper and Jackson accounted for all five St. Michael's goals. Draper was the other twin sniper.

Brooke Billy Knibbs led the losing cause with two goals. Ken Ford's second effort tied Rod brook shared the other two Flyer tallies.

The win gave Majors a second-place tie with Peterborough Peter.

In the Guelph game Marcel Labelle, Paul Andrea and Bob Cunningham added singles to Gilbert's five - goal spree, Neil Forth's two-goal effort led the Red Wings, who counted singles by Hamilton Jeffrey, Dennis Bennett, Keith Walsh and Pit Martin.

Hamilton gained an early 3-1 lead and were tied 5-5 with the Royals going into the third period.

Bradley Gets Coach Job

DRYDEN, Ont. (CP)—Barton Bradley, who played on Belleville McFarland's junior A hockey team of 1956, has been signed as player-coach of Dryden Rockets of the Ontario - Minnesota League, it was announced here.

Bradley, a native of Fort William, played briefly with Sudbury Port Arthur Bruins helping them win the Memorial Cup in 1947-48 before turning professional.

GET DEFENCEMAN

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League have purchased defenceman Frank Martin from Buffalo Bisons, it was announced Friday. Martin, a native of Cayuga, Ont., had been loaned to Quebec by the 1960-61 season. He has been in professional hockey for eight years.

Laughs While Beating Andrade

Brown Clowns, Wins Title Circus

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lightweight boxing champion Joe Brown punched and laughed his way to a convincing 15-round decision over Cisco Andrade Friday night to retain his world crown.

The decision of the judges and referee was unanimous and had the 26-year-old champion from Houston, Tex., far ahead on all cards. Brown weighed 134½ and Andrade, from Compton, Calif., 133½.

Brown, in a record ninth defence of the 135-pound division crown, made the Cisco Kid look like a novice. The old champion, dancing and jabbing at will, started laughing at the frustrated Californian in the seventh round and repeated his enjoyment in subsequent rounds.

"There were no knockdowns but wild boner" raised a ruckus at ringside as Cisco's right cheekbone in the sixth round. The swelling never bothered Andrade but he suffered a cut in the 14th, along with a severe gash of the right eyelid.

Brown was asked how long he would keep fighting.

"As long as I have kids like these, why quit?" he asked in return. "I thought he would crowd me more. He wasn't aggressive. It seemed he was just trying to stay the 15 rounds."

'Cy' and 300 Attend

Softball Party a 'Wow'

Approximately 300 guests were in attendance at the Belleville and District and City Commercial Softball leagues wrap-up the 1960 season with presentations and a dance at Club Commodore Ballroom last night.

Special guests were Mr. Clarence "Cy" Perkin, president of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association, and Mrs. Perkin, of Toronto.

Mr. Perkin, introduced by Master of Ceremonies Harry Hoskins, honorary president of the ASA, spoke briefly. He congratulated the B. and D. league on another fine season and wished it the best of luck in the future.

"The B. and D. is one of the strongest leagues in Ontario," Mr. Perkin said in closing and was looking to pull you up to the top is lighted parks here in Belleville."

The evening was very gratifying to see the large turnout of players and wives and guests.

Highlight of the social part of the evening was the crowning of the first "Miss Belleville and District Softball League."

Jack "Deacon" Whillis, timbasemga for the Cleaners, received the Sooh Trophy as the loop's Most Valuable Player.

Mrs. Hall received a beautiful crown of roses and a bouquet of flowers from Perkin.

The presentation of trophies honored both individual and team champions.

The Jimmy Barriage Memorial Trophy "to the B. and D. League's Most ... valuable Player was presented... Bobby Hunter of the Bakers by Mrs. Barriage.

Bobcat sponsored Coach Bob Tempel accepted the Dow Trophy for manager-coach for winning the league pennant and the Bill Hurst trophy from Bill Hurst for the team's playoff championship.

Nick Stefan presented the Labatt Trophy to Bill Whillis, Albert Faulkner and the Labatt group to runners-up Johnny Batchelor. Both are members of the Bobcats and had averages of .405 and .400.

A first-year trophy, the Ken Codling Memorial, donated by Cleo Codling, for the best umpire, was won by Al Kelleher. Don Thomas made the presentation with Bill Hurst accepting in Kelleher's absence.

In the Commercial League section, the Frank Folwell Trophy was presented to Belle Cleaners for capturing the championship.

Jack "Deacon" Whillis, timbasemga for the Cleaners, received the Sooh Trophy as the loop's Most Valuable Player.

Will Expand Squirt Loop

The possibility of expanding the Squirt division of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association was discussed at a special meeting held this week.

The division has, at the present time, eight teams with an average of 32 players per team. This allows very little ice time for each player. The only answer would appear to be the division of the ice surface into two sections, thus permitting three games to be played at the same time. This will be done.

Recreational director "Red" Downes said the expansion to 12 teams would present little problem, as far as scheduling was concerned.

A few minor details, such as opening ceremonies and the ice surface and obtaining something suitable for ice dividers, are yet to be looked after. Bill Brennan also said that extra goalkeepers' equipment presented no problem and that getting more goalies' net would be looked after without difficulty.

The meeting was chaired by Fyfe Poole while Fred Jones assisted.

League Plans Six Teams

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senior Interprovincial Hockey League will have two new teams—both from Hull, Que.—when it starts the trail to the Allan Cup Nov. 8.

Organized on a shoestring two years ago, the six-team league planned for its third season Friday night at a special meeting here.

Officials said Buckingham Aces and Hull Legion, league champions last year, will be out of action this season.

Sam Pollock, general manager of the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens of the Eastern Professional League, said he will enter a team from Hull. A second Hull team will be entered by a group so far unnamed.

Pembroke Lumber Kings, Smiths Falls Rideaus, Cornwall Emards and Ottawa St. Anthony's, all members of the city-district league, indicated they would be back.

NYAC BACKS MOORE

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Athletic Commission said Friday to continue its recognition of Archie Moore of San Diego as world light - heavyweight boxing champion. It also suggested that Alphonse Halimi of France meet the winner of the Eder Jofre-Eloy Sanchez for the bantamweight crown.

Topping the second-place Farrell Shoket by six points, the Dougall Insurance won the Quinte Classic Bowling League schedule's first quarter at the Bowl-O-Drome last night.

The insurance keglers aggregated 56 points with Farrell's carding 50. They followed Elaine Frost-west 62, Boulton's Sunoco 40, O'Connor's Jewellers 40, Parson's 39, Hotel Proprietors 38 and Parson's Cleaners 23.

Last night's games resulted as follows: McDougall's (10) 3306, Boulton's (6) 3297, Farrell's (4) 3257, Hotel Props. (4) 3238, Elaine (6) 3470, El Rancho (4) 3322, O'Connor's (3) 3423, Parson's (0) 3127.

Jim McKenzie's 1136 was the high 4-string for the night. Other high scores were: Al Boulton 1026 (305), J. Wardbaugh 1012 (305), Philip Pullen 1008, Ed Rumieskie 1001, L. Lucciola 996 (314), W. Bateman 960, A. Atkin 956, J. Lucciola 954 (323), Ken J. Canning 926 (304), R. Buston 907, J. Begley 904 (309), G. Anderson 903.

Wolves Nip Royals 3-1

SUDBURY (CP) — Tom McCarthy's 40-foot screened backhander in the final period provided the winning marker as Sudbury Wolves came from behind to whip Montreal Royals 3-1 Friday night in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

McCarthy's tally broke a 1-1 tie with Keke Mortson adding an insurance goal on a breakaway while Wally Boyer scored Royals' lone counter.

Some 3,130 fans, largest home crowd of the season, watched Wolves' defence give Royalties 1-0 lead in the second period. Before the period was over John Sawyer, playing his second game for Sudbury since arriving from Vancouver Canucks, tied it up.

The win placed Wolves in a third-place tie with Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds at 10 points and left Montreal-2n fifth-place with eight points.

Before the game Sudbury coach Murph Chamberlain announced made a faces of the league's trade rule, which requires each team to dress a minimum of two rookies and three local amateur players each game.

Chamberlain benched two of his rookies and signed 18-year-old Chris Kumrok, the team's assistant trainer to a 37 hockey contract.

Kumrok was dressed and sent out for pre-game warmups. But Chamberlain changed his mind and called rookie Buzz Deschamps to the dressing room.

Deschamps dressed but didn't play. Kumrok was a professional hockey player, although he has never played the game.

The rookie ranks 18 players on the roster and four are expected to leave the club Saturday.

Western Hockey

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The defending champion Victoria Cougar Canucks are off to a good start in their battle to hold on to the Western Hockey League crown for the 1960-61 season.

They defeated Seattle Totems 4-3 in overtime Friday night to maintain their undefeated record.

But they remain two points behind Edmonton Flyers, who have played seven games to Canucks' five. The Flyers defeated Winnipeg Warriors 4-2 while Victoria Cougars beat Spokane Comets 6-3.

A crowd of more than 4,400 at Vancouver watched Orval Kenyon's fenbach fire the winning goal at 7:30 of the overtime period. The other Vancouver goals were scored by Ralph Keller, Murray Wilkie and Frank Hoggarth. Goalie Sinclair, Bill MacFarland and Don Head's scored to Totems.

Goaltender Dennis Riggin was the hero at Edmonton, making 42 shots in Flyers' victory.

Eddie Dorohoy, Bruce MacGregor and Bob Goebel handled the Edmonton scoring. Gord Labahl and Nick Mickoski scored for the fourth-place Warriors.

A three-goal splurge in the second period gave Cougars the decision at Victoria and a three-way tie for third place.

Roger Ford scored twice for Cougars and singles came from Rod Johansen, Jim Moen and Don Wilson. Bob McCusker, Bill Polk and Steve Wilkuk scored for Spokane.

Mustangs Meet McGill

Gaels Clash With Blues

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

With only two games left in the regular schedule, the battle for last places in the Senior Interprovincial Football League could be decided in today's games.

The Montreal Sterling Queen's University Golden Gaels travel to Toronto take on last-place Univ. of Toronto Blues who are striving to keep their slim playoff hopes alive. At Montreal, the University of Western Ontario Mustangs will try to break a second-place tie with McGill Redmen.

If Gaels, with a 3-1 record defeat the limping Blues, they will be assured of at least a share of first place. They already have a playoff spot.

A defeat for Blues, who are 1-4 in the won-lost column, would leave them in the other bye for the semi-finals.

But if Toronto should upset the Gaels, there would be only a two-point spread between first and last place clubs and after the Thanksgiving Day weekend they could conceivably be in a tie for the top.

There is little chance Gaels will drop this one. They are healthy and the Blues are badly crippled. Gaels have the league's leading scorer, Robin Richie, a breakaway artist in Cal Murray, and halfback Mike Wickham, probably the league's fastest runner.

Toronto, which has suffered all season from the loss of nine first string players through injuries, will welcome back centre Ron Stewart for one game. Back are Walt Sopinka and linebacker Bob Jewell, both of whom missed the 26-13 drubbing by Queen's three weeks ago, will also dress.

Mr. Tunney Says He

Will Sue M'sieu Cleroux

TORONTO (CP)—Boxing promoter Frank Tunney said Friday night he will sue Bob Cleroux for $100,000 damages if the Montreal heavyweight attempts to fight Archie Moore in Montreal. He added he would also seek an injunction to prevent the fight.

Tunney was commenting on a statement by Montreal promoter Eddie Quinn that he is trying to arrange the match.

Tunney said Cleroux is ignoring a contract for a rematch with Toronto's George Chuvalo. Cleroux won a disputed decision over Chuvalo in Montreal in August, earning Chuvalo's Canadian title.

Quinn said under Canadian Boxing Federation regulations Cleroux does not have to defend the title until six months after it is won. Tunney denied existence of any return agreement.

In reply Tunney said the contract was signed by Al Sachner, Cleroux's manager, on an Ontario Athletic Commission boxing form, in the presence of Quinn's lawyer, Louis DeZeeuw.

Sasky Riders Meet Lions In Last Game

Coach Wayne Robinson reran the football files to point out a historical return by British Columbia Lions' smiting halfback Willie Fleming.

The wily lad back from lows had only one man and twice he passed back out his shoulder, trying to make the onrushing backer look for a blocker.

"There was no blocker coming on," Robinson chuckled, "but if that backer had looked back for an instant, Willie would have been gone."

But the 11-year-old speedster who joined the Lions in 1959 did get gone enough to crack one Lions team record and tie another.

Today against Saskatchewan Roughriders in the season's last scheduled game, Fleming will be trying to become the first Lion to top 1,000 yards in a fourth-downs in a season and 25,000 are expected to watch him. He's already 42 yards shy of the 1,000 mark got his 14 in 15 games.

Final game in the season's slugfest for Riders are in last place and Lions in fourth and the outcome won't affect their positions. Winnipeg Blue Bombers finished on top with Edmonton Eskimos second and Calgary Stampeders third and Calgary.

Both clubs open the league playoffs in Edmonton Nov. 2.

Tight Race In A.F.L.

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a tight race to happen in the American Football League this weekend.

Los Angeles Chargers and Oakland Raiders will be rooting for Dallas Texans to defeat Boston Patriots and Houston Oilers to whip Denver and Los Angeles tied for first with six victories records and Oakland and Houston Jewell, both of whom missed the 26-13 drubbing by Queen's three weeks ago, will also dress.

The position of the first-place Eastern division is not threatened.

Top Lifters In District Are Selected

Belleville district weightlifting title fans will see the strongest men in this area from bodyweight classes, and they will be represented in the Ontario competitions to verify their athletic ability.

A gold medal was awarded to John Lewis of the Apollo Barbell Club for the best lift. Also he was followed by Bill Rushlow of the YMCA team, who was awarded a silver medal. Rushlow is a local diver and gymnast with three months of weightlifting. An error in calculation at first gave Rushlow the gold medal but has been rectified and both lifters are happy.

Apollo Club outnumbered the YMCA lifters 12 to 5 with Apollo retaining the Jack Lang Memorial Lifting Trophy the third year in succession.

The lifting was refereed by Captain Rodney Gordon of Kingston, A.A.U. chairman of weightlifting for Central Ontario. He suggested more meets as Belleville is producing some good talent and this is the only way to help keep them going.

The names of lifters and totals in the various classes are as follows: Bantam — Bill Rushlow (Y) 420 lbs.; Bruce Fleming (A) 415 lbs.; Feather — G. Mullins (A) 435 lbs.; Lightweight — Dale Archers (A) 460 lbs.; L. Scarrott (A) 470 lbs.; D. Hay (A) 475 lbs.; Middleweight — Ken Cox (A) 465 lbs.; Middleweight — D. Scrimshaw (A) 505 lbs.; R. Hayes (A) 490 lbs.; Bert C. Haines (A) 420 lbs.; Heavyweight — Jerry Vickers (Y) 640 lbs.; Ken Carr-Brant (A) 585 lbs., John Lewis (A) 745 lbs.; Middleheavy — Jerry Vickers (Y) 640 lbs.; Ken Archer (A) 480 lbs.; Heavyweight — Ken Carr-Brant (A) 570 lbs., Ron Smith (A) 640 lbs.

CHARGE DUMPING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The treasury ruled Thursday that two carats of nepheline syenite from Canada were dumped into the United States market. The material is used in making glassware. If the tariff commission claims injury to U.S. business, it may impose an off-setting duty on imports. Imports last year were valued at $1,400,000.

Canadians Will Rate Own Boxers

QUEBEC (CP) — Reorganization of the Canadian Boxing Federation's ruling machinery was effected at the Canadian Boxing Association was announced Friday by Gene Leclerc, president, re - elected national coordinator.

A rating committee and a championship committee have been set up. Duties and other work done for some 13 years by the one-man coordinator committee will be shared by these two bodies.

Chairman of the rating committee is Mr. Letourneau, Chairman of the Canadian championship committee is Charles Mayor of Montreal.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Avalon Gomez, who planned a quiet day for the year after today's Cup and Saucer finale at Woodbine, now says he'll ride on, won the featured sixth with Dynamic Boy by 8,301 at Woodbine Friday.

It was the 2,000th career victory for the old Cuban riding champion who missed the last couple of days because of a Toronto business trip to Montreal.

"Well, maybe not the last week but up to then anyhow." The 1960-day Ontario season concludes Nov. 24.

Gomez had to be at his best with Dynamic Boy to beat Dan Olan and Fred Touch of Buffalo. He was off early from the 1 1-16-mile race to outrun Burlevie.

When she was done, Gomez had a 2½-length advantage through a breather so that Mooney was up to handling a front-running head-and-head duel with Grand Canyon under Jockey Ron Turcotte. At the wire, Mooney had it by a nose in 1:46.4.

Capacity-Filled Auditorium At BCI Views Presentation Of Commencement Awards

The auditorium wasn't big enough to seat all the students, parents and friends who packed last night's Commencement Exercises at BCIVS. The crowd trickled out into the corridors and some lined the auditorium walls as 181 students received their graduation diplomas, certificates, scholarships and awards there during the impressive two-hour ceremony.

Long before the exercises started at 7.30 on the button, the crowd began to flood into the school, Belleville's oldest high school. The young women and young men in the line-up were all either long term veterans of the school or were familiar enough with the place to orderly groups and marched them slowly into the auditorium as the audiences rose and the school band, under the baton of Clifford Templer, sang and played a processional hymn.

Most of the teachers and many guests were seated on the stage to add the proper dignity to the students. Following greetings from Principal Ken Smith-Orr and high school board chairman A. O. Drysdale, Intermediate certificates were presented to Grade 11 graduates by Mrs. Gladys Mae Taylor, Miss Lillian Davidson, Mr. C. B. Heard and Mrs. K. E. Pryor.

The choral ensemble under the direction of Mr. Templer, favored the audience with a song after which Miss M. H. Dwyer, one of the school's most respected teachers, introduced guest speaker Miss Gladys Munnings former principal of senior schools, Department of Education.

Miss Munnings herself a graduate of BCIVS aimed her remarks at the 36 young people in the graduating class and suggested that they make only a small plans, because "they hold no magic for the future."

ONLY STEEPING STONE

"High school graduation," she said, "is only the end of the beginning. It is to come. It is but a stepping stone to a fuller life, to a higher education and to personal development."

"The sky is not limited for graduates who are giving stellar service to society," she said.

Graduation brings with it not only a sense of accomplishment for things past, but a responsibility for the future. Perhaps some of the graduates believed they could not afford to go to university. But, she said, where there is a will there is a way. More than 94 million is available for use as scholarships, bursaries and loans for students anticipating university education.

"Some say that in trouble with opportunity is that it comes disguised as hard work," she said. "But it is worth seeing in what ever guise it is masquerading."

Perhaps one of the graduates is still did not know what they wanted to do when they left the age of automation, but there is no youth-button technique which will give the answers to the really important questions of life."

Miss Munnings suggested that those who still had made up their minds about the future should now make a careful assessment of their personal abilities, qualities of character and interests.

"Each one of us, when himself some distinctive capacity," she said. "Find out what it is, develop it, and you will find life truly satisfying for yourself and your employers. And it is not always easy to know yourself."

Today as never before, young people will be called upon to give leadership," Miss Geldi, but they cannot give it unless they develop their gifts to the full.

Following Miss' Munnings' address, for which she was thanked by student Julia Redford, graduation diplomas were presented to 128 students by C. Stirling, A.C. Campbell, D. G. Rowe and G. A. Wishart on behalf commercial certificates were presented to 21 students by J. A. Cowan and Miss Dwyer Allen.

The graduating class of 36 Grade Thirteeners received their honor graduation diplomas from W. F. Buckley and Principal Orr.

Valedictorian was Miss Barbara Wien, first year language student at the University of Toronto, who in addition to thanking the parents and teachers for their support and help during the years, said true knowledge is an intangible commodity within the individual which comes from the ceaseless contentment of facts on the mind.

Piano solos were rendered by Pamela Reid in delightfully entertaining fashion, after which H. F. Mott presented the school awards and prizes. Honor pins were presented by Barry Simpson and Julie Bredeveld, and school letters were awarded by J. N. Reid, Mrs. M. Burgess, and H.M. Townsend.

A reception was held afterwards in the gymnasium and students enjoyed a Graduation Ball until shortly after midnight.

Youthful and Good Looking John Kennedy Has 2 Strong Cards in Bid for Presidency

NEW YORK (CP)—"If I were 21, I'd vote for Kennedy."

Campaign badges bearing that slogan are a common accessory of dress with high school students in this United States election campaign, particularly among the girls.

Being youthful and good looking, the junior senator from Massachusetts has two strong cards in his bid for the presidency.

Certainly, the emotional feeling he kindles has been widely marked. Photographs frequently show him surrounded by admiring youngsters. Women scream and throw kisses. And the mail yell encouragement: "You've got 'em on the run, Jack."

What is perhaps more interesting is that this enthusiasm, bordering on adulation, is not seriously discouraged by the candidate.

WORKS IN LOW KEY

While Vice-President Nixon appears to be consciously courting his audience, striving to achieve camaraderie, his opponent conducts his appeal in a low key.

Riding down the main streets of America perched on the back of a convertible, Kennedy pulls out his hand shyly rather than flinging it forward in a grand gesture. sometimes looks embarrassed by the fuss.

He avoids overstatement and the heavy line. He doesn't say he is "deeply moved" or "grateful from the bottom of my heart" for cheers and applause.

"We appreciate this," he says, and goes on to something else.

Local dignitaries, accustomed to fulsome buildups from the stage performers, are given comparatively perfunctory mention.

NO MORE KENNEDYS

Kennedy was similarly candid about his intention of getting the Democratic party's nomination and trying for the presidency. When other men, with the most modesty which is traditional in high American politics, said they really weren't interested in the White House.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was born to a rich Boston Irish-descended Roman Catholic family in 1917. After graduating from Harvard in 1940, he spent a brief time at the London School of Economics before joining the U.S. Navy in November, 1941.

His appeal to war veterans is that it's time now for the generation of American men who fought at sea and in the air to take over direction of the country.

Kennedy himself commanded a torpedo boat in the Pacific; his elder brother, Joseph, was shot down and killed in the European theatre.

Contrasting to the man of action is John Kennedy, Pulitzer Prize winner for biography in 1957 with his Profiles in Courage. He has published another book, Why England Slept.

Kennedy won election to the House of Representatives in 1946, a year after his father, who had played there until he moved to the Senate in 1952, the same year that President Eisenhower was first elected.

The following year he married Jacqueline Lee Bouvier, a member of a wealthy Long Island—New York family. They have a daughter and are expecting a second child.

A similarity in congressional careers, in ambition to get to the top, in age (Kennedy is 43, Nixon 47), and in their general goals if elected president has contributed to the impression that the voters don't have much to choose from between the two candidates.

CRITICS COMPLAINING

Some critics accuse the senator of opportunism in fashioning his campaign approach. They ask how long he has been concerned about the questions he says are worrying him.

In certain labor circles, there is resentment at the activities of a younger brother, Robert, as chief counsel for the Senate's rackets committee, and at a law passed following that group's disclosures. John Kennedy helped push the legislation through the Senate.

It has been recalled that Kennedy supported the farm price program of the present secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, but that he repudiated Benson's policies after losing the contest to become the Democratic party's presidential candidate in 1956.

Again, in the secret vote which stand against the late senator Joseph McCarthy a few liberal circles let it present outlook slightly suspect. Kennedy admirers say he had no choice. automatic reaction to McCarthy's Washington witch hunt. The opinion liberals then asked was: Why choose he not strongly absent?

FATHER'S BELIEFS

There are some, too, who think his father's opinions are a handicap. Joseph Kennedy Sr., as ambassador to Britain before the Second World War, praised the 1938 Munich agreement. An isolationist, the ardent Kennedy believed in the "fortress America" concept of non - involvement in European wars and later supported McCarthy.

Those who during a Roman Catholic can is considered one of Senator Kennedy's greatest advantages. A member of that church, he would be the first elected president of the U.S.; the only man who tried, Democrat Al Smith in 1928, was defeated.

In answering fundamentalist Protestant fears he foresee the prospect of "electing a Pope to the White House" he says: "I am not strongly proclaims his belief in the separation of church and state; that some observers perceive his attitude may have begun to grate on other Roman Catholics.

Minister Says Contractors Did Not Obey Code

WINDSOR (CP) — An oil furnace blast on Friday just a block from the Metropolitan Stores building where 10 were killed Tuesday.

The second explosion shattered three plate glass windows at a furniture and appliance store No one was injured.

A workman at the scene said a delay in ignition of the furnace caused the blast. He said there was no evidence of leaking fuel lines. Firemen are investigating.

Tuesday's explosion at the Metropolitan Store was caused during installation of a natural gas heating unit.

Robert Macaulay, Ontario resources minister, said Friday the fuel line blast would not have happened if contractors had obeyed provincial regulations governing installations. He made the statement at a press conference following a cabinet meeting and a tour of the devastated building where 10 died and more than 80 were injured.

LIFTS LICENCE

He said the licence of the contractor, Jessop Plumbing Limited, has been lifted. The explosion may force changes in the gas code.

"My opinion is that the code was broken and that's what caused the blast.

"I went in known I mean literally. The code is going to be obeyed. If it is not, I will follow every avenue to penalize those who break it."

He said the continuing investigation will likely result in official legal action against those found responsible for the disaster.

Art Collection Of Millionaire To Be Auctioned

TORONTO (CP) — An art collection hidden from public view for years in a remodel African bungalow will be auctioned off here next month.

Twenty-six paintings owned by late diamond king John Thorburn Williamson, a Montreal millionaire brought from his Tangan-yika estate for sale in Toronto.

During his lifetime the paintings were never publicly shown or listed in any diamond magazine, who died two years ago.

Benjamin Ward - Price, art dealer and auctioneer, said the auction has a great potential" and will likely attract bidders from Britain and the United States. He estimated total value may reach $500,000.

Th sale also consists of a wide range of objects d'art from the estates of two other Canadians— John Edward (Jack) Hammell and Mrs. George H. Brooks.

IN COBALT RUSH

Mr. Hammell, who died in 1956 at Hammell from the pioneering ranks of the Cobalt silver-rush in Northern Ontario to become one of the country's wealthiest mining men.

Mrs. Brooks, who died earlier this year, was one of the Brockville Fulford family and mother of Richard Fulford, head of the Fulford Medicine Company of Brockville and Toronto.

A preview of the auction is being held for catalogue holders today and Monday. The sale runs from Tuesday to Friday.

LIBRARIAN DIES

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Kathleen Hall, 58, librarian and teacher in the University of Toronto's botany department for the last 30 years, died Friday in hospital.

Nixon Rolls Campaign West Elated Over Ike's Backing; Kennedy Tours Mining Area

WITH NIXON (AP) — Vice-President Nixon rolled his presidential campaign into Chicago's suburbs today with a glowing endorsement from President Eisenhower.

The Republican presidential nominee made it clear he believes the send-off the president gave him in a televised appearance in Philadelphia Friday night put his campaign in high gear at a particularly critical time.

"I consider the president's help to be one of the greatest political speeches of my career," Nixon said.

The president hammered hard at Kennedy's charges that Republican leadership has weakened American prestige abroad and steered the country into economic decline.

The president aimed his shaft at the Democratic nominee: "My friends, anyone who seeks to grasp the reins of world leadership should not spend all his time wringing his hands."

Saying Nixon "for long odds" is the best qualified man to be president, Eisenhower struck at familiar Republican theme that Kennedy is immature and brash. Though he never mentioned Kennedy by name, Eisenhower said: "I remember that one candidate says he will act first and act fast. America needs a man who will think first, and then act wisely."

PROFOUNDLY CONCERNED

He said he was "profoundly concerned by some statements in this campaign that have cruelly distorted the image of America."

These statements demonstrate as a matter of irresponsibility," said Eisenhower.

The wave of speculation in gold in the London market was attributed by Republicans to foreign fears that the dollar will be weakened by "big-spending schemes and irresponsible promises" of politicians.

Nixon told a partisan audience of about 4,000 at the Davenport, Iowa, Masonic Temple Friday night, he is convinced the tide is running his way in the presidential contest.

He said that in the "key states" of Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa the "tide is running strong and Democrats by the thousands are joining with us to support our ticket."

STOLE RIFLES

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Three young youths have been charged in this area, charged with theft of two rifles, ammunition and a shotgun, police were remanded Friday for a pre-sentence report. Paul Hendrick and Bryce Riley pleaded guilty to breaking into a Masonic hardware store Oct. 21. Hendrick's brother, Emeric pleaded not guilty.

"Jest a Second"

CHEARED FINISH — Blackened wheel of Northwest flight 104 bears mute evidence of 12 persons' fate after DC-4 flew into mountainside. (AP Wirephoto)

WITH KENNEDY (CP) — Almost unbroken line of people 19 miles long cheered Senator Kennedy on the road between Wilkes-Barre and Scranton as he toured the coal-mining areas of northeastern Pennsylvania Friday.

Huge crowds jammed his motorcade, forcing his tour schedule to fall three hours behind time. Some 20,000 persons waited up to five hours to catch a glimpse of the Democratic presidential candidate on the final rally of the night at Scranton.

He had gone on the tour after a total of 14 hours, working his way from the steel centre of Bethlehem to Pittsburgh, the Blue and Pocono mountain area, charging wherever he went that Republican Vice - President Nixon was indifferent to the threatening recession and increasing unemployment.

Governor David Lawrence of Pennsylvania who accompanied the Democratic presidential candidate, has spoken to a total of 500,000 persons during the day.

FIVE HOURS LATE

Kennedy, after landing in a downpour at Philadelphia international airport, drove some 20 miles to Valley Forge to address County Club to keep a date for which he was nearly five hours late.

He was nearly two o'clock in the morning, Kennedy had been going strong for 18 hours.

At Bethlehem earlier in the day, Kennedy told a Moravian College gathering:

"I disagree very sharply with the philosophy which the [illegible] publican] administration has given. I do not think it is an accident that we have had a recession through two recessions, in 1954 and 1958 and through a serious slowdown in 1960 at the very time in the world when every impartial, objective survey, whether released by the state department or not, shows that our prestige as the leader of the free world has declined."

ATTACKS NIXON PLEDGE

At Wilkes - Barre, Kennedy referred to Nixon's pledge to tour Communist satellites in eastern Europe as a "cynical" message of freedom behind the Iron Curtain. Kennedy said it reminded him of Republican pledge in 1952 to liberate east Europe.

"I think what the people of eastern Europe want are not parades but a strong America committed to freedom here and around the world."

He said at an outdoor rally:

"I say what is the difference between Mr. Nixon and I differ. He looks, he is for peace, to the past and present and we look to the future."

"Mr. Nixon and I differ very basically," he emphasized at another point. He then elaborated, elaborate.

He also emphasis that there is a difference seemed to be a reply to conclusions by some news commentators that there really isn't much contrast between the two candidates and their programs.

POINTED REVOLVER

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Peter Joseph Hyldtoft, of London, Friday was fined a total of $49.50 including costs, or seven days imprisonment for pointing a revolver at David Cove. Evidence was that Cove and two companions were faced by the gun-wielding Hyldtoft after his car forced theirs to a halt. They had previously shouted to him to dim his lights.

Justice Rules Man Eligible To Be Candidate

TORONTO (CP)—Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario high court of justice ruled Friday that Kenneth MacDougall of Oshawa can seek re-election as president of Local 222 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters Ind.

Mr. Justice McRuer rejected a ruling by Local 238 trustee I. J. Dudd that Mr. MacDougall was ineligible to run for office because his dues were not paid on time five times in two years.

Mr. Justice McRuer found that Mr. MacDougall had paid his dues as required by the by-laws, and thus was eligible to be a candidate for office.

Mr. MacDougall's name was left off the list of presidential candidates in elections last month. Results of the elections were withheld pending the high court ruling.

David Lewis, counsel for the applicant, said a new election will be held.

Court Deals Union Possible Fatal Blow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Friday dealt with the Teamsters Union membership a possible fatal blow.

The court ruled 2 to 1 that either side in the controversy may veto the appointment of chairman. No other reasonable grounds."

Observers interpreted the decision as possibly meaning it will be impossible for Federal District Judge F. D. Dickinson Letts to find a new chairman. The union has objected to the appointment of former FBI agent Terrence Hoffa's son.

The monitorship was set up in January, 1958. It resulted from a compromise settlement of a suit by union dissidents to bar James Hoffa from taking office as president. In return for allowing Hoffa to take office, the union agreed to the monitorship to watch over the activities of Hoffa and to bring about cleanup of the scandal-ridden union, largest in the U.S.

Nikita's Threats Against West Never Materialize

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In view of Nikita Khrushchev's fondness for making bloodcurdling threats against the West, it is intriguing to analyze the claim made on his behalf that he has never backed down on one yet.

At first glance, the claim would appear to be belied by the simple fact that the world has not yet disappeared under a gigantic mushroom cloud.

But a Khrushchev press conference with a covey of visiting journalists throws some light on his technique.

Having prompted armed assistance to Fidel Castro's government in the event of armed aggression, Khrushchev told them he would like the pledge "really to be symbolic."

Ticking off a few more of his more impressive rumblings, it appears that the same preference applies in other instances.

The most striking example was the Suez affair. When British, French and Israeli troops moved into Egypt in 1956, the Russians threatened full - scale action unless they broke off their campaign.

But the record shows that the Soviet Union, although it had voiced its displeasure at an early-British, French and Israeli stage, never put ground to the ultimate threat until after the conclusion of a ceasefire agreement.

Khrushchev feat work was the supposedly unprovoked U-2 controversy. It was only after the United States had made it plain that no more reconnaissance aircraft would be sent over Russian territory that he pronbsed destruction to any Western base from which such a patch one.

Similarly, it may be presumed that the Russians are perfectly aware that the United States has no plans to invade Cuba and that they reserve the right to interpret the pledge to "armed aggression" as inapplicable to an uprising originating in Cuba itself.

In short, Khrushchev's horrendous threats are invariably directed at straw men. His bluff has never been called, simply because he has always taken care to leave himself room for the west to avoid calling it without losing face.

Kennedy Setting Furious Campaign Pace, Preaching With Fervor of a Roosevelt

For the second week Harold Morrison, Canadian Press staff man at Washington, has covered Democratic candidate Kennedy's campaign for the United States presidency. For this story he rounds up impressions explained by Kennedy and reviews his campaign throughout.

WITH KENNEDY (CP)—John Kennedy runs his greatest appeal to the American ego — to American freedom. He has left everything, to avoid the shame of being called shabby and economy.

Setting a furious campaign pace and preaching with the fervor of a Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic leader repeatedly great pictures of the opportunities ahead if only Americans will pick itself up and start moving again."

Without questioning President Eisenhower by name, he accuses the Republican administration of having hidden from the people that the U.S. has lost prestige abroad and many of its economic vitality. would continue under Richard Nixon, and he could eventually lead to destruction of the American way of life.

Calls he pledges greater medical insurance for the aged as part of a "new" national welfare program, his major appeal to the nation's voters.

"I want Mr. Khrushchev and the world to know," he told a crowd in the city of Barrington, Ill., "that a new generation of Americans is in office this year, Americans who fought in Europe and the Pacific to maintain our freedom in the Second World War and who are determined to see that America as a strong and vital country."

Amid a myriad of side issues he touches on the need for more jobs, schools and housing. The handsome Irishman tries to portray his Democratic party as the big-biggest battle of all, linking Earth's manned space flights with waste-the country to stand still leader.

while he, Kennedy, wants to keep it progressing.

It is a battle, as he expresses it, between "the comfortable and the concerned." Then he adds that the concerned should vote for Nixon; a statement that usually arouses the crowds to shouts of "No! No!"

While Kennedy draws large and enthusiastic crowds, some political reporters on his campaign plane suggest the crowds are enraptured mainly by his good looks rather than his political arguments.

One joke among the reporters is that it is just as well that Kennedy's wife, Jacqueline, is pregnant and must remain at home. It provides at least reassurance for the "shriekers, jumpers and fainters" knee-age girls and older women who letout ecstatic squeals and hop up and down as Kennedy rides in an open convertible.

Kennedy keeps his speeches short, delivering them in machine-gun style; but he generally holds between six and 12 rallies a day, starting at 9 a.m. and going until midnight.

Using his private twin-engined Convair and dozens of press planes, Kennedy flashes from community to community, from state to state with surprising speed. He has discovered over he can; keeps his lunch and dinner hours short. He seldom speak more than 30 minutes but he tends to deliver the same message over and over. His most urgent need to tackle the "unfinished business" of the American society and to get America moving again."

He likes to associate his appeal with that of President Eisenhower in 1952 and Harry S. Truman's great crowd attractors.

Kennedy has got an Eisenhower button but he has a Roosevelt. He keeps bringing the name of the late president into almost every rally, associating his own brand of politics with the New Deal philosophy and accomplishments of the wartime Democratic leader.

Niagara Falls Key Riding In Four Byelections Monday

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— One thing sure about the Niagara Falls federal byelection next Monday, no one is sure who's going to win.

Niagara Falls is a key riding, winning or losing it could mean a big boost for either of the two actives, Liberals or to the armament being set up by the CCF and Conservatives in the four areas whose candidate designates his political views.

In this constituency, held by the Liberals since it was formed in 1935, the main issue is being received by each candidate will be made carefully. It could be a possible barometer of party fortunes.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker doesn't need the seat to bolster his Progressive Conservative ity, but would like to have it. It could be won from the Liberals, this would lend to offset Conservative set b a c k s provincially.

Two men and a woman seek the seat—the two men schools teachers and the woman a lawyer.

Their platforms vary, but all are aimed at bolstering employment in Niagara Falls, which suffers from the jobless troubles that beset other Canadian industrial areas.

The woman candidate chosen by the Liberals at Mr. Bourk's convention is Miss Judy LaMarsh, an attractive lawyer of 36.

Aggressive Miss LaMarsh tells electors Niagara Falls must send a member of the Liberal party to Ottawa because that is the only effective alternative to the Conservatives.

If she is on the floor of the House of Commons, Diefenbaker will have to listen to Niagara.

Ed McMeehan, 50, the New Party candidate, is a science and mathematics teacher at Queen of Stamford Township, and was his opponent was never in federal politics before.

His New Party platform has some socialistic ideas but does not doctrinaire CCF and appeals to small business, workers, the aged and the farmer.

Aggressive Conservative Keith Lougheed, 41, is a high school teacher who is banking on the Conservative record as a party man who can bring all levels of government together for Niagara." This is a reference to the federal and provincial governments being Conservative.

The Ottawa government has thrown in some heavy guns on Mr. Lougheed's behalf. So have the Liberals for Miss LaMarsh.

Liberal Leader Pearson has turned up, Labor Minister Starr and External Affairs Minister Green have been here. And the government has come up with an order for an aircraft parts plant in Niagara Falls.

It wouldn't be right to say that all seats are barred. But it would be right to say that opposing are not overlooking many bets.

SHELL OUT FOR UNICEF

WELLINGTON — Children all over the world benefit from Canada's trick or treat activities at Hallowe'en. The public school pupils distributed pamphlets about the work of the UNICEF last week. It cares for mother and child welfare; helps protect children against such diseases as yaws, malaria, trachoma, leprosy and tuberculosis.

It also supplies better nutrition for children by supplying powdered milk; the UNICEF also provides for construction of milk processing plants. One cent provides vaccine to protect a child from TB; five cents provides penicillin to cure children of yaws; ten cents provides 50 glasses of milk.

The school children will be collecting from house to house on Oct. 27-28-29. Last year they collected about $130. Let's help to make it $150 this year!

The chairman of this committee in Ontario is the well known Kate Aitken.

Your Car

Wise Driver Knows Value Of Winterizing

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

To many car owners, winterizing simply consists of changing oil and filling up with anti-freeze. Those aware of car needs however, realize that dependable performance, good economy and longer car life result from:

Thorough service includes chassis, rear axle and transmission lubrication. Battery cables, plugs, points, coil and distributor terminal sockets belong on the inspection list, too. So do the generator and the regulator if there is any doubt about output.

Radiator and heater hose and connections should be checked and you must be sure the thermostat is functioning properly. The choke and carburetor adjustment and the manifold heat riser action should be tested, and don't forget to have the air cleaner cleaned of all dirt and water.

It's also wise to make certain brakes, lights and steering are in tiptop shape. Check the muffler, exhaust pipe and tires. If the tires are worn, they will encourage slipping and skidding when roads become snow-packed or icy.

• • •

From W. G.: "Several times I have seen reference to the battery electrolyte. What does this refer to?"

(A) The electrolyte is the mixture of distilled water and sulphuric acid in each cell.

• • •

E.P. writes: "Please settle a discussion. If the ignition breaker point gap tends to increase with use, doesn't the same hold true for spark plug gap?"

(A) The ignition point gap will gradually decrease, but the gap between spark plug electrodes will widen with use.

C. R.: "I have been told that I was overcharged by my service station when they replaced my radiator pressure cap. It cost me $1.20. Did I pay too much?"

(A) No. As a matter of fact, the average service shop charge is closer to $1.50.

• • •

From L. I.: "My station attendant says that bad spark plugs cause higher oil consumption. His explanation went over my head completely. If this is true, can you spell out the reason in simple language?"

(A) When plugs foul and fail to fire regularly, unburned fuel mixes with the dilutes crankcase oil — and this diluted oil will tend to burn off more readily during engine operation.

Chinese Sought For Deportation Remains Hidden

OTTAWA (CP) — Walden Chen, Hong Kong Chinese sought for deportation, has been able to remain hidden from Canadian police for a year only with the help of friends or sympathizers, RCMP officials say.

The 40-year-old Chen disappeared last Nov. 2, the day before he, and his wife and five-year-old daughter, Alice, were to be deported to Hong Kong by ship from Seattle, Wash.

RCMP officials believe Chen is being hidden in a community with a large Chinese population, probably in Western Canada.

"He would stick out like a sore thumb in a community with only a few Chinese," one official said. "People would have been bound to have noticed a stranger and this would have led to the attention of police."

A warrant was issued for Chen's arrest last Nov. 17. The RCMP warned that anyone harboring Chen is subject to prosecution under the Immigration Code.

Mrs. Chan still is in Vancouver with her daughter as a result of an immigration department decision not to deport them until Chan is found. About a month after her husband's disappearance, she was beaten in a Vancouver hospital for the effects of an overdose of barbiturates.

The Chans arrived in Vancouver in April, 1953, on visitors' visas. In October of that year they sought permission to remain in Canada permanently but their application was rejected by the immigration department. Later appeals against the deportation order were dismissed.

They will pay a $15 licence fee for the five-day season opening Monday, Nov. 25, and are restricted to one bull moose each.

Premier Louis J. Robichaud, drawing the first 10 names from a large plastic drum, said the season is a trial one. "The system in effect this year may not be permanent. Experience may prove that more licences can be issued. We do not know."

Previously officials described the open season as an experiment to obtain data on the moose population of the province.

A sharp decline in the herds forced the annual ban on hunting the big game animal after 1936. During that season only 205 were legally shot. The bags in some previous years: 1935—490, 1930—1,066, 1926—1,381, 1920—1,596.

Decision to open a limited season this year was welcomed by sportsmen and Bruce Wright, head of the Northeastern Wildlife Station here. It followed a moose survey by Wright and another by government biologists, who reported a gradual comeback by the forest monarchs.

figures out State Farm's new deal on car insurance

"Saves money. Sounds good. Maybe too good. Must be a catch in it somewhere."

"Maybe you don't really get all this coverage. I better read the fine print."

"Maybe they hold back on claim service! Who wants a hard time collecting on an accident?"

"Hmm. They insure more cars than anybody. They must be good to keep so many people happy. Hmm. Where's that phone book?"

Yes, State Farm Mutual agents here in Ontario are now offering such an attractive buy in auto insurance you'll wonder how they do it. Low rates... new discounts... extended benefits... plus the fairest rating plan ever. Yes, the same lower rates for careful drivers and dependable claim service that have kept State Farm the world's largest car insurer for 18 straight years! New Routes Set Up

Transit Commission Asks Greater Use of Buses, Less of Cars to Improve Service

A distinct milestone in the life of public transportation in Belleville will be marked this coming Tuesday, November 1st, with the initiation of new routes for the bus lines, and the establishment of a new rate of fares.

It is apparent that from the state of confusion that existed a year ago with regard to public transportation in the city, there has developed an atmosphere of order and accomplishment, and next week's changes are putting to the test the plans of the Transit Commission.

When the city council appointed the Transit Commission to operate the bus lines, a complete and careful study was made of the existing situation. The Transit Commission felt that the transportation system, if left as is, could carry itself and be no burden on the taxpayer. However, with the newly-annexed areas clamoring for their just due by way of bus service to their particular parts of the city, the Commission was forced to seek ways and means of implementing such service, bearing in mind, at all times, the costs involved. The results are what you read in this paper today.

MAY NEED CHANGING

The Commission has no apology to make for these changes; rather an effort is being made to give service to areas that need it, and to give some measure of benefit to the majority of people. There will no doubt be faults to find with the new set-up. We are the first to admit that it may not be perfect. But it is a start, and any adjustments that show up as necessary after a period of fair trial will be made with the utmost of despatch, providing these adjustments will benefit the citizens generally as to service and cost of operation.

It is impossible for a city the size of Belleville to run a bus line on every street or to run a taxi service. If there are slight adjustments to your own schedule or convenience please try to make them with a spirit of co-operation and good-will, knowing that we are trying to serve the best interests of as many people as we can.

Most cities and towns in Canada and United States are finding it necessary to subsidize their transportation systems either by direct grant or through added taxation, either of which comes out of the taxpayer's pocket. And there is some justification for the subsidization of publicly-owned systems.

A PUBLIC UTILITY

A public transportation system must be viewed as a public utility, even as your hydro—your water—or your telephone. Without a transportation system, your city would be much worse off than it is now from the point of view of keeping the existing trade, commerce and industry, and even attracting additional trade and industry to Belleville. Your school programs, your public institutions such as library and hospital, would be affected. What citizen of what small community would think of objecting to paying a nominal service charge to have hydro, water or a telephone in their homes or places of business?

Should you walk out of your house some day and decide to walk or drive your own car to wherever you may be going, remember that the bus is there as well, and must be there for that time when you decide that instead of taking your car or walking, you'll take the bus. Public transportation is a service that must be maintained and available at all times within reason and, therefore, must be supported in one way or another.

The Transit Commission feels as of today, that the newly-established routes can be maintained through fare revenues, based on the new fare structure, and with no additional cost to the taxpayers of Belleville. Any further expansion of routes or costs will have to be met from revenue produced. Therefore, it should be apparent to everyone that the more use they make of the buses, the better chance we have of extending services and purchasing newer and more modern equipment.

MORE FARES, MORE SERVICE

An appeal would not be out of place to those people who are presently driving their cars to work or to go shopping. With parking space ever diminishing and with costs of driving what they are, we suggest that it would be more convenient and less costly for people to use the bus. Those people who shun using the buses in order to ride in car-pools, may be defeating themselves from a cost point of view. The more fares that come in, the more service you will receive.

In this edition of today's paper, the Transit Commission is publishing maps of the new routes, together with a composite map of the entire city transportation system. With each map appears a legend, showing the name of the route as it will be known, the location and time of location, the direction the bus will travel from any given point, the times the bus will be at certain points, and the points of transfer which are most convenient to passengers. We have endeavored to make this as simple as possible so that it can be understood by everyone. If, however, any particular aspect is not clear to anyone, they may get further information by telephoning the Transit Commission office at WO 2-1925.

The custom of stopping at every corner along a route is a most costly and time-consuming one. In an endeavor to reduce costs and save time, it was necessary to eliminate some stops. The buses will stop at approximately every other street along their routes. Stops will be marked by an orange band painted around the hydro poles about eight feet up from the sidewalk. Where no hydro pole is there, the orange band will be on a sign post or on the curb. Please look for it. The drivers are instructed to stop only at designated points. Please give them your co-operation.

ASK FOR CO-OPERATION

Your Transit Commission has tried to give you what you want. We ask for your co-operation. Any change of this nature may cause some amount of confusion at the beginning. Patience and consideration will go a long way towards a successful operation.

Commencing Tuesday morning, the present tickets will not be accepted as fares. New tickets of different colors will be available on the buses. Anyone having any of the present tickets in their possession may redeem them for cash at the Transit Commission office, 160 Bleecker Ave., between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, up to November 18th. Please do not embarrass drivers by asking them to accept old tickets after Tuesday. Drivers are forbidden to deposit fares in the boxes for customers. We ask your co-operation in depositing your own fares in the fare box.

Mary Healy and Peter Lind Making Good in New Series

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One nice happenstance of this year's TV season is that it has returned Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes to Hollywood.

The talented twosome are doing a situation comedy, Peter Loves Mary, which brightens the home tube Wednesday nights. Though both have roots in Hollywood, they are confirmed easterners and make their home in New Rochelle, N.Y. So what drew them back to these parts?

"How do you spell residuals backwards?" Peter replied.

Spoiled slugfiest or ridiculous, that is the magic word that connotes the fortune that can be gained from a successful TV series. It is reason enough for the Hayseys to spend the fall and winter months in our midst, grinding out celluloid for Four Star Productions. Peter told how the deal came about.

TOOK YEAR OFF

"After Mary and I finished six months of a daytime show on ABC, we decided to take a year off," he said. "And we did. We travelled, we cruised on our boat. I wrote a book.

"How did I bear up, doing nothing? Sadly. It wasn't so bad when the weather was good and I could play golf or go on the boat. But when winter fell, I had nothing to do but stay indoors and stare at the TV.

When Four Star's Tom McDermott asked them to do a pilot film for a TV series, Pete was ready. But on his return east, he told Mary, "You can forget about the series. The pilot was awful."

He proved a poor prophet: the series was snapped up in a hurry.

T-V TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

Most people know that the TV antenna on their roof is necessary, but many people do not realize that this plumber's nightmare requires occasional service to keep it up to peak efficiency.

For example, the terminals to which the lead-in wire is attached become corroded by moisture, dirt and soot— which causes them to short circuit and affect reception. With a new antenna this usually occurs within a year or two, but more frequently in areas where heavy industrial smoke is present.

Lead-in wires, too, suffer from old age . . . the insulation deteriorates and admits moisture which interferes with proper reception.

Putting TV aerials in top condition is a relatively simple and inexpensive job — but it can make a tremendous improvement in television performance. CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 260 Chisman St. will be glad to give you a free estimate . . . just phone WO 8-6791.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Monday, October 31, 1960

General Tendencies: An amazing day for you to quietly think out what you really want out of life, then to go directly to whomever you feel can be helpful to state your aims and ambitions to him, or to her. Then originate all phases of the plan that may be essential before a true success can be yours. Thus this can be a tremendous day — and evening! Expand.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)— There is a fine opportunity today to meet a person with whom there will be immediate understanding. Later, concentrate upon your goals and make more efficient and modern plans to gain them with greater speed and ease.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— The ideal day to contact that important individual in your life and show the depth of your devotion and love. You will get wonderful response. P.M. good for social or club gatherings, the theatre, etc. Have lots of fun.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Important you show your real regard for associates by entertaining them at some charming spot during your spare time today. P.M. have dinner out also and then get together with other key people for a most happy time.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 22) — You can meet the highest up who can give the moral or financial support you need today informally. However, be sure you are dressed in good taste, are cheerful and impress him, or her, with your fine capabilities. Win.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) — There is every chance now to start meeting the interesting and influential persons you want to know. So, be prepared for just that. Get appearance, abode in order and isolate be sure you start on that social whirl in a happy mood.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Get all important financial and property affairs in fine order by day so that you and kin can feel more secure, and prepare to expand, also. P.M. use same fine practical methods in any personal relationships, too.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Make it a point to confer with partners and come to better understanding so that you know what your relative position is and how best to co-operate. Later, P.M. dine out. Have fun.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Work with real enthusiasm and you can have a real abundance, and do spare in time for relishing early future. Think and act positively — don't waste a moment of today's fine aspects for expansion and making money.

Sagittarius (Nov. 24 to Dec. 21) The day is perfect for enjoying yourself as best suits your mood. However, be sure you first put beauty and barber shop treatments that give you that well-groomed appearance. Make a wonderful impression upon everyone.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good friend will give you excellent ideas how to better your position in life, both personal and in business, so be sure you understand every detail. P.M. remain at home and have a relaxing and happy time.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)— Accept gratefully the ideas of a good comrade since they are conducive to greater success and happiness. Do shopping together that is necessary. Adopt that new attitude suggested. P.M. go out and enjoy yourself.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)— Your desire for a greater income and more possessions can be satisfied if you start right in today to take definite, practical steps in the right directions. Also, confer with experts for best results and ideas. Work.

If your child is born today — he, or she, will be one of these fascinating persons who is highly emotional and kind and will early see the possibilities in any new venture. The pioneer or inventor is clearly in this chart, and there will be much travelling during the lifetime. The public in general will gain much from the contribution to society which your progeny will make. So, be sure you give as fine an education as you can and much spiritual training.

Sunday, October 30, 1960

General Tendencies: Most everyone is apt to have a chip-on-the-shoulder today and tonight, and about the only way it can be avoided is the fine studies that you can engage in at the services, worship in articles of lofty nature or conversations with high-minded persons whose knowledge is vast. Aid those less fortunate than you, too.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)— Important you spend some time today in prayer and contemplation so that you may be inspired how to proceed in the future to a happier and more successful life. P.M. visit those who are ill and bring them cheer and little gifts.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— Stop concentrating so much on own problems and aims and think of the wants and needs of those you love and care for. Do whatever you can to be of real assistance. P.M. remain at home and do not get into any social fracas.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)— Take particular care you say or do nothing that will alienate the affection of those who are important to you today, and tonight be very sure you do not enter into any arguments outdoors that lead to a fight. P.M. retire early.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) —Be sure you attend services in A.M. or else study the great philosophical works that will increase your understanding. Later, concentrate with thoughtful and highly educated people for personal joy and satisfaction. Be charming.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) — Use courtesy and consideration in all dealings with everyone today so, be sure you do not follow that false intuition that could make you take a different course from the planned, which is ideal for today's best benefits.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — By using greater diplomacy and courtesy with partners today instead of being critical, you can reach a true understanding and accord. P.M. dine out and then go out to dinner at some lovely place. Be thoughtful, kind. Plan your future.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Do not leave the Golden Rule now so that you become an inspiration to others who look to you for leadership. Also, take health treatments. Get coming days planned wisely.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21)— Forget that desire to spend a good deal of money for recreation today which could also lead to some difficult emotional problems later. Be cheerful and enjoy old friends, which is better for you and not help them.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you focus all of your attention on home and family today, you can bring about greater harmony and security in that important realm of your life. Listen to the views of others, respect them. P.M. take early.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be careful while out driving today. Also, think before you speak or you early lose friends of importance. Homeop with people of real wisdom so that you can infuse yourself with their fine philosophies. Courteous.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Resolve to live within a much higher level of consciousness than you have in the past. Also, return to the fine principles under which you were reared. Think seriously and you can achieve a far greater abundance. Be loyal to pals.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)— The ideal day to improve all of your intimate affairs and make your surroundings far more comfortable and lovely. P.M. concentrate upon really worthwhile individuals so that your future social life is more satisfying.

If your child is born today — while he, or she, may appear to be a definitely independent individual, there still will be weakness present to follow those who are not entirely desirable. So, be sure you give fine spiritual training for inner strength. The chart will then become a most successful one and there is great ability to handle very big projects, at the same time bringing them down to a workable pattern. College is a must here.

Mixing and Matching the Bulbs

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The people of Holland think tulips twelve months of the year. This has made them the tulip kings of the world. Along with their tulips they grow other bulbs mainly.

Beside trying their hand at hybridizing the tulips they are mixing and matching the pollen from different species, they mix and match the tulips with other bulbs and perennials in their beds and borders.

For instance they may lay out a large area beside a long walk or driveway in squares. These are planted solid with bulbs placed very close together. These beds are at least two squares wide and the squares are three to four feet wide. The squares will be made up of contrasting colors, types and various kinds of bulbs and perennials that compliment each other. The squares are often separated by a border of low growing flat stones.

The beds are chosen to provide a succession of color and yet they are so well chosen that adjoining areas will point up the color of the next one.

You too can be sure of the height, time of bloom and color if you will study your bulb catalogue or consult your bulb dealer.

Then too the Hollander often combines two different kinds of bulb in the same bed. They are intermingled rather than planted in rows. For instance, the twelve inch high tulips in white or yellow and blue grape hyacinths (Muscari) which are not up to eight inches tall. Deep pink or bright red tulips are lovely with white grape hyacinths. These small bulbs are so inexpensive you can have a hundred for three or four dollars. Then try them with the Fosterians, or Greigii species tulips, plant close, three inches apart for mass effect.

If you have considerable shade in your garden the spring sun will get in the work for the growing bulbs before the leaves of the trees are full. That is an ideal place for drifts of daffodils and Spanish and Dutch. Later the same area can be planted with tuberous begonia or gloxinias. Many of these lily bulbs look well with but forget-me-nots or grape hyacinth and double pink tulips with white grape hyacinths as a wide border in front of the shrubs around the house foundation.

Scantilla, a low shrub-like perennial with silver grey-green leaves make a good background plant for short stemmed bulbs and a border for the tall tulips, Artistina Silver Mound is another grey leaved plant that can be used with bulbs. Virginia Bluebell a perennial goes with tulips or yellow daffodils blooms at the same time.

With all these bulbs and species with sharply contrasting colors such as deep red, or purple tulips with plenty of white or moon-pale yellow, or Purple Glory Grape Hyacinths which are not too often used in beds or borders, blended in with blue, or together than usual using shades of the same colour ranges of pink and white or blue and white or blue and yellow. Single tulips are better than the full double type. If they are fertilized with bone meal, they will be lasting bulb which will give you a lot of pleasure.

For underplanting there are several shades of mountain phlox, white, pink, lavender, bright pink and lavender. Alyssum in white and double kind, another perennial that spreads considerably and is a happy companion for purple, lavender, blue, pink, deep red or scarlet tulips.

Co-ordinate the time of bloom and the colors to make a patchwork of mixed and matched spring bloom.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mr. George Merrick received news of the death of his sister, Mrs. John Bateman, (nee Charlotte Merrick). RAWDON

Bethel-Rawdon United Church Holds 86th Anniversary Service

By MRS. PERCY MACMULLEN

RAWDON — Last Sunday, Bethel-Rawdon United Church commemorated its 86th anniversary.

The church pedestals were filled with variegated dahlias and other autumn flowers. There was a large attendance of worshippers from Campbellford, Stirling, Wellman's, Mount Pleasant and other points, at both services.

The Rev. Kingsley J. Joblin, West Metropolitan Toronto, was the guest minister at the morning service. This was his first visit to Bethel in 21 years. Kingsley's parents occupied Rawdon parsonage when he was a young man and he spoke reminiscently of the vacation periods which he had spent assisting at near-by farmer. He also brought greetings from his father the Rev. Fred G. Joblin, Port Perry, who was unable to attend this special service.

Mr. Joblin based his message on the theme "Open Skies". He reviewed the passage found in Genesis 28 of the vision which appeared to Jacob where the angels of God were ascending and descending on a ladder set up on the earth and the top of the ladder reached to Heaven. Here God promised a great blessing to Jacob as he was sleeping and when he awoke he was sure that this was the gate to Heaven. His purpose to this promise is found in the first chapter of John where Jesus promised Nathaniel that he would see Heaven opened and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man. The speaker stressed the necessity of a renewal of faith in this generation and truly a great mission is needed now as well as in those early Christian days.

Mr. Joblin urged the young people to choose a vocation for full-time work in the Christian Each generation should produce someone who will carry on God's work, as the divine purpose of the church is to point men to God.

The pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., assisted with the service and introduced the speaker. Mrs. Harold Elliott, A.T.C.M., presided at the piano. She chose as preludes, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord" — Larson; for the offertory "Andante Cantabile", —Hersch; and for the postlude "March of the Prophets" —Stickles. The full choir rendered the "Lord of the Hills" with Miss Donalda Heath taking the solo part and the quartet was given by Mrs. Harold Heath, Grant Richardson, Wayne Heath and Allen Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Richardson gave a duet "The Sacrifice" by Bunyan, and Mr. Richardson contributed a tenor solo "Outside the Gates of Paradise".

The service opened with psalter hymn, based on "His Blessings" and followed with "O God of Bethel".

DEDICATION OF ALTAR SET

A beautiful altar set comprised of a wooden cross with church symbols, and flanked by matching holders with long white tapers was presented to Bethel church by Mr. John Mead, of England, in memory of his wife, who died in a London hospital during the blitz. His daughter, Mrs. John Mulberson, a member of Bethel United Church, lit the tapers and the pastor was in charge of the dedication ceremony.

The ushers were: Messrs Wallace Heath and William Heath, and about $300 was placed on the plates at the two services. The morning service closed on the theme, "O Jesus, I Have Promised To Serve Thee to the End, O Give Me Grace to Follow My Master and My Friend".

EVENING SERVICE

The Rev. Harry M. Davis, B.A., Bethel and Bellrock United Church, Belleville, and chairman of The Belleville Presbytery, was the guest speaker in the evening. He chose as his theme, "A Big Job Well Worth While", based on the words of James when he greeted the 12 tribes and stressed that they were good endeavorers and every perfect gift is from God and the Church. Also a builder of practical Christianity. Everyone should be doers of the Word and not hearers, only. Mr. Davis stressed the words of Mark, of the 23rd chapter, verse, "And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength".

Forty members of the Stirling High School Choir, under the direction of Mr. R. C. Hay-Ellis, with Mr. Harold Sayles as accompanist, rendered, "How Great

Winter Road Reports Start

TORONTO (CP) — The department of highways opens its winter road reporting service Monday to help motorists informed of conditions on more than 13,000 miles of highways. The service will continue to sometime in April.

The 18 district offices are located at Chatham, London, Stratford, Hamilton, Owen Sound, Toronto, Port Hope, Kingston, Ottawa, Bancroft, Sudbury, North Bay, New Liskeard, Cochrane, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Port William and Kenora.

Information, available by telephoning any district office, is reported by highway patrols operating 24 hours a day to note changes in road conditions.

Thou Art", and "My God and I", Sargel.

Mrs. Harold Elliott chose for a prelude a selection by Hensell; and for the offering, "O Meditation", by Schuman, and as a closing postlude, "Abide with Me", by Monk.

There was an overflow attendance of worshippers and the church hall was used. The opening congregational hymn was that old favorite, "Lead On, O King Eternal", and the second hymn complemented the sermon, "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee".

The anniversary messages, in both song and sermons were inspirational and helpful to the congregation. "Lift High the Cross of Christ".

Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson and Mrs. Carleton Potts, assisted the Bethel choir.

Survivors Say Takeoff Wobbly, 22 Die In Crash

Many Victims Were Members Football Team

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Survivors of a flaming airliner crash that killed 38 persons Saturday night told of dead engines and a wobbly take-off.

There were 38 survivors including a Canadian, but many were in hospitals with serious injuries.

Accounts of the crash and the flame-scarred wreckage of the C-46 aircraft were being examined by federal, state and local investigators.

The twin - engined plane, attempting to take off from the fog—visibility was zero—carried 48 persons. Most were members of the California Polytechnic College football team returning to their school.

"We barely got off when the engines started sputtering ... then the left engine gave out — thunk!" said James Fahey, 21, a halfback from Gilroy, Calif. He suffered minor injuries.

Another survivor was Walter Shelton, 30, of Picture Butte, Alberta, in fair condition in Toledo Hospital.

The plane bounced alongside the runway, then left the strip and the front section burst into flames. The dead were riding up front.

Killed were the pilot, co-pilot, 11 members of the football team, the team manager, a San Luis Obispo businessman and a stewardess who was travelling to Oakland, Calif., to meet the co-pilot's wife of only two weeks.

At San Luis Obispo, where California Poly is located, residents were stunned by news of the crash. The student body of 4,000 scheduled a memorial service today.

Before the takeoff, one survivor said, the plane sat on the runway for about 45 minutes. Although vision was completely obscured straight ahead, apparently the pilot was waiting for above the ground.

Brent Jose, 19, Vista, Calif., said head coach Leroy Hughes had been in the rear of the plane after talking to the pilot.

44 Fatalities Across Canada During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario and Quebec enjoyed a weekend of sunny, warm weather, which brought with it an accident toll reminiscent of summer holiday weekends.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed 13 traffic deaths in Ontario and 11 in Quebec. Four of Ontario's toll came from a single accident on a Toronto-area highway.

Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan each reported two highway deaths, Alberta and British Columbia one each.

Only Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba were fatality-free. In addition to the 39 road deaths were added four from fires, three from hunting accidents, two from drownings and five other causes for a total of 44 fatalities across the country.

SEVEN IN N.B.

New Brunswick had seven violent deaths, two of them drownings. Two other persons died in hunting accidents, a third in a fire and two others in miscellaneous mishaps.

Three persons died in Alberta fires. The third hunting death was in Ontario. Nova Scotia, Alberta and Quebec had a death by miscellaneous means.

The list includes traffic deaths, drownings and other accidents connected with weekend holiday activities. Industrial accidents are not counted.

The Ontario dead:

George Baliama, 34, Scarborough, died last night of injuries received Saturday and it rolled over on Highway 401 near Toronto.

Mrs. Alfred Leblanc, 23, Espanola, when her car hit a rock and on Highway 17 near Espanola on Sog Saturday.

Robert George Temple, 23, Sudbury, Saturday night when he lost control of his motorcycle and plunged into a ditch in Sudbury.

Harvey Edwin Cavanagh, 47, Ottawa, Sunday when his shotgun discharged as he was climbing a fence near Carp.

Michael Goldin 18, Parry Sound, when a car crashed into a parked semi-trailer on Highway 400 at Parry Sound Saturday.

Carl Larry Ferguson, 19, Minico, Sunday when a car ran into a ditch near Otter.

Stanley Ellis, 38, Toronto, Adri Dolbaard, 40, his wife Anna Lewis, 36, and Mrs. Valentyne Semchuk, 34, all of Hamilton, in a head-on collision on Highway 401 near Toronto.

Frederick Kaiser, 52, when hit by two vehicles Friday night while crossing Toronto street.

Vernon Woods, 22, Owen Sound, in two-car collision at Chatsworth, Saturday.

Robert Patterson, Simcoe, when his two-year girl friend drowned from a party marking his 18th birthday. His car overturned in a ditch near Simcoe.

John Bateman, 31, Courtland, when his brother's shotgun accidentally discharged as the two returned from shooting carp.

Mrs. Margaret Ellen Holland, 61, Etobicoke, when struck by a car in the western outskirts of Toronto Sunday.

TO TEST VACCINE

MILTON (CP) — Chief Health Minister Monteith said Sunday that oral polio vaccine may be in use in Canada "some time next year." He told a meeting of the Parry Sound Conservative Association that the testing of the polio vaccines will be made in Canada this year and next.

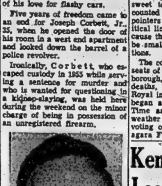
Widespread rain is reported over Northwestern Ontario this morning and another rain area along the Mississippi Valley is spreading towards Southern Ontario. Cooler weather will spread through the province by Tuesday.



MAN TOP ON FBI LIST CAUGHT AT VANCOUVER

Yen for Flashy Cars Leads to His Arrest

VANCOUVER (CP)—A hunted killer, the top man on the FBI's most-wanted list, was captured quietly here Saturday, a victim of his love for flashy cars.

Five years of freedom came to an end for Joseph Corbett, Jr., 35, when he opened the door to his room in a west end apartment and looked down the barrel of a police revolver.

Ironically, Corbett, who escaped custody in 1955 while serving a sentence for murder and who is wanted for questioning in a kidnap-slaying, was held here during the weekend on the minor charge of being in possession of an unregistered firearm.

Joseph Corbett Jr.

The firearm was a Luger he did not have a chance to use when police moved fast after the discovery of an alert constable pointed to Corbett's whereabouts. Corbett will appear in police court today to face the firearms charge.

IMMIGRATION HEARING

City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran said an immigration hearing will be held to determine the status of the 35-year-old fugitive who had been sought in Canada and the U.S. in the meantime to be deported without delay.

Kennedy, 24, is charged with J. Edgar Hoover as "a gun expert" who must be considered extremely dangerous. He escaped from penitentiary in Chino, Calif., in August, 1955, where he was serving a term for murdering a U.S. Air Force sergeant.

He was also wanted for questioning in the kidnap death of Peter Weinberger, 5, in Los Angeles, following one for the driveyourself car that had led to his arrest.

FBI agents gave Corbett's description to the morning police lineup here and said they would likely be driving a flashy car with Illinois licence plates.

Jack Marshall, a young constable, remembered a fire-engine

Voters in Four Byelections To Have Fairly Good Weather

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four of the Commons' five vacancies will be filled today in four Ontario byelections and single elections in Quebec and New Brunswick.

The results will be interpreted — up to a point—as portents of the popularity of the Progressive Conservative five government—the Liberal Opposition record and the New Party alliance of Labor and the CCF.

But byelection victories, while cheered to the winners, are discounted generally as fallible pointers toward the nation's political future. They are the rare cause the voting turnout tends to be smaller than in general elections.

The contests are in the Ontario seats of Niagara Falls and Parry Sound, both made vacant by deaths, Dunlop, Liberal, in the Royal in New Brunswick, Violette, Liberal, in Laval in Quebec. The weather forecasts indicated good voting conditions, but rain again fell where showers were possible in late afternoon.

Three of the four seats have been Conservative — Niagara Falls was Liberal—and there are three-cornered battles. The Laval by-election is the only one being contested by the New Party, the CCF.

The Conservatives need victory in Parry Sound, traditionally inclined that way, to fill out the federal cabinet. Hugh John Flemming, New Brunswick premier, already has been sworn in as minister of new forestry department and now needs only election to the Commons. He made Royal a safe seat for his predecessor, former veteran affairs minister Brooks who was elevated to the Senate.

Campaigning closed in all four, while dramatic, still would leave the party with a huge working advantage. The standing of the 265-seat Commons going into today's byelections: Conservative 204, Liberals 48, CCF 8, A fifth vacancy was caused by the resignation of George Fearless as deputy speaker.

Kennedy, Nixon Commence Last Full Week of Campaign

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Kennedy and Vice - President Nixon embarked on the final leg of their presidential campaign today.

Kennedy said that if he is elected president Nov. 8 he would seek devalued dollar "from the present rate. Nixon said that he would fly to all 50 states before rounding out his coverage of all 50 states in the campaign.

The Democratic presidential candidate, also pledged today he would seek a minimum of $2,000,000 jobs by 1968. He said this would represent full employment by that time.

Kennedy's statement about the dollar was aimed at recent speculation in gold in the London market, based on a rumored Democratic victory. Eisenhower administration—that the dollar might be devalued by increasing the U.S. price for gold.

Kennedy, who winds up his back-breaking days of campaigning in pivotal Pennsylvania today and tomorrow in the second vote, appeared on the CBS Face the Nation television program.

"They are talking about devaluation in gold in the London market, based on a rumored Democratic victory. Eisenhower administration—that the dollar might be devalued by increasing the U.S. price for gold, Kennedy, who winds up his back-breaking days of campaigning in pivotal Pennsylvania today and tomorrow in the second vote, appeared on the CBS Face the Nation television program.

"They are talking about devaluation in gold in the London market, based on a rumored Democratic victory. Eisenhower administration—that the dollar might be devalued by increasing the U.S. price for gold.

Kennedy said a possible economic recession could be converted into a deep recession by January would be a temporary tax cut for five months.

The religious issue came up again and Nixon said he and his fellow American Roman Catholic laymen have a strong stake in state religion. "If 98 per cent of the population were Catholics I would still oppose that."

In his restatement of his position on separation of church and state, Kennedy burst out: "nothing can be done about any religion. I am what I am and I'm going to stay that way."

"What is there left to say?" he asked.

Nixon, the Republican candidate, headed into the final — 10 days of campaigning with the campaign classifying five states as "key" to victory. The five: Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York.

"Many of my friends have advised me to skip some states in the itinerary," Nixon said today. "They say I can't win them. But the outcome of the campaign was delayed by my knee injury and that there were other parts of the nation. I feel that these states can be counted safe in this election."

"I believe that historians will look at this campaign as one which helped restore the two-party system to many of the states where presidential candidates in the past have seldom if ever appeared. Covering all the states is important to the two parties."

Nixon announced that in this week he is going to win or lose his battle with Kennedy. The vice-president apparently feels that that has gone before, including four campaign appearances of the two candidates, and left the score about even at this time.

CUBAN MILITIA CALLED TO ARMS, MARINES LEAVE

Castro Still Thinks Invasion Coming

HAVANA (AP) — A special force of 1,450 U.S. Marines was due to sail from Guantanamo naval base today after a weekend visit that served a strong hint to Prime Minister Fidel Castro that help was not far off should he try to take the big American installation by force.

In apparent relation to the presence of the marines, Castro Sunday called out an estimated 300,000 of his organized civilian militia for meetings in Havana. Speakers harped on Castro's oft-repeated theme that the United States is planning to launch an invasion of Cuba.

U.S. authorities at first said the 45-man crew of the marines at the base on the southeast coast was to give the highly trained force relaxation ashore but they later added it could be considered a show of strength to discourage Castro from any adventure.

SAY PROVOCATIVE

Castro's supporters called the visit of the marines "provocation and aggression."

The marines appeared at one of the militia meetings and lectured Cuba's defences are stronger than any "foreign mercenaries"—his usual term for the exiles living for years in what they came to Cuba.

Castro's long-promised delivery of more arms to the militiamen did not come off. But speakers in the Sunday meetings said a force of 147 men—about company size—from the Havana City Militia districts soon would be equipped with "the most modern weapons," presumably obtained from Czechoslovakia.

CUBA NOW "STRIPS"

Castro, in an interview with Egyptian weekly Akhbar El-Yom, called Cuba's exiles "the idiots" as to try to take the country by force by force.

Castro was criticized by a high member of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, Bishop Eduardo Nasvidal, Auxiliary Bishop of Havana. He issued a pamphlet stating that Castro's social revolution is in conflict with Christian principles and followed the Communist line.

"There is a systematic attack upon the United States and Western civilization, based on systematic friendship with Russia and Communism, which seems to be casual," the bishop said.

Queen's Plane In Wrong Space When Buzzed

MOENCHEN GLABACH (Reuters)—A Soviet MIG jet fighter buzzed and West German investigators Sunday night was reported to have decoded that it was also carrying Queen Elizabeth was in "unconscious danger" when it was buzzed last week.

The decoding was said a report by the commission would say the Comet airliner carrying the Queen and Prince Philip home to Britain from a visit to Denmark flew in the wrong space because of the normal air corridor near the Danish-German border—when the incident occur.

The sources said NATO military flights are frequent in the "uncontrolled air zone" there but that the Soviet Union accepts responsibility for taking evasive action to avoid collisions.

CNR Brief Asks For Free Hand In Setting Rates

Seeks Federal Subsidy For Unprofitable Lines

OTTAWA (CP) — Sweeping changes in government regulations were proposed today by the Canadian National Railways in a brief to the government asking for greater flexibility in its business and make money.

In a major 35,000-word brief to the MacPherson royal commission on transportation, the publicly-owned railway spelled out its appraisal of the new role of railways in Canada's fast-growing transport complex.

Advocating an approach somewhat different than that of the privately-owned CPR, the CNR proposals would involve:

1. Federal subsidies for unprofitable passenger runs or branch lines deemed essential in the public interest.

URGE MORE FREEDOM

2. Far-reaching freedom for Canada's railways to shape their prices and services for a running battle for freight business against trucks, ships, planes and pipelines.

3. A wide-ranging review of all federal rail legislation aimed at cutting out red tape and outmoded restrictions that hamper railways from competing effectively.

4. Creation of a new public climate to permit railways to abandon unprofitable lines, branch lines that are in the red and no longer needed for the public good.

Underlying the proposals is a theme similar to the CPR's brief submitted to the Macpherson last week before the commission. But there were some striking differences in emphasis and outlook between the rival rail carriers.

The CNR brief, a lengthy document sought wider freedom to sell its services in the market place—to have its hands untied to be more like a private enterprise with a minimum of regulatory restraint.

ANNOUNCES HUGE LOSS

Disclosing $47,652,000 loss on its passenger operations in 1959, the CNR argued that a primary objective to permit Canada's railways to abandon unprofitable services and to substitute more efficient communities.

Like the CPR, it also announced plans to abolish or restrict free travel for employees and their families—a practice long a source of grievance of labor and others.

The brief was submitted by A. H. Hart, vice-president of finance, and H. J. Symington, vice-president. It offered 17 specific recommendations, many of them sit out as proposed amendments to current laws affecting rail operations.

Son of King Placed Under House Arrest

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Reuters) The son of the king of the Africa territory of Ruanda-Urundi has been placed under house arrest for subversion, it is reported here.

The Belgian news agency Belga said Saturday that the king's son, Prince Kamanda, 25 had been ordered by the Belgian resident-general to be placed under surveillance because of his suspected leaflets calling on the people of the United Nations trusteeship territory to "rise against foreign domination and slavery."

OFA President Calls for 10-Year Plan for Farmers

TORONTO (CP) — Gordon Greer of Ottawa, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, today called for a 10-year plan for farmers in which they would give greater recognition to consumer wants and use greater self-help in marketing, production controls, advertising and selling.

He told nearly 500 delegates and representatives of farm organizations meeting here for the OFA three-day convention that in the next 10 years the federal government should establish a long-term agricultural program.

The program should include legislation to permit national farm marketing boards and production controls, he added.

The need for this type of action was to lead in the process of advance of delivery.

Rural development programs need to be undertaken, export markets developed, farm reports and tariffs established to protect the domestic markets," Mr. Greer said.

DISCUSSES PRICES

Wood business dictates that production be geared to potential sales at prices that will yield reasonable profits," he said. "Economic produce to capacity and hope to find a market for their products ... such a procedure is recognized in the business world as economic suicide."

He called for farmers to give more support to their co-operatives and "not to the 'cash' farmer to survive.

H. M. Arbuckle, secretary-manager, reported the OFA's income as a record $172,705 with total expenditures of $171,000, leaving an operating loss of $2,318.

The treasurer reported over from previous years amounted to more than $12,000.

The convention ends Wednesday with the election of officers.

Cheering Crowds Mob Shah of Iran As Wife Presents Him With Heir

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Queen Farah Dibah gave birth today in the royal palace to a nine-and-a-half pounds, 11 ounces son Iran's shah finally got an heir after nearly three years.

The baby looks like the shah," said Dr. Mohammed Ali Varasteh, minister of health and a gynaecologist who delivered the baby.

Cheering crowds mobbed the streets of the capital to rejoice at the birthplace of their first child.

The announcement of the crown prince's birth and a 41-gun salute that boomed over the city set off frantic celebrations that almost the United Nations General Assembly session in New York.

The shah, who had been married for nearly three years, had been under pressure to produce a male heir to the throne. Iran.

Dr. Saleh said the queen was still under anesthetic but was "doing fine shape."

The baby at his birth "gave a loud cry and he's in perfect condition." He was examined by the.

The shah raised his hands and thanked Allah, then "thanked me and I kissed his hands," Dr. Saleh said.

Saleh said the queen was in labor less than five hours. Her pains had started before she was brought to hospital, and the baby was born two hours and 45 minutes after she arrived.

The doctor said it was an instrument birth.

Premier Sharif Emami is a announcement saluted the baby as the "rightful direct crown prince

B. A. WEESE TAKES COURSE IN POULTRY

Mr. Robert Allan Weese, B.S.A., 1 Carrying Place, was awarded a diploma recently for completing the course on Poultry Health and Nutrition conducted by Whitmoyer Laboratories, Inc., Myerstown, Pa. He has returned from Myerstown where he attended the Whitmoyer Poultry Health Clinic.

This clinic was the final phase in an intensive course of study on poultry health control. Prior to attending the clinic, he had received preliminary instructions through home study lessons.

Mr. Weese is engaged in poultry farming.

STEPS FROM CURB INTO SIDE OF CAR

Garry Marriott, 23 Geddes Street, was knocked to the pavement Sunday night when he stepped from the curb into the side of a car at the corner of Coleman and Moira Streets.

Taken to Belleville General Hospital by Reid's Ambulance, the injured man complained of a sore back and arm bruises but was not believed to be seriously injured.

Driver of the car was Mary Baragar, 60 Octavia Street.

HIGHWAYS CROWDED OVER WEEKEND

Highways in the Bay of Quinte area were crowded over the weekend as district motorists took to the road, attracted by beautiful fall weather.

Despite the heavy drive, however, there were few serious accidents with only one mishap that early this morning in Sidney township — resulting in personal injury.

NAME OMITTED

The name of Mrs. M. J. Hunt was omitted from the list of members of the Belleville UNICEF Committee, published Saturday.

Quinte Curlers Win Bonspiel At Kingston

The members of the Quinte Curling Club have shown they belong in any bonspiel held in the district, when A. W. McCullam, Tommy Carmichael, Cec Mildon and Mac White as skip won the golf-curling spiel held on Friday and Saturday at the Kingston Curling Club and the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club.

On Friday afternoon, the four players piled up an impressive score of 38 points. Tommy Carruthers shot a 76, followed by Mac White with 77, Al McCullam with 80 and Mr. Niddery with an 81. In the evening they were down against Alex Edwards and his Briar rink of last year and the Kingston curlers were hard pressed to squeak out a narrow win.

This dropped the Quinte four some into the second group and Saturday they started in cool and chilled up four straight victories. The scores that they accumulated in the curling along with their golf scores gave them the overall championship of the spiel The boys reported the ice was in good condition and the hospitality of the Kingston Club was the usually high standard.

It is expected that ice will be ready at the fairgrounds early this week and the boys will be able to get in a few practice games before the regular season starts with a mixed bonspiel on Monday next and which continuing until Saturday night. Pete Acton is in charge of this draw and it would assist him in making the draw if entries were mailed in early. The spiel will close with a social evening on the last night.

MORE VEHICLES

Australia had 2,300,000 motor vehicles on the roads in 1960, more than double the total 10 years previously.

IN MEMORIAM

HANNAH. — In loving memory of a dear niece, Pauline Hannah, who passed away one year ago today, October 31st, 1959.

Why would your smile be gone forever,
And your head we cannot touch;
Why would your hand we cannot hold,
Just because we loved you much.
You're never still as years depart,
You're always still within our hearts;
With tender love and deep regret,
We who loved you will never forget.
Lovingly remembered by Don, Eileen and Karen.

HANNAH. — In loving memory of my wife, Pauline and Hannah, who passed away one year ago today.

Oh, would I would give to clasp your hand,
Hear your dear face to see,
Your loving smile, your welcome wave
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the bitter pain,
We have suffered since we lost you,
And the heartache we feel,
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweet and dear as ever.
Remembered by Husband Allan.

HANNAH (CAWS). — In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Pauline Anne Hannah (Caw), who passed away one year ago today, October 31st, 1959.

No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
And the heartache we feel,
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweet and dear as ever.
Remembered by Mother, Father and Sisters.

Oh, would I would give to clasp your hand,
Hear your dear face to see,
Your loving smile, your welcome wave

Shannonville Barn Burns, Save Dwelling
Fire of undetermined origin Sunday morning destroyed a medium-sized barn at Shannonville and caused minor damage to a nearby house owned by John Kent.
The blaze was discovered shortly before nine o'clock Sunday morning by a neighbor boy, who ran to the Kent household to say that the barn was afire.
Two cars in the barn were rolled to safety but storm windows and other articles stored in the barn were lost.
Belleville firemen answered the call for assistance and succeeded in saving the Kent house although the terrific heat from the burning barn only 22 feet away cracked the windows in the rear of the house allowing smoke to enter the residence.
Firemen answered two other alarms over the weekend, one for an overheated stove at the village of Redoreville, and the other to the downtown section where a car was reported afire. A shirt circuit was believed responsible.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Trading was dull on heavy numbers of cattle on good steers at the Ontario Public Stockyards today.

Several lots of large grain-fed steers, however, sold at strong prices. Heifers, yearlings, cows and bulls were steady. Veal calf prices were steady to firm and lamb prices unchanged.

Slaughter cattle, 2,764: Choice steers 23-24, sales to 24.25; good 21.50-22.50; medium 18-21; common 14-18; good heifers 19-20; medium 17-18.50; common 13-16; choice-fed yearlings 24-25 with odd tops to 26; good 22-24; good cows 13.50 - 16; medium 12 - 13; common 11-12; good heavy bologna bulls 16-18.50 with odd tops to 17; common and medium light bulls 12-15.

Replacement cattle 2,200: Good handyweight stockers 21-23; stock calves to 24; common and medium stockers 15-20.

Calves 829.

Hogs 139: Grade A 26 with one load at 26.25; heavy sows 19.50; light 21.50; stags 15 on a dressed-weight basis.

Sheep and lambs 1,234: Good handyweight lambs 20; bucks 18; common and medium down to 16; heavy lambs 17; feeders 15-17; sheep 3-10 according to quality.

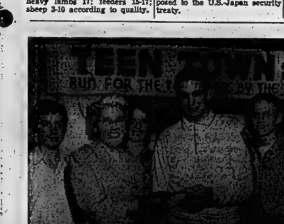
PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter prices were reported unchanged today.

The egg market was reported steady with receipts barely adequate for a fair demand.

Country dealers as quoted by the federal department of agriculture: Grade A large eggs delivered Toronto, in flats cases: extra large 43; medium 42; A small 33; B 36; C 31.

Butter prices: Canada, first grade prints 63½; second grade not tenderable 64; western 66 (nominal).



DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 2 11-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds near noon today. Friday's closing was 2 5-16 per cent.

Pound sterling $2.75, up 1-16.

WILL DECIDE RE U.S.

TOKYO (Reuters)—The government Sunday officially proclaimed Nov. 20 for a national election which will determine whether Japan keeps close ties with the United States. The two major parties fired opening salvoes in a campaign which sees the ruling Liberal Democrats facing a socialist party bitterly opposed to the U.S.-Japan security treaty.

Belleville Teen Town recently presented a cheque for $25 to UNICEF. Burns Hands Fighting Fire In Restaurant

TRENTON — On Saturday afternoon, the fire department was called to the Times Square restaurant on Front Street where the kitchen gas stove had caught fire, resulting in a flash fire in the wall above the stove. The restaurant was filled with dense black smoke in a matter of minutes.

Robert Christos, proprietor, was severely burned on the hands and arms in his efforts to extinguish the blaze before firemen arrived. He was treated by Dr. W. W. Weaver.

Estimate of the damage has not been determined.

The department answered seven calls over the weekend. Sunday afternoon a pile of lumber at the rear of a house at R.R. 4 Trenton, owned by Percy Hodge, caught fire; there were two calls to oil burner fires Saturday the department was called to put out a swerling fire in front of a men's shop owned by Wilbur Augur on the hill (the former burned out at the home of W. W. Whitley, requiring a call to the department, and Saturday morning, firemen were called in apply fire extinguishment to Ronald Taylor who was supprisized in a garage.

In reference to the awning fire, Fire Chief Cecil Ellis warns that anyone caught throwing lighted cigarets up into awnings will be prosecuted.

The police department reported a quiet weekend with only one minor accident being reported. This morning cars driven by Gordon Ungar, Wragge St., and Scott Anderson, 41ne St., collided at the corner of Dufferin and Wragge, causing damage estimated at $75.

Police, Firemen In Training For Big Game

TRENTON — Members of the police department have challenged the fire department to a return broomball match to set the public straight on just which department won last year's game.

The fire-eaters are equally anxious to defend their reputation with the broom, besides which, they claim they have the only licensed firey broomball player in Canada in the person of "Mo" Morrow, radio "flight" on the heads of several opponents in last year's hot and heavy game.

Constable Roy Miller says that his boys have worked out some tricky plays for teh year's game.

The setting for this battle will be in the Community Gardens on Dec. 2, at 7 p.m.

Proceeds from the game will go for charitable purposes and free skating time will be given to youngsters following the game.

Guest Speaker

TRENTON — Dr. Isobel M. Laird of Queen's University will be the guest speaker at the annual Alumni dinner of the Queensway Hotel Wednesday night. Guests graduates from the Quinte area are expected to attend the dinner.

HUNT TWO

SUDBURY (CP)—Guards from Burwash industrial farm, are still searching for two prisoners who escaped from the reformatory Saturday. Roger Dumico 22, of Cornwall and Owen Kilgour, 22, of Sarnia broke away from a bush gang working near the Wahnapitae River.

Members of the Belleville Winter Works Committee met this morning at city hall to plan for their campaign to provide work for local unemployed this winter. Seated, left to right, are: J. G. Crawford, Cecil Hiuser, both representing the national employment office; Earl Dickmeother, Chamber of Commerce, and Herbert Pointer, labor representative. Standing are "Hammy" McDonald, radio station CJBQ, and Fred Barton, Ontario Intelligencer.

Up to Adults to Make Sure Spooks Have Safe Night Out

Not so long ago when houses were huge and proud of it, a spook had plenty of room to carry on his business of haunting. And he put real spirit into making Hallowe'en a night to remember.

Today's ghost, by contrast, is a droopy spook. He must ply his awesome art in modern houses with low ceilings and corners where there's hardly room to spread enough fear.

Even his knocks and rappings must compete with the blare of television and hi-fi.

But listen carefully for his knock. He will be there, surrounded by minor spooks who underneath their ghoulish and grotesque costumery will be doing a noble job for millions of lonely children all over the world.

Across Canada there will be hundreds of thousands of other spooks doing the same thing.

A UNICEF official points out that a Canadian penny will help provide vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis, or five glasses of milk for an undernourished child in a country where milk is a luxury.

The child will be showing good sense and doing a fine job if you accompany your "trick 'n' treat" with good Canadian cents.

The youngsters will be on the spooky prowl tonight and parents and other adults should remember the responsibilities that tragedy does not mar tonight's fun on festivities for their's, not the children's.

Make sure that the youngsters are wearing safe and light-colored outer garments when they are out soliciting door to door treats; they will be easier seen by motorists.

Beware of paper costumes; they are a fire hazard.

Face masks or hoods should allow children unrestricted vision and keep themselves aware of approaching traffic. Enlarge the eyeholes, if necessary.

Be sure that children do not stray too far from home.

If you notice a group of obstreperous youngsters acting in a way dangerous to their own and others lives, it is your duty to dissuade them — or call the police.

And to all motorists: please be careful. Drive very slowly in those darkened residential streets. The child's life you save may be that of one of your own.

Local Chess Team Splits Opening Matches

Belleville lost to Kingston, 10-6, but defeated Brockville 7-3 in the opening matches of the South Eastern Ontario Chess League season, played at Kingston Sunday. Peterborough defeated Brockville 7½ - 2½. The result of the fourth match, between Peterborough and Kingston, is not known here.

Following are the results of the local club's matches, together with the name of the Belleville player being given first in each pairing:

Belleville vs. Kingston: D. Payne 0, G. Danley 1; J. Johnston 0, Z. Bachelor 1; R. May 0, I. Collins 1; D. Batchelor 0, J. Caines 1; W. Hinderin 0, K. Bachelor 1; T. Meeus 0, I. Orioff 1; K. Saykoss 0, S. Geccy 1; A. Ramsay 0, W. King 1; F. Gardner 0, R. Lyengar 1; J. Ward 0, E. Shar 1.

Belleville vs. Brockville: D. Payne 0, A. Kaldzay 1; J. Johnston 0, S. Koch 1; B. May 0, K. Sedlacek 1; D. Batchelor 1, K. Bolt 0; W. Hinderin 1, G. Mottatt 0; T. Meeus 1, P. Shoemaker 0; K. Saykoss 1, E. Loo 0; J. Ward 1, B. Bell 0; last two boards defaulted by Brockville who had only eight players.

May Declare Deloro Surplus Labor Area

OSHAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr said Saturday federal surveys will be made on unemployment in the Ontario areas of Deloro and Alliston.

National Employment Service officials will be directed to study whether the districts should be classed as surplus labor areas which could enable unemployed to get free transportation to new jobs elsewhere.

Mr. Starr met Friday in Ottawa with a delegation from the United Steel Workers of America (CLC) speaking for unemployed of the Deloro Smelting and Refining plant near Marmora and of the Iron Ore Company adding at Alliston in Northwestern Ontario. The Deloro plant is due to close Jan. 15, 1961.

Teams of NES officials from Belleville will make the Deloro study, and a group from Fort William will go to Alliston.

Miss J. De Vries Hurt in Crash

A young woman was injured and two cars were extensively damaged early this morning in a two-car accident at the intersection of the 2nd concession of Sidney township and the Bay of Quinte sideroad.

Admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital with a possible broken arm was Miss Jane Devries, 20, R. R. 5, Belleville, driver of one of the cars.

Provincial Police said that Miss DeVries was eastbound on the 2nd concession when her car was in collision with another vehicle, presumably southbound on the Bayside sideroad.

Both drivers were in a state of shock, however, and the exact details of the accident were not immediately learned.

White Cane Club Hobby Show Proves Success

Many interesting and novel articles were displayed at the hobby show by the White Cane Club, held at the Y.M.C.A. recently. A clothes hamper and a waste basket woven from foam rubber with ivy by Mr. Hall, were shown. Mrs. Wallie displayed a shopping basket woven from many colored plastic handles; leather moccasins, Christmas corsages, a belt and purse, were also on view. Another made a lamp from a "little Jap" jug; Mrs. Scott is also Brailling a telephone book. A duck made out of cotton for small laundry items is made by Mrs. Atkins. Betty Wood displayed a miniature bouquet of flowers, set together with a flower, which could be used for a small bouquet for a new baby.

Mrs. Sara O'Shea had crocheted an apron, produced by a machine, a hot cup with the cup and saucer, a crocheted bedspread, a stiffened; baby's knitted booties; a fancy towel with crocheted ends and a very pretty shawl. Two dolls dressed individually in red from velvet and yellow were the most effective with crinoline skirts, made by Mrs. Atkins. She also showed a leather wallet and woven pot holders. A sample of knitted hot coats, all with a frilling display. They are going to be made by the members. A tray with a woven edge was made by Clarence Morris.

All these articles were made by the local blind, and while the White Cane Club is a social club, the work of aiding the blind in Belleville is supported by the United Appeal.

The business part of the meeting was in charge of the president R. Pulkin, in the absence of Provincial Mildred Cooke. The minutes were read for Pat Baverstock by Mrs. H. Rollins.

A presentation will be made to Miss Marian Dodds, who is leaving the city to be with Miss Dodds' birthday, the birthday song were sung and she was presented with a purse by Mrs. Wells. Miss Dodds made a gracious reply, thanking the members for their kindness.

Ted Rowe was at the piano for the club song, "The More We Get Together."

The Kineties served refreshments with a Hallowe'en cake, and favors were given to each one present.

It was announced that the sale of Blindcraft products will be held November 18 and 19 at Lambert's appliance store.

Warn Motorists To Be on Lookout For Children

A word of warning to city and district motorists to be on the lookout for children as they make their Hallowe'en rounds this evening was issued today by city police chief Walter Proctor.

Chief Proctor noted that the kiddies will be out in force wearing all sorts of paraphernalia and with their vision hampered by masks. Because of the hampered vision and the exuberance of the occasion, the kiddies may not be watching out as carefully as usual and the extra precaution is asked of motorists.

The chief also warned motorists to stay away from piles of leaves now appearing at the curbside.

"It could just be that playthat children may be hidden by

Demand Ransom For Queen's Heirloom Ball

CAMPBELLFORD — The football stolen from Queen's University students staging a Queenstown from Kingston to Toronto will be ransomed for a price — two tickets to the Queen's Science formal dance.

The football, used in a game against University of Toronto in 1938, has become a Queen's heirloom. A team of more than 100 relay runners was to have transported it from Kingston to Toronto in time for the intercollegiate football game on Saturday.

But somewhere along the road, the football was stolen by a student from a rival university. The student masqueraded as a relay runner and when he had handed the ball, he substituted another one in its place. The football is in a car driven by his younger sister.

The hi-jacker said he would return the football to its rightful owners at a ceremony at the dance, if, of course, the tickets are forthcoming.

Store Windows Get 'Soaping' Over Weekend

Apparently thinking in terms of a "dry run" in preparation for tonight's festivities, early bird Hallowe'en celebrants got a bit of dirty work over the weekend.

This morning a number of store windows were seen bearing telltale evidence of a mingling of soap and water.

But a real soaping will be in store tonight as youthful celebrants turn out for their one night on the town.

Chief of Police Walter Probert warns, however, that no property will be permitted and all uniformed officers are being called back to patrol duty.

New Explanation of Depression

We have now heard everything!

David Lawrence, editor of the influential magazine "U. S. News and World Report," maintains that the U.S. follows a faulty method "in a transition from one party to the other" after the defeat of the party in power in a U.S. presidential election.

In this he may well be right. In the course of supporting his argument, though, he cites "serious consequences in the nation's economic condition or in its international relations" following several such transitions. These examples include the following: "In November 1932, when the Democrats won, the worldwide depression that began in 1929 was in mind, according to reports published that summer by the economic bureaus of the League of Nations. The outgoing President, Herbert Hoover, made a valiant effort to secure co-operation from President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt in order to avert a catastrophe in this country after the U.S. had failed to stem the bank holiday —the closing of all banks throughout the country—occurred almost coincidentally with the inauguration. The economic setback resulted in the loss of billions of dollars to the American people."

This picture of a depression on the mend when Roosevelt suddenly upset the prosperity-bound applecart had a certain grim humor for all who remember those years when prosperity was always "just around the corner"—and particularly for anyone who, as a reporter in another Ontario city, was periodically required to sally out and gather from worried and fearful businessmen and members of various types a series of quotes to prove that every day in every way times were getting better and better—despite the steady stream of bankruptcies shoved ceaselessly from town to town and the undiminishing numbers of home-grown relief recipients.

Craftsmanship Misunderstood

One does not expect much intellectual stimulation from the Perry Como Show, but even the vapid and rewarding hobby visited the television world out of the morass of murder and mayhem. Certainly one could think of likeliler commentators tha.. singer Andy Williams to point out what is wrong with the world. Yet, by a popular song and in reverse gear, Andy did just that—the other night. The precise words escape us, but the theme of the song was that there is no pride to be had in a good job done if the knowledge of this accomplishment is not shared. .

Now this is precisely the opposite of the only attitude which denotes true pride in craftsmanship. There are probably very few of us who do not get a greater satisfaction out of sharing the knowledge of a job well done than in having it concealed from the world. This, though, is a fault, rather than a virtue, a weakness rather than a strength.

The craftsman who refuses to have others know of his skill for he takes real pride in it is no real craftsman at heart. He is just looking for praise. Praise is dear to most of us. More often than kisses, it is sweeter than wine, (to borrow a phrase, and a poor one, from another popular song, for who wants a sweet wine?). But the real craftsman is the one who would do the job well, to the very best of his ability, if he knew that no one would ever see his work. What the world needs is more men who will build to a last a century an article which will only be used for a year. There is no explaining this attitude towards work. It just exists amongst some people. Praise by others is just the ice cream added to the apple pie of personal knowledge that a task has been well and truly done.

The Insult of Boredom

Boredom is a slight against the richness that life has to offer. Those who can see the wonderful in the ordinary never have to wait for the unusual to happen, nor need they sink from moments of rare splendor into a desert a habitual dullness.

With them the usual and the unusual mingle easily together; both are full of wonder; and life has become one. (Montreal Gazette)

Miracles of the Universe
The Stars

By HON. ROBERT W. MACAULAY
Ontario Minister of Energy Resources

This is one of a series of articles by Mr. Macaulay dealing with sources of energy and their application, in the past, the present and the future.

(Article 13)

There are over 100,000,000,000,000,000,000 stars in the universe according to Harlow Shapley and others, so to describe them all in 800 words demands free economy of language.

But let's endeavor to start with simplicity.

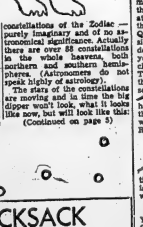
Our earth revolves around a very average star. Billions of stars are smaller, larger, brighter, dimmer, less dense, better and cooler than our Sun.

Other articles will deal with why a star shines and "how it all" began, but in this article, we propose to discuss stars generally—leaving the "all men have hair"(!).

Stars are not solid or liquid, they are gaseous.

They give off light and heat because of things going on with the gas inside the star.

Although all stars differ in size, density, luminosity, temperature and color, nevertheless, they fall into seven general classes. The seven classes are called 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and so on. They are also called the current reason: O, B, A, F, G, K, M, (this adds to the already numerous astronomical expressions. These letters are said to have been formed in the days when astronomers remember them: "Oh! be a fine girl, kiss me!" (If that's the best the astronomers could do, you can instantly realize why they'd prefer Gertrude Lawrence's Lady Chatterly's lover for torrid prose!).



GREAT VARIATIONS

The closest star to earth beyond the Sun is 25 trillion miles away (25,000,000,000,000 miles). The farthest group of stars, "is thought" to be 25 septillion miles away. (1 + 24 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 miles).

Some stars are a billion (1,000,000,000) times as bright as the Sun; the brightest measurable star is 1,000,000 times brighter than the Sun. But most stars vary from 1-10,000th to 10,000 times the brightness of the Sun.

The astronomers say that the smallest star is 2,000 miles in diameter (1,000 miles—the Sun is 880,000 miles), the largest star is about 1,800,000,000 miles in diameter.

Some stars are giantly less dense than the Sun, so light that they are as thin as air. Some stars are as dense as Sirius B (the companion star to 25,000 times the density of the Sun. (A star called A.C. 70-8347 said to be 4000 miles in diameter weighs 620 tons to the cubic inch. Another star could be so dense as to weigh 18,000,000 tons or more to the cubic inch.)

A dipper I can see — a lion I cannot. Yet, for centuries this group of stars as man see them from earth has been known as "Leo the Lion."

The groups of stars in the sky impressed the early astronomers as shapes to which names were given. The groupings are known as constellations. The twelve particularly constellations along the path of the Sun's annual motion among the stars, are called the constellations of the Zodiac — purely imaginary and of no astronomical importance. Actually there are over 88 constellations in the whole heavens, both northern and southern hemispheres. (Astronomers do not speak highly of astrology.)

The stars of the constellations are moving and in time the big dipper won't look what it looks like now, but will look like this:

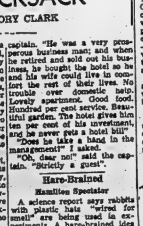
Our star (the Sun) is moving locally at about 42,000 miles an hour. Other stars move at different speeds as they rotate in their respective galaxies — and then again, the whole galaxy will be moving. The rate that is not known.

Our star is yellow, some are blue, white, orange or red.

The apparent brightness of a star (how bright a star appears to our eyes) depends upon two characteristics:

1) The real brightness of the star, and 2) Its distance from the observer. A star that is not intrinsically bright, but which is close, may appear brighter than a star that is intrinsically bright but which is very far away. For example, Rigel is much brighter to the eye than Rigel, yet Rigel is really 700 times brighter than Sirius — Rigel appears fainter because it is so much farther away.

MANY PECULIARITIES



Some stars appear in pairs, triples, quadruples, quintiples, or sextiets. About half of all stars are "twins" — the remainder are mostly married in pairs. (There are many marriages involving three — not that this is particularly news) and one star ages a month involving six!

Some stars change in size and brightness. Certain groups of these go whole-hog and explode, then they become, for a time, be large and bright, then diminish to be small and dull. (Sort of a cosmic temperamental tantrum).

Some stars are single, (as the open cluster), and some get together and form a "hive" — perhaps 50,000 strong, called a globular star cluster.

Some stars grow so dim as they appear in the sky, have been likened to various shapes called constellations. The individual stars bear exactly no relation different distances have nothing to do with each other's brightness, and have been likened by men to Legends, animals, heroes.

Take a look at the constellation Leo, 10 stars make a lion!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On my travels, I stopped at a comfortable, comfortable hotel, quiet, mannerly, inmaculately clean. In its favor was also the old-fashioned delight and unlike almost all modern dining rooms, it invited you to linger over your meal. In my visits to the dining room I was particularly struck by an elderly couple who sat at the next table day after day. They seemed to be special guests. They appeared to be given VIP treatment.

I liked the old man, a short, fat gourmet who chewed his food slowly and thoughtfully, rolling his eyes from time to time, and pausing, while chewing, to take deep appreciative breaths through his nose. I saw at once the captain of waiters who he was.

"Oh, he's the owner", said the captain. "He was a very prosperous business man; and when he retired and sold out his business, he bought the hotel so he and his wife could live in comfort for the rest of their days. No trouble over domestic help. Lovely apartment. Good food. Hundred per cent service. Beautiful garden. The hotel gives him a good return for his investment, and he never gets a bill from it."

"Does he run the hotel as the management?" I asked.

"Does he run!" said the captain. "Strictly a guest."

Strictly Personal

A Dictator's Only 'Love' Is Power

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

From Alexander the Great to Hitler, the biography of world conquerors shows the same personal pattern — that dictators and conquerors are somehow unable to feel normal love lives.

The reason is interested in power is not interested, on the whole, in women or any sensitive love relationship; wives and children mean little to the man who seeks only subjects and symbols of power rather than real love-objects.

The continuity of this pattern suggests to me the insights found in Freud's theory of the "dual instincts." Freud, as you may know, proposed that humans have two basic drives — towards love and towards destruction.

In the normal person these two are held in a nice equilibrium, and neither one predominates or suffers at the expense of the other; sometimes a situation calls for tenderness, and sometimes for aggressiveness. The pendulum swings freely from one to the other.

Fatalistically aggressive man is the theme of Hitler's life. Intellect is somehow damned up, "I will hate because I cannot love," exclaims one of them's characters in a dazzling flash of insight.

The reverse, in my observation, is also true. The sexually compulsive libertines, men who cannot be loyal even to one woman, subduing her and then tossing her away to resume the same shameful cycle, are personalities in whom the aggressive instinct is somehow perverted.

Such men cannot and will not compete directly with other men. They try vainly to prove their masculine superiority by taking women away from other men but their sex is rarely a satisfaction in this, and the poor souls are left with the terrible and ridiculous and pathetic. Normal men, quite properly, regard the Great Lovers as something of a coward and a sneak. In both cases, the "dual instincts" have lost their polarity; in the first, the ability to love has become warped into the need to dominate; in the second, the ability to command is nearly among one's own sex has become twisted into the need to be unconscious (for what is unconscious is a disguised form of agression!)

Balance is everything; if this could be learned to love, he would not have hated so it would not have been necessary to vent his aggressions beautifully. Balance is the result of a mostly unconscious culture of love.

Historic Hastings
The Foster Family

PART ONE

(Article 138 in the series sponsored by the Hastings County Historical Society)

One valuable source of local historical information which is often overlooked or neglected by historians is the family history.

Many people are interested in accepting everything contained in these volumes as gospel truth and authors are usually members of the family who may see their ancestors through rose-colored glasses — these books are always of some value.

To one who is not as interested in family history as he perhaps should be, there is often a touch of excellence of these books is remarkable.

Probably the most recent and most energetic one was the Kellar-Bleecker Family History compiled by Claude Young of Wellington in Prince Edward County.

Others, copies of which are to be found in the Corby Public Library, include the Gilmour, Meyers, Asselstine, Rogers, Denyes, Mack and Sine, Morton and Rosier-Bleecker families.

Yet another family history was recently brought to the attention of the writer by Mrs. Laura Reynolds of R.R. 7, Belleville. It is the "Foster Family" story compiled some years ago by Arnold Foster Foster. This is the story of Rhobeal and Phoebe (Cannif) Foster and their descendants.

Rhobeal was the Cape Cod region of Massachusetts, Shubeal Foster and Phoebe Cannif were married 3 years after the end of the American Revolutionary War.

In 1810, Shubeal came to Canada in company with Peter Foster, which is a township of the county of Frontenac. They were both said to honor Major-General James Wolfe, the victor at the Battle of the Plains of Abraham.

They were married at Cape Vincent and settled in Ernestown. They handed one of the bottesian laden with large supplies which was bound for the Bay of Quinte.

After a difficult journey, "they landed at the mouth of Napanee shore, near the place known as Shannonville, opposite the Mohawk Indian settlemen in Tyendinaga." The same day they went to Fort Hall in Bath where they landed about dark, weary and disheartened.

"The locality where they arrived was then an unbroken wilderness, and for a while they could find neither habitation or road, the nearest point from which they met an Indian, and gave him a shilling to direct them through the woods to a tavern kept by another Indian; this place they found consisted of a log dwelling house. It had not even a stove; but it had a large fire made against a large stone back wall, built at the side of the house; here they rambled together as best they could upon the floor and when they awoke in the morning found their clothes stiff upon them."

PASTEURIZATION OF MILK AND BUTTER A MUST

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about the use of raw milk on the farm? Is there any real danger when we have our dairy herd tested for Bang's Disease?

"I have been using cream which I used for the children when they were small, but I quit when they were two years old.

"I don't pasteurize because I clean my bottles with boiling water when it rises to the top, and you can't do this with pasteurized milk.

"If we set butter made from unpasteurized cream, would it do any good to pasteurize the milk? — Mrs. L. D."

City dwellers hardly give a thought to pasteurization, because the process is universal in cities. But I still get questions from farms and small communities. Our rural population is a large and important part of our country's strength. We cannot allow living in the country undefined pasteurization dream before you make butter!

"Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think of Bil vitamin shots? I have been taking one a week for a few months with no better but have noticed a patch of hair on my chest. — Mrs. E. F."

I think Bil is occasionally useful in cases in which the patient is obviously deficient in this vitamin. You may get the idea that adequate rest and proper food are all you need.

I doubt if the hair growth has any connection. I have written to Mrs. W. S.: Normal male "sperm count" is from one million to 300 million. Below one million would be considered "low", but a suitable "normal" above that figure can vary greatly. No specific foods will increase fertility. However, a normal balanced diet with adequate milk is essential to reasonable health. Occasionally thyroid extract increases sperm count.

A century ago when milk wasn't pasteurized, if one herd of cattle developed a disease, and got it, too, the "epidemic" spread from farm to farm in the round from farm to farm and in short order we had a plague".

General pasteurization of milk has to a considerable extent prevented spreading of disease. So, in a sense, those who do not pasteurize are more or less riding along on the efforts of those who do.

In answer to today's letter, I say pasteurize, with no ifs, buts or maybes. You may get away without trouble, but if a disease should crop in the herd, you'll pay too high a price for taking a chance.

If disease germs are in the milk, they'll be in the butter, too. The practice is dangerous to put the milk through a separator first, to skim off the cream. (Or you can, if you have the know way, by letting the cream rise.) Then, pasteurize the cream before you make butter!

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ACCOMPLISHMENT REQUIRES ISOLATION

It is only when we get alone that we really begin to discover ourselves properly. And it is only as we come to ourselves that we can begin to live "luckily" arrived at his, or her, home.

But of you go back, if you seek in terms, you will find that what you see is but the flowering of sacrifice, study, long years of plodding — and isolation.

Isolation is the hope and slavery growing time of the soul.

The thinker observes in the crowd, but he does very little creative work there. He must retire to his study, or to some silent place, where he may gather up his scattered forces, build his findings into ideas and practical suggestions.

Isolation takes courage. You have to give up much that you have grown fond of.

When problems vex, a man must be greatly isolated to think them all out in their true proportion.

Isolation has its price. It comes high. You have to give up much that you have grown fond of.

Nearly all of us at times become greatly isolated in heart. In loneliness of spirit we often grope. But there has never been a day that has not followed its night of darkness. We must all come up out of our night into our day!

In the above picture the charter for the new Phay Wills Branch is being presented by Miss Isabelle Goddard, woman representative of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion to Mrs. "Billy" Kirby, first president of the branch. Looking on are Ian Beresford, regional vice-president, Ald. Don Whalen, Mrs. A. S. McConnell.

Phay Wills Branch of Legion For Ex-Service Women Given Charter in Fine Ceremony

The Phay Wills Chapter No. 587 of the Canadian Legion, composed of ex-service women with Mrs. William (Buelah) Kirby as its first president was given a charter at the Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday evening by Miss Isabelle Goddard, woman representative on the Provincial Command of the Legion. There have been many fine functions at the Legion Hall in the past years but this occasion was greeted with enthusiastic applause and by an audience that overflowed their already crowded quarters.

The dinner, prepared by the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion, who in the years past have filled the inder man with many good things, again came up with a delicious repast, wonderfully cooked and delightfully served under the direction of Mrs. Gwen Hughes, the energetic president of the group. Norman Spencer, president of the Legion branch, was a most efficient chairman of the function and the head table guests were all workers for the cause of the veteran in various fields. Padre, Canon A. S. McConnell, who gives so freely of his time and ability to the cause of the veteran in this district was installed as the Chaplain of the new chapter and gave the invocation to start the new chapter on its way.

VETERANS REMEMBERED

"As the sun goes down we will remember them" said the president of the Legion as he opened the program and he voiced the opinion of many that the chapter will grow and flourish in the district and be source of comfort to all veterans. He called for a minute of remembrance for those who gave their lives that others might live in freedom. Alderman Don Whalen brought the greetings of the City to the gathering and said it was a time to honor these veteran wwerin who helped keep this country free and was sure that the new Chapter would render a great deal of service in the community.

Dr. D. C. McVicker, Zone Commander, introduced Ian Beresford, Mayor of Gananoque, Regional vice-president, who served in the last war and a member of the D.V.A. stating he always put Legion business at head of any other duty.

Mr. Beresford stated it was a pleasure and honor to be present on this "Charter Night" and thanked the Women's Auxiliary for the wonderful dinner prepared. He stated that the members of the new chapter had embarked on a new field of service and they would need intelligence, integrity and unity of purpose. "Certainly you will need lots of energy and the members must give full co-operation to the officers and the other branches of the Legion must help in every way to make the new organization a success. He outlined the history of the Canadian Legion, stating it had been a power for the veteran and it was recognized by the government as an organization that spoke for the great majority of the veterans in Canada. He also stated that the veteran must recognize that service is the first requirement of a citizen as service was the first requirement of a soldier.

PRESTIGE HIGH

The speaker showed that the prestige of the Canadian Legion was high and because the 100,000 dead in two Great Wars died for a better world. He requested that the veterans not make Remembrance Day just one day of the year to remember those buddies who have gone on but to make every day of the year a day of remembrance and try in some small way to relieve the veterans of his pains, his financial problems and other difficulties he may have. The speaker was sincerely thanked by William Bailey, District Commander, Frank "Dade" Hills of Port Hope introduced the woman representative on the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, Miss Isabelle Goddard, to formally present the charter to the new chapter, and Mrs. William Kirby gratefully accepted the charter and promised that it would be in good hands and that the members would work faithfully for the advancement of the ex-service women in the community.

Mr. Hills then installed Canon A. S. McConnell as the chaplain of the branch and after the president of the Legion had presented the colors to the new officers, they were blessed and dedicated by the chaplain. Dr. D. C. McVicker then presented the chapter with a striking box and gavel on behalf of the Deseronto branch of the Legion, while Mrs. Gwen Hughes, president of the Women's Auxiliary presented Mrs. Kirby with a cheque. Pete Wills, son of the man for whom the Chapter was named, Lieut.-Col. P. H. "Phay" Wills, spoke briefly, stating his father was very proud to have his name perpetuated in the new Chapter and presented the president with a substantial cheque and hoped that the new Chapter would go on to great things in the coming years. All of these gifts were gratefully received by Mrs. Kirby, who stated she was sure the new Chapter would record a place in the history of the community through the years.

Lee Grills, M.P. for South Hastings, on behalf of his wife and himself, expressed the pleasure of being in attendance and stated that the godfather of the branch would no doubt be a great friend. He praised the Canadian Legion for the personal help he had received from the members during his term of office and was ever ready to assist the branches in anything that would bring better conditions to the community. With the thanking of the Auxiliary for the splendid meal, by the president, the meeting was adjourned and a social evening followed to close out another milestone in the life of the Canadian Legion in this district.

Canon A. S. McConnell, newly-installed Padre of the Phay Wills Legion Branch for ex-service women is seen dedicating the colors of the new branch. Holding the colors from left to right are Mrs. Janet McDonald, the president, Mrs. "Billy" Kirby and Mrs. Robertson.

"It looks okay to me," Ann laughed. "For sale, large rectangular lot, 126 foot frontage, 634 square feet," she read aloud. "Nothing wrong with that."

"That area?" Her husband chuckled. "I see what must have happened. Some joker scraped away his first and last figures. You can make out where there was a figure before the first four, and also one after the final four."

And Tom was right! But how deep was the lot?

Beauty Contest Means to End Says Entry

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's entry in the Miss World contest, Danica d'Hondt, says beauty contests are strictly a means to an end.

"In my case the end is an acting career," she said.

The 21-year-old former University of British Columbia student left Saturday for England where the contest ends Nov. 5.

The tall, blonde beauty was Miss Canada of 1958. She's six feet tall wearing high heels and is five feet nine without them.

Danica was only a year away from an arts degree at UBC when she quit to start acting.

Priest Declares Women Have Many Clothes

ROME (Reuters)—Some of the world's most elegant women come under the censure of an Italian priest for having too many clothes.

Those censured include Queen Elizabeth, movie stars Gina Lollobrigida, Martine Carol, Sophia Loren and Diana Dors, and the late Evita Peron, wife of former Argentine dictator Juan Peron.

The criticism is contained in an article by a Dominican priest, Rev. Reginaldo Frascisco, in the Italian clerical review Arena Of The Clergy.

The article contains such headings as "luxury and the superfluous in fashions," "vanity and other sins of fashion," and "excesses and immodesty."

It notes that "the Queen of England has arranged that nobody never to wear the same dress more than once for public appearances."

Also criticized are such items as "the 200 pairs of shoes Diana Dors," the "120 furs of Evita Peron," Miss Carol's expensive jewelry and the size of the wardrobes of Miss Lollobrigida and Miss Carol.

"In all this luxury persists," he said, "the so-called morality approve it severely out of respect for fashion and the mysterious demands!"

Father Frascisco concedes that fashion does have its "positive" side. This includes the charity of trying to please by means of husband or fiance, the temperance of dieting and humility of bowing to fashions dictates.

But the "social" benefit of providing work but it also exasperates the poor and encourages envying by those who can't afford it.

CWL Sponsors Successful Bazaar, Tea

FRANKFORD — The Frankford Catholic Women's League held its annual fall bazaar on October 19th, in Frankford community hall.

Despite inclement weather, the hall was amply filled all afternoon.

Ladies who poured tea were: Mrs. E. Green and Mrs. Arnold Sickle.

A feature of the afternoon was the home baking table, artistically displayed, showing fancy work and touch-n-take items.

The lucky winner of the door prize was Mrs. Milford Grills, recipient of a lovely lace and pillow case set. There were also several special draws. The winner of the copper tooling picture was Mr. S. Sickle.

The tea was by Mrs. Lukeman, of Estaven.

Decorations at the hall were in keeping with the fall theme, green pine cone balls of assorted sizes covered the window openings and were entwined in the railing surrounding the platform. Maple leaves decorated the white side tables.

The head table and six guest tables were covered with white cloths and centred with vases of yellow and bronze 'mums and candelabra.

Soft dinner music was supplied by Rev. Father O'Neil.

The Rev. Father Dunphy of Batawa, was a guest for the afternoon.

The Catholic Women's League would like to pay tribute to all who assisted in any way in making the annual bazaar a success.

HEATH — MORTON

Thomasburg United Church was the setting on Saturday, October 22, at 2.30 p.m. for the marriage of Janet Mary Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morton, Thomasburg, and Douglas Clarence Heath, son of Mr. Boyce Heath, of Belleville, R.R. 7, and the late Mrs. Heath. The Reverend C. W. Coleman, pastor of Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, assisted by the Reverend G. Ferrier of Thomasburg, officiated at the double-ring ceremony before a lovely background of mauve and golden chrysanthemums and white carnations. White satin bows marked the guest pews.

The wedding music included "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register, sung by Mr. James Graham, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Ernest Morton, the bride was lovely in her full-length bridal gown of peau de soie featuring a full skirt cascading into a chapel train. The molded bodice was fashioned with a deep "V" neckline accented with lace, and fitted sheath-like sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. She wore a finger-tip embroidered illusion tulle veil which Chantilly lace trimmed and carried a white Bible crested with pink Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and rosebud-knotted streamers.

The bride was attended by Miss Connie Sickle of Belleville, as maid of honor, wearing deep green peau de soie in floor length, having a fitted "bodice with "V" neckline and short cap sleeves, small matching hat with tiny veil, green shoes and white gloves. She carried a nosegay of yellow 'mums tied with yellow streamers.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Barbara Kitchen, of Belleville, Mrs. Joyce Latchford of Thomasburg, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Freeda Morton, of Thomasburg, sister-in-law of the bride, were also gowned in deep green peau de soie fashioned on lines similar to that of the maid of honor. They wore matching hats, shoes and white gloves, and carried similar bouquets.

The little flower girl, Miss Lisa Dunn, of Montreal, was demure in her little green frock, pink sash and tallimhoro hat made also on similar lines to the other attendants, scattered rose petals as she proceeded down the aisle.

Master Dale Latchford, of Thomasburg, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Reverly Heath, of Port Credit, Ontario. The guests were ushered by Messrs. Ronald Greves of Halloway; Ronald Heath, of Dunnville, Ontario, also a brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Robert Dale, of Halloway, Ontario.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was adorned with pink and white streamers and wedding bells, with rosettes on the archway.

The bridal table was beautifully set with white damask, centred by a three-tier wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's mother. Tall white candlets and the bridal flowers completed the nuptial accent.

Mrs. Morton, for her daughter's wedding, chose a mauve sheath with matching hat, white gloves, pearl necklace with matching earrings, and corsage of yellow 'mums; while Mrs. Heath the bridegroom's step-mother, chose a dark blue sheath, with black feather hat; black and white accessories, and corsage of red carnations.

For travelling to Niagara Falls, and North Bay, the bride wore a green knitted sheath, fitted fur hat and coat with matching fur collar, brown accessories, and corsage of pink

Bridge St. W.A. Sees European Travelogue

Members of Bridge Street United Church Woman's Association enjoyed a delicious "Western luncheon" prior to the October meeting. The luncheon was in charge of the group convened by Mrs. E. Denyes and Mrs. S. Gilmour.

Following the luncheon, the president, Mrs. W. Dallas, called the meeting to order. Mrs. J. Parrott was pianist.

Reports of secretaries and committee chairmen were read and items of business dealt with.

Mrs. Denyes presided for the program planned by her group. The devotional service was conducted by Miss G. Tucker. The theme of the service, based on a portion of Paul's letter to the Philippians, was that each in his own place must give light and love to others.

A duet "Song At Eventide" was sung by Mrs. R. Rollins and Mrs. H. P. Twiddy, was much enjoyed.

Mrs. A. May introduced Mrs. R. K. Jeffrey, who shared with the group the beauties and interesting highlights of her recent trip to Europe.

Illustrating her talk with beautiful slides and a number of souvenirs, Mrs. Jeffrey, a skilful craft of the countries visited. Mrs. Jeffrey took her listeners on an enchanting travel journey, many of the beauty spots of Europe.

Mrs. J. Marsh expressed the feelings of all as she sincerely thanked Mrs. Jeffrey for a most interesting travelogue.

E. P. Taylor's Daughter Weds In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Mary Louise, daughter of millionaire Canadian industrialist E. P. Taylor, was married Saturday to Peter Hoguet of New York in a quiet ceremony in the Sacred Heart Chapel of Montreal's Notre Dame Church.

Mr. Hoguet is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Peter Hoguet of New York.

More than 150 guests filled the Roman Catholic chapel.

The bridegroom walked slowly up the aisle on the arm of her father.

Her gown, which had a round, jewel neckline, was in Belville pink - tinged ribbed silk. The closely fitting sleeves ended just below the elbow and the bell-shaped bouffant skirt was nipped tightly at the waist by a matching cummerbund.

The slender, blonde bride was attended by Mrs. John Mappin, her sister, as matron of honor, and Margaret Davidson, Miss Suzanne Edwards, Mrs. Mary Morgan and Mrs. John Nortis, all of Montreal.

The best man was Roland Hoguet, the groom's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Bertram Edwards are pictured cutting the wedding cake following their marriage in Roslin United Church. The bride is the former Miss Carol Aileen Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carman J. Bailey, of Roslin, Ontario. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards, of Lakefield, R. R. 2. EDWARDS — BAILEY

Roslin United Church was the scene of a beautiful fall wedding with baskets of mauve and white dahlias, potted plants of "Star of Bethlehem," adorning the altar, when Carol Aileen Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carman J. Bailey was united in marriage by Rev. R. Nicholls of Plainfield in charge, to Sherman Bertram Edwards, of Lakefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards.

Miss Margaret Bates, Plainfield, rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Earl Gray of Plainfield, who sang "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the church looking lovely in her ballerina-length dress of white satin with net over-skirt and peplum styled jacket of white chantilly lace with Peter Pan collar and long sleeves forming tulip points over the wrists. Her bouffant veil in Juliet cap style, adorned with iridescent sequins; with finger tip veil of white net and chantilly lace border. She wore a pearl and rhinestone necklace, the gift of her bridegroom and carried a cascade of red roses and white baby's breath.

Mrs. Edward Cairns, Stirling, sister of the bride as matron of honor, was attired in a mauve straight cut dress of taffeta with purple chiffon overskirt, and carried a nosegay of yellow 'mums.

Miss Joyce Bailey, Roslin, cousin of bride, and Miss Heather Jane Empson, Roslin, were bridesmaids. They were dressed in fall-green chiffon over taffeta, large sleeves, and carried nosegays of white and yellow 'mums.

Little Laurel Edwards, niece of the bridegroom looked charming in her white nylon chiffon dress carrying a white basket of bronze and white 'mums.

Mr. Norman Edwards, Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, attended the bridegroom while Mr. Leslie Bailey, Lakefield, and Jimmy Bailey, Roslin, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in Roslin parish hall where a turkey dinner was catered to by Mrs. Demill Collet assisted by ladies of Roslin and also ten schoolmates. Cousins of the bride acted as servers with pink and white caps and aprons.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with a white lace table cloth, two candelabra with six lighted pink candles centred by a three-tier wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's mother, nesting in pink tulle. The bridal bouquets lent an additional nuptial accent.

Two bridal tables were attractively appointed with colorful fall flowers with pink and white streamers and bells centred the BOQARLAW — Mrs. Ed. Bateman was hostess to the W. I. recently with a large number present.

Several were in costume as it was the Hallowe'en meeting. Next dressed couple, 1st prize, went to Mrs. George Bateman and Mrs. Orvie Bateman. Mrs. W. Barlow and Mrs. Gerald Burkitt received prizes.

Mrs. G. Burkitt, the president, opened the meeting in the usual manner. Thank-you cards were read.

It was decided to make a quilt. Mrs. Percy Bay donated the bats and Mrs. George Thompson the lining. It was decided to hold a card party at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Canaby on Friday evening, November 4th. A report of the W. I. convention at Belleville was given by Mrs. G. Burkitt and Mrs. W. J. Barlow. Mrs. Charles Gerdsinger gave a very interesting paper on "Belle", the industry at Kitchener, where all kinds of kinds of belts are made, but all have different lengths and range in weight from 150 lbs. to 7,850 lbs.

Mrs. W. J. Barlow gave a reading on Hallowe'en.

Mrs. Hugh Jones gave a paper on the Canadian Citizenship Act.

A contest was put on by Mrs. Gerdsinger and members, who were not in costume paid a fine.

The meeting closed. The hostess and her assistants served lunch.

BRIDE'S TABLE

The bride's mother received the guests attired in a floor length lace over brown taffeta with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze 'mums. Assisting her in receiving the guests was the bridegroom's mother wearing a purple crepe sheath with satin trim, white accessories and corsage of white 'mums.

For travelling to Niagara Falls the bride chose a beige wool sheath with matching pot-hat, brown accessories with corsage of white 'mums.

The bridegroom's gifts to the male attendants were ties and tie bars and to the best bridegroom was a gold cuff link and tie bar set.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower by Miss Hazel Slingerland with Miss Marion Craighead and Miss Margaret Bates as co-hostess.

Guests attended from Peterborough; Toronto; Lakefield; Melrose; Stirling; Shannonville.

The bride and bridegroom will reside in Lakefield, Ontario.

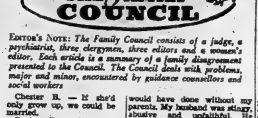
MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Hagner Shaw

ARE THE MICMITER YANKEEING?

Gloria Swanson, theatrumous actress, recently spoke at a luncheon at which I was lucky enough to be present. At the age of sixty-one she is still glamorous. Even more important, she is a very gracious lady.



Perhaps the following quotes from her talk will explain why she possesses the latter distinction:

"Gracious living? A thing of the past. Where are people's manners? The niceties of writing thank-you notes at calling people up after enjoying their hospitality, of asking whether your phone call is interrupting them, all have vanished. I guess I'm just old-fashioned.

"Children? European vs American methods of up-bringing? What child in Europe anywhere — rich or poor would say once a parent, 'Aw, shut up'? No European child is allowed to screech the low of the American youngster who doesn't rise when someone older comes into a room."

Miss Swanson gives an example of this. "Not too long ago, I was asked to address a fine rally. All of them were young people. When I arrived, they were all slumped in their chairs, lounging around. Instead of being greeted with respect as I was presented to them, I looked at them, sprawled out, and said loudly, 'Stand up. Nob because I am Gloria Swanson, not because I am a guest speaker today, but because I am someone who's older than you and I demand the respect. They got up — and I left."

More power to this gracious lady! If she is "old-fashioned," I guess I am too! If young people, as well as oldsters, would only heed to the words (which I have echoed so many times), they could not help but be known as "a gracious lady" or "a true gentleman."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counsellors and social workers

Chester B. — If she'd only grow up, we could be married.

Regina K. — He can't understand how wonderful my parents are.

Chester B. — I'm 20, a government worker, and in love with a charming divorcee of 25 who has two young children. We have wonderful times together, both with and without the children along. I would marry her tomorrow, except for one problem — her parents.

I never met her former husband but I can bet, whatever the stated reasons for the divorce, the real reason was Regina's mother and father. She's an only child and they just never let go. Her mother is a busybody who knows more about housekeeping and babies than anyone in the world. And her father has retired and has all the time in the world to hang around, play with the children, do Sunday errands and fill in his day just being her "finger-wiggler."

Right now Regina lives a few doors away from her parents. When I asked whether she'd consider moving to another state, she said she couldn't do that to her folks. "I'm all they have!" was her answer.

The parents don't think much of me. They'd rather not have Regina marry at all, I guess, as they could be sure of having her at their beck and call the rest of their lives. But if she insists on marrying, they'd prefer a rich guy, because she'd lose part of the alimony she's getting.

How can I help Regina see what they're doing to her?

Regina S. — Chester has made the best year I'm happy of my life, except when he starts picking on my parents. They are absolutely selfless when it comes to me. My happiness is all they want and through all my suffering they suffered along with me.

My previous marriage was in my first year at college when I was 17. My husband was a campus idol, studying medicine, and both our fathers chipped in to set us up and support us When my baby came, they moved us into the house I'm in now, which happens to be near my parents' home. I was divorced when the second baby was only a year old. My husband had quit his studies and was working for his father. Between them they are coughing up a good alimony and support check for me and the children each month. But I don't know what I'd would have done without my parents. My husband was stingy, abusive and unfaithful. I was struck me and frightened the children. We are all better off this way. He has remarried and has no visiting rights to see the children. So far he has failed to visit, although the children don't seem to miss him since he can be ruins in and out faster each time.

My parents would be only too glad to see me settled, with a father for my children. But how can I think of marrying Chester when he refuses to turn my back on them?

Editor's Council: While it's hard to say who is responsible for Regina's hurtful response to strong personalities, it's our unanimous opinion to start in firming things up for her — with herself! Regina is the key to a more wholesome life for all the people mentioned above — except, perhaps, her former husband who found his own key.

It's doubtful whether Chester can set in motion the beautiful weaning of child from parents and wife from child that is so necessary. Such deep-rooted immaturity as we see here may need psychiatric attention before Regina sees her true relationship with her parents. And until she does, she cannot marry ahead to an adult relationship with anyone and succeed in it thrives.

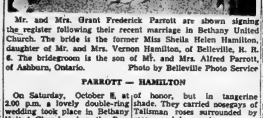
Here is a girl who has never seen herself as a person, only as a daughter. Whatever is all right for her parents is all right for her. And what's better, it's all right for them has been to intensify and prolong the infant-role so that they'll never have to battle and find other ways to fill their days, as do most loving parents when their children grow up. Regina, dress was a matching bow with veil. Matching shoes, short, white gloves, pearl necklace with nosegay of yellow roses surrounded by cream and yellow, mums completed the ensemble.

Mrs. Arthur Hamilton, (Shirley) of Belleville, R.R. 6, and Mrs. George Hamilton, (Rose Marie) of Cloverleaf Drive, Belleville, sisters-in-law of the bride, as bridesmaids were dressed similarly to the matron of honor, but in tangerine shade. They carried nosegays of Talisman roses surrounded by cream and bronze 'mums.

Little Joel Hamilton of Cloverleaf Drive, Belleville, nephew of the bride, as flower girl was sweet and demure in her ivory-silk green crystal charm taffeta dress with matching bracelet, black shoes, white socks, white gloves, and wore the bride's gift, a white gold cross and chain and carried a basket of multi-colored 'mums.

Mr. Frank Baskay of Clarence Creek, Ont., attended the bridegroom, while the ushers were Mr. George Hamilton of Cloverleaf Drive, Belleville, brother of the bride, and Mr. Douglas Ashton, of Ameliasburg, cousin of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in Castleton Sunday School rooms with Bethany W.A. catering. The bridal table was prettily appointed with damask linen, crystal candelabra, and the three-tier wedding cake misted about the base with white tulle and tiny rosebuds. The bridal bouquets lent an extra nuptial accent.



The bride's mother received, wearing a silver-lined brocaded satin sheath gown, with brown accessories and corsage of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Bishop, of Oshawa, who, due to the illness of the bridegroom's mother, received also, was attired in brown and beige with beige accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to London, Ont., and points further west, the bride chose a lilac wool jersey with beige accessories, muskrat jacket, and corsage of yellow roses.

Guests were present from Watertown, N.Y., Barrie, Toronto, Oshawa, Port Perry, Myrtle, Kingston, Napanee, Belleville, Hallowell and Peterborough.

Showers honored the bride were held at the home of Mrs. C. Eggleton with Mrs. Bruce Mallula, Mrs. George Beer, Mrs. M. Trevorton and Mrs. R. Rife as co-hostesses, and at Ashburn Sunday School rooms with Mrs. Rose Parrott as hostess, and Mrs. David Lee as co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Parrott will reside at the bridegroom's farm in Ashburn, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Frederick Parrott are shown signing the register following their recent marriage in Bethany United Church. The bride is the former Miss Sheila Helen Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hamilton, of Belleville, R. R. 6. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Parrott, of Ashburn, Ontario.

PARROTT — HAMILTON

On Saturday, October 8, at 2:00 p.m., a lovely double-ring wedding took place in Bethany United Church, when the Rev. J. Macarthur of Canifton, assisted by Mr. Perry of Port Perry, Ontario, united in marriage, Sheila Helen Hamilton, of Belleville, R.R. 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hamilton to Grant Frederick Parrott, of Ashburn, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parrott. Tall standards of bronze and yellow 'mums interspersed with ferns, formed a pretty background for the ceremony While satin bows designated the guest pews.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. C. Eggleton, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Reginald Aylsworth, in her rendition of "Walk Hand In Hand With Me," before the ceremony. "The Lord's Prayer," during the ceremony and the "Wedding Prayer," while the register was being signed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her full-length bridal gown of pure silk organza fashioned with Sabrina neckline of Alencon lace studded with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The long sleeves were lily-pointed over the wrists. She wore a semi-tiara of sequins and seed pearls with finger-tip veil of illusion tulle, and carried a bouquet of red roses mingled with white stephanotis. A pearl necklace with matching earrings, the gift of the bridegroom, completed her costume.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ross Pigden, (Mary) of Maple Ont. as matron of honor, wearing a cocoa-brown crystal charm taffeta gown in princess style, with scoop neckline and short sleeves, and full skirt in floor length. Her headdress was a matching bow with veil. Matching shoes, short, white gloves, pearl necklace with nosegay of yellow roses surrounded by cream and yellow 'mums completed the ensemble.

Give Squash A Fair Trial

By Mary Moore

Charlotte was on the verge of phoning for a taxi when I spied her and asked if I could give her a lift. She picked up her loaded bags and a squash toppled out. "I just bought it for Grandma and asked me to cook it. She never serves them to the rest of the family because they are not good vegetables and that's why I did eat some of Grandma's squash.

There are lots of ways to serve the yellow or green Acorn or Pepper squash. They may be combine well with several foods such as onions, tomatoes, butter cream, sour cream, lemon and orange and pineapple juice, bacon or nutmeg.

You can bake them as is or steam them or boil them. The ways of cooking Acorn or Pepper squashes which I have selected today are planned to inflate those who are indifferent to squash to give it a sporting try.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY

Beef and Kidney Pie with Pastry Topping; Fluffy Mashed Turnip; Tomato Salad with Cress; Lemon Custard with Pouring Cream or Milk; Coffee.

BAKED ACORN SQUASH WITH PINEAPPLE

3 Acorn or Pepper squashes, halved; ½ cup canned crushed pineapple, drained; 3 tablespoons pineapple juice (from drained pineapple); 3 tablespoons brown sugar; 6 tablespoons butter pr margarine; ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg; ½ teaspoon salt.

Scoop out seeds and rough fibers from halved squashes. Place, cut side up, in greased baking dish, fill centres with 1 teaspoon each pineapple juice, brown sugar and butter or margarine. Cover and bake at 400 deg. for about 30 minutes or until tender. Scoop out cooked squash, leaving ¼" thick wall. Mash squash and combine with remaining 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, pineapple, remaining ingredients, beating all well together. Spoon back into the shells and return to oven of 425 deg. Fahr. for about 13 minutes. Delicious served with Swiss Steak or as a feature item on a vegetable-plate which includes cauliflower in cheese sauce.

EXOTIC STUFFED SQUASH

(6 servings)

3 medium-sized squash, yellow or zucchini; 1 onion, minced; whole saffron; ½ cup butter; ½ cup yoghurt (or creamed cottage cheese); seeds of 1 cardamon pod, crushed; 1 cup peeled, raw almonds, blanched and ground or finely chopped; 2 teaspoons lemon juice; 1½ teaspoon coriander seed (optional); ½ teaspoon salt; freshly black pepper.

Split squash lengthwise and scrape out raw centres, leaving wall ½" thick, and chop. Add onion and a pinch of saffron. Saute in ½ cup butter for 5 minutes. Add yoghurt or cottage cheese and cardamom and simmer for 10 minutes. Add cream mixed with ground almonds, lemon juice and salt. Simmer for 5 minutes. Place the mixture in squash shells, dot with remaining ½ cup butter and sprinkle with coriander, if used, and pepper. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

SIMPLE BAKED SQUASH

Wash and cut Acorn or Pepper squashes in halves and scrape out seeds and fibers. Place cut side down in shallow pan, add ¼" water and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 30 to 45 minutes or until tender—time depends on size of squashes. Remove from oven and turn over. Fill centres with 1 or 2 teaspoons each butter or margarine, sprinkle with salt and nutmeg and if desired add 1 teaspoon to each of concentrated fresh frozen orange juice. Return to oven and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. until bubbly and golden.

Women's Activities

PLAINFIELD WMS-WA

The October meeting of the W.M.S. and W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Gow, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Grant Kerr. Mrs. Clarence Hall opened the meeting. A meditation on the Lord's Prayer was taken from the Missionary Study given.

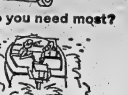
DEVOTIONAL

Mrs. Jack Salmon took charge of the devotional. Her theme was, "Dwelling With the House of God." Mrs. Clayton Hall read the Scripture lesson, Ephesians 4: 11-16, and Ephesians 2: 19-22. Mrs. Salmon closed the worship service with prayer.

Mrs. Harry McCreary gave a helpful and interesting reading on "Christian Stewardship". Christian stewardship means being a Christian regularly every day, every week, and every year, and living well. It requires time, abilities, material possession and talents. The members were asked to remember their missionary, Miss Mulley, in prayer.

The autumn Thank Offering was taken and read by G. Nicholls, offered the dedication prayer.

GUEST SPEAKER



Mrs. Nicholls gave a splendid and interesting address which was enjoyed and appreciated by all. She dealt particularly with the moral standing of men and women.

Mrs. Salmon read an article, "Education in Africa, Journey to Education." It learned from this reading that African students are coming to Canada for education for their leaders.

Mr. Nicholls closed the meeting. Mrs. Ethel Gowe served refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

Reds Shade Quebec 3-2, Bisons Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds scored twice in less than two minutes in the final period Sunday night to edge Quebec Aces 3-2 in an Eastern American Hockey League game marked by a mass fine.

In Buffalo, the Bisons defeated Cleveland Barons 3-2 and Springfield Indians whipped Rochester Americans 5-3 in Rochester.

Springfield now heads the league with 19 points while Cleveland and Quebec are tied at 14 each. Rochester and Hershey Bears each have 11 points, followed by Buffalo with 10 and Providence with eight.

Referee Art Skov announced after the Providence contest he was fining 29 players—19 on each team—$25 each for a bench-clearing free-for-all in the opening period.

Providence trailed 3-1 in the final period when Zellio Toppazzini sparked the club's rally by scoring at 8:32 on a 25-foot shot to tie the count.

Reds right winger George Ganieri then scored the clincher at 10:19 on the rebound of a Dan Pelletier 25-cooler.

After the scoreless first period, Toppazzini put Reds in front. But Quebec's Player coach Flem MacKell and Bob Barlow scored before Providence got moving again.

HICKS GETS TWO

Wayne Hicks scored twice and assisted on a third goal as Buffalo defeated Cleveland.

Les Binkley, the Cleveland trainer, took over in the net after the first five minutes of play when goalie Gil Mayer was hit behind the right ear by a puck which glanced off a stick on a slap shot by Buffalo's Doug Barkley.

Hicks scored the only goal of the opening period, Wayne Larkin of Barons tied the score early in the second and Cal Gardner put Cleveland head three minutes later.

Larry Wilson tied it again late in the period, then Hicks scored the winner in the second minute of the final period.

Springfield's win was the ninth in 11 games for the league-leaders.

Springfield opened up with two goals in the first period—Harry Pilchiny hitting at 6:31 and Brian Kilrea at 12:36.

The Americans tied the score in the second as Dave Creighton counted at 11:19 and Hank Ciesla at 12:33.

But Bill McCready, checking in the Rochester end, poked the puck off rookie defenceman Roger Cote's stick as the latter skated in front of his own net and it was 3-2 for the Indians at 16:38.

Bruce Cline put the game out of reach with goals at 6:36 and 18.38 of the final period before Johnny Wilson tallied for Americans at 19:10.

In Saturday's action, Springfield downed aces 3-1, Hershey defeated Buffalo 4-3 and Providence scored a 5-3 win over Cleveland.

In the Springfield victory, Mc-Creary's seventh goal of the season broke a 1-1 deadlock in the third period and Bob Leiter added the insurance goal. Centre Jackie Leclair of the Aces accounted the scoring in the first period.

Winger Ray Klansewich scored a pair of goals for Hershey, Jack McIntyre and Marshal got the others, Buffalo scorers were Bill Maloney and Doug Barkley.

Providence scored three times in the second period in their victory over Cleveland. Toppazzini got two and Stan Baluik, Eddie Panagabko and Danny Publicover got one each. Cleveland scorers were John Ferguson and Fred Glover.

Minor Hockey

Maple Leafs, Quinte and Barons registered wins as the Bantam section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association opened up Saturday morning.

Leafs defeated Browns 4-3 with Gary Lacoss scoring two goals and earning an assist. G. Muldoon had a goal and one assist and D. Muldoon a goal and two assists. J. Meens scored twice for Browns and M. Blakely ended the other goal and B. Stinson an assist.

Quinte hammered the Black Hawks 8-2 with Paul Stinson, Terry Soule and S. Hansen each potting a pair of goals. R. Fletcher helped on two, T. Law, J. Smith and B. Bursey one each. R. Embury and J. Scott replied for the Hawks with H. Hannah aiding on one.

Bruins blanked the Canadiens 3-0, D. Emerson potted two goals and F. Ritchie had a goal and assist. D. Rutherford earned two assists.

Kings and Rangers fought to a 3-2 deadlock. Bob Ethier scored one Ranger goal and helped D. McMullen with the other. J. Lawlor and Allen Mott scored for the Maes and Dan Dowsend drew one assist.

The Red Wings and Barons also played to a tie, 1-1. M. Follwell potted the Baron goal while S. Ethier scored for the Wings with P. Ford and S. LaMoore helping.

Browns Win Over 'Skins', Giants Lose

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Mitchell, the speed man in Cleveland Browns offence, turned passer Saturday and sent his club into a first-place tie in the Eastern division of the National Football League. Green Bay Packers showed they can win on the road as well as at home and New York Giants showed they are vulnerable both on offence and defence.

The American Football League's two - game card saw both divisional leaders beaten by narrow margins.

Mitchell tossed the first touchdown pass of his pro career and caught a pass that set up a score as Browns whomped Washington Redskins 31-10.

The victory put Cleveland into a first-place tie with title Philadelphia in the eastern conference. Each has a 4-2 won-lost record. The Giants threw four passes into the hands of St. Louis Cardinal defenders and absorbed a 20-13 defeat. They dropped to third place at 4-1-1.

The Packers web 19-13 over Pittsburgh, on Paul Hornung's kicking to play a game ahead of Baltimore Colts, who downed Dallas Cowboys 45-7 in the western division.

In other NFL games, Los Angeles outscored Detroit 45-35 and San Francisco clowned Chicago Bears 25-7.

In the American League, Buffalo Bills edged Houston Oilers 23-24 and Dallas Texans defeated Denver Broncos 17-14.

Denver's defeat dropped them into a tie for the western division lead with Los Angeles, which beat Boston 45-16 Friday night. Houston, with a 3-3 record, remained well in front of New York Titans, 28-27 losers to Oakland on Friday.

TOP ROOKIE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Neil Beaumont, 19-year-old halfback who came out of junior ranks in Vancouver to the British Columbia Lions, Saturday night was awarded the Beatty Martin trophy as the rookie-of-the-year in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Ole Casey Has Plenty Of Offers

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, ousted as New York Yankee manager because of his age, scoffed at retirement Sunday and said:

"I got so many calls offering jobs that I'll spend the next three or four weeks deciding which to accept.

"I've had lots of calls, including calls from baseball clubs. I've had offers in radio and television. They came from all over.

"I got so many that I had to turn the telephone off."

Stengel said, then added with his famous wink: "But I turned it on again."

Dogs Defeat Woodstock

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Windsor Bulldogs came from behind to defeat Woodstock Athletics 6-3 Sunday, snapping up the a 5-3 loss to Strathroy Statesmen and moving them into a first-place tie in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series Western division.

Meanwhile in the eastern division the uncertainty created by the withdrawal last week of Whitby and Welland wasn't relieved much with Wallaceburg announced intention of rejoining the group.

STUDY SCHEDULE

But the division still has only three other teams —Galt, Oakville and Belleville. All three were idle during the weekend as OHA officials attempted to redesign the schedule.

The two games involving the Bulldogs were the only ones played over the weekend in the western division.

At Windsor Sunday the Bulldogs, blanked for one period, came from behind to take the Woodstock lead with two second-period tallies. They continued with two more in the third before the Athletics replied with their other goal.

The win left Windsor tied for first place with Chatham Maroons. Each has six points. Strathford, Woodstock and Strathroy with two points each.

SCORES TWICE

Bob Brown scored twice to lead the Bulldog attack. The crowd of 1,375 saw Jack Costello and Joe Zorica add singletons. Junior Barash and Carl Hatt were the Woodstock scorers.

Windsor collected all four minor penalties handed out during the game.

Saturday night at Strathroy the Rockets showed their best form of the young season as they came from behind a 3-0 Windsor lead to tie the score at 3-3 at the end of the second and outscore the Bulldogs 3-1 in the final game.

The win was the Rockets' first in three starts. Jack Lane, Willie Rass, Harry Bendera, Don Hall and Lorne McCreight shared the Strathroy goals, while Bob Servias, Lou Grando and Jack Costello scored for the Bulldogs.

VOLLEYBALL CHAMPS

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The United States defeated France 3-2 Sunday night in the world volleyball championship. The U.S. team won 15-10, 13-15, 13-15, 15-4, 15-7.

Hull Extends Lead in EPL, Defeats Birds

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hull - Ottawa Canadiens tightened their hold on first place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Sunday night with a 4-2 win over Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds. It was the second loss of the weekend for the Birds.

The Canadiens boosted their points to 15, four ahead of idle Kitchener, who found themselves today in a second-place tie with Sudbury. The Thunderbirds are one point behind with 10.

The Wolves gained the tie on the strength of a 3-3 game stalemate Sunday with Montreal Royals in Montreal.

The Royals are one point ahead of Kingston, at the bottom of the heap with eight points in the close standings.

CARTER GETS TWO

Billy Carter, playing his first game with the Canadiens since being sent back to the EPHL team from a tryout with the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, sparked their win with two goals and an assist.

Carter scored a goal and helped Gilles Tremblay land his marker in the first period of the penalty-packed game watched by 4,134 fans. He topped this with an unassisted tally in the second period.

Nineteen penalties were handed out in the game, 10 of them to Canadiens, including a misconduct to Hull-Ottawa goalie Ed Johnston for arguing over a score and a major to Canadiens' John Annable for fighting.

The Thunderbirds were trimmed 5-3 by Kingston Saturday night.

Bobby Attersley with two goals and Dick Meissner with a goal and two assists sparked the Frontenacs.

The Frontenacs lost two of their key players in the game. Bruins Thursday night, Charlie Burns and Rod Charlett, but still outplayed the Bee team throughout the game.

It was three third win in nine starts.

Sudbury and Montreal each scored a goal a period as they battled to the 3-3 deadlock Sunday.

Cimmy Burton of the Wolves tallied the tie-maker at 8:20 of the final period with John Shaver and Leo Amadio assisting.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

At this writing the desperate battle for survival being staged by the eastern division of the OHA senior hockey league goes merrily on.

The in-again-out-again attitude of the Welland Warriors hockey club has had the rest of the four-team circuit on tenterhooks for the past two weeks, or since the Whitby Merchants decided to call it a day.

When Welland, through spokesman Tom Brook, manager of the club announced the team would not play in a four-club circuit, OHA convener Lorne Cook started searching desperately for a solution decided to approach the western division clubs with an interlocking suggestion.

We understand this was turned down gently but oh so firmly by Stratford, Strathroy and Woodstock. No travelling as far as Belleville for them, by cracky.

But at Saturday night's meeting in Toronto one Lefty Jordan spoke for the Welland club, and said they would accommodate. It appears Mr. Brook flew for himself — and not for the Warriors club as a whole. Welland which promised to appear at a previous meet, failed to show up, and gave its decision allegedly through a spokesman Brook.

Welland was supposed to built a club meeting yesterday and give its decision either by last night or at noon today. Look at the bottom of the column!—and find the answer.

If they decided to come in, the McFarlands go to Galt tomorrow night with the Terriers back here on Friday evening. Galt has a strong team with some half-dozen of the former Kitchener Dutchmen on the roster.

Of course the proof of the pudding is in the eating. However we believe Coach Gordie Bell has gathered a good club around him and it should give the best of them a run for the money. They have been going great guns in the last few practice grinds and they should be ready for Galt tomorrow.

The acquisition of Whitby's Freddie Eicher was another ten-strike for Bell. Freddie will get his share of points and is one of the best-up-fronters in senior hockey. Kenny Linseman recently appointed coach of the Kingston junior "B" team, told me the other day he would like to try out with the Maes later on. Kenny, with Billy Galvin led the scoring parade in the senior intercollegiate loop last season.

Gordie Bell who had done a fine job getting the Maes together and whipping them into shape is more or less disgusted with the turn of events". There is so much in-again out-again business going on, I am losing enthusiasm", he said.

WHEW!

The Toronto Argonauts unleashed the full fury of their "explosive" offensive power to crush the Montreal Alouettes yesterday and win the bye into the Big Four finals. The Double Blues rode roughshod over the hapless Larks after spotting them 13 points in the first few minutes of play. Cookie Gilchrist and Tobin Rote were the big men helping Argos to pile up a record 63-27 score. Both Rote and Gilchrist broke records with Cookie winning the scoring championship.

Next Saturday the Larks meet the Ottawa Roughriders who lost a heart-stopper to the Hamilton Tiger Cats on Saturday. A last minute field goal by Hamiltons Don Sutherin gave the Cats the 26-24 win.

Gary Schrieber had the game in the bag but his field goal attempt with seconds to go was partially deflected with the ball glancing off a goal-post.

Alouettes and Ottawa now meet in a sudden-death battle to decide the other Big Four finalist. The winners meet Argos in a two-game series with points to count.

HOCKEY'S HERE

Eastern hockey has survived. Convener Lorne Cook phoned late last night and advised coach Bell of the Maes Welland has re-entered the league.

The McFarlands will open the season tomorrow night at Galt with the same club back here Friday to start the festivities here.

Willie Fleming Hero

Lions Crush Riders 38-0

VANCOUVER (CP)—Halfback Willie Fleming scored 25 points Saturday night as British Columbia Lions crushed Saskatchewan Roughriders 38-0 in the last game of the scheduled 1960 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

But the 21,114 fans in Empire Stadium went home disappointed when Fleming failed to add three other counters for a fifth touchdown that would have given him the individual scoring championship.

It was the second-year Lion wound up in second place with 128 points, five behind fullback Jerry James of Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The outcome of the game, featured by Fleming's running and passing of quarterback Jody Duncan who threw for all but one of Lions five touchdowns.

Argos Crush Larks, Cats Edge Riders

Als, Ottawa Next Week

Toronto Argonauts climaxed a magnificent comeback after four lack-luster seasons by crumbling Montreal Alouettes 63-27 Sunday and finishing the Big Four football schedule in first place.

It was the first time in 23 years that Argos finished on top of the heap. It gives them a bye into the playoffs and they wait for a winner between Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal next Saturday.

Going into the crucial weekend Ottawa was tied with Toronto in won-lost standings and ahead by 22 points more scored. They had their first place chances shattered when the underdog Hamilton Tiger-Cats edged them 26-24 in a heart-breaker Saturday.

The Toronto - Montreal clash was almost a one-man affair. Argo halfback Cookie Gilchrist bundled up a 27-point afternoon to bring his season total to 115, enough to retain the league scoring title he won last year with 75 points.

DIXON SCORELESS

Going into the game he was 20 points behind Montreal's George Dixon who needed to manage a point and finished in second spot with 108 points.

Cookie smashed through for three touchdowns, kicked eight converts and a single.

Quarterback Tobin Rote combined with Gilchrist to humble Als by throwing seven touchdown passes for a season record of 36, a tie better than the previous mark held by Alouette pivot Sam Etcheverry and former Argo Ernie Galiffa.

The first half of the game was deadlocked 21-21, but in the last half Toronto exploded and Alouettes were helpless against Rote's pitching.

He fired two touchdown passes to Receiver Max Saltzberg, two to Ed Ochiena, Bill Stribling and Lloyd Carter each scampered across for touchdowns.

Until the last half Montreal had some brilliant playing of its own. Dick Cohee scored two touchdowns, one of them returning a kickoff 102 yards and the other an 83-yard gallop after snagging an Etcheverry pass.

Hal Patterson and Don Clark scored a touchdown while Bill Bewley converted three.

SMALL CROWD

The crowd of 14,000, smallest of the season, might have thought Hamilton was battling Green Bay Grey Cup at stake instead of playing a game that could get them nowhere. Ticats, cup finalists the last three years, battled Argos to a 7-0 at the first quarter, 10-9 at the half and trailed 17-16 going into the final 15 minutes.

Don Sutherin's field goal in the final minutes gave Hamilton the game. Gerry McDougall scored a touchdown and kicked a convert while Paul Dekker and Pete Neufeld counted singles. Quarterback Sutherin booted another field goal and a convert.

Bobby Simpson, the 11 - year Rough Rider veteran who helped avenge Ticats the week before, caught two touchdown passes from gritty Lancaster. Davey West scored a touchdown and kicked a convert. Ed Sloan got and two converts. Gerry Nesbitt added a single.

Ottawa had an opportunity to salvage the game in the dying minutes when Schreiber's 23 - yard field goal attempt was partially deflected at the line and hit a goalpost. Hamilton froze ball on the final two plays.

Wings, Flyers Win Over Irish, Marlies

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Red Wings and Niagara Falls Flyers got sweet revenge Sunday as they spoiled the home debut in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens of Marlboros and St. Michael's Majors in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A section.

The Red Wings, who lost their home opener last week to Guelph and then lost again to the Royals in Guelph, bounced back to dump the Majors 4-3.

And the Flyers, who lost to St. Michael's in their home opener, the first home game since the team moved from Barrie—humiliated Marlboros 4-1.

For their part of the Marlies Saturday managed to spoil St. Catharines Teepees' home debut, edging the Memorial Cup champions 9-7 and leaving them alone in the series basement.

LAST-MINUTE GOAL

Playing before a crowd of 3,005 the Red Wings grabbed the game with St. Michael's in its dying moments. Keith Walsh sent a rifling slap shot into the net at 19:51 of the third period while the Irish were a man short.

Both teams played scoreless hockey for two periods before the game opened up at a furious pace. Neil Funk fired two goals for Hamilton and Dennis Ribant got a single, while Arnie Brown scored twice and Duncan McDougall once for St. Michael's.

In the last minute of play Brown tied the game at 3-3; Majors were assessed a penalty and penalty shot; and Walsh scored the winning goal.

The Niagara Falls - Marlboro game was the second of a twin bill Sunday afternoon.

Harley Estabrooks led the Flyers with two goals, Jeannoit Gilbert and Marvin Rutledge each found the net once. For Marlies Howie Menard had the lone reply.

COME FROM BEHIND

At St. Catharines the Marlboros came from behind a 5-1 Tee-Leaf Gardens of Marlboros and St. Michael's Majors in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A section.

The first-string line of Ricey Hay, Howie Menard and Garry Jarrett accounted for six of the Marlies' points. Jarrett himself scored three while Hay had two and Jarrett one. The other Toronto goals went to Bill Smith, George Standing and John Weeks.

Murray Hall and Duke Harris each scored twice for Teepees. Single-goal marksmen were Howard Kellough, Bill Ives and Doug Robinson.

Ortega Loses To Thompson

NEW YORK (AP) — Argentina's Federico Thompson rallied to gain a unanimous decision over Mexico's Gaspar Ortega in a bristling 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

A storm of booing greeted the verdict which awarded Thompson's Dec. 10 title shot with welterweight champion Benny Paret on the line.

There were no knockdowns although Thompson was trying throughout to put the iron-jawed Mexican away with one punch.

Gaels Dump Varsity, Redmen Win

By The Canadian Press

Queen's University Golden Gaels took a solid hold on first place in the Intercollegiate Football League Saturday by crushing weak Toronto University Blues 21-6.

In the other league game McGill Redmen jumped into second place by humiliating Western University Mustangs 37-6.

The two games set the stage for a crucial meeting next weekend between Gaels and the Redmen. Queen's has eight points in the standings followed by McGill with six, Western is third with four and Toronto, with only one win in five starts, has two points.

NO OFFENCE

In the Toronto game both teams showed a solid defence, but Blues were pathetic on offence and powerless to score more than once, this on an unconverted touchdown by quarterback Norm Turner.

The league's scoring ace, halfback Robin Ritchie of Queen's brought his total to 31 points as he scampered over for a touchdown and kicked three converts. Quarterback Cal Connor added a halfback Mike Wicklum each scored a touchdown.

The major part of the game was along the ground with Gaels rushing for 182 yards and Toronto for 77. In the air Blues completed 10 of 21 passes for 129 yards while Gaels completed eight of 17 for 75 yards.

GEE REVENGE

McGill's triumph was one of the most overwhelming in the league's history. Mustangs had been the victors in the last meeting between the two with a 17-14 count.

Redmen who led by quarterback Tom Skypeck who scored a touchdown and tossed five touchdown passes—two of them to Don Taylor and one each to John Moore, Willie Lambert and Gordon Navin. Other McGill touchdowns were scored by Bob Mills, Ian and Carl Hansen.

Three of McGill's touchdowns were the result of pass intercep tions.

Harry Haukkala kicked a field goal, a single and four converts.

Western's only score came on an unconverted touchdown when quarterback Ken Ryzdale went over on a two-yard buck, climaxing a seven-play march.

Marksmen Win Fall Schedule

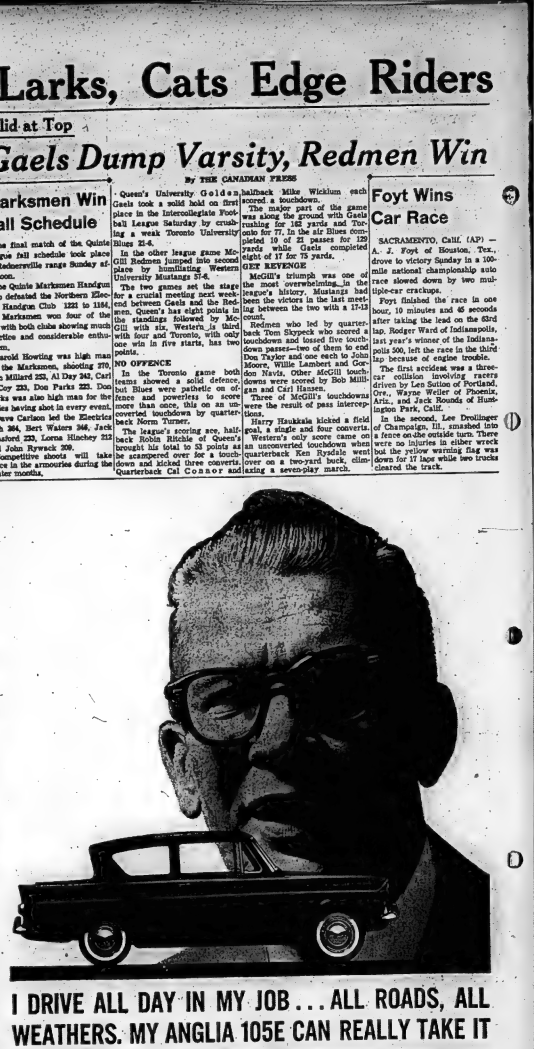
The final match of the Quinte League fall schedule took place at Redeerville range Sunday afternoon.

The Quinte Marksmen Handgun Club defeated the Northern Electric Handgun Club 1221 to 1184, the Marksmen won four of the six, with both clubs showing much practice and considerable enthusiasm.

Harold Howting was high man for the Marksmen, shooting 370, Stan Millard 223, Al Day 242, Carl McCoy 233, Don Parks 223. Don Parks was also high man for the series having shot in every event.

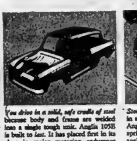
Dave Carlos led the Electrics with 264, Bert Waters 246, Jack Brasford 233, Lorna Hinchey 212 and John Rywsok 209.

Competitive shoots will take place in the armouries during the winter months.

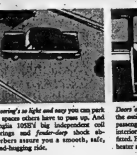


Foyt Wins Car Race

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., drove to victory Sunday in a 100-mile national championship auto race slowed down by two multiple-car crackups.



Foyt finished the race in one hour, 10 minutes and 46 seconds after taking the lead on the 43rd lap. Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, last year's winner of the Indianapolis 500, left the race in the third lap because of engine trouble.



The first accident was a three-car collision involving racers driven by Len Sutton of Portland, Ore., Wayne Weller of Phoenix, Ariz., and Jack Rourke of Huntington Park, Calif.

In the second, Lee Drollinger of Champaign, Ill., smashed into a fence on the outside turn. There were no injuries in either wreck but the yellow warning flag was down for 17 laps while two trucks cleared the track.

Big Frank Mahovlich has sparked the Toronto Maple Leafs' drive to within two points of first place in the National Hockey League.

Three came as the Maple Leafs jolted Chicago 8-4 Saturday night in Toronto. The fourth, coming midway through the third period at New York Sunday, broke a 1-1 tie and sent the Leafs on their way to a 3-1 victory.

The Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens, roasted by Managing Director Frank Selke for inept play so far this season, could do no better than split on weekend games with the Boston Bruins.

Canadiens beat the Bruins 3-2 on home ice Saturday but were beaten 5-3 at Boston Sunday.

FIRST-PLACE TIE

In other weekend action, Detroit Red Wings edged Chicago 3-2-1 at Detroit Sunday.

Weekend play saw Chicago and Montreal tied for first place with 14 points each. The Black Hawks have two games in hand.

Toronto has 12 points, Detroit 11, Boston nine and New York eight.

Veteran Bert Olmstead also starred for Leafs Saturday, scoring twice and assisting on three. Defenceman Allan Stanley, George Armstrong and Ron Stewart scored Toronto's other goals.

Murray Balfour, Earl Balfour, Ab McDonald and Eric Nesterenko scored for Hawks, who suffered their worst defeat this season.

Tim Horton and Dick Duff, Sunday.

BELIVEAU WON IT

Jean Beliveau scored Montreal's winning goal Saturday at 1:45 of the third period. Dickie Moore and Harvey also scored for Montreal while Bronco Horvath and Jerry Toppazzini got Boston's goals.

Jimmy Bartlett, Toppazzini and Horvath sparked Bruin Sunday. Bartlett scored his first two goals of the season and added an assist while Toppazzini had a goal and two assists and Horvath, three assists.

Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk got Boston's other goals while Geoffrion, Dickie Moore and Henri Richard scored for Montreal.

Moore's goal was his 13th in 15 games but he fell into a tie with Geoffrion for the league's scoring leadership. Geoffrion had three assists Saturday and another Sunday. Each have 19 points.

Alex Delvecchio scored the goal that beat the Black Hawks Sunday with less than two minutes remaining in the game. Bobby Hull got Chicago rolling with a first-period goal but Gary Aldcorn tied it for the Wings late in the second with his first goal in three seasons.

Commercial Hockey League Results

The pre-season favorites, Williams Brothers and The Terriers, got off to flying starts as the Bellevville Commercial Hockey League opened its schedule with two games last night.

Last year's championship Williams team took a 6-3 win over Booth TV's while Terriers downed Jones Motors by a 7-5 count.

Williams held a close 2-1 margin in the first half of their contest but pulled away by outscoring Booth's 4-2 in the second half. Bert Faulkner scored the winners with two goals and two assists, Bob Brooks had a couple goals while Jack Lucas and Earl Cousins had a goal and assist each. Doug Lucas drew two assists and Junior Day one.

Johnny "Shaker" Baker fired a goal and an assist for Booth's. Frank Cris an dLarry Lougheed triggered the other goals while Chuck Rowbotham and Ralph Place had assists.

Jones Motors held the Terriers to a 4-4 stalemate in the first half of their tilt but a 3-1 massacre with one each for Pete Weston, Billy McGuire Scotty Jones and Lyle Adams.

The referees were Tim Williams and Henry Ford.

WORLD RECORDS

MOSCOW (AP)—Anatoli Zhgun, 22-year-old Leningrad railway engineering student, bettered two world lightweight weightlifting records Saturday. Zhgun lifted 336.08 pounds in the snatch, bettering his world mark by 1½ pounds. He hoisted 353 pounds in the jerk, topping by 1½ pounds the record held by Japan's Anuma Grover.

First in Four Years

Italian Upsets 'Archie'

ROME (AP) — Italy's Giulio Rennelli staggered Archie Moore Saturday night and handed the light heavyweight champion his first defeat in nearly four years.

The 43-year-old champion was reeling at the end of the 15-round bout — title bout in the Olympic Sports Palace.

Moore had gone unbeaten in 19 fights since he was knocked out by Floyd Patterson in their fight for the vacant heavyweight title Nov. 30, 1956.

In the closing minute of the fight, the old man from Des Moines, Calif., was staggered. The referee gave him an eight count although he still was on his feet.

In addition to losing the decision, Archie lost $1,000 of his $20,000 purse because he weighed two pounds too much. He agreed to weigh 180 pounds but scaled 180½ to Rinaldi's 185½.

Moore was stripped of his crown by the American National Boxing Association earlier this week but he was announced as the world champion before the fight.

Moore is still recognized as world champion by Florida, New York, and European boxing groups.

After the fight Archie said he would give Rinaldi a crack at the world title because of the Italian's unanimous decision victory.

Cookie Wilson Big Four Score Title

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cookie Gilchrist, power-driving Toronto Argonaut halfback, won the Big Four football league scoring championship Sunday for the second straight season. The 240-pound import scored 27 points in the last game of the schedule to retain the title with 115 points he had going into the game.

Gilchrist beat out halfback George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes by seven points. Cookie jumped from third place to the top by counting three touchdowns, eight converts and a single as Argonaut clobbered Montreal Alouettes 48-7. Dixon was held scoreless. He overcame a 20-point lead the Montreal import had going into the game.

The 25-year-old, six-foot-two Gilchrist ended up with eight touchdowns, 48 converts, five field goals and nine singles and knocked Dixon out of first place which he had held since early in September. The Toronto backfielder won the title last year with 75 points.

Dixon finished with 108 points on 18 touchdowns and was 12 points ahead of hometown halfback Ron Howell of Ottawa Rough Riders, who failed to score as the Riders were beaten 36-34 Saturday by Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Howell's total of 96 points was made up of 16 touchdowns.

Eskys Meet Stamps in Semi-Final

EDMONTON (CP)—Would the hometown Eskimos have been better off meeting the Calgary Stampeders or the British Columbia Lions in the Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final?

The fans will uniliver part of the answer at Clarke Stadium Wednesday night when the first-up Calgary club hits town for the first game of the two-game, total-point semi final.

Eskimos' Jackie Parker suggests the Eskimos know every play the Stamps will use, but then comes the matter of stopping them.

Edmonton has gained a split in the four games played against Calgary this season, but from there the Stamps dominate the statistics.

Nevertheless, the northern Albertans wrapped up second place by a handy margin during the season and have been installed as four-point favorites to win the first game Wednesday and five-point favorites to take the works.

Second game is in Calgary Saturday.

Spurs Win At Newcastle, Still Unbeaten

LONDON (Reuters) — The 11 men who boosted England's soccer reputation Wednesday by beating Spain 4-2 returned to their league clubs in a buoyant mood Saturday.

Hustling centre-forward Bobby Smith, 24, two-goal hero in the England-Spain match, boosted in the winning goal for London's Tottenham Hotspur at Newcastle.

The Spurs maintained an undefeated season in a see-saw contest and left the field four points in the lead of the First Division, but Newcastle has won a game and drawn one.

Yorkshire's Sheffield Wednesday held onto second place by defeating Bolton Wanderers 2-0. Spectators credited the victory to goalkeeper Ron Springett and centre-half Peter Swan, both of whom played for England in the match against Spain.

WIN AT HOME

The victory allowed Sheffield Wednesday to keep up an undefeated season on its home field. The team has won 10 games and drawn three and lost one.

Third-place Burnley suffered a 2-1 upset at the hands of Blackpool and moved from the first division's cellar. The star for Blackpool was Jimmy Armfield, right back on the England team.

The defeat dropped Burnley to fourth place and moved Everton up a notch.

Everton squeaked out a 2-1 victory over Nottingham Forest, Saturday's team in the First Division. Brian Harris pulled the victory out in the second half.

Wolverhampton Wanderers scored a goal in each half to win 2-0 from Birmingham.

Manchester United remained without a win away from home. Arsenal defeated United 2-1 for its second win in eight home games.

There was no change at the top of the Second Division. Sheffield United kept first place although defeated by Middlesbrough 3-1. Second - place Ipswich was defeated 3-0 by Swansea.

Bury kept its four-point lead in the Third Division by beating Grimsby Town 1-0. There was no change in the Fourth Division where Crystal Palace won 2-1 at Northampton to stay a point ahead of Peterborough.

The highlight of Scottish soccer was the final of the League Cup competition in which Rangers beat Kilmarnock 2-0.

In the league itself, Rangers stayed three points ahead in the First Division at Dundee, the Rangers nearest rival, was defeated 4-2 at Dunfermline.

Talented Clown, D. Kaye, Provides Entertaining Hour

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television-wise things looked up during the weekend.

First, in terms of importance, there was last night's Hour with Danny Kaye, on CBS, and the talented clown gave us samples from his big bag of tricks for his television debut. It was an auspicious one.

Except for his unique and wonderful way with accents and his nible tongue, there wasn't anything particularly unusual in the ingredients of the show. But his timing and personality were great and it was a most entertaining hour.

CBS had an interesting project going Friday and Saturday nights: A two-part production of The Scarlet Pimpernel in installments of one hour each.

Memories of the late Leslie Howard as the dashing hero may have been stirring among the oldsters in the audience, but it was good, action-filled costume drama, with evil villains, noble heroes and a beautiful heroine.

WAS HANDLED WELL

The idea of breaking the show into two parts for showing on successive nights was a good one and was handled well.

Shirley Temple's show Sunday night on NBC was another family classic, an adaption of Mark Twain's The Prince and the Pauper. It was a handsome production, in color, but the tale seemed to have lost something in its adaptation—or maybe it was something that has been lost since childhood when most of us read the story.

Even after that, there was NBC's Hallowe'en special called Ghosts, Goblins and Kids, which turned out to be a slick, amusing and thoroughly professional variety show performed entirely by children.

LACROSSE PLAYER

Jay Silverheels, Ontario-born actor who plays Tonto on the television series "The Lone Ranger," first came to Hollywood as a member of a touring lacrosse club.

No Contract For Fight

QUEBEC (CP)—Gene Letourneau, national boxing commissioner of the Canadian Boxing Federation, said Sunday he has no intention of calling for a return bout between Bob Cleroux of Montreal and George Chuvalo of Toronto.

Cleroux won the Canadian heavyweight title by taking a decision over Chuvalo in Montreal last August.

Letourneau's comment followed a long - range battle of words between promoter Frank Tunney of Toronto and promoter Eddie Gelman of Montreal. Tunney claims there was a 60-day return-bout agreement and Quinn says there wasn't.

"We have nothing to do with that unless the contract is produced and the 60-day clause is seen," said Letourneau.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks no longer rank as the only undefeated team in the Western Hockey League.

Their winning streak was snapped at five games Saturday night when they lost 4-3 to Seattle Totems. The last-place Spokane Comets picked up their first victory win of the 1960-61 campaign by edging Victoria Cougars and Calgary Stampeders beat Edmonton Flyers 7-1. There were no games Sunday night.

Bill McFarland, Frank Arnett, Marc Boileau and Roger Christian scored in the Seattle victory. Orland Kurtenbach, Dave Duke and Ray Cyr answered for Vancouver.

Colin Kilbur, Pookey Kennedy, Bob McCusker and Del Toppoli scored for Spokane. Elliot Chorley tallied twice for Victoria and Doug Anderson added the other goal.

The Stampeders came up with their best effort of the season, Ron Lancaster fired three goals two in the first period, for Stamps and the others came from Jimmy Brown, Lou Jankowski, Wally Hergesheimer and Fred Hurst. Gord Labossiere scored for Edmonton.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, November 1

General features: The morning brings the likelihood of mental contention, quick troubles, of all kinds, unless one is very careful and cautious, and refrains from snide comments. Then through tonight you are able to gain the good will of others by doing something that is quite original and unusual. Originate new plans that appeal to you.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — If you are pot diplomatic in A.M., quite an altercation will result with one of own household. Then the rest of the day is ideal for going after your goals with confidence since you receive assistance from unexpected sources.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — If you brood over some situation that displeases you, you can lose out on something valuable. During P. M. one of own clan gives excellent suggestions that will help with your career. Listen and follow. Don't confide in anyone else.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — You think that a higher — up is against you in A. M., but that is not so. Don't do anything hasty. P. M. go out with good comrades to places that you both enjoy and have a relaxing and interesting time. Be gay and humorous.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — Be sure you do all that is expected of you in A. M. and make sure you keep above reproach. The remainder of the day and evening is then free for impressing favorably those who have authority over your affairs. Show excellent talents.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Refrain from brooding over what cannot be helped in A.M. Get out early to the visits and important business calls that will help you to succeed instead. Make better contacts and set up a finer system of operating. Grow.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Get the advice of a trusted comrade in A. M. with regard to some personal or business problem. Later, one in authority brings confidential assistance when most needed which will help to ameliorate status with loved one considerably.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Be sure you remain neutral where a higher - up and an executive are concerned— let them fight it out, since it has nothing to do with you. P. M. be with good friend who is generous — unite in some happy endeavor.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Rather than go after your duties in such haphazard way, incorporate more efficient methods or go into more interesting outlets. P. M. carry through with duties that will please boss but good-natured top brass.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Better not follow the suggestions of higher - up in A. M. who is out-of-touch. Look to associates and those close of kin for new bright ideas that will be most helpful to you. Then follow through intelligently, enthusiastically.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Avoid arguing with kin or higher — ups today, or you get the worse end of the bargain. Evening is far brighter, since good friends and loved ones are very generous and helpful. Work constructively. Be happy.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Important: you have great pains with your work and also derive creativity, or there can be real danger and loss. Tonight associates and friends will cooperate with you fully and you can accomplish a great deal, however.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Be cheerful in A.M., though you may be vexed by some monetary problem. Later you will know exactly how to increase income appreciably through own efforts. Be grateful for suggestions given you by a good friend. Labor diligently.

If your child is born today — there will early develop a sense of animosity toward others simply because they are very self that only by putting up a fight will own desires be best attained. However, without ruining this fine fighting spirit, teach that the majority of persons can best be reached through kind words and deeds. Then the child becomes a most successful one and pockets of great magnitude can be carried through purposefully, whether male or female.

WOMEN BATTLE

BRANTFORD (CP) — It took three police officers to subdue two women fighting on a city street, a magistrate heard Friday. Cecile Fiddler, 36, Toronto, and Margarette Hunter, 35, Brantford, were sent to jail for 30 days in Magistrate John Shillington refused them time to pay $10 fines for creating a disturbance.

ABSOLVED OF BLAME

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Wilfred Hawke, 34, driver of a bread truck which ran over and killed 18-month-old John Lawrence Delaire Louth on Oct. 8, was absolved Friday of any blame in the mishap. A five - man jury ruled the child died accidentally.

AT OPENING OF NATIONAL AVIATION MUSEUM — Canadian aviation pioneer and former Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, the Honorable J. A. D. McCurdy, right, who piloted the Silver Dart at Baddeck, N.S., in 1909, visits the replica of the Silver Dart on display at the official opening of the National Aviation Museum, Uplands airport near Ottawa. With him are the Honorable Alan A. MacLeod, left, Minister of Fisheries, a wartime member of the RCAF, and Cpl. Lionel McCaffery, RCAF Ottawa, one of the controls of the replica which he was instrumental in building.

VOTERS IN FOUR

fence minister, going to British Columbia's lieutenant -governorship, but no date has been set for a byelection in his riding of Esquimalt-Saanich.

There have been six byelections since the Conservatives came to power and the Liberals gained one seat and lost another in the government.

The latest record, Labelle and Niagara Falls seem most interesting. Labelle has a mixed background of religions in a province where the Liberals have swept back to power in provincial government. Senator Henri Courtemanche, former secretary of state whose appointment in 1958 caused the byelection, won in 1956 by over 10,000.

Paul-Emile Lesage, Mont Laurier insurance broker, 46, is running for the first time for the Conservatives and Gaston Clement, 46, a Thuro businessman, is the Liberal candidate and federal treasurer.

JOHN CAMPAIGN

Federal and provincial forces including ministers worked for Liberal Leader Pearson have joined the campaign.

In Niagara Falls, quiet and popular William Houk, who died last May, was elected by a wide edge of only 321 votes out of a total 31,000 in 1958. He held for the seat since its formation in 1933.

Lawyer Judy LaMarsh, 35, is bidding to keep Niagara Falls Liberal and give the party a clean sweep in commons. School teacher Ed Richardson, a district reeve, is the New Party entry and another teacher, Keith Lougheed, is the Social Credit candidate. All three are first - time candidates in a campaign that has drawn its share of heavy artillery from Ottawa, Queen's Park, External Affairs Minister Green and Labor Minister Starr among others.

Peterborough seems a more stable constituency and quieter. The campaign has been flavored heavily with the current preoccupation in the area with hockey as Don K. Fraser, Conservative incumbent, and Liberal Frank Commoca harness to cause the byelection at least a stir in the more than 11,000 votes in 1958.

His Conservative heir-apparent is Harold Ballyntine, 39, a insurance man with municipal political experience. Liberal Q. C. Donald Munro, 38, is an alderman in Peterborough and a reserve officer in the Governor General's Foot Guards.

Pitman, 51, is a school teacher and the New Party man seeking to shift a pattern which has always seen CCF candidates last in the constituency field. All three are running federally for the first time.

PROTEST TO BBG

Perhaps the most explosive issue involving protests by Mr. Munro that the Conservatives put pressure on the Board of Broadcast Governors to allow the television showing of film clips on a day in the life of their candidate. The Liberals assert that they were forbidden using the same sort of thing. The charge has been denied by Conservative Andrew Stewart.

Royal has been Conservative since 1921 and Senator Brooks won in 1958 with an edge of 2,500 votes out of about 19,000. Mr. Flemming has played up the importance of the new forestry department to New Brunswick and the Conservatives have contended that the Martinites have fared better under the Diefenbaker government than they ever did under the Liberals.

The Liberal candidate is Harold A. Fredericks and George H. Wheaton is running for the CCF.

Ottawa Region Farmers Angry With Hunters

OTTAWA (CP)—Deputy Game Warden William Bonnyas has issued a warning that the hunters may become the hunted if they don't stop killing cows in Carleton County.

Mr. Bompas said Saturday farmers are up in arms at the killing the law into their own hands as a result of the shooting of livestock by hunters who mistake cows for deer during the season.

He quoted one farmer as saying: "We're going to protect our farmland with bullets. They trample down our fences, kill our animals—they're trespassers."

The warden said 15 sheep, four cows, one steer and five ducks have been reported killed so far this season.

2nd Sidney

2nd SIDNEY — Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hart, spent Sunday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blackman of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trice and children of Belleville, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis.

Mrs. Ritchie Ketcheson of Belleville, was a Sunday evening supper guest of her daughter, Mrs. Alex Vandervoort, husband and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lawrence were Sunday supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Clement and family.

TO MOON AND BACK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force is reported to be considering the possibility of building a plane that could fly to the moon and back—by scooping up tons of oxygen in preliminary flights 50 miles above the earth. Aviation Week magazine says the air force is asking for $23,000,000 in the budget for the project.

of Iran." The shah in a brief statement said:

"I am very happy that Almighty God accepted my prayers and granted us a child."

The prince's birth was registered immediately in the Koran Palace delivery room as Reza prayed. As the squalling baby was carried from the room, the holy Moslem book was held over him to give life-long protection.

Radio and television stations proclaimed the birth and municipalities began calling prayers from minarets. Celebrations began from Mount Ararat, traditional resting place of Noah's Ark in the north, to the date palms of the south.

Iran has been wallowing since 1941, when the shah took the throne, for a royal son to carry on the 2,500-year-old monarchy.

Farah, who is 22, is the third wife of 42-year-old Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlevi. He divorced his first two when they did not produce a son.

(David Lancashire, Associated Press staff correspondent at Tehran, is a Toronto-born Canadian.)

Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Tom Turpin of Ottawa spent a few days last week with Mr. brother, Mr. Gus Turpin and family.

Mrs. Douglas Taylor, Lynda and Larry, of Picton, spent Sunday with Mrs. Gordon Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Parcelle enjoyed a week's holiday in Detroit where they visited their son, Mr. Jack Purtelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Piper were recent guests of their son-in-law, Almond DeMille and family, of Bethany.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Talcott enjoyed a two-weeks' trip to points in the U.S.A. They visited Dr. and Mrs. Kornder at Davenport, Iowa, and also friends at Minneapolis, Min.

Mrs. Herb Brooks spent a few days last week in Picton with her brother, Mr. Walter Huff.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Walters and Mrs. Ralph Moore of Wellington.

Miss Sandra Walters spent Friday over night with Miss Lynda Taylor, Centre Street, Picton.

Everyone is looking forward to the Women's Institute November tea in the town hall.

Capt. Donald Chesser, and told the players:

"The pilot has more in this than anyone else. He wouldn't take any chances. We have nothing to worry about."

FLAME "FIGHTFALLEN"

When the Arctic Pacific Airlines plane started descending, the way it began to "fishtail," said F. Sheldon Harden, an assistant purser, who received only minor scratches.

"Just as we left the ground, the tail seemed to drop and the plane fell off to the left," he added.

After the crash, survivors scrambled from the damaged tail section, which flipped over the front end and landed upside down.

From the burning front came the screams and moans of the dying.

The stewardess, Mrs. Richard Miller, 34, of Seattle, a veteran of 14 years of flying, was credited with pulling out more than a dozen pro mbe flaming wreck.

She said she often had flown under similar weather conditions. When the crash, she added, the takeoff was routine with no unusual vibrations or plane movements.

The Cal Poly team lost its Saturday afternoon game to Bowling Green University, 50-8. After the game, coach Hughes said:

"The kids are tired and will get a chance to sleep on the flight home."

red convertible with Manitoba plates he had seen a week ago.

Mrs. Mary Bell, manager of the hotel where the Seattle born killer was staying, recognized Corbett from a newspaper poster.

"I'll bring him right out," she told police.

But they asked her to leave it to them.

Six car-loads of police moved in for the arrest.

MIGHT SHOOT

Said Mrs. Bell: "The FBI men said I had a desperate criminal here and there might be some shooting.

Sh gave the detectives the room key.

"The police shod around in a huddle and wondered how to get in there without anybody seeing us. I heard them knock and then I heard them go into his room on the main floor.

"In next thing I knew Mr. Wallenfeldt (alias Corbett, as used at the hotel) was going out the door with his hands cuffed behind his back."

She said one of teh detectives said "they just knocked on the door" and when 'Mr. Walnwright' opened it a crack, the night latch they shoved a pistol into his face."

She described him as a polite guest who was a lone wolf.

of Iran." The shah in a brief statement said:

"I am very happy that Almighty God accepted my prayers and granted us a child."

The prince's birth was registered immediately in the Koran Palace delivery room as Reza prayed. As the squalling baby was carried from the room, the holy Moslem book was held over him to give life-long protection.

Radio and television stations proclaimed the birth and municipalities began calling prayers from minarets. Celebrations began from Mount Ararat, traditional resting place of Noah's Ark in the north, to the date palms of the south.

Iran has been wallowing since 1941, when the shah took the throne, for a royal son to carry on the 2,500-year-old monarchy.

Farah, who is 22, is the third wife of 42-year-old Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlevi. He divorced his first two when they did not produce a son.

Buffalo Bans Pencils With Uranium Ore

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie County health department has ordered the confiscation of pencils containing what it called ,potentially dangerous amounts of uranium ore.

Dr. Warren Winkelstein, first health commissioner, said Friday the pencils were promotional pieces used to advertise the opening of a restaurant.

Winkelstein said the eight-inch pencils contained a one-inch long clear capsule of ore. Tests indicated that the gray powder was toxic and "posed a significant hazard if ingested by a child," he said.

The pencils, the commissioner said, were distributed freely and children at nearby schools had received many of them.
